PROSPECTUS FOR 110,000,000 SHARES OF COMMON STOCK

WHICH WILL BE RENAMED “UPHEALTH, INC.” IN CONNECTION WITH THE BUSINESS COMBINATIONS DESCRIBED HEREIN

The board of directors of GigCapital2, Inc., a Delaware corporation (“GigCapital2”), has unanimously approved (i) the merger of UpHealth Merger Sub, Inc. (“UpHealth Merger Sub”), a Delaware corporation, and UpHealth Holdings, Inc. (“UpHealth”), a Delaware corporation (the “UpHealth Business Combination”), with UpHealth surviving the UpHealth Business Combination as a wholly-owned subsidiary of GigCapital2, pursuant to the terms of the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement, dated as of November 20, 2020, by and among GigCapital2, UpHealth Merger Sub and UpHealth, attached to this proxy statement/prospectus as Annex A (the “UpHealth Business Combination Agreement”), as more fully described elsewhere in this proxy statement/prospectus; and (ii) the other transactions contemplated by the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement and documents related thereto. Additionally, the board of directors of GigCapital2, Inc. has unanimously approved (i) the merger of Cloudbreak Health Merger Sub, LLC (“Cloudbreak Merger Sub”), a Delaware limited liability company, and Cloudbreak Health, LLC (“Cloudbreak”), a Delaware limited liability company (the “Cloudbreak Business Combination” and, together with the UpHealth Business Combination, the “Business Combinations”), with Cloudbreak surviving the Cloudbreak Business Combination as a wholly-owned subsidiary of GigCapital2, pursuant to the terms of the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement, dated as of November 20, 2020, by and among GigCapital2, Cloudbreak Merger Sub and Cloudbreak, attached to this proxy statement/prospectus as Annex B (the “Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement” and, together with the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement, the “Business Combination Agreements”), as more fully described elsewhere in this proxy statement/prospectus; and (ii) the other transactions contemplated by the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement and documents related thereto.

In connection with the Business Combinations, GigCapital 2 will change its name to “UpHealth, Inc.”

At the effective time of the UpHealth Business Combination, among other things, each share of UpHealth Common Stock will be canceled and converted into the right to receive a number of shares of common stock, par value $0.0001 per share, of GigCapital2 (the “GigCapital2 Common Stock”) equal to the Exchange Ratio (as defined in the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement). The Exchange Ratio will be equal to the Aggregate Merger Consideration (as defined in the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement) divided by the sum of the aggregate number of shares of UpHealth Common Stock issued and outstanding immediately prior to the effective time of the UpHealth Business Combination.

At the effective time of the Cloudbreak Business Combination, among other things, (i) each Common Unit (as defined in the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement) (and the membership interests represented thereby) issued and outstanding immediately prior to the Closing shall be converted into the right to receive a number of shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock equal to the Common Unit Exchange Ratio (together with any Business Combination Share Adjustment, as defined below, to which each Common Unit is entitled, the “Common Unit Merger Consideration”); (ii) each Series A Preferred Unit (as defined in the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement) (and the membership interests represented thereby) issued and outstanding immediately prior to the Closing shall be converted into the right to receive a number of shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock equal to the Preferred Unit Exchange Ratio (in addition to any Business Combination Share Adjustment to which each Series A Preferred Unit is entitled); and (iii) each Option (as defined in the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement) that is outstanding and unexercised immediately prior to the Closing, whether vested or unvested, shall be assumed by GigCapital2 and converted into an option to purchase a number of shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock in an amount set forth on the Allocation Schedule (as defined in the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement), which amount shall be equal to the product of (i) the number of Common Units subject to such Option, multiplied by (ii) the Common Unit Exchange Ratio (as defined in the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement) (each such converted option, an “Exchanged Option”); provided, however, that any fractional share resulting from such multiplication shall be rounded up to the nearest whole share, and the Company shall pay to such Continuing Employee (as defined in the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement) a cash amount in respect of such fractional share on the next full payroll cycle following Closing.

The GigCapital2 Common Stock, units, warrants and rights are currently listed on the New York Stock Exchange (“NYSE”) under the symbols “GIX,” “GIX.U,” “GIX.WS” and “GIX.RT,” respectively. Upon Closing, we intend to apply to list the shares issued as consideration in the Business Combinations on the NYSE under the symbol “UPH.” Thereafter, our units (each comprised of one share of GigCapital2 Common Stock, one right to receive one-twentieth of one share of Common Stock and one warrant to purchase one share of GigCapital2 Common Stock), will cease to trade as an individual security and, instead, will be separated into their constituent securities, and the GigCapital2 Common Stock and warrants will trade under the symbols “UPH” and “UPH.WS,” respectively. It is a condition of the consummation of the Business Combinations described above that GigCapital2 receives confirmation from the NYSE that the securities have been conditionally approved for listing on the NYSE, but there can be no assurance such listing conditions will be met or that GigCapital2 will obtain such confirmation from the NYSE. If such listing conditions are not met or if such confirmation is not obtained, the Business Combinations described above will not be consummated unless the NYSE condition set forth in the Business Combination Agreements are waived by the applicable parties.

In light of ongoing developments related to coronavirus (COVID-19), after careful consideration, the Company has determined that the Special Meeting will be a virtual meeting conducted exclusively via live webcast in order to facilitate stockholder attendance and participation while safeguarding the health and safety of our stockholders, directors and management team. You or your proxyholder will be able to attend and vote at the Special Meeting online by visiting <https://www.cstproxy.com/gigcapital2/2021> and using a control number assigned by Broadridge Financial Solutions. To register and receive access to the virtual meeting, registered stockholders and beneficial stockholders (those holding shares through a stock brokerage account or by a bank or other holder of record) will need to follow the instructions applicable to them provided in the proxy statement/prospectus. Please note that you will only be able to access the Special Meeting by means of remote communication.

On November 20, 2020, the Company, UpHealth Merger Sub, Inc. (“UpHealth Merger Sub”), and UpHealth Holdings, Inc., a Delaware corporation (“UpHealth”), entered into a business combination agreement (as subsequently amended on January 29, 2021, March 23, 2021 and April 23, 2021, and as it may be further amended from time to time, the “UpHealth Business Combination Agreement”). If the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement is adopted by UpHealth stockholders, and the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement is approved by Company stockholders at the Special Meeting, UpHealth Merger Sub will merge with and into UpHealth, with UpHealth surviving the merger and becoming a wholly-owned subsidiary of the Company. Upon the consummation of the transactions contemplated by the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement (the “UpHealth Business Combination”), the Company will change its name to UpHealth, Inc. (“New UpHealth”).

On November 20, 2020, the Company, Cloudbreak Health Merger Sub, LLC, a Delaware limited liability company (“Cloudbreak Merger Sub”), Cloudbreak Health, LLC, a Delaware limited liability company (“Cloudbreak”), solely with respect to Section 7.15 thereof, Dr. Chiranjeev Kathuria and Dr. Mariya Pylypiv (collectively, the “UpHealth Significant Stockholders”) and UpHealth, and Shareholder Representative Services LLC, a Colorado limited liability company, solely in its capacity as the representative, agent and attorney-in-fact of the Cloudbreak members, entered into a business combination agreement (as subsequently amended on April 23, 2021 and as it may be further amended from time to time, the “Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement” and, together with the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement, the “Business Combination Agreements”). If the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement is adopted by Cloudbreak members, and the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement is approved by Company stockholders at the Special Meeting, Cloudbreak Merger Sub will merge with and into Cloudbreak, with Cloudbreak surviving the merger and becoming a wholly-owned subsidiary of the Company (the “Cloudbreak Business Combination” and, together with the UpHealth Business Combination, the “Business Combinations”). As described in this proxy statement/prospectus, the Company’s stockholders are being asked to consider and vote upon, among other things, the Business Combinations and the other proposals set forth herein.

Subject to the terms and conditions contained in the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement, at the effective time of the UpHealth Business Combination, each share of UpHealth Common Stock will be canceled and converted into the right to receive a number of shares of common stock, par value $0.0001 per share, of GigCapital2 (the “GigCapital2 Common Stock”) equal to the Exchange Ratio (as defined in the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement). The Exchange Ratio will be equal to the Aggregate Merger Consideration (as defined in the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement) divided by the sum of the aggregate number of shares of UpHealth Common Stock issued and outstanding immediately prior to the effective time of the UpHealth Business Combination. Such Aggregate Merger Consideration shall not exceed 99,000,000 shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock, subject to certain adjustments, less the Thrasys Incentive Amount (as defined below). UpHealth has previously entered into a share purchase agreement providing for the purchase of 90% or more of the equity interests of Glocal Healthcare Systems Private Limited, a company incorporated under the laws of India (“Glocal”), with the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement providing for a purchase price adjustment for every 1% less than 90% of the equity interests that is owned by UpHealth upon the Closing (as defined below). UpHealth as of the date of entry into the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement owned approximately 43% of the equity interests of Glocal. On March 26, 2021, UpHealth acquired an additional 46% of the equity interests of Glocal, and as a result, now owns 89% of the equity interests of Glocal. The Aggregate Merger Consideration shall be reduced by approximately 99,000 shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock for each 1.0% interest of Glocal that is below 90% and that is not yet acquired by UpHealth upon the Closing. Adjustments to the Aggregate Merger Consideration will further be made to the extent that the indebtedness at the closing of the UpHealth Business Combination of UpHealth and the Company Subsidiaries (as defined in the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement) less the cash and cash equivalents of UpHealth and the Company Subsidiaries as of immediately before such time is greater than $33,850,000 (excluding any Acquisition Promissory Notes). The Acquisition Promissory Notes are promissory notes previously issued by UpHealth for its acquisitions of Thrasys, Inc., a California corporation (“Thrasys”), Behavioral Health Services, LLC, a Missouri limited liability company (“Behavioral Health Services”), TTC Healthcare, Inc., a Delaware corporation (“TTC Healthcare”), Innovations Group, Inc., a Utah corporation (“Innovations Group”) and the interests in Glocal with a maximum aggregate principal amount of $86,200,000, of which $35,500,000 is due and payable on the date that is one business day after the Closing. Two individuals who are officers of UpHealth, and were shareholders of Thrasys prior to its merger with UpHealth, will following the Closing, if he or she is a service provider to GigCapital2, UpHealth or any of the Company Subsidiaries as of the date of grant, be awarded restricted stock units of GigCapital2 (the “Thrasys Incentive Amount”). The Thrasys Incentive Amount that shall be eligible to be granted shall be (a) 32.016% multiplied by (b) 15.136% multiplied by (c) the Adjusted Aggregate Merger/Incentive Amount (as defined in the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement). The Adjusted Aggregate Merger/Incentive Amount shall be (a) $990,000,000, subject to certain adjustments, divided by (b) $10.00. In the event that either individual ceases to be a service provider to GigCapital2, UpHealth or any of the Company Subsidiaries as of the date of grant, the portion of the Thrasys Incentive Amount allocated to such individual will not be reallocated to the other individual. Such restricted stock units shall vest into shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock at the earlier of (i) the date that is one year after the Closing, (ii) the date on which the last sale price of GigCapital2 Common Stock equals or exceeds $12.50 per share (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, reorganizations, recapitalizations and the like) for any 20 trading days within any 30-trading day period commencing at least 90 days after the closing of the UpHealth Business Combination, or (iii) the date on which GigCapital2 completes a liquidation, merger, stock exchange or other similar transaction that results in all of the GigCapital2’s stockholders having the right to exchange their shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock for cash, securities or other property. If either of these individuals ceases to be a service provider to GigCapital2, UpHealth or any of the Company Subsidiaries prior to any vesting date, the unvested portion of the restricted stock units shall be cancelled and surrendered to GigCapital2.

Subject to the terms and conditions contained in the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement, at the effective time of the Cloudbreak Business Combination: (i) each Common Unit (as defined in the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement) (and the membership interests represented thereby) issued and outstanding immediately prior to the Closing shall be converted into the right to receive a number of shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock equal to the Common Unit Exchange Ratio (together with any Business Combination Share Adjustment, as defined below, to which each Common Unit is entitled, the “Common Unit Merger Consideration”); (ii) each Series A Preferred Unit (as defined in the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement) (and the membership interests represented thereby) issued and outstanding immediately prior to the Closing shall be converted into the right to receive a number of shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock equal to the Preferred Unit Exchange Ratio (in addition to any Business Combination Share Adjustment to which each Series A Preferred Unit is entitled); and (iii) each Option (as defined in the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement) that is outstanding and unexercised immediately prior to the Closing, whether vested or unvested, shall be assumed by GigCapital2 and converted into an option to purchase a number of shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock in an amount set forth on the Allocation Schedule (as defined in the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement), which amount shall be equal to the product of (i) the number of Common Units subject to such Option, multiplied by (ii) the Common Unit Exchange Ratio (as defined in the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement) (each such converted option, an “Exchanged Option”); provided, however, that any fractional share resulting from such multiplication shall be rounded up to the nearest whole share, and the Company shall pay to such Continuing Employee (as defined in the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement) a cash amount in respect of such fractional share on the next full payroll cycle following Closing. Each holder of Exchanged Options shall also be entitled to any Business Combination Share Adjustment (as defined in the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement) made pursuant to the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement. Except as specifically agreed to otherwise or provided in the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement, following the Closing, each Exchanged Option shall continue to be governed by the same vesting and exercisability terms and otherwise substantially similar terms and conditions as were applicable to the corresponding former Option immediately prior to the Closing. Additionally, immediately prior to the Closing, each Common Warrant (as defined in the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement) shall convert into Common Units in accordance with their terms. The aggregate number of shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock issuable at the Closing, and upon the exercise of all Exchanged Options on a net exercise basis, shall equal 11,000,000 shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock. Furthermore, in connection with the Closing, (i) GigCapital2 has agreed to repay or cause to be repaid on behalf of Cloudbreak certain debt obligations of Cloudbreak of approximately $28,000,000 and (ii) the Significant UpHealth Stockholders have agreed to subject 5,500,000 of their shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock (as adjusted for stock splits, combinations, reorganizations and the like) that they would receive upon the Closing as part of the UpHealth Business Combination to potential forfeiture and transfer (such transfer, the “Business Combination Share Adjustment”) to the Cloudbreak members in connection with a Valuation Shortfall on the 540th day from the date of the Closing (or if such day is not a business day, the following business day) (the “Measurement Date”) as provided in the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement. A Valuation Shortfall shall occur if the dollar volume-weighted average price for the GigCapital2 Common Stock on the New York Stock Exchange during the period beginning at 9:30 a.m., New York time, and ending at 4:00 p.m., New York time, as reported by Bloomberg through its “HP” function (set to weighted average) or if not available on Bloomberg, as reported by Morningstar (the “VWAP”) for the ten trading days preceding the Measurement Date (the “Reference VWAP”) is less than $13.64, and the amount of such Valuation Shortfall is the difference between $13.64 and the Reference VWAP. In the event that a Valuation Shortfall occurs, the amount of shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock that the Significant UpHealth Stockholders shall forfeit to the Cloudbreak members will be the lesser of (i) the Adjustment Amount and (ii) 5,500,000 (or, if the Adjustment Amount equals 5,500,000, the Adjustment Amount). The Adjustment Amount means the quotient (rounded up to the nearest whole number) of (A) the Aggregate Valuation Shortfall, divided by (B) the Reference VWAP. The Aggregate Valuation Shortfall means the product of (A) the amount of the Valuation Shortfall, multiplied by (B) 11,000,000.

Upon the Closing, (i) the former UpHealth equity holders are expected to hold, in the aggregate, approximately 73% of the issued and outstanding shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock and (ii) the former Cloudbreak equity holders are expected to hold, in the aggregate, approximately 7% of the issued and outstanding shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock.

On January 20, 2021, the Company entered into subscription agreements, each dated as of January 20, 2021 (the “PIPE Subscription Agreements”), with certain investors (collectively, the “PIPE Investors”), pursuant to which, among other things, the Company agreed to issue and sell to the PIPE Investors, in private placements to close immediately prior to the Closing, an aggregate of 3,000,000 shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock at $10.00 per share, for an aggregate purchase price of $30,000,000.

Also on January 20, 2021, the Company entered into subscription agreements, each dated as of January 20, 2021 (the “Convertible Note Subscription Agreements”), with certain investors (collectively, the “Convertible Note Investors”), pursuant to which, among other things, the Company agreed to issue and sell to the Convertible Note Investors, in private placements to close immediately prior to Closing, convertible notes due in 2026 (“Convertible Notes”) for an aggregate purchase price of $255,000,000. The Convertible Notes are convertible into 22,173,913 shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock at a conversion price of $11.50.

The Company and UpHealth cannot complete the UpHealth Business Combination unless the Company’s stockholders approve the UpHealth Business Combination, including the issuance of Common Stock to UpHealth equity holders as merger consideration and the issuance of shares of Common Stock to the PIPE Investors and the Convertible Notes to the Convertible Note Investors, and certain of the other proposals contained herein. The Company is sending you this proxy statement/prospectus to ask you to vote in favor of the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal, as described below, and the other matters described in this proxy statement/prospectus.

The Company and Cloudbreak cannot complete the Cloudbreak Business Combination unless the Company’s stockholders approve the UpHealth Business Combination and the Cloudbreak Business Combination, including the issuance of GigCapital2 Common Stock to Cloudbreak equity holders as merger consideration and the issuance of shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock to the PIPE Investors and the Convertible Notes to the Convertible Note Investors, and certain of the other proposals contained herein. The Company is sending you this proxy statement/prospectus to ask you to vote in favor of the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal, as described below, and the other matters described in this proxy statement/prospectus.

At the Special Meeting, Company stockholders will be asked to consider and vote upon (i) a proposal (the “UpHealth Business Combination Proposal” or “Proposal No. 1”) to adopt the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement (as subsequently amended and as it may be further amended), a copy of which is attached to the accompanying proxy statement as Annex A, and approve the transactions contemplated thereby, including the UpHealth Business Combination and (ii) a proposal (the “Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal” or “Proposal No. 2”) to adopt the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement (as subsequently amended and as it may be further amended), a copy of which is attached to the accompanying proxy statement as Annex B, and approve the transactions contemplated thereby, including the Cloudbreak Business Combination. In addition, you are being asked to consider and vote upon a proposal to approve, for purposes of complying with applicable New York Stock Exchange (the “NYSE”) listing rules, the issuance of more than 20% of the Company’s outstanding GigCapital2 Common Stock in connection with the Business Combinations, the PIPE Subscription Agreements and the Convertible Note Subscription Agreements, including up to 110,000,000 shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock to the UpHealth and Cloudbreak equity holders, 3,000,000 shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock to the PIPE Investors and 22,173,913 shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock upon conversion of the Convertible Notes (the “NYSE Stock Issuance Proposal” or “Proposal No. 3”); a proposal to approve and adopt amendments to the Company’s current amended and restated certificate of incorporation, as amended, to: (A) provide for the classification of our board of directors (our “Board”) into three classes of directors with staggered terms of office and to make certain related changes (“Proposal No. 4”); and (B) provide for certain additional changes, including but not limited to changing the post-combination company’s corporate name from (x) “GigCapital2, Inc.” to “UpHealth, Inc.” and eliminating certain provisions specific to our status as a blank check company, which our Board believes are necessary to adequately address the needs of the post-combination company (“Proposal 5A”) and (y) to authorize the adoption of amendments to the existing exclusive forum provision for certain stockholder litigation to provide that U.S. federal district courts are the sole and exclusive forum for claims arising under the Securities Act (“Proposal 5B,” which together with Proposal No. 4 and Proposal 5A are collectively referred to as the “Charter Amendment Proposals”); a proposal to approve the GigCapital2, Inc. 2021 Equity Incentive Plan (such plan, the “Incentive Plan” and, such proposal, the “Incentive Plan Proposal” or “Proposal No. 6”); a proposal to consider and vote upon a proposal to elect, effective at Closing Date, nine directors to serve staggered terms on our Board until the 2022, 2023 and 2024 annual meetings of stockholders, respectively, and until their respective successors are duly elected and qualified (the “Election of Directors Proposal” or “Proposal No. 7”); and a proposal to adjourn the Special Meeting to a later date or dates, if necessary, to permit further solicitation and vote of proxies if there are insufficient votes for, or otherwise in connection with, the approval of the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal, the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal, the NYSE Stock Issuance Proposal, the Charter Amendment Proposals, the Incentive Plan Proposal or the Election of Directors Proposal (the “Adjournment Proposal” or “Proposal No. 8”).

Each of these proposals is more fully described in the accompanying proxy statement/prospectus, which each stockholder is encouraged to read carefully.

The GigCapital2 Common Stock, units, warrants and rights are currently listed on NYSE under the symbols “GIX,” “GIX.U,” “GIX.WS” and “GIX.RT,” respectively. Upon Closing, we intend to apply to list the shares issued as consideration in the Business Combinations on the NYSE under the symbol “UPH.” Thereafter, our units (each comprised of one share of GigCapital2 Common Stock, one right to receive one-twentieth of one share of Common Stock and one warrant to purchase one share of GigCapital2 Common Stock), will cease to trade as an individual security and, instead, will be separated into their constituent securities, and the GigCapital2 Common Stock and warrants will trade under the symbols “UPH” and “UPH.WS,” respectively.

Pursuant to our current amended and restated certificate of incorporation, we are providing our stockholders that hold shares of Common Stock that were included in the units issued in our initial public offering (“IPO”) (“public stockholders” and such shares, “public shares”), with the opportunity to redeem, upon the Closing, public shares then held by them for cash equal to their pro rata share of the aggregate amount on deposit (as of two business days prior to the Closing) in our trust account (the “Trust Account”) that holds the proceeds (including interest, which shall be net of taxes paid and taxes payable and amounts previously redeemed) of our IPO and such additional amounts as we may deposit into such trust account in connection with extensions of time for us to consummate the Business Combinations. The per-share amount we will distribute to public stockholders that properly redeem their shares will not be reduced by transaction expenses incurred by the Company, UpHealth and Cloudbreak in connection with the Business Combinations. For illustrative purposes, based on the fair value of marketable securities held in our Trust Account of approximately $168,000,000 as of January 31, 2021, the estimated per share redemption price would have been approximately $10.10 on such date. Public stockholders may elect to redeem their shares even if they vote for the Business Combinations. A public stockholder, together with any of his, her or its affiliates or any other person with whom it is acting in concert or as a “group” (as defined under Section 13d-3 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended), will be restricted from redeeming in the aggregate his, her or its shares or, if part of such a group, the group’s shares, in excess of 15% of the public shares. We have no specified maximum redemption threshold under our certificate of incorporation, other than the aforementioned 15% threshold. Each redemption of shares of Common Stock by our public stockholders will reduce the amount in our Trust Account, which held marketable securities with a fair value of approximately $168,000,000 as of January 31, 2021.

The Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement provides that Cloudbreak may terminate the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement if the funds in the Trust Account are less than an aggregate amount of $125,000,000. Furthermore, under the terms of the Convertible Note Subscription Agreements, a condition to the closing of the transactions contemplated by those agreements is that at least $50,000,000 remains in the Trust Account after giving effect to any redemptions. In addition, in no event will we redeem shares of our Common Stock in an amount that would result in the Company’s failure to have net tangible assets equaling or exceeding $5,000,001 (so that we are not subject to the Securities and Exchange Commission’s (the “SEC”) “penny stock” rules). Holders of our outstanding public warrants do not have redemption rights in connection with the Business Combinations. Unless otherwise specified, the information in the accompanying proxy/prospectus statement assumes that none of our public stockholders exercise their redemption rights with respect to their shares of Common Stock.

Our initial stockholders prior to the IPO, including GigAcquisitions2, LLC (the “Sponsor”), one of our underwriters in our IPO, EarlyBirdCapital, Inc. (“EarlyBird”), and certain affiliates and employees of EarlyBird (the “EarlyBird Group”) and an affiliate of another of our underwriters in our IPO, Northland Gig 2 Investment LLC, a Delaware limited liability company (“Northland Investment” and, together with the Sponsor and the EarlyBird Group, the “Founders”) and the underwriter that is affiliated with Northland Investment, Northland

Securities, Inc. (“Northland”) (such Founders and Northland, our “Initial Stockholders”) have agreed to vote their shares of Common Stock in favor of the Business Combinations. Currently, our Initial Stockholders own 4,995,000 shares of our Common Stock (the “Founder Shares”), including those that are a constituent security to a Private Placement Unit (as defined below), or 23% of our issued and outstanding shares of Common Stock, including all of the Founder Shares (as defined below). The Founder Shares are subject to transfer restrictions. The Founder Shares will be excluded from the pro rata calculation used to determine the per-share redemption price.

We are providing you with the accompanying proxy statement/prospectus and accompanying proxy card in connection with the solicitation of proxies to be voted at the Special Meeting and at any adjournments or postponements of the Special Meeting. Information about the Special Meeting, the Business Combinations and other related business to be considered by the Company’s stockholders at the Special Meeting is included in this proxy statement/prospectus. Whether or not you plan to attend the Special Meeting, we urge you to read this proxy statement/prospectus, including the Annexes and the accompanying financial statements of the Company, UpHealth, Cloudbreak, Thrasys, Glocal, TTC Healthcare, Innovations Group and Behavioral Health Services carefully and in their entirety. In particular, we urge you to read carefully the section entitled “Risk Factors” beginning on page 62 of the accompanying proxy statement/prospectus.

After careful consideration, our Board has approved the Business Combination Agreements and the transactions contemplated therein, and recommends that our stockholders vote “FOR” adoption of the Business Combination Agreements and approval of the transactions contemplated thereby, including the Business Combinations, and “FOR” all other proposals presented to our stockholders in the accompanying proxy statement/prospectus. When you consider the Board’s recommendation of these proposals, you should keep in mind that our directors and officers have interests in the Business Combinations that may conflict with your interests as a stockholder. Please see the section entitled “Proposal No. 1—Approval of the UpHealth Business Combination—Interests of Certain Persons in the Business Combination” and “Proposal No. 2—Approval of the Cloudbreak Business Combination—Interests of Certain Persons in the Business Combination” for additional information.

Approval of each of the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal, the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal, the NYSE Stock Issuance Proposal, the Incentive Plan Proposal, the Election of Directors Proposal and the Adjournment Proposal require the affirmative vote of a majority of the votes cast at the Special Meeting. Approval of the Charter Amendment Proposals require the affirmative vote of a majority of the outstanding shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock.

Your vote is very important. Whether or not you plan to attend the Special Meeting, please vote as soon as possible by following the instructions in this proxy statement/prospectus to make sure that your shares are represented at the Special Meeting. If you hold your shares in “street name” through a bank, broker or other nominee, you will need to follow the instructions provided to you by your bank, broker or other nominee to ensure that your shares are represented and voted at the Special Meeting. Even if you have voted by proxy, you may still vote during the Special Meeting by visiting <https://www.cstproxy.com/gigcapital2/2021> with your 16-digit control number assigned by Broadridge Financial Solutions included on your proxy card or obtained from them via email. The transactions contemplated by the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement will be consummated only if the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal, the NYSE Stock Issuance Proposal, the Charter Amendment Proposals, the Incentive Plan Proposal and the Election of Directors Proposal are approved at the Special Meeting. The transactions contemplated by the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement will be consummated only if the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal, the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal, the NYSE Stock Issuance Proposal, the Charter Amendment Proposals, the Incentive Plan Proposal and the Election of Directors Proposal are approved at the Special Meeting. The proposals in this proxy statement/prospectus (other than the Adjournment Proposal) are conditioned on the approval of the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal.

If you sign, date and return your proxy card without indicating how you wish to vote, your proxy will be voted “FOR” each of the proposals presented at the Special Meeting. If you fail to return your proxy card or fail to instruct your bank, broker or other nominee how to vote, and do not attend the Special Meeting in person, the effect will be that your shares will not be counted for purposes of determining whether a quorum is present at the Special Meeting. If you are a stockholder of record and you attend the Special Meeting and wish to vote in person, you may withdraw your proxy and vote in person.

TO EXERCISE YOUR REDEMPTION RIGHTS, YOU MUST DEMAND THAT THE COMPANY REDEEM YOUR SHARES FOR A PRO RATA PORTION OF THE FUNDS HELD IN THE TRUST ACCOUNT AND TENDER YOUR SHARES TO THE COMPANY’S TRANSFER AGENT AT LEAST TWO BUSINESS DAYS PRIOR TO THE VOTE AT SUCH MEETING. YOU MAY TENDER YOUR SHARES BY EITHER DELIVERING YOUR SHARE CERTIFICATE TO THE TRANSFER AGENT OR BY DELIVERING YOUR SHARES ELECTRONICALLY USING DEPOSITORY TRUST COMPANY’S DWAC (DEPOSIT WITHDRAWAL AT CUSTODIAN) SYSTEM. IF THE BUSINESS COMBINATIONS ARE NOT COMPLETED, THEN THESE SHARES WILL NOT BE REDEEMED FOR CASH. IF YOU HOLD THE SHARES IN STREET NAME, YOU WILL NEED TO INSTRUCT THE ACCOUNT EXECUTIVE AT YOUR BANK OR BROKER TO WITHDRAW THE SHARES FROM YOUR ACCOUNT IN ORDER TO EXERCISE YOUR REDEMPTION RIGHTS.

On behalf of our Board, I would like to thank you for your support of GigCapital2, Inc. and look forward to a successful completion of the Business Combinations.

Sincerely,

Dr. Avi S. Katz
Executive Chairman and Secretary

The above matters are more fully described in the accompanying proxy statement/prospectus, which also includes, as Annex A, Annex B and Annex C, copies of the Business Combination Agreements and a copy of the Second Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation. We urge you to read carefully the accompanying proxy statement/prospectus in its entirety, including the Annexes and accompanying financial statements of the Company, UpHealth, Cloudbreak, Thrasys, Glocal, TTC Healthcare, Innovations Group and Behavioral Health Services.

The record date for the Special Meeting is April 26, 2021. Only stockholders of record at the close of business on that date may vote at the Special Meeting or any adjournment thereof. A complete list of our stockholders of record entitled to vote at the Special Meeting will be available for ten days before the Special Meeting at our principal executive offices for inspection by stockholders during ordinary business hours for any purpose germane to the Special Meeting and electronically during the Special Meeting at <https://www.cstproxy.com/gigcapital2/2021>.

Pursuant to our certificate of incorporation, we are providing our stockholders that hold shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock that were included in the units issued in our initial public offering ("IPO") ("public stockholders" and such shares, "public shares"), with the opportunity to redeem, upon the Closing, public shares then held by them for cash equal to their pro rata share of the aggregate amount on deposit (as of two business days prior to the closing of the transactions contemplated by the Business Combination Agreements (the "Closing")) in our trust account (the "Trust Account") that holds the proceeds (including interest, which shall be net of taxes paid and taxes payable and amounts previously redeemed) of our IPO and such additional amounts as we may deposit into such trust account in connection with extensions of time for us to consummate the Business Combinations. The per-share amount we will distribute to public stockholders that properly redeem their shares will not be reduced by transaction expenses incurred by the Company, UpHealth and Cloudbreak in connection with the Business Combinations. For illustrative purposes, based on the fair value of marketable securities held in our Trust Account of approximately $168,000,000 as of January 31, 2021, the estimated per share redemption price would have been approximately $10.10 on such date. Public stockholders may elect to redeem their shares even if they vote for the Business Combinations. A public stockholder, together with any of his, her or its affiliates or any other person with whom it is acting in concert or as a "group" (as defined under Section 13d-3 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended), will be restricted from redeeming in the aggregate his, her or its shares or, if part of such a group, the group's shares, in excess of 15% of the public shares. We have no specified maximum redemption threshold under our certificate of incorporation, other than the aforementioned 15% threshold. Each redemption of shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock by our public stockholders will reduce the amount in our Trust Account, which held marketable securities with a fair value of approximately $168,000,000 as of January 31, 2021.

The Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement provides that Cloudbreak may terminate the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement if the funds in the Trust Account are less than an aggregate amount of $125,000,000. Furthermore, under the terms of the Convertible Note Subscription Agreements, a condition to the closing of the transactions contemplated by those agreements is that at least $50,000,000 remains in the Trust Account after giving effect to any redemptions. In addition, in no event will we redeem shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock in an amount that would result in the Company's failure to have net tangible assets equaling or exceeding $5,000,001 (so that we are not subject to the SEC's "penny stock" rules). Holders of our outstanding public warrants do not have redemption rights in connection with the Business Combinations. Unless otherwise specified, the information in the accompanying proxy statement/prospectus assumes that none of our public stockholders exercise their redemption rights with respect to their shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock.

Our initial stockholders prior to the IPO, including the Sponsor, one of our underwriters in our IPO, EarlyBirdCapital, Inc. ("EarlyBird"), and certain affiliates and employees of EarlyBird (the "EarlyBird Group") and an affiliate of another of our underwriters in our IPO, Northland Gig 2 Investment LLC, a Delaware limited liability company ("Northland Investment" and, together with the Sponsor and the EarlyBird Group, the "Founders") and the underwriter that is affiliated with Northland Investment, Northland Securities, Inc. ("Northland") (such Founders and Northland, our "Initial Stockholders") have agreed to vote their shares of Common Stock in favor of the Business Combinations. Currently, our Initial Stockholders own 4,995,000 shares of our Common Stock (the "Founder Shares"), including those that are a constituent security to a private placement unit (as defined below), or 23% of our issued and outstanding shares of Common Stock, including all of the Founder Shares (as defined below). The Founder Shares are subject to transfer restrictions. The Founder Shares will be excluded from the pro rata calculation used to determine the per-share redemption price.

On January 20, 2021, the Company entered into subscription agreements, each dated as of January 20, 2021 (the "PIPE Subscription Agreements"), with certain investors (collectively, the "PIPE Investors"), pursuant to which, among other things, the Company agreed to issue and sell to the PIPE Investors, in private placements to close immediately prior to the Closing, an aggregate of 3,000,000 shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock at $10.00 per share, for an aggregate purchase price of $30,000,000.

Also on January 20, 2021, the Company entered into subscription agreements, each dated as of January 20, 2021 (the "Convertible Note Subscription Agreements"), with certain investors (collectively, the "Convertible Note Investors"), pursuant to which, among other things, the Company agreed to issue and sell to the Convertible Note Investors, in private placements to close immediately prior to Closing, convertible notes due in 2026 ("Convertible Notes") for an aggregate purchase price of $255,000,000. The Convertible Notes are convertible into 22,173,913 shares of Common Stock at a conversion price of $11.50.

A majority of the voting power of all outstanding shares of capital stock of the Company entitled to vote must be present via the virtual meeting platform or by proxy to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business at the Special Meeting. Approval of each of the Business Combination Proposals, the NYSE Stock Issuance Proposal, the Incentive Plan Proposal, the Election of Directors Proposal and the Adjournment Proposal require the affirmative vote of a majority of the votes cast at the Special Meeting. Approval of the Charter Amendment Proposals require the affirmative vote of a majority of the outstanding shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock. The Board unanimously recommends that you vote "FOR" each of these proposals.

SUMMARY TERM SHEET

This summary term sheet, together with the sections entitled “Questions and Answers About the Proposals for Stockholders” and “Summary of the Proxy Statement/Prospectus,” summarizes certain information contained in this proxy statement/prospectus, but does not contain all of the information that is important to you. You should read carefully this entire proxy statement/prospectus, including the attached Annexes, for a more complete understanding of the matters to be considered at the Special Meeting. In addition, for definitions used commonly throughout this proxy statement/prospectus, including this summary term sheet, please see the section entitled “Frequently Used Terms.”

- The Company is a Private-to-Public Equity (PPE)TM company, also known as a blank check company or special purpose acquisition company, formed for the purpose of effecting a merger, capital stock exchange, asset acquisition, stock purchase, reorganization or similar business combination with one or more businesses.
- In connection with the Company’s IPO, we issued 15,000,000 units at a price of $10.00 per unit resulting in total gross proceeds of $150,000,000. Each unit consisted of one share of Common Stock, one warrant to purchase one share of Common Stock and one right to receive one-twentieth of one share of Common Stock.
- There are currently 19,812,315 shares of Common Stock, par value $0.0001 per share, issued and outstanding, including 14,817,315 shares of Common Stock originally sold as units as part of the IPO, 4,995,000 Founder Shares of Common Stock that were either initially issued or purchased as part of Private Placement Units (as defined below) or Private Underwriter Shares (as defined below) prior to our IPO by our Initial Stockholders (of which 687,500 shares are Private Placement Shares (as defined below) or Private Underwriter Shares). There are currently no shares of preferred stock issued and outstanding.
- In addition, we have 17,817,500 public warrants to purchase Common Stock (originally sold as part of the public units issued in our IPO) outstanding along with 567,500 Private Placement Warrants issued to our Initial Stockholders as part of the Private Placement Units. Each warrant entitles its holder to purchase one share of our Common Stock at an exercise price of $11.50 per whole share, to be exercised only for a whole number of shares of our Common Stock. The warrants will become exercisable 30 days after the completion of the Business Combinations, and they expire five years after the completion of the Business Combinations, at 5:00 p.m., New York City time, or earlier upon redemption or liquidation. Once the warrants become exercisable, the Company may redeem the outstanding public warrants at a price of $0.01 per warrant, if the last reported sales price of the Company’s Common Stock equals or exceeds $18.00 per share for any 20 trading days within a 30 trading day period ending on the third trading day prior to the date on which we give notice of such redemption and provided certain other conditions are met.
- For more information regarding our Common Stock, warrants and rights, please see the section entitled “Description of Securities.”

No additional consideration will be required to be paid by a holder of rights in order to receive its additional shares upon consummation of the Business Combinations, as the consideration related thereto has been included in the unit purchase price paid for by investors in our IPO. The shares issuable upon exchange of the rights will be freely tradable (except to the extent held by affiliates of ours). We will not issue fractional shares upon conversion of the rights.

- UpHealth is a global digital health company intent on creating a single, integrated platform of technologies and services essential to personalized, affordable and effective care globally. Its mission is to reshape care delivery and enable healthier communities through a simplified digital front door that connects evidence-based care, coordinated workflows and health services. UpHealth will offer patient-centric digital health technologies and tech-enabled services to integrate care and improve performance across four markets of the healthcare industry: integrated care management, digital pharmacy, global telehealth and behavioral health. Cloudbreak is a unified telemedicine and video medical interpretation solutions provider, offering over 50 languages on its approximately 18,000 customer end points on its video interpretation platform and ranking in the top 50 of the 2021 Nimdzi 100 ranking of the largest language service providers in the world. Cloudbreak's platform offers tele-interpretation (video and audio medical interpreting), telepsychiatry, telestroke, tele-urology, and other specialties, all with integrated language services for Limited English Proficient and Deaf/Hard-of-Hearing patients. For more information about UpHealth and Cloudbreak, please see the sections entitled "Information about New UpHealth," "Cloudbreak's Business," "UpHealth's Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations," "Cloudbreak's Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations," Management's Discussion and Analysis of the companies acquired or to be acquired by UpHealth and "Management after the Business Combinations."

- Subject to the terms of the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement and customary adjustments, at the effective time of the UpHealth Business Combination, each share of UpHealth capital stock issued and outstanding immediately prior to the effective time of the UpHealth Business Combination (other than shares owned by UpHealth as treasury stock or dissenting shares) will convert into a number of shares of Company Common Stock set forth in the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement (the "UpHealth merger consideration"), which aggregate amount, together with all payments made with respect to all vested UpHealth equity awards (including any equity awards that become vested prior to or in connection with the occurrence of the UpHealth Business Combination), shall not exceed 99,000,000 shares of Company Common Stock.
- Subject to the terms of the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement and customary adjustments, at the effective time of the Cloudbreak Business Combination, each Cloudbreak Unit of equity ownership issued and outstanding immediately prior to the effective time of the Cloudbreak Business Combination (other than dissenting units) will convert into a number of shares of Company Common Stock set forth in the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement (the "Cloudbreak merger consideration"), which aggregate amount, together with all payments made with respect to all vested Cloudbreak equity awards (including any equity awards that become vested prior to or in connection with the occurrence of the Cloudbreak Business Combination), shall not exceed 11,000,000 shares of Company Common Stock.
- The PIPE Investors (as defined below) have agreed to purchase 3,000,000 shares of Common Stock in the aggregate, for $30,000,000 of gross proceeds. On January 20, 2021, the Company entered into the PIPE Subscription Agreements (as defined below) with the PIPE Investors, pursuant to which, among other things, the Company agreed to issue and sell to the PIPE Investor, in a private placement to close immediately prior to the Closing, an aggregate of 3,000,000 shares of Common Stock at $10.00 per share, for an aggregate purchase price of $30,000,000.
- The Convertible Note Investors (as defined below) have agreed to purchase Convertible Notes pursuant to the Convertible Note Subscription Agreements (as defined below) with the Convertible Notes Investors, pursuant to which, among other things, the Company agreed to issue and sell to the Convertible Note Investors, in private placements to close immediately prior to the Closing, the Convertible Notes (as defined below) for an aggregate purchase price of $255,000,000. The Convertible Notes, which shall bear interest at a rate of 6.25% per annum, payable semi-annually, are convertible into 22,173,913 shares of Common Stock at a conversion price of $11.50.
- It is anticipated that, upon completion of the Business Combinations: (i) the Company's public stockholders (other than the PIPE Investors and the Convertible Note Investors) will retain an ownership interest of approximately 12.35% in the post-combination company; (ii) the PIPE Investors will own approximately 2.36% of the post-combination company (such that public stockholders, including the PIPE Investors, will own approximately 14.72% of the post-combination company);

(iii) our Initial Stockholders (including our Sponsor) will own approximately 3.90% of the post-combination company; (iv) the former UpHealth equity holders will own approximately 73.06% of the post-combination company, assuming $86,200,000 of cash is used to repurchase UpHealth shares and (v) the former Cloudbreak equity holders will own approximately 7.12% of the post-combination company, assuming no cash is used to repurchase Cloudbreak units. Upon the effective time, each outstanding and unsettled restricted stock unit in respect of shares of UpHealth Common Stock and Units Cloudbreak, options to purchase UpHealth Common Stock and Cloudbreak units and unvested restricted shares of UpHealth and Cloudbreak units will be rolled over into restricted stock units, options, or restricted shares, respectively, of Common Stock in accordance with the terms of the Business Combination Agreements.

- The ownership percentage with respect to the post-combination company following the Business Combinations does not take into account (i) warrants to purchase Common Stock that will remain outstanding immediately following the Business Combinations (ii) conversion of the Convertible Notes into shares of Common Stock or (iii) the issuance of any shares upon completion of the Business Combinations under the Incentive Plan, a copy of which is attached to this proxy statement/prospectus as Annex K. If the actual facts are different than these assumptions, the percentage ownership retained by the Company's existing stockholders in the post-combination company will be different. For more information, please see the sections entitled "Summary of the Proxy Statement/Prospectus—Impact of the Business Combinations on the Company's Public Float," "Unaudited Pro Forma Condensed Combined Financial Information" "Proposal No. 6—The Incentive Plan Proposal."
- Our management and Board considered various factors in determining whether to approve the Business Combination Agreements and the Business Combinations. For more information about our decision-making process, see the section entitled "Proposal No. 1—Approval of the UpHealth Business Combination—The Company's Board of Directors' Reasons for the Approval of the UpHealth Business Combination" and "Proposal No. 2—Approval of the Cloudbreak Business Combination—The Company's Board of Directors' Reasons for the Approval of the Cloudbreak Business Combination."
- Pursuant to our amended and restated certificate of incorporation in connection with the Business Combinations, holders of public shares may elect to have their public shares redeemed for cash at the applicable redemption price per share calculated in accordance with our certificate of incorporation. As of January 31, 2021, this would have amounted to approximately $10.10 per share. If a holder exercises its redemption rights, then such holder will be exchanging its shares of our Common Stock for cash and will no longer own shares of the post-combination company and will not participate in the future growth of the post-combination company, if any. Such a holder will be entitled to receive cash for its public shares only if it properly demands redemption and delivers its shares (either physically or electronically) to our Transfer Agent at least two business days prior to the Special Meeting. Please see the section entitled "Special Meeting of Company Stockholders—Redemption Rights."
- In addition to voting on the proposals to adopt the Business Combination Agreements and approve the transactions contemplated thereunder, including the Business Combinations, at the Special Meeting, the stockholders of the Company will be asked to vote on:
 - Proposal No. 3—The NYSE Stock Issuance Proposal—To approve, for purposes of complying with applicable listing rules of the NYSE, the issuance of more than 20% of the Company's outstanding Common Stock in connection with the Business Combinations, and the transactions contemplated by the PIPE Subscription Agreements and the Convertible Note Subscription Agreements, including up to 110,000,000 shares of Common Stock to the UpHealth and Cloudbreak equity holders, 3,000,000 shares of Common Stock to the PIPE Investors and 22,173,913 shares of our Common Stock upon conversion of the Convertible Notes (as defined below);

- Proposal No. 4—Classification of the Board of Directors Proposal—To adopt the classification of our board of directors into three classes of directors with staggered terms of office and to make certain related changes;
- Proposal No. 5A—Approval of Additional Amendments to Current Certificate of Incorporation in Connection with the Business Combinations Proposal - To approve certain additional changes, including but not limited to changing the post-combination company’s corporate name from “GigCapital2, Inc.” to “UpHealth, Inc.” and eliminating certain provisions specific to our status as a blank check company, which our Board believes are necessary to adequately address the needs of the post-combination company;
- Proposal No. 5B—Authorization of Exclusive Forum Provision —To authorize amendments to the existing exclusive forum provision for certain stockholder litigation, to provide that U.S. federal district courts are the sole and exclusive forum for claims arising under the Securities Act;
- Proposal No. 6—The Incentive Plan Proposal—To approve the Incentive Plan, including the authorization of the initial share reserve under the Incentive Plan;
- Proposal No. 7—Election of Directors Proposal—To consider and vote upon a proposal to elect, effective at Closing, nine directors to serve staggered terms on our board of directors until the 2022, 2023 and 2024 annual meetings of stockholders, respectively, and until their respective successors are duly elected and qualified; and
- Proposal No. 8—Adjournment Proposal—To approve, if necessary, the adjournment of the Special Meeting to a later date or dates to permit further solicitation and votes of proxies in the event that there are insufficient votes for, or otherwise in connection with, the approval of the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal, Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal, the NYSE Stock Issuance Proposal, the Charter Amendment Proposals, the Incentive Plan Proposal or the Election of Directors Proposal. This proposal will only be presented at the Special Meeting if there are not sufficient votes to approve the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal, the NYSE Stock Issuance Proposal, the Charter Amendment Proposals, the Incentive Plan Proposal or the Election of Directors Proposal.
- Please see the sections entitled “Proposal No. 1—Approval of the UpHealth Business Combination,” “Proposal No. 2—Approval of the Cloudbreak Business Combination,” “Proposal No. 3—The NYSE Stock Issuance Proposal,” “Proposal No. 4—Classification of the Board of Directors Proposal,” “Proposal No. 5A—Approval of Certain Governance Provisions in the Second Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation in Connection with the Business Combinations,” “Proposal No. 5B—Amendment to Exclusive Forum Provision,” “Proposal No. 6—The Incentive Plan Proposal,” “Proposal No. 7—the Election of Directors Proposal,” and “Proposal No. 8—The Adjournment Proposal.” Proposals in this proxy statement/prospectus (other than the Adjournment Proposal) are conditioned on the approval of the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal.
- Each of the Business Combination Agreements may be terminated at any time prior to the consummation of the Business Combinations, as applicable, upon agreement of the parties thereto, or by the Company, UpHealth or Cloudbreak, as applicable, in specified circumstances. For more information about the termination rights under the Business Combination Agreements, please see the section entitled “Proposal No. 1—Approval of the UpHealth Business Combination—The UpHealth Business Combination Agreement—Termination” and “Proposal No. 2—Approval of the Cloudbreak Business Combination—The Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement—Termination.”
- The proposed Business Combinations involve numerous risks. For more information about these risks, please see the section entitled “Risk Factors.”
- In considering the recommendation of our Board to vote in favor of the Business Combinations, stockholders should be aware that aside from their interests as stockholders, our Sponsor and certain members of our Board and officers have interests in the Business Combinations that are different from, or in addition to, those of other stockholders generally. Our Board was aware of and considered these interests, among other matters, in evaluating and negotiating the Business Combinations, and in recommending to stockholders that they approve the Business Combinations. Stockholders should take these interests into account in deciding whether to approve the Business Combinations. These interests include, among other things:

- the fact that our Initial Stockholders have agreed not to redeem any of the Founder Shares in connection with a stockholder vote to approve the Business Combinations;
- the fact that our Initial Stockholders have agreed to waive their rights to liquidating distributions from the Trust Account with respect to their Founder Shares if we fail to complete an initial business combination by the applicable deadline;
- if the Trust Account is liquidated, including in the event we are unable to complete an initial business combination within the required time period, our Sponsor has agreed to indemnify us to ensure that the proceeds in the Trust Account are not reduced below $10.00 per public share, or such lesser per public share amount as is in the Trust Account on the liquidation date, by the claims of prospective target businesses with which we have entered into an acquisition agreement or claims of any third party (other than our independent public accountants) for services rendered or products sold to us, but only if such a vendor or target business has not executed a waiver of any and all rights to seek access to the Trust Account;
- the continued indemnification of our existing directors and officers and the continuation of our directors' and officers' liability insurance after the Business Combinations;
- the fact that Dr. Avi Katz, Dr. Raluca Dinu and Neil Miotto will remain as board members of the post-combination company and each shall be entitled to receive compensation for serving on the board of directors of the post-combination company;
- the fact that we engaged the underwriters of our IPO as advisors to assist it in holding meetings with our stockholders to discuss potential business combination, introduce GigCapital2 to potential investors that are interested in purchasing our securities in connection with a potential business combination, assist it in obtaining stockholder approval for the business combination and assist us with our press releases and public filings in connection with a business combination. Pursuant to that agreement, we will pay the underwriters a cash fee for such services upon the consummation of the Business Combinations in an amount equal to, in the aggregate, 3.5% of the gross proceeds of the IPO, including any proceeds from the exercise of the over-allotment option; and
- the fact that our Sponsor, officers and directors will lose their entire investment in us if an initial business combination is not consummated by the applicable deadline. Prior to GigCapital2's initial public offering, our Founders purchased an aggregate of 4,307,500 Founder Shares for an aggregate purchase price of $25,000, or approximately $0.0058 per share (as compared to the $10.00 per share price being used to determine the number of shares of Common Stock being issued to the UpHealth and Cloudbreak equity holders in the Business Combinations or at which the PIPE Investors have agreed to purchase Common Stock), with the Sponsor purchasing 4,018,987 Founder Shares, Northland Investment purchasing 173,108 Founder Shares and the EarlyBird Group purchasing 115,405 Founder Shares. Additionally, the Founders purchased from GigCapital2 an aggregate of 567,500 Private Placement Units at a price of $10.00 per unit simultaneously with the consummation of GigCapital2's initial public offering for an aggregate purchase price of $5,675,000, with the Sponsor purchasing 481,250 Private Placement Units, Northland Investment purchasing 56,350 Private Placement Units and the EarlyBird Group purchasing 29,900 Private Placement Units. In addition, Northland concurrently purchased 120,000 Private Underwriter Shares at a price of $10.00 per share. Certain of GigCapital2's directors and executive officers, including Dr. Avi Katz, Dr. Raluca Dinu, Neil Miotto, John Mikulsky and Gil Frostig, also have a direct or indirect economic interest in the 481,250 Private Placement Units and in the 4,018,987 Founder Shares owned by the Sponsor. The 4,018,987 Founder Shares owned by the Sponsor would have had an aggregate market value of $40,390,819 based upon the closing price of $10.05 per public share on the NYSE on May 5, 2021, the most recent practicable date prior to the date of this proxy statement/prospectus. The 481,250 private placement units held by the Sponsor would have had an aggregate market value of $5,197,500 based upon the closing price of $10.80 per public unit on the NYSE on May 5, 2021, the most recent practicable date prior to the date of this proxy statement/prospectus. Additionally, the Sponsor, officers and directors do not currently have any unreimbursed out-of-pocket expenses in connection with the business combinations.

A: You are being asked to approve the following proposals:

1. Proposal No. 1—The UpHealth Business Combination Proposal—To approve and adopt the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement, a copy of which is attached to this proxy statement/prospectus as Annex A, and approve the transactions contemplated thereby, including the merger of UpHealth Merger Sub with and into UpHealth, with UpHealth surviving the merger, and the issuance of Common Stock to UpHealth equity holders as merger consideration;
2. Proposal No. 2—The Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal—To approve and adopt the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement, a copy of which is attached to this proxy statement/prospectus as Annex B, and approve the transactions contemplated thereby, including the merger of Cloudbreak Merger Sub with and into Cloudbreak, with Cloudbreak surviving the merger, and the issuance of Common Stock to Cloudbreak equity holders as merger consideration;
3. Proposal No. 3—The NYSE Stock Issuance Proposal—To approve, for purposes of complying with applicable listing rules of the NYSE, the issuance of more than 20% of the Company's outstanding Common Stock in connection with the Business Combinations, and the transactions contemplated by the PIPE Subscription Agreements and the Convertible Note Subscription Agreements, including up to 110,000,000 shares of Common Stock to UpHealth and Cloudbreak equity holders, 3,000,000 shares of Common Stock to the PIPE Investor and 22,173,913 shares of our Common Stock upon conversion of the Convertible Notes;

8. Proposal No. 7—Election of Directors Proposal - To elect the directors comprising the board of directors of New UpHealth; and

9. Proposal No. 8—Adjournment Proposal—To approve, if necessary, the adjournment of the Special Meeting to a later date or dates to permit further solicitation and votes of proxies in the event that there are insufficient votes for, or otherwise in connection with, the approval of the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal, Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal, the NYSE Stock Issuance Proposal, the Charter Amendment Proposals, the Incentive Plan Proposal or the Election of Directors Proposal. This proposal will only be presented at the Special Meeting if there are not sufficient votes to approve the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal, the NYSE Stock Issuance Proposal, the Charter Amendment Proposals, the Incentive Plan Proposal or the Election of Directors Proposal.

Q: Are the proposals conditioned on one another?

A: Yes. The proposals in this proxy statement/prospectus (other than the Adjournment Proposal) are conditioned on the approval of the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal. Therefore, approval of the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal, NYSE Stock Issuance Proposal, the Charter Amendment Proposals, the Incentive Plan Proposal and the Election of Directors Proposal are conditioned upon stockholders' approval of the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal. Moreover, the transactions contemplated by the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement will be consummated only if the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal, the NYSE Stock Issuance Proposal, the Charter Amendment Proposals, the Incentive Plan Proposal and the Election of Directors Proposal are approved at the Special Meeting.

It is important for you to note that in the event that the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal, the NYSE Stock Issuance Proposal, the Charter Amendment Proposals, the Incentive Plan Proposal or the Election of Directors Proposal do not receive the requisite vote for approval, we will not consummate the UpHealth Business Combination. It is also important for you to note that in the event that the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal does not receive the requisite vote for approval, we will not consummate the Cloudbreak Business Combination. If we do not consummate the Business Combinations and fail to complete an initial business combination by the applicable deadline, we will be required to dissolve and liquidate our Trust Account by returning the then remaining funds in such account to the public stockholders.

Our current deadline under our current amended and restated certificate of incorporation to consummate the Business Combinations is June 10, 2021. The UpHealth Business Combination Agreement may be terminated and the UpHealth Business Combination may be abandoned by GigCapital2 or UpHealth, provided, however, that if the SEC requires audited financial statements of UpHealth or any UpHealth Subsidiary for the year ended December 31, 2020 as a condition to the effectiveness of this Registration Statement, such date can be extended to a date subsequent to the availability of such financial statements and that is mutually agreed to by GigCapital2 and UpHealth. Similarly, the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement may be terminated and the Cloudbreak Business Combination may be abandoned if the effective time of the Cloudbreak Business Combination has not occurred prior to March 31, 2021, provided, however, that if the SEC requires audited financial statements of Cloudbreak for the year ended December 31, 2020 as a condition to the effectiveness of this Registration Statement, such date can be extended to May 14, 2021.

Q: Why are we providing stockholders with the opportunity to vote on the Business Combinations?

A: Under our current amended and restated certificate of incorporation, we must provide all holders of public shares with the opportunity to have their public shares redeemed upon the consummation of our initial business combination either in conjunction with a tender offer or in conjunction with a stockholder vote. For business and other reasons, we have elected to provide our stockholders with the opportunity to have their public shares redeemed in connection with a stockholder vote, rather than a tender offer. Therefore, we are seeking to obtain the approval of our stockholders of each of the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal and the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal in order to allow our public stockholders to effectuate redemptions of their public shares in connection with the Closing. The adoption of the Business Combination Agreements is required under Delaware law and the approval of the Business Combinations are required under our current amended and restated certificate of incorporation. In addition, such approval is also a condition to the Closing under each of the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement and the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement.

A: Yes. We intend to apply to continue the listing of our Common Stock and warrants on the NYSE under the symbols “UPH” and “UPH.WS”, respectively, upon the Closing. Our units will automatically separate into the component securities upon consummation of the Business Combinations and, as a result, will no longer trade as a separate security.

Q: How has the announcement of the Business Combinations affected the trading price of our Common Stock?

A: On November 23, 2020, the trading date immediately prior to the public announcement of the Business Combinations, our Common Stock, public warrants, public units and public rights closed at $10.09, $0.45, $10.21 and $0.23, respectively. On May 12, 2021, the trading date immediately prior to the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, our Common Stock, public warrants, public units and public rights closed at $10.04, $0.72, $10.95 and $0.38, respectively.

Q: How will the Business Combinations impact the shares of the Company outstanding after the Business Combinations?

A: After the Business Combinations and the consummation of the transactions contemplated thereby, the amount of Common Stock outstanding will increase by approximately 595% to approximately 128,942,357 shares of Common Stock (assuming that no shares of Common Stock are redeemed). Additional shares of Common Stock may be issuable in the future as a result of the issuance of additional shares that are not currently outstanding, including the issuance of shares of Common Stock upon exercise or settlement of the public warrants, Private Placement Warrants, options and RSUs issued in connection with the Business Combinations after the Business Combinations. The issuance and sale of such shares in the public market could adversely impact the market price of our Common Stock, even if our business is doing well.

Q: Are the Business Combinations the first step in a “going private” transaction?

A: No. We do not intend for the Business Combinations to be the first step in a “going private” transaction. One of the primary purposes of the Business Combinations are to provide a platform for each of UpHealth and Cloudbreak to access the U.S. public markets.

Q: Did the Company’s board of directors obtain a third-party valuation or fairness opinion in determining whether or not to proceed with the Business Combinations?

A: No. The Company’s board of directors did not obtain a third-party valuation or fairness opinion in connection with its determination to approve the Business Combinations. Accordingly, investors will be relying solely on the judgment of the Company’s board of directors in valuing each of UpHealth and Cloudbreak and assuming the risk that the Company’s board may not have properly valued the businesses. However, the Company’s officers and directors have substantial experience in evaluating the operating and financial merits of companies from a wide range of industries and have substantial experience with mergers and acquisitions. Furthermore, in analyzing the Business Combinations, the Company’s board of directors conducted significant due diligence on each of UpHealth and Cloudbreak. Based on the foregoing, the Company’s board of directors concluded that its members’ collective experience and backgrounds, together with the experience and sector expertise of the Company’s advisors, enabled it to make the necessary analyses and determinations regarding the Business Combinations, including that the Business Combinations were fair from a financial perspective to its stockholders and that collectively UpHealth’s and Cloudbreak’s fair market value was at least 80% of the assets held in the trust account (excluding the deferred underwriting commissions and taxes payable on interest earned on the trust account) at the time of the agreement to enter into the Business Combinations. There can be no assurance, however, that the Company’s board of directors was correct in its assessment of the Business Combinations.

Q: Will the management and board of directors of UpHealth and Cloudbreak change in the Business Combinations?

A: We anticipate that all of the executive officers of UpHealth and Cloudbreak will remain with the post-combination company. Upon completion of the Business Combinations, Dr. Katz will continue as the co-chairman of the board of the directors of the post-combination company; our current directors will resign from our Board (other than Dr. Katz, Dr. Raluca Dinu and Neil Miotto). The board of directors of the post-combination company will be comprised of Dr. Katz, Dr. Raluca Dinu, Dr. Chirinjeev Kathuria, Neil Miotto, Dr. Mariya Pylypiv, Nathan Locke, Agnès Rey-Giraud, Jerome Ringo and Moshe Bar-Siman-Tov.

Q: What equity stake will current stockholders of the Company, the UpHealth equity holders and the Cloudbreak equity holders hold in the post-combination company after the Closing?

A: It is anticipated that, upon completion of the Business Combinations, assuming no redemptions: (i) the Company's public stockholders will retain an ownership interest of approximately 12.35% in the post-combination company (not including shares beneficially owned by our Sponsor); (ii) the PIPE Investors will own approximately 2.36% of the post-combination company (such that public stockholders, including the PIPE Investors, will own approximately 14.72% of the post-combination company); (iii) our Initial Stockholders (including our Sponsor) will own approximately 3.96% of the post-combination company; (iv) the former UpHealth equity holders will own approximately 74.22% of the post-combination company, assuming $86,200,000 of cash is used to repurchase UpHealth shares and (v) the former Cloudbreak equity holders will own approximately 7.11% of the post-combination company, assuming no cash is used to repurchase Cloudbreak Units.

The ownership percentage with respect to the post-combination company following the Business Combinations does not take into account (i) warrants to purchase Common Stock that will remain outstanding immediately following the Business Combinations or (ii) conversion of the Convertible Notes into shares of Common Stock or (iii) the issuance of any shares upon completion of the Business Combinations under the Incentive Plan, a copy of which is attached to this proxy statement/prospectus as Annex K. If the actual facts are different than these assumptions, the percentage ownership retained by the Company's existing stockholders in the post-combination company will be different. For more information, please see the sections entitled "Summary of the Proxy Statement/Prospectus—Impact of the Business Combinations on the Company's Public Float," "Unaudited Pro Forma Condensed Combined Financial Information" and "Proposal No. 6—The Incentive Plan Proposal."

Q: Will we obtain new financing in connection with the Business Combinations?

A: Yes. The PIPE Investors have agreed to purchase 3,000,000 shares of Common Stock in the aggregate, for $30,000,000 of gross proceeds, pursuant to the PIPE Subscription Agreements. The PIPE Subscription Agreements are contingent upon, among other things, stockholder approval of the Business Combination Proposals and the Closing. For additional information, please see the sections entitled "Proposal No. 1—Approval of the UpHealth Business Combination—The UpHealth Business Combination Agreement" and "Proposal No. 2—Approval of the Cloudbreak Business Combination—The Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement."

Additionally, the Convertible Note Investors have agreed to purchase an aggregate of $255,000,000 of gross proceeds, pursuant to the Convertible Note Subscription Agreements. The Convertible Note Subscription Agreements are contingent upon, among other things, stockholder approval of the Business Combination Proposals and the Closing. For additional information, please see the sections entitled "Proposal No. 1—Approval of the UpHealth Business Combination—The UpHealth Business Combination Agreement" and "Proposal No. 2—Approval of the Cloudbreak Business Combination—The Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement."

Q: What conditions must be satisfied to complete the Business Combinations?

A: There are a number of closing conditions in the Business Combination Agreements, including the approval by the stockholders of the Company of the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal, the Cloudbreak

Business Combination Proposal, the NYSE Stock Issuance Proposal, the Charter Amendment Proposals, the Incentive Plan Proposal and the Election of Directors Proposal. For a summary of the conditions that must be satisfied or waived prior to completion of the Business Combinations, please see the sections entitled “Proposal No. 1—Approval of the UpHealth Business Combination—The UpHealth Business Combination Agreement” and “Proposal No. 2—Approval of the Cloudbreak Business Combination—The Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement”

Q: Are there any arrangements to help ensure that the Company will have sufficient funds, together with the proceeds in its Trust Account, to fund the aggregate purchase price?

A: Unless waived by each of UpHealth and Cloudbreak, as applicable, the Business Combination Agreements provide that UpHealth’s and Cloudbreak’s obligations to consummate the Business Combinations are conditioned on the funds in the Trust Account being no less than an aggregate amount of $150,000,000. The PIPE Investors have agreed to purchase approximately 3,000,000 shares of Common Stock at $10.00 per share for gross proceeds to the Company of approximately $30,000,000 pursuant to PIPE Subscription Agreements entered into on January 20, 2021. Additionally, the Convertible Note Investors have agreed to purchase an aggregate amount of gross proceeds of $255,000,000 pursuant to the Convertible Note Subscription Agreements entered into on January 20, 2021. Each of the PIPE Investment and the Convertible Note Investment is contingent upon, among other things, stockholder approval of the Business Combination Proposals and the Closing. In addition, the Convertible Note Investment is also contingent upon there being, in addition to the aggregate amount of $150,000,000 in total funding available from any source, at least $50,000,000 of such funding from funds remaining in the Trust Account on the Closing after taking into account redemptions by the Company’s public stockholders (if any).

The Company will use the funds in the Trust Account to: (i) pay Company stockholders who properly exercise their redemption rights; and, provided that there are funds remaining after this payment, (ii) pay certain other fees, costs and expenses (including regulatory fees, legal fees, accounting fees, printer fees and other professional fees) that were incurred by the Company and other parties to the Business Combination Agreements in connection with the transactions contemplated by the Business Combination Agreements, including the Business Combinations, and pursuant to the terms of the Business Combination Agreements.

Q: Why is the Company proposing the NYSE Stock Issuance Proposal?

A: We are proposing the NYSE Stock Issuance Proposal in order to comply with NYSE Listing Rule 312.03, which requires stockholder approval of certain transactions that result in the issuance of 20% or more of the outstanding voting power or shares of Common Stock outstanding before the issuance of stock or securities.

In connection with the Business Combinations, we expect to issue up to 110,000,000 shares of Common Stock in the Business Combinations, subject to certain adjustments and less the Thrasy’s Incentive Amount and the amounts into which the Exchanged Options are exchanged. Because we may issue 20% or more of our outstanding Common Stock when considering together the Common Stock Consideration, we are required to obtain stockholder approval of such issuance pursuant to NYSE Listing Rule 312.03(c). For more information, please see the section entitled “Proposal No. 3—The NYSE Stock Issuance Proposal.”

Q: Why is the Company proposing the Charter Amendment Proposals?

A: The Second Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation that we are asking our stockholders to adopt in connection with the Business Combinations (the “Charter Amendment Proposals”) provides for certain amendments to our current amended and restated certificate of incorporation. Pursuant to Delaware law and the Business Combination Agreements, we are required to submit the Charter Amendment Proposals to the Company’s stockholders for adoption. For additional information please see the sections entitled “Proposal No. 4—Classification of the Board of Directors Proposal” “Proposal No. 5A—Approval of Additional

Amendments to Current Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation in Connection with the Business Combinations and “Proposal 5B—Amendment to Exclusive Forum Provision Proposal.”

Q: Why is the Company proposing the Incentive Plan Proposal?

A: The purpose of the Incentive Plan Proposal is to further align the interests of the eligible participants with those of stockholders by providing long-term incentive compensation opportunities tied to the performance of the Company. Please see the section entitled “Proposal No. 6—The Incentive Plan Proposal” for additional information.

Q: Why is the Company proposing the Election of Directors Proposal?

A: The purpose of the Election of Directors Proposal is to elect the directors comprising the board of directors of New UpHealth after the Closing Date of the Business Combinations. For more information about the election of the individuals nominated to serve as directors of New UpHealth, please see the section entitled “Proposal No. 7—Election of Directors Proposal.”

Q: Why is the Company proposing the Adjournment Proposal?

A: We are proposing the Adjournment Proposal to allow our Board to adjourn the Special Meeting to a later date or dates to permit further solicitation of proxies in the event that there are insufficient votes for, or otherwise in connection with, the approval of the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal, the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal, the NYSE Stock Issuance Proposal, the Charter Amendment Proposals, the Incentive Plan Proposal or the Election of Directors Proposal, but no other proposal if the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal, the NYSE Stock Issuance Proposal, the Charter Amendment Proposals, the Incentive Plan Proposal and the Election of Directors Proposal are approved. Please see the section entitled “Proposal No. 8—The Adjournment Proposal” for additional information.

Q: What happens if you sell your shares of Common Stock before the Special Meeting?

A: The record date for the Special Meeting is earlier than the date of the Special Meeting. If you transfer your shares of Common Stock after the record date, but before the Special Meeting, unless the transferee obtains from you a proxy to vote those shares, you will retain your right to vote at the Special Meeting. However, you will not be able to seek redemption of your shares of Common Stock because you will no longer be able to deliver them two business days prior to the Special Meeting. If you transfer your shares of Common Stock prior to the record date, you will have no right to vote those shares at the Special Meeting or redeem those shares for a pro rata portion of the proceeds held in our Trust Account.

Q: What constitutes a quorum at the Special Meeting?

A: A majority of the voting power of all outstanding shares of the capital stock of the Company entitled to vote must be present in person or by proxy (which would include presence at the virtual Special Meeting) to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business at the Special Meeting. Abstentions will be counted as present for the purpose of determining a quorum. Our Initial Stockholders, who currently own approximately 23% of our issued and outstanding shares of Common Stock, will count towards this quorum. In the absence of a quorum, the chairman of the Special Meeting has power to adjourn the Special Meeting. As of the record date for the Special Meeting, 9,906,158 shares of our Common Stock would be required to achieve a quorum.

Q: What vote is required to approve the proposals presented at the Special Meeting?

A:

Proposal 1—The UpHealth Business Combination Proposal: The approval of the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal requires the affirmative vote of a majority of the votes cast by the stockholders present in person or represented by proxy and entitled to vote at the Special Meeting. Accordingly, a Company stockholder's failure to vote, as well as an abstention from voting and a broker non-vote, will have no effect on the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal. Abstentions will be counted in connection with the determination of whether a valid quorum is established but will have no effect on the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal. Our Initial Stockholders have agreed to vote their shares of Common Stock "FOR" the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal.

Proposal 2—The Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal: The approval of the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal requires the affirmative vote of a majority of the votes cast by the stockholders present in person or represented by proxy and entitled to vote at the Special Meeting. Accordingly, a Company stockholder's failure to vote, as well as an abstention from voting and a broker non-vote, will have no effect on the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal. Abstentions will be counted in connection with the determination of whether a valid quorum is established but will have no effect on the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal. Our Initial Stockholders have agreed to vote their shares of Common Stock "FOR" the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal.

Proposal 3—The NYSE Stock Issuance Proposal: The approval of the NYSE Stock Issuance Proposal requires the affirmative vote of a majority of the votes cast by the stockholders present in person or represented by proxy and entitled to vote at the Special Meeting. Accordingly, under Delaware law, a Company stockholder's failure to vote, as well as an abstention and broker non-vote, will have no effect on the NYSE Stock Issuance Proposal. For purposes of NYSE rules, however, abstentions are treated as "votes cast" and will be counted as votes "AGAINST" this proposal. Abstentions will be counted in connection with the determination of whether a valid quorum is established.

Proposal 4—Classification of the Board of Directors Proposal: The approval of the classification of our board of directors into three classes of directors with staggered terms of office and to make certain related changes requires the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the outstanding shares of our Common Stock entitled to vote thereon at the Special Meeting. Accordingly, a Company stockholder's failure to vote, as well as an abstention from voting and a broker non-vote, will have the same effect as a vote "AGAINST" such Proposal No. 4.

Proposal 5A—Approval of Additional Amendments to Current Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation in Connection with the Business Combinations Proposal: The approval of certain additional changes, including but not limited to changing the post-combination company's corporate name from "GigCapital2, Inc." to "UpHealth, Inc." and eliminating certain provisions specific to our status as a blank check company, which our Board believes are necessary to adequately address the needs of the post-combination company, requires the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the outstanding shares of our Common Stock entitled to vote thereon at the Special Meeting. Accordingly, a Company stockholder's failure to vote, as well as an abstention from voting and a broker non-vote, will have the same effect as a vote "AGAINST" such Proposal No. 5A.

Proposal No. 5B—Amendment to Exclusive Forum Provision Proposal: To authorize amendments to the existing exclusive forum provision for certain stockholder litigation to provide that U.S. federal district courts are the sole and exclusive forum for claims arising under the Securities Act requires the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the outstanding shares of Common Stock entitled to vote at the Special Meeting. Accordingly, a Company stockholder's failure to vote, as well as an abstention from voting and a broker non-vote, will have the same effect as a vote "AGAINST" such Proposal No. 5B.

Proposal 6—The Incentive Plan Proposal: The approval of the Incentive Plan Proposal requires the affirmative vote of a majority of the votes cast by the stockholders present in person or represented by proxy and entitled to vote at the Special Meeting. Accordingly, under Delaware law, a Company stockholder's failure to vote by proxy, as well as an abstention and broker non-vote, will have no effect on the Incentive Plan Proposal. For purposes of NYSE rules, however, abstentions are treated as "votes cast" and will be counted as votes “AGAINST” this proposal. Abstentions will be counted in connection with the determination of whether a valid quorum is established.

Proposal No. 7—Election of Directors Proposal: The approval of the Election of Directors Proposal requires the affirmative vote of a majority of the votes cast by the stockholders present in person or represented by proxy and entitled to vote at the Special Meeting. Accordingly, under Delaware law, a Company stockholder’s failure to vote by proxy, as well as an abstention and broker non-vote, will have no effect on the Election of Directors Proposal. For purposes of NYSE rules, however, abstentions are treated as “votes cast” and will be counted as votes “AGAINST” this proposal. Abstentions will be counted in connection with the determination of whether a valid quorum is established.

Proposal 8—The Adjournment Proposal: The approval of the Adjournment Proposal requires the affirmative vote of a majority of the votes cast by the stockholders present in person or represented by proxy and entitled to vote at the Special Meeting. Accordingly, a Company stockholder’s failure to vote, as well as an abstention from voting and a broker non-vote, will have no effect on the Adjournment Proposal. Abstentions will be counted in connection with the determination of whether a valid quorum is established but will have no effect on the Adjournment Proposal.

Q: What happens if the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal is not approved?

A: If the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal is not approved and we do not consummate a business combination by June 10, 2021, we will be required to dissolve and liquidate our Trust Account, unless we amend our certificate of incorporation again to further extend the time that we have to consummate a business combination.

Q: What happens if the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal is not approved?

A: If the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal is not approved and we do not consummate a business combination by June 10, 2021, we will be required to dissolve and liquidate our Trust Account, unless we amend our certificate of incorporation again to further extend the time that we have to consummate a business combination.

Q: May the Company, the Founders or the Company’s directors or officers or their affiliates purchase shares in connection with the Business Combination?

A: In connection with the stockholder vote to approve the proposed Business Combinations, our Sponsor, directors or officers or their respective affiliates may privately negotiate transactions to purchase shares from stockholders who would have otherwise elected to have their shares redeemed in conjunction with a proxy solicitation pursuant to the proxy rules for a per-share pro rata portion of the Trust Account. None of our directors or officers or their respective affiliates will make any such purchases when they are in possession of any material non-public information not disclosed to the seller or during a restricted period under Regulation M under the Exchange Act. Such a purchase may include a contractual acknowledgement that such selling stockholder, although still the record holder of our shares, is no longer the beneficial owner thereof and therefore agrees not to exercise its redemption rights, and could include a contractual provision that directs such selling stockholder to vote such shares in a manner directed by the purchaser. In the event that our Sponsor, directors or officers or their affiliates purchase shares in privately negotiated transactions from public stockholders who have already elected to exercise their redemption rights, such selling stockholders would be required to revoke their prior elections to redeem their shares. Any such privately negotiated purchases may be effected at purchase prices that are below or in excess of the per share pro rata portion of the Trust Account.

Q: How many votes do you have at the Special Meeting?

A: Each stockholder is entitled to one vote on each proposal presented at the Special Meeting for each share of Common Stock held of record by such stockholder as of April 26, 2021, the record date for the Special Meeting. As of the close of business on the record date, there were 19,812,315 outstanding shares of our Common Stock.

Q: How will our Initial Stockholders, directors and officers vote?

A: Prior to our IPO, we entered into agreements with our Initial Stockholders, pursuant to which each Initial Stockholder agreed to vote any shares of Common Stock owned by them in favor of the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal and the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal. Currently, our Initial Stockholders own 23% of our issued and outstanding shares of Common Stock, and will be able to vote all such shares at the Special Meeting.

Q: How do I vote?

A: If you were a stockholder of record on April 26, 2021, you may vote by granting a proxy. Specifically, you may vote:

- By Mail—You may vote by mail by completing, signing, dating and returning the enclosed proxy card in the postage-paid envelope provided. Votes submitted by mail must be received by 5:00 p.m. Eastern Time (EDT) on June 3, 2021.
 - You should sign your name exactly as it appears on the proxy card. If you are signing in a representative capacity (for example, as guardian, executor, trustee, custodian, attorney or officer of a corporation), indicate your name and title or capacity.
 - We encourage you to sign and return the proxy card even if you plan to attend the Special Meeting so that your shares will be voted if you are unable to attend the Special Meeting.
 - If you receive more than one proxy card, it is an indication that your shares are held in multiple accounts. Please sign and return all proxy cards to ensure that all of your shares are voted.
- Voting at the Special Meeting—We will be hosting the Special Meeting via live webcast. If you attend the Special Meeting, you may submit your vote at the Special Meeting online at <https://www.cstproxy.com/gigcapital2/2021>, in which case any votes that you previously submitted will be superseded by the vote that you cast at the Special Meeting.

If you hold your shares in street name, you must submit voting instructions to your broker, bank or other nominee. In most instances, you will be able to do this over the Internet, by telephone or by mail. Please refer to information from your bank, broker, or other nominee on how to submit voting instructions.

Q: What will happen if I abstain from voting or fail to vote at the Special Meeting?

A: At the Special Meeting, we will count a properly executed proxy marked “ABSTAIN” with respect to a particular proposal as present for purposes of determining whether a quorum is present. For purposes of approval, a failure to vote or an abstention will have no effect on the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal, the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal, and the Adjournment Proposal. However, an abstention or failure to vote will have the same effect as a vote “AGAINST” the Charter Amendment Proposals. In addition, for purposes of the NYSE Stock Issuance Proposal, the Incentive Plan Proposal and the Election of Directors Proposal, the NYSE considers an abstention vote as a “vote cast”, and therefore, an abstention will have the same effect as a vote “AGAINST” such proposals, while a failure to vote will have no effect on these two proposals.

Q: What will happen if I sign and return my proxy card without indicating how I wish to vote?

A: Signed and dated proxies received by us without an indication of how the stockholder intends to vote on a proposal will be voted “FOR” each proposal presented to the stockholders. The proxyholders may use their discretion to vote on any other matters which properly come before the Special Meeting.

Q: If I am not going to attend the Special Meeting, should I return my proxy card instead?

A: Yes. Whether you plan to attend the Special Meeting or not, please read the enclosed proxy statement/prospectus carefully. If you are a stockholder of record of our Common Stock as of the close of business on the record date, you can vote by proxy by mail by following the instructions provided in the enclosed proxy card. Please note that if you are a beneficial owner of our Common Stock, you may vote by submitting voting instructions to your broker, bank or nominee, or otherwise by following instructions provided by your broker, bank or nominee. Telephone and internet voting may be available to beneficial owners. Please refer to the vote instruction form provided by your broker, bank or nominee.

Q: What is the difference between a stockholder of record and a “street name” holder?

A: If your shares are registered directly in your name with the Company’s transfer agent, Continental Stock Transfer & Trust Company, you are considered the stockholder of record with respect to those shares, and access to proxy materials is being provided directly to you. If your shares are held in a stock brokerage account or by a bank or other nominee, then you are considered the beneficial owner of those shares, which are considered to be held in “street name.” Access to proxy materials is being provided to you by your broker, bank or other nominee who is considered the stockholder of record with respect to those shares.

Q: If my shares are held in “street name,” will my broker, bank or nominee automatically vote my shares for me?

A: No. Under the rules of various national and regional securities exchanges, your broker, bank, or nominee cannot vote your shares with respect to non-routine matters unless you provide instructions on how to vote in accordance with the information and procedures provided to you by your broker, bank, or nominee. We believe the proposals presented to the stockholders at this Special Meeting will be considered non-routine and, therefore, your broker, bank, or nominee cannot vote your shares without your instruction on any of the proposals presented at the Special Meeting. If you do not submit voting instructions, your broker, bank, or other nominee may deliver a proxy card expressly indicating that it is NOT voting your shares; this indication that a broker, bank, or nominee is not voting your shares is referred to as a “broker non-vote.” Broker non-votes will not be counted for the purposes of determining the existence of a quorum or for purposes of determining the number of votes cast at the Special Meeting. Your bank, broker, or other nominee can vote your shares only if you provide instructions on how to vote. You should instruct your broker to vote your shares in accordance with directions you provide.

Q: How will a broker non-vote impact the results of each proposal?

A: Broker non-votes will count as a vote “AGAINST” the Charter Amendment Proposals but will not have any effect on the outcome of any other Proposals.

Q: May I change my vote after I have returned my signed proxy card or voting instruction form?

A: Yes. If you are a holder of record of our Common Stock as of the close of business on the record date, whether you vote by mail or in person, you can change or revoke your proxy before it is voted at the Special Meeting by:

- delivering a signed written notice of revocation to our Secretary at GigCapital2, Inc., 1731 Embarcadero Rd., Suite 200, Palo Alto, California 94303, bearing a date later than the date of the proxy, stating that the proxy is revoked;
- signing and delivering a new proxy, relating to the same shares and bearing a later date; or
- attending the Special Meeting and voting, although attendance at the special meeting will not, by itself, revoke a proxy.

If you are a beneficial owner of our Common Stock as of the close of business on the record date, you must follow the instructions of your broker, bank or other nominee to revoke or change your voting instructions.

Q: What should I do if I receive more than one set of voting materials?

A: You may receive more than one set of voting materials, including multiple copies of this proxy statement/prospectus and multiple proxy cards or voting instruction cards. For example, if you hold your shares in more than one brokerage account, you will receive a separate voting instruction card for each brokerage account in which you hold shares. If you are a holder of record and your shares are registered in more than one name, you will receive more than one proxy card. Please complete, sign, date and return each proxy card and voting instruction card that you receive in order to cast your vote with respect to all of your shares.

Q: What interests do our Founders and our current officers and directors have in the Business Combination?

A: Our Founders and certain members of our Board and officers have interests in the Business Combinations that are different from or in addition to (and which may conflict with) your interests. You should take these interests into account in deciding whether to approve the Business Combinations. These interests include but are not limited to:

- the fact that our Initial Stockholders have agreed not to redeem any of the Founder Shares in connection with a stockholder vote to approve the Business Combinations;
- the fact that our Initial Stockholders have agreed to waive their rights to liquidating distributions from the Trust Account with respect to their Founder Shares if we fail to complete an initial business combination by the applicable deadline;
- if the Trust Account is liquidated, including in the event we are unable to complete an initial business combination within the required time period, our Sponsor has agreed to indemnify us to ensure that the proceeds in the Trust Account are not reduced below $10.00 per public share, or such lesser per public share amount as is in the Trust Account on the liquidation date, by the claims of prospective target businesses with which we have entered into an acquisition agreement or claims of any third party (other than our independent public accountants) for services rendered or products sold to us, but only if such a vendor or target business has not executed a waiver of any and all rights to seek access to the Trust Account;
- the continued indemnification of our existing directors and officers and the continuation of our directors' and officers' liability insurance after the Business Combinations;
- the fact that Dr. Avi Katz, Dr. Raluca Dinu and Neil Miotto will remain as board members of the post-combination company and each shall be entitled to receive compensation for serving on the board of directors of the post-combination company;
- the fact that we engaged the underwriters of our IPO as advisors to assist it in holding meetings with our stockholders to discuss potential business combination, introduce GigCapital2 to potential investors that are interested in purchasing our securities in connection with a potential business combination, assist it in obtaining stockholder approval for the business combination and assist us with our press releases and public filings in connection with a business combination. Pursuant to that agreement, we will pay the underwriters a cash fee for such services upon the consummation of the Business Combinations in an amount equal to, in the aggregate, 3.5% of the gross proceeds of the IPO, including any proceeds from the exercise of the over-allotment option; and
- the fact that our Sponsor, officers and directors will lose their entire investment in us if an initial business combination is not consummated by the applicable deadline. Prior to GigCapital2's initial public offering, our Founders purchased an aggregate of 4,307,500 Founder Shares for an aggregate purchase price of $25,000, or approximately $0.0058 per share (as compared to the $10.00 per share price being used to determine the number of shares of Common Stock being issued to the UpHealth and Cloudbreak equity holders in the Business Combinations or at which the PIPE Investors have agreed to purchase Common Stock), with the Sponsor purchasing 4,018,987 Founder Shares, Northland Investment purchasing 173,108 Founder Shares and the EarlyBird Group purchasing 115,405 Founder Shares. Additionally, the Founders purchased from GigCapital2 an aggregate of 567,500 Private Placement Units at a price of $10.00 per unit simultaneously with the consummation of GigCapital2's initial public offering for an aggregate purchase price of $5,675,000, with the Sponsor purchasing 481,250 Private Placement Units, Northland Investment purchasing 56,350 Private Placement Units and the EarlyBird Group purchasing 29,900 Private Placement Units. In addition, Northland concurrently purchased 120,000 Private Underwriter Shares at a price of $10.00 per share. Certain of GigCapital2's directors and executive officers, including Dr. Avi Katz, Dr. Raluca Dinu, Neil Miotto, John Mikulsky and Gil Frostig, also have a direct or indirect economic interest in the 481,250 Private Placement Units and in the 4,018,987 Founder Shares owned by the Sponsor. The 4,018,987 Founder Shares owned by the Sponsor would have had an aggregate market value of $40,390,819 based upon the closing price of $10.05 per public share on the NYSE on May 5, 2021, the most recent practicable date prior to the date of this proxy statement/prospectus. The 481,250 private placement units held by the Sponsor would have had an aggregate market value of $5,197,500 based upon the closing price of $10.80 per public unit on the NYSE on May 5, 2021, the most recent practicable date prior to the date of this proxy statement/prospectus.

These interests may influence our directors in making their recommendation that you vote in favor of the approval of the Business Combinations. See the sections entitled "Proposal No. 1—Approval of the UpHealth Business Combination—Interests of Certain Persons in the Business Combination", "Proposal No. 2—Approval of the Cloudbreak Business Combination—Interests of Certain Persons in the Business Combination" and "Information about the Company Prior to the Business Combinations—Conflicts of Interest" for a complete description of such interests.

Q: What happens if you vote against the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal?

A: If you vote against the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal but the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal still obtains the affirmative vote of a majority of the votes cast by holders of our Common Stock represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote at the Special Meeting, then the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal will be approved and, assuming the approval of the NYSE Stock Issuance Proposal and the Charter Amendment Proposals and the satisfaction or waiver of the other conditions to closing, the UpHealth Business Combination will be consummated in accordance with the terms of the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement.

If you vote against the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal and the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal does not obtain the affirmative vote of a majority of the votes cast by holders of our Common Stock represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote at the Special Meeting, then the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal will fail and we will not consummate the UpHealth Business Combination. If we do not consummate the UpHealth Business Combination, we may continue to try to complete a business combination with a different target business until the applicable deadline. If we fail to complete an initial business combination by the applicable deadline, then we will be required to dissolve and liquidate the Trust Account by returning the then-remaining funds in such account to our public stockholders.

Q: What happens if you vote against the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal?

A: If you vote against the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal but the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal still obtains the affirmative vote of a majority of the votes cast by holders of our Common Stock represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote at the Special Meeting, then the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal will be approved and, assuming the approval of the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal, NYSE Stock Issuance Proposal and the Charter Amendment Proposals and the satisfaction or waiver of the other conditions to closing, the Cloudbreak Business Combination will be consummated in accordance with the terms of the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement.

If you vote against the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal and the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal does not obtain the affirmative vote of a majority of the votes cast by holders of our of Common Stock represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote at the Special Meeting, then the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal will fail and we will not consummate the Cloudbreak Business Combination. If we do not consummate the Cloudbreak Business Combination, we may continue to try to complete a the UpHealth Business Combination or a business combination with a different target business until the applicable deadline. If we fail to complete an initial business combination by the applicable deadline, then we will be required to dissolve and liquidate the Trust Account by returning the then-remaining funds in such account to our public stockholders.

Q: Do you have Redemption Rights?

A: Pursuant to our amended and restated certificate of incorporation, we are providing our public stockholders with the opportunity to redeem, upon the Closing, shares of Common Stock for cash equal to the pro rata share of the aggregate amount on deposit (as of two business days prior to the Closing) in the Trust Account that holds the proceeds of our IPO (including interest not previously released to the Company to pay franchise and income taxes), subject to certain limitations. For illustrative purposes, based on the balance of the Trust Account of $168,000,000 as of January 31, 2021, the estimated per share redemption price would have been approximately $10.10. Public stockholders may elect to redeem their shares even if they vote for the Business Combinations. Any request to redeem public shares, once made, may be withdrawn at any time until the deadline for exercising redemption requests and thereafter, with our consent, until the Closing. If we receive valid redemption requests from holders of public shares prior to the redemption deadline, we may, at our sole discretion, following the redemption deadline and until the date of Closing, seek and permit withdrawals by one or more of such holders of their redemption requests. We may select which holders to seek such withdrawals of redemption requests from based on any factors we may deem relevant, and the purpose of seeking such withdrawals may be to increase the funds held in the Trust Account, including where we otherwise would not satisfy the closing condition to have cash or cash equivalents from any source that equal or exceed $150,000,000.

Our Initial Stockholders have agreed to waive their redemption rights with respect to such shares, which will be excluded from the pro rata calculation used to determine the per-share redemption price. Each redemption of shares of Common Stock by our public stockholders will reduce the amount in the Trust Account. The Business Combination Agreements provide that each of UpHealth's and Cloudbreak's obligation to consummate the Business Combinations is conditioned on the funds in the Trust Account being no less than an aggregate amount of $150,000,000. This condition to closing in the Business Combination Agreements is for the sole benefit of the parties thereto and may be waived by each of UpHealth and Cloudbreak, as applicable. If, as a result of redemptions of Common Stock by our public stockholders, this condition is not met (or waived), then each of UpHealth and Cloudbreak may elect not to consummate the Business Combinations, as applicable. Furthermore, under the terms of the Convertible Note Subscription Agreements, a condition to the closing of the transactions contemplated by those agreements is that at least $50,000,000 of the $150,000,000 is from the Trust Account. In addition, in no event will we redeem shares of our Common Stock in an amount that would result in the Company's failure to have net tangible assets equaling or exceeding $5,000,001 (such that we are not subject to the SEC's "penny stock" rules). Holders of our outstanding public warrants do not have redemption rights in connection with the Business Combinations. Unless otherwise specified, the information in the accompanying proxy statement/prospectus assumes that none of our public stockholders exercise their redemption rights with respect to their shares of Common Stock by the applicable deadline.

Q: If you are a Company public warrant holder, can you exercise Redemption Rights with respect to your public warrants?

A: No. The holders of our public warrants have no Redemption Rights with respect to such public warrants.

Q: If you are a Company rights holder, can you exercise Redemption Rights with respect to your rights?

A: No. The holders of our rights have no Redemption Rights with respect to such rights.

Q: Can the Initial Stockholders redeem their Founder Shares in connection with consummation of the Business Combinations?

A: No. Our Initial Stockholders, officers and directors have agreed to waive their redemption rights with respect to their shares of Common Stock in connection with the consummation of the Business Combinations. Our Initial Stockholders have also agreed to waive their right to a conversion price adjustment with respect to any shares of our Common Stock they may hold in connection with the consummation of the Business Combinations.

Q: Is there a limit on the number of shares you may redeem?

A: We have no specified maximum redemption threshold under our current amended and restated certificate of incorporation. Each redemption of shares of Common Stock by our public stockholders will reduce the amount in the Trust Account. The Business Combination Agreements provide that each of UpHealth's and Cloudbreak's obligation to consummate their respective Business Combination is conditioned on the amount of cash or cash equivalents that we have from any source being no less than an aggregate amount of $150,000,000. This condition to closing in each Business Combination Agreement is for the sole benefit of the parties thereto and may be waived by UpHealth and Cloudbreak, as applicable. If, as a result of redemptions of Common Stock by our public stockholders, this condition is not met (or waived), then each of UpHealth and Cloudbreak may elect not to consummate their respective Business Combination. Furthermore, under the terms of the Convertible Note Subscription Agreements, a condition to the closing of the transactions contemplated by those agreements is that at least $50,000,000 of the $150,000,000 is from the Trust Account. In addition, in no event will we redeem shares of our Common Stock in an amount that would result in the Company's failure to have net tangible assets equaling or exceeding $5,000,001 (so that we are not subject to the SEC's "penny stock" rules).

Q: Is there a limit on the total number of shares that may be redeemed?

A: Yes. Our amended and restated certificate of incorporation provides that we may not redeem our public shares in an amount that would result in the Company's failure to have net tangible assets in excess of $5,000,001 (such that we are not subject to the SEC's "penny stock" rules) or any greater net tangible asset or cash requirement which may be contained in the Business Combination Agreements. Other than this limitation, our current amended and restated certificate of incorporation does not provide a specified maximum redemption threshold. In addition, the Business Combination Agreements provide that the obligation of each of UpHealth and Cloudbreak to consummate their Business Combinations is conditioned on the amount of cash or cash equivalents that we have from any source being equal to or in excess of $150,000,000. Furthermore, under the terms of the Convertible Note Subscription Agreements, a condition to the closing of the transactions contemplated by those agreements is that at least $50,000,000 of the $150,000,000 is from the Trust Account. In the event the aggregate cash consideration we would be required to pay for all shares of Common Stock that are validly submitted for redemption plus any amount required to satisfy cash conditions pursuant to the terms of the Business Combination Agreements and the Convertible Note Subscription Agreements exceed the aggregate amount of cash available to us, we may not complete the Business Combinations or redeem any shares, all shares of Common Stock submitted for redemption will be returned to the holders thereof, and we instead may search for an alternate business combination.

Based on the amount of approximately $149.6 million in our Trust Account as of March 19, 2021, 9,866,819 shares of Common Stock may be redeemed and still enable us to have sufficient cash to satisfy the cash closing conditions in the Business Combination Agreements and the Convertible Note Subscription Agreements. We refer to this as the maximum redemption scenario.

Q: Will how you vote affect your ability to exercise Redemption Rights?

A: No. You may exercise your redemption rights whether you vote your shares of Common Stock for or against, or whether you abstain from voting on the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal, the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal or any other proposal described by this proxy statement/prospectus. As a result, the Business Combination Agreements can be approved by stockholders who will redeem their shares and no longer remain stockholders, leaving stockholders who choose not to redeem their shares holding shares in a company with a potentially less-liquid trading market, fewer stockholders, potentially less cash and the potential inability to meet the listing standards of NYSE.

Q: How do you exercise your Redemption Rights?

A: In order to exercise your redemption rights, you must (i)(a) hold public shares or (b) hold public shares through units and elect to separate your units into the underlying public shares, public rights and public warrants prior to exercising your redemption rights with respect to the public shares; and (ii) prior to 5:00 p.m. Eastern Time (EDT) on June 2, 2021 (two business days before the Special Meeting) (a) submit a written request to the Transfer Agent that the Company redeem your public shares for cash and (b) deliver your public shares to the Transfer Agent, physically or electronically through Depository Trust Company (“DTC”). Any demand for redemption, once made, may be withdrawn at any time until the deadline for exercising redemption requests and thereafter, with our consent, until the Closing. The Transfer Agent’s address is as follows:

Continental Stock Transfer & Trust Company
1 State Street—30th Floor
New York, New York 10004
Attention: Mark Zimkind
E-mail: mzimkind@continentalstock.com

You must also affirmatively certify in your request to Continental Stock Transfer & Trust Company for redemption if you “ARE” or “ARE NOT” acting in concert or as a “group” (as defined in Section 13d-3 of the Exchange Act) with any other stockholder with respect to shares of Common Stock. Notwithstanding the foregoing, a holder of public shares, together with any affiliate of his or any other person with whom he is acting in concert or as a “group” (as defined in Section 13d-3 of the Exchange Act) will be restricted from seeking Redemption Rights with respect to more than 15% of the public shares, which we refer to as the “15% threshold.” Accordingly, all public shares in excess of the 15% threshold beneficially owned by a public stockholder or “group” (as defined in Section 13d-3 of the Exchange Act) will not be redeemed for cash.

Stockholders seeking to exercise their Redemption Rights and opting to deliver physical certificates should allot sufficient time to obtain physical certificates from the Transfer Agent and time to effect delivery. It is our understanding that stockholders should generally allot at least two weeks to obtain physical certificates from the Transfer Agent. However, we do not have any control over this process and it may take longer than two weeks. Stockholders who hold their shares in street name will have to coordinate with their bank, broker or other nominee to have the shares certificated or delivered electronically.

Stockholders seeking to exercise their Redemption Rights, whether they are record holders or hold their shares in “street name”, are required to either tender their certificates to our Transfer Agent prior to the date that is two business days prior to the Special Meeting, or to deliver their shares to the Transfer Agent electronically using DTC Deposit/Withdrawal At Custodian (“DWAC”) system, at such stockholder’s option. The requirement for physical or electronic delivery prior to the Special Meeting ensures that a redeeming stockholder's election to redeem is irrevocable once the Business Combinations are approved.

There is a nominal cost associated with the above-referenced tendering process and the act of certificating the shares or delivering them through the DWAC system. The Transfer Agent will typically charge a tendering broker a fee and it is in the broker's discretion whether or not to pass this cost on to the redeeming stockholder. However, this fee would be incurred regardless of whether or not we require stockholders seeking to exercise Redemption Rights to tender their shares, as the need to deliver shares is a requirement to exercising Redemption Rights, regardless of the timing of when such delivery must be effectuated.

Any demand for redemption, once made, may be withdrawn at any time until the deadline for exercising redemption requests (and submitting shares to the Transfer Agent) and thereafter, with our consent, until the vote is taken with respect to the Business Combinations. If you delivered your shares for redemption to our Transfer Agent and decide within the required timeframe not to exercise your Redemption Rights, you may request that our Transfer Agent return the shares (physically or electronically). You may make such request by contacting our Transfer Agent at the address listed under the question "Who can help answer my questions?" below.

Q: What are the U.S. federal income tax consequences of exercising your Redemption Rights?

A: The U.S. federal income tax consequences of the redemption depend on particular facts and circumstances. Please see the section entitled "Proposal No. 1—Approval of the UpHealth Business Combination—Certain U.S. Federal Income Tax Considerations." We urge you to consult your tax advisors regarding the tax consequences of exercising your redemption rights.

Q: Do you have appraisal rights if you object to the Business Combinations?

A: No. Appraisal rights are not available to holders of our Common Stock in connection with the Business Combinations.

Q: What happens to the funds held in the Trust Account upon consummation of the Business Combinations?

A: The funds held in the Trust Account will be used to: (i) pay Company stockholders who properly exercise their redemption rights; and, provided that there are funds remaining after this payment, (ii) pay certain other fees, costs and expenses (including regulatory fees, legal fees, accounting fees, printer fees and other professional fees) that were incurred by the Company and other parties to the Business Combination Agreements in connection with the transactions contemplated by the Business Combination Agreements, including the Business Combinations, and pursuant to the terms of the Business Combination Agreements.

Q: What happens if the Business Combinations are not consummated?

A: There are certain circumstances under which the Business Combination Agreements may be terminated. Please see the section entitled "Proposal No. 1—Approval of the UpHealth Business Combination—The UpHealth Business Combination Agreement" and "Proposal No. 2—Approval of the Cloudbreak Business Combination—The Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement" for information regarding the parties' specific termination rights.

If we do not consummate either Business Combination, we may continue to try to complete a business combination with a different target business until the applicable deadline. If we fail to complete an initial business combination by the applicable deadline, then we will: (i) cease all operations except for the purpose of winding up; (ii) as promptly as reasonably possible but not more than ten business days thereafter, redeem our public shares, at a per-share price, payable in cash, equal to the aggregate amount then on deposit in the Trust

Account, including interest not previously released to the Company to pay its franchise and income taxes (less up to $100,000 of interest to pay dissolution expenses), divided by the number of then outstanding public shares, which redemption will completely extinguish our public stockholders' rights as stockholders (including the right to receive further liquidating distributions, if any), subject to applicable law; and (iii) as promptly as reasonably possible following such redemption, subject to the approval of our remaining stockholders and our Board, dissolve and liquidate, subject in each case to our obligations under Delaware law to provide for claims of creditors and the requirements of other applicable law. In the event of such distribution, it is possible that the per share value of the residual assets remaining available for distribution (including Trust Account assets) will be less than the initial public offering price per unit in the IPO. Please see the section entitled "Risk Factors—Risks Related to the Company and the Business Combinations."

Holders of our Founder Shares have waived any right to any liquidation distribution with respect to such shares and the underwriters of our IPO agreed to waive their rights to the business combination marketing fee held in the Trust Account in the event we do not complete our initial business combination within the required period. In addition, if we fail to complete a business combination by the applicable deadline, there will be no redemption rights or liquidating distributions with respect to our outstanding warrants, which will expire worthless.

Q: When are the Business Combinations expected to be completed?

A: The closing of the Business Combinations are expected to take place on or prior to the third business day following the satisfaction or waiver of the conditions described below in the subsection entitled "Proposal No. 1—Approval of the UpHealth Business Combination—The UpHealth Business Combination Agreement—Conditions to Closing of the Business Combination" and "Proposal No. 2—Approval of the Cloudbreak Business Combination—The Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement—Conditions to Closing of the Cloudbreak Business Combination." The closing is expected to occur in the second quarter of 2021. The Business Combination Agreements may be terminated by the Company, UpHealth or Cloudbreak, as applicable if the Closing has not occurred by June 10, 2021.

For a description of the conditions to the completion of the Business Combinations, see the section entitled "Proposal No. 1—Approval of the UpHealth Business Combination—The UpHealth Business Combination Agreement—Conditions to Closing of the Business Combination" and "Proposal No. 2—Approval of the Cloudbreak Business Combination—The Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement—Conditions to Closing of the Cloudbreak Business Combination."

Q: What do you need to do now?

A: You are urged to read carefully and consider the information contained in this proxy statement/prospectus, including the Annexes, and to consider how the Business Combinations will affect you as a stockholder. You should then vote as soon as possible in accordance with the instructions provided in this proxy statement/prospectus and on the enclosed proxy card or, if you hold your shares through a brokerage firm, bank or other nominee, on the voting instruction form provided by the broker, bank or nominee.

Q: Who can vote at the special meeting?

A: Only holders of record of the Company's Common Stock, including those shares held as a constituent part of our units, at the close of business on April 26, 2021 are entitled to have their vote counted at the special meeting and any adjournments or postponements thereof. On this record date, 19,812,315 shares of Common Stock were outstanding and entitled to vote.

Stockholder of Record: Shares Registered in Your Name. If on the record date your shares or units were registered directly in your name with the Company's transfer agent, Continental Stock Transfer & Trust Company, then you are a stockholder of record. As a stockholder of record, you may vote in person at the special meeting or vote by proxy. Whether or not you plan to attend the special meeting in person, the Company urges you to fill out and return the enclosed proxy card to ensure your vote is counted.

Beneficial Owner: Shares Registered in the Name of a Broker or Bank. If on the record date your shares or units were held, not in your name, but rather in an account at a brokerage firm, bank, dealer, or other similar organization, then you are the beneficial owner of shares held in “street name” and these proxy materials are being forwarded to you by that organization. As a beneficial owner, you have the right to direct your broker or other agent on how to vote the shares in your account. You are also invited to attend the special meeting. However, since you are not the stockholder of record, you may not vote your shares in person at the special meeting unless you request and obtain a valid proxy from your broker or other agent.

Q: Who will solicit and pay the cost of soliciting proxies for the Special Meeting?

A: We will pay the cost of soliciting proxies for the Special Meeting. We have engaged MacKenzie to assist in the solicitation of proxies for the Special Meeting. We have agreed to pay MacKenzie a fee of $9,000, plus disbursements, and will reimburse MacKenzie for its reasonable out-of-pocket expenses and indemnify MacKenzie and its affiliates against certain claims, liabilities, losses, damages and expenses. We will also reimburse banks, brokers and other custodians, nominees and fiduciaries representing beneficial owners of our Common Stock for their expenses in forwarding soliciting materials to beneficial owners of our Common Stock and in obtaining voting instructions from those owners. Our directors, officers and employees may also solicit proxies by telephone, by facsimile, by mail, on the Internet or in person. They will not be paid any additional amounts for soliciting proxies.

Emerging Growth Company

The Company is an “emerging growth company,” as defined under the JOBS Act. As an emerging growth company, the Company is eligible to take advantage of certain exemptions from various reporting requirements that are applicable to other public companies that are not emerging growth companies. These include, but are not limited to, not being required to comply with the auditor attestation requirements of Section 404 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, reduced disclosure obligations regarding executive compensation in its periodic reports and proxy statements, and exemptions from the requirements of holding a nonbinding advisory vote on executive compensation and the requirement to obtain stockholder approval of any golden parachute payments not previously approved.

In addition, Section 107 of the JOBS Act provides that an emerging growth company can take advantage of an extended transition period provided in Section 7(a)(2)(B) of the Securities Act for complying with new or revised accounting standards. Pivotal has elected to take advantage of such extended transition period.

The Company will remain an emerging growth company until the earlier of (i) December 31, 2024 (the last day of the fiscal year following the fifth anniversary of the consummation of the Company’s initial public offering), (ii) the last day of the fiscal year in which the Company has total annual gross revenue of at least $1.07 billion, (iii) the last day of the fiscal year in which the Company is deemed to be a “large accelerated filer,” as defined in the Exchange Act, and (iv) the date on which the Company has issued more than $1.0 billion in nonconvertible debt during the prior three-year period.

The UpHealth Business Combination Proposal and Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal

On November 20, 2020, the Company and UpHealth Merger Sub entered into the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement (as subsequently amended and as it may be further amended from time to time) with UpHealth. If the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement is adopted by UpHealth stockholders and the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement is approved by Company stockholders at the Special Meeting, UpHealth Merger Sub will merge with and into UpHealth, with UpHealth surviving the merger. For more information about the transactions contemplated by the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement, please see the section entitled “Proposal No. 1—Approval of the UpHealth Business Combination.” A copy of the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement is attached to this proxy statement/prospectus as Annex A.

On November 20, 2020, the Company and Cloudbreak Merger Sub entered into the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement with Cloudbreak. Additionally, such UpHealth stockholders agreed not to (a) sell, assign, transfer (including by operation of law), pledge, dispose of, permit to exist any material lien with respect to or otherwise encumber any of their shares of UpHealth Common Stock (or enter into any arrangement with respect thereto), subject to certain exceptions, or (b) deposit any of their shares of UpHealth Common Stock into a voting trust or enter into any voting arrangement that is inconsistent with the Stockholder Support Agreement.

UpHealth Registration Rights and Lock-Up Agreement

In connection with the closing of the UpHealth Business Combination, we will enter into a Registration Rights and Lock-Up Agreement (the “UpHealth Registration Rights and Lock-Up Agreement”). Pursuant to the terms of the UpHealth Registration Rights and Lock-Up Agreement, subject to certain requirements and customary conditions, including with regard to the number of demand rights that may be exercised, the UpHealth holders may demand at any time or from time to time, that GigCapital2 file a registration statement on Form S-1 or Form S-3 to register certain shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock held by such holders or to conduct an underwritten offering. The UpHealth Registration Rights and Lock-Up Agreement will also provide the UpHealth Holders with “piggy-back” registration rights, subject to certain requirements and customary conditions.

The UpHealth Registration Rights and Lock-Up Agreement further provides that, subject to certain exceptions, each of the UpHealth Holders shall not transfer any shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock beneficially owned or owned of record by such UpHealth holders until the earlier of (i) six months or one year (as applicable) after the date of the closing of the UpHealth Business Combination or (ii) the date on which, subsequent to the UpHealth Business Combination, the last sale price of the GigCapital2 Common Stock (a) equals or exceeds $12.50 per share (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, reorganizations, recapitalizations and the like) for any 20 trading days within any 30 trading day period commencing at least 90 days after the UpHealth Business Combination, or (b) the date following the completion of the UpHealth Business Combination on which GigCapital2 completes a liquidation, merger, stock exchange or other similar transaction that results in all of the GigCapital2’s stockholders having the right to exchange their shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock for cash, securities or other property; provided that in the sole discretion of the majority of the independent members of the GigCapital2 Board, such lock-up period may end earlier than as provided therein upon written notice to the UpHealth holders.

For more information about the UpHealth Registration Rights and Lock-Up Agreement, see the section entitled “Proposal No. 1—Approval of the UpHealth Business Combination—Related Agreements—UpHealth Registration Rights and Lock-Up Agreement.”

Cloudbreak Registration Rights and Lock-Up Agreement

In connection with the closing of the Cloudbreak Business Combination, we will enter into a Registration Rights and Lock-Up Agreement (the “Cloudbreak Registration Rights and Lock-Up Agreement”). Pursuant to the terms of the Cloudbreak Registration Rights and Lock-Up Agreement, GigCapital2 will be obligated to file a registration statement to register the resale of certain shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock held by the Cloudbreak holders. In addition, pursuant to the terms of the Cloudbreak Registration Rights and Lock-Up Agreement and subject to certain requirements and customary conditions, including with regard to the number of demand rights that may be exercised, the Cloudbreak holders may demand at any time or from time to time, that GigCapital2 conduct an underwritten offering with respect to certain shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock held by such Cloudbreak holders. The Cloudbreak Registration Rights and Lock-Up Agreement will also provide the Cloudbreak Holders with “piggy-back” registration rights, subject to certain requirements and customary conditions.

The Cloudbreak Registration Rights and Lock-Up Agreement further provides that, subject to certain exceptions, each of the Cloudbreak holders shall not transfer any shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock beneficially owned or owned of record by such Cloudbreak holders until the earlier of (i) six months or one year (as applicable) after the date of the closing of the Cloudbreak Business Combination or (ii) the date on which, subsequent to the Cloudbreak Business Combination, the last sale price of the GigCapital2 Common Stock (a) equals or exceeds $12.50 per share (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, reorganizations, recapitalizations and the like) for any 20 trading days within any 30 trading day period commencing at least 90 days after the Cloudbreak Combination, or (b) the date following the completion of the Cloudbreak Business Combination on which GigCapital2 completes a liquidation, merger, stock exchange or other similar transaction that results in all of the GigCapital2’s stockholders having the right to exchange their shares of GigCapital2

Common Stock for cash, securities or other property; provided that in the sole discretion of the majority of the independent members of the GigCapital2 Board, such lock-up period may end earlier than as provided therein upon written notice to the Cloudbreak holders.

For more information about the Cloudbreak Registration Rights and Lock-Up Agreement, see the section entitled “Proposal No. 2—Approval of the Cloudbreak Business Combination—Related Agreements—Cloudbreak Registration Rights and Lock-Up Agreement.”

The obligations of the parties to consummate the PIPE Investment are conditioned upon, among other things, all conditions precedent to the closing of the transactions contemplated by the Convertible Note Subscription Agreements having been satisfied or waived, and the closing of the transaction contemplated by the PIPE Subscription Agreements occurring concurrently with the closing of the transactions contemplated by the Convertible Note Subscription Agreements. The PIPE Investment will be consummated concurrently with the Closing.

The Convertible Notes are convertible into 22,173,913 shares of Common Stock at a conversion price of $11.50. The obligations to consummate the Convertible Note Investment are conditioned upon, among other things, customary closing conditions and the consummation of the transactions contemplated by the Business Combination Agreements. The Convertible Note Investment will be consummated substantially concurrently with the Closing.

For more information about the Convertible Note Subscription Agreements, see the section entitled “Proposal No. 1—Approval of the UpHealth Business Combination—Related Agreements—Convertible Note Subscription Agreements and Indenture” and “Proposal No. 2—Approval of the Cloudbreak Business Combination—Related Agreements—Convertible Note Subscription Agreements and Indenture.”

Incentive Plan

Our Board approved the Incentive Plan on February 7, 2021, subject to stockholder approval of the Incentive Plan at the Special Meeting. The purpose of the Incentive Plan is to promote our long-term success of the Company and the creation of stockholder value by encouraging service providers to focus on critical long-range corporate objectives, encouraging the attraction and retention of service providers with exceptional qualifications and linking service providers directly to stockholder interests through increased stock ownership. These incentives are provided through the grant of stock options, including incentive stock options, and nonqualified stock options, stock appreciation rights, restricted stock, and restricted stock units. For more information about the Incentive Plan, please see the section entitled “Proposal No. 6—The Incentive Plan Proposal—Summary of the Incentive Plan.”

Board of New UpHealth following the Business Combinations

Upon the Closing Date, we anticipate that the New UpHealth Board will consist of nine members, reclassified into three separate classes, with each class serving a three-year term; except with respect to the election of directors at the special meeting pursuant to Proposal No. 7—The Election of Directors Proposal, the Class I directors will be elected to an initial one-year term (and three-year terms subsequently), the Class II directors will be elected to an initial two-year term (and three-year terms subsequently) and the Class III directors will be elected to an initial three-year term (and three-year terms subsequently).

Upon the Closing Date, we expect that the New UpHealth Board will be comprised of Dr. Avi Katz, Dr. Raluca Dinu, Dr. Chirinjeev Kathuria, Neil Miotto, Dr. Mariya Pylypiv, Nathan Locke, Agnès Rey-Giraud, Jerome Ringo and Moshe Bar-Siman-Tov.

Our Board has nominated the following individuals for election at our special meeting pursuant to Proposal No. 7—The Election of Directors Proposal:

- Class I Directors: Messrs. Bar-Siman-Tov, Miotto and Ringo;
- Class II Directors: Drs. Dinu and Pylypiv and Mr. Locke; and
- Class III Directors: Drs. Katz and Kathuria and Ms. Rey-Giraud.

For additional details, see the sections of this proxy statement/prospectus entitled “Proposal No. 7—The Election of Directors Proposal” and “Management After the Business Combinations.”

Redemption Rights

Pursuant to our current amended and restated certificate of incorporation, holders of public shares may elect to have their shares redeemed for cash at the applicable redemption price per share equal to the quotient obtained by dividing (i) the aggregate amount on deposit in the Trust Account as of two business days prior to the consummation of the Business Combinations, including interest not previously released to the Company to pay its franchise and income taxes, by (ii) the total number of then-outstanding public shares; provided that the Company will not redeem any shares of Common Stock issued in the IPO to the extent that such redemption would result in the Company’s failure to have net tangible assets (as determined in accordance with Rule 3a51-1(g)(1) of the Exchange Act) in excess of $5,000,001. As of January 31, 2021, the estimated per share redemption price would have been approximately $10.10.

If a holder exercises its redemption rights, then such holder will be exchanging its shares of our Common Stock for cash and will no longer own shares of the post-combination company. Such a holder will be entitled to receive cash for its public shares only if it properly demands redemption and delivers its shares (either physically or electronically) to our Transfer Agent in accordance with the procedures described herein. Please see the section entitled “Special Meeting of Company Stockholders—Redemption Rights” for the procedures to be followed if you wish to redeem your shares for cash. Any request for redemption may be withdrawn until the deadline for submitting redemption requests and thereafter, with our consent, until the Closing.

Impact of the Business Combinations on the Company’s Public Float

It is anticipated that, upon completion of the Business Combinations, assuming no redemptions: (i) the Company’s public stockholders will retain an ownership interest of approximately 12.35% in the post-combination company (not including shares beneficially owned by our Sponsor); (ii) the PIPE Investors will own approximately 2.36% of the post-combination company (such that public stockholders, including the PIPE Investors, will own approximately 14.72% of the post-combination company); (iii) our Initial Stockholders (including our Sponsor) will own approximately 3.96% of the post-combination company; (iv) the former UpHealth equity holders will own approximately 74.22% of the post-combination company, assuming $86,200,000 of cash is used to repurchase UpHealth shares and (v) the former Cloudbreak equity holders will own approximately 7.11% of the post-combination company, assuming no cash is used to repurchase Cloudbreak units. The ownership percentage with respect to the post-combination company following the Business Combinations does not take into account (i) warrants to purchase Common Stock that will remain outstanding immediately following the Business Combinations and (ii) the issuance of any shares upon completion of the Business Combinations under the Incentive Plan, a copy of which is attached to this proxy statement/prospectus as Annex K. If the actual facts are different than these assumptions, the percentage ownership retained by the Company's existing stockholders in the post-combination company will be different. For more information, please see the sections entitled "Summary of the Proxy Statement/Prospectus—Impact of the Business Combinations on the Company's Public Float," "Unaudited Pro Forma Condensed Combined Financial Information," "Proposal No. 6—The Incentive Plan Proposal."

The following table illustrates varying ownership levels in the Company, assuming no redemptions by the Company's public stockholders and the maximum redemptions by the Company's stockholders:

	No Redemptions	9,866,819 shares of common stock redeemed
The Company's public stockholders	12.35%	4.97%
Pipe Investors	2.36%	2.56%
Initial Stockholders	3.96%	4.29%
The former UpHealth equity holders ⁽¹⁾	74.22%	80.47%
The former Cloudbreak equity holders ⁽²⁾	7.11%	7.71%
Total	100%	100%

(1) Assumes $86,200,000 of cash is used to repurchase UpHealth shares.

(2) Assumes no cash is used to repurchase Cloudbreak Units.

Please see "Unaudited Pro Forma Condensed Combined Financial Information" on page 123.

The Charter Amendment Proposals

Upon the Closing, our amended and restated certificate of incorporation will be amended promptly to reflect the Charter Amendment Proposals to:

- provide for the classification of our board of directors into three classes of directors with staggered terms of office and to make certain related changes (Proposal No. 4); and
- provide for certain additional changes, including but not limited to changing the post-combination company's corporate name from "GigCapital2, Inc." to "UpHealth, Inc." and eliminating certain provisions specific to our status as a blank check company, which our Board believes are necessary to adequately address the needs of the post-combination company (Proposal No. 5A); and
- provide for U.S. federal district courts to be the sole and exclusive forum for claims arising under the Securities Act (Proposal No. 5B).

Please see the sections entitled "Proposal No. 4—Classification of the Board of Directors Proposal," "Proposal No. 5A—Approval of Additional Amendments to Current Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation in Connection with the Business Combinations Proposal” and “Proposal No. 5B— Amendment to Exclusive Forum Provision Proposal” for more information.

- a proposal to approve and adopt the Incentive Plan, a copy of which is attached to this proxy statement/prospectus as Annex K, including the authorization of the initial share reserve under the Incentive Plan (Proposal No. 6);
- a proposal to elect the directors comprising the board of directors of New UpHealth following the closing of the Business Combinations (Proposal No. 7); and
- a proposal to adjourn the Special Meeting to a later date or dates, if necessary, to permit further solicitation and vote of proxies if there are insufficient votes for, or otherwise in connection with, the approval of the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal, the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal, the NYSE Stock Issuance Proposal, the Charter Amendment Proposals, the Incentive Plan Proposal or the Election of Directors Proposal (Proposal No. 8).

Please see the section entitled “Proposal No. 3—The NYSE Stock Issuance Proposal,” “Proposal No. 5A— Approval of Certain Governance Provisions in the Second Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation in Connection with the Business Combinations Proposal,” “Proposal No. 5B—Amendment to Exclusive forum Provision Proposal,” “Proposal No. 6—The Incentive Plan Proposal,” “Proposal No. 7—Election of Directors Proposal” and “Proposal No. 8—The Adjournment Proposal” for more information.

Voting Power and Record Date

Only Company stockholders of record at the close of business on April 26, 2021, the record date for the Special Meeting, will be entitled to vote at the Special Meeting. You are entitled to one vote for each share of Common Stock that you owned as of the close of business on the record date. If your shares are held in “street name” or are in a margin or similar account, you should contact your broker, bank or other nominee to ensure that votes related to the shares you beneficially own are properly counted. On the record date, there were 19,812,315 shares of Common Stock outstanding and entitled to vote, of which 14,817,315 are public shares and 4,995,000 are Founder Shares held by our Initial Stockholders.

Accounting Treatment

The Business Combinations will be accounted for as a reverse recapitalization in accordance with GAAP. Under this method of accounting, the Company will be treated as the “acquired” company for financial reporting purposes. Accordingly, for accounting purposes, the Business Combinations will be treated as the equivalent of UpHealth issuing stock for the net assets of the Company, accompanied by a recapitalization whereby no goodwill or other intangible assets are recorded.

Appraisal Rights

Appraisal rights are not available to our stockholders or to members of Cloudbreak in connection with the Business Combinations.

Pursuant to Section 262 of the DGCL, UpHealth stockholders who comply with the applicable requirements of Section 262 of the DGCL and do not otherwise fail to perfect, waive withdraw or lose the right to appraisal under Delaware law have the right to seek appraisal of the fair value of their shares of UpHealth Capital Stock, as determined by the Court of Chancery, if the UpHealth Merger is completed. The “fair value” of such shares of UpHealth Capital Stock as determined by the Court of Chancery may be more or less than, or the same as, the value of the consideration that such stockholder would otherwise be entitled to receive under the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement. UpHealth stockholders who do not vote in favor of the UpHealth Merger nor consent in writing to it and who wish to preserve their appraisal rights must so advise UpHealth by submitting a demand for appraisal within the period prescribed by Section 262 of the DGCL after receiving a notice from UpHealth or the Company that appraisal rights are available to them, and must otherwise precisely follow the procedures prescribed by Section 262 of the DGCL. Failure to follow any of the statutory procedures set forth in Section 262 of the DGCL will result in the loss or waiver of appraisal rights under Delaware law. In view of the complexity of Section 262 of the DGCL, UpHealth stockholders who may wish to pursue appraisal rights should consult their legal and financial advisors. Any shares of UpHealth Capital Stock that are outstanding immediately prior to the Effective Time and that are held by stockholders of the Company who shall have neither voted in favor of the UpHealth Merger nor consented thereto in writing and who shall have demanded properly in writing appraisal for such UpHealth Capital Stock in accordance with Section 262 of the DGCL and otherwise complied with all of the provisions of the DGCL relevant to the exercise and perfection of dissenters’ rights are referred to as “Dissenting Shares.”

Please see the sections entitled “Special Meeting of Company Stockholders—Appraisal Rights”, “Proposal No. 1—Approval of the UpHealth Business Combination—Appraisal Rights”, “Proposal No. 2—Approval of the Cloudbreak Business Combination—Appraisal Rights” and “Appraisal Rights.”

Proxy Solicitation

Proxies may be solicited by mail. The Company has engaged MacKenzie to assist in the solicitation of proxies.

If a stockholder grants a proxy, it may still vote its shares in person if it revokes its proxy before the Special Meeting. A stockholder may also change its vote by submitting a later-dated proxy, as described in the section entitled “Special Meeting of Company Stockholders—Revoking Your Proxy.”

Interests of Certain Persons in the Business Combination

In considering the recommendation of our Board to vote in favor of the Business Combinations, stockholders should be aware that aside from their interests as stockholders, our Sponsor and certain members of our Board and officers have interests in the Business Combinations that are different from, or in addition to, those of other stockholders generally. Our Board was aware of and considered these interests, among other matters, in evaluating and negotiating the Business Combinations, and in recommending to stockholders that they approve the Business Combinations. Stockholders should take these interests into account in deciding whether to approve the Business Combinations.

These interests include, among other things:

- the fact that our Initial Stockholders have agreed not to redeem any of the Founder Shares in connection with a stockholder vote to approve the Business Combinations;
- the fact that our Initial Stockholders have agreed to waive their rights to liquidating distributions from the Trust Account with respect to their Founder Shares if we fail to complete an initial business combination by the applicable deadline;
- if the Trust Account is liquidated, including in the event we are unable to complete an initial business combination within the required time period, our Sponsor has agreed to indemnify us to ensure that the proceeds in the Trust Account are not reduced below $10.00 per public share, or such lesser per public share amount as is in the Trust Account on the liquidation date, by the claims of prospective target businesses with which we have entered into an acquisition agreement or claims of any third party (other than our independent public accountants) for services rendered or products sold to us, but only if such a vendor or target business has not executed a waiver of any and all rights to seek access to the Trust Account;
- the continued indemnification of our existing directors and officers and the continuation of our directors’ and officers’ liability insurance after the Business Combinations;
- the fact that Dr. Avi Katz, Dr. Raluca Dinu and Neil Miotto will remain as board members of the post-combination company and each shall be entitled to receive compensation for serving on the board of directors of the post-combination company;
- the fact that we engaged the underwriters of our IPO as advisors to assist it in holding meetings with our stockholders to discuss potential business combination, introduce GigCapital2 to potential investors that are interested in purchasing our securities in connection with a potential business combination, assist it in obtaining stockholder approval for the business combination and assist us with our press releases and public filings in connection with a business combination. Pursuant to that agreement, we will pay the underwriters a cash fee for such services upon the consummation of the Business Combinations in an amount equal to, in the aggregate, 3.5% of the gross proceeds of the IPO, including any proceeds from the exercise of the over-allotment option; and

- the fact that our Sponsor, officers and directors will lose their entire investment in us if an initial business combination is not consummated by the applicable deadline. Prior to GigCapital2's initial public offering, our Founders purchased an aggregate of 4,307,500 Founder Shares for an aggregate purchase price of $25,000, or approximately $0.0058 per share (as compared to the $10.00 per share price being used to determine the number of shares of Common Stock being issued to the UpHealth and Cloudbreak equity holders in the Business Combinations or at which the PIPE Investors have agreed to purchase Common Stock), with the Sponsor purchasing 4,018,987 Founder Shares, Northland Investment purchasing 173,108 Founder Shares and the EarlyBird Group purchasing 115,405 Founder Shares. Additionally, the Founders purchased from GigCapital2 an aggregate of 567,500 Private Placement Units at a price of $10.00 per unit simultaneously with the consummation of GigCapital2's initial public offering for an aggregate purchase price of $5,675,000, with the Sponsor purchasing 481,250 Private Placement Units, Northland Investment purchasing 56,350 Private Placement Units and the EarlyBird Group purchasing 29,900 Private Placement Units. In addition, Northland concurrently purchased 120,000 Private Underwriter Shares at a price of $10.00 per share. Certain of GigCapital2's directors and executive officers, including Dr. Avi Katz, Dr. Raluca Dinu, Neil Miotto, John Mikulsky and Gil Frostig, also have a direct or indirect economic interest in the 481,250 Private Placement Units and in the 4,018,987 Founder Shares owned by the Sponsor. The 4,018,987 Founder Shares owned by the Sponsor would have had an aggregate market value of $40,390,819 based upon the closing price of $10.05 per public share on the NYSE on May 5, 2021, the most recent practicable date prior to the date of this proxy statement/prospectus. The 481,250 private placement units held by the Sponsor would have had an aggregate market value of $5,197,500 based upon the closing price of $10.80 per public unit on the NYSE on May 5, 2021, the most recent practicable date prior to the date of this proxy statement/prospectus. Additionally, the Sponsor, officers and directors do not currently have any unreimbursed out-of-pocket expenses in connection with the business combinations.

Reasons for the Approval of the Business Combinations

In approving the Business Combination Agreements and the Business Combinations and recommending that the Company's stockholders approve the Business Combination Agreements and the Business Combinations, the Board considered the following positive factors, although not weighted or in any order of significance:

- Consideration of the following general criteria and guidelines that we stated in the prospectus for our IPO that we believe would be important in evaluating prospective target businesses, although we indicated that we may enter into a business combination with a target business that does not meet these criteria and guidelines:
 - Target TMT companies that are at the forefront of high technology and are enabling the future evolution of intelligent systems and solutions.
 - Focus on TMT companies positioned to benefit from a public listing and greater access to capital.
 - Emphasis on companies that can benefit from a public listing and greater access to capital.
 - Businesses with a catalyst for significantly improved financial performance.
 - Market-leading participant with experienced and motivated management teams that may benefit from enhanced leadership and governance.
 - Middle-market businesses.

- Prioritize entities with a well-performing management team and exceptional leadership talent that wishes to continue to drive the company to growth, and is coachable and eager to extend their knowledge and savvy through an interactive, and hands-on and supportive board of directors.
- The following additional factors:
 - Large Addressable Market.
 - Growth Prospects.
 - Experienced and Proven Management Team.
 - Lock-Up.
 - Due Diligence.
 - Other Alternatives.
 - Negotiated Transaction.

The criteria and situations described above were not intended to be exhaustive and we indicated our evaluation of any particular initial business combination might reflect other considerations, factors and criteria deemed relevant by our management in effecting the relevant transaction, consistent with our business objective and strategy.

For more information about our decision-making process, please see the section entitled “Proposal No. 1—Approval of the UpHealth Business Combination—The Company’s Board of Directors’ Reasons for the Approval of the Business Combination” and “Proposal No. 2—Approval of the Cloudbreak Business Combination—The Company’s Board of Directors’ Reasons for the Approval of the Cloudbreak Business Combination.”

Conditions to Closing of the Business Combinations

Conditions to Each Party’s Obligations

The respective obligations of the Company, UpHealth and Cloudbreak to complete the UpHealth Business Combination and Cloudbreak Business Combination, as applicable, are subject to the satisfaction of the following conditions:

- the applicable waiting period(s) under the HSR Act and, if required, any other applicable antitrust law in respect of the transactions contemplated by the Business Combination Agreements, as applicable, must have expired or been terminated;

- the accuracy of the representations and warranties of the Company as of the date of the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement and as of the Closing, subject to certain materiality and material adverse effect thresholds, as more fully described in "Proposal No. 1—Approval of the UpHealth Business Combination—The UpHealth Business Combination Agreement—Conditions to Closing of the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement" on page 168;

Regulatory Matters

Under the HSR Act and the rules that have been promulgated thereunder by the U.S. Federal Trade Commission (“FTC”), certain transactions may not be consummated unless information has been furnished to the Antitrust Division of the Department of Justice (“Antitrust Division”) and the FTC and certain waiting period requirements have been satisfied. The Business Combinations are subject to these requirements and may not be completed until the expiration of a 30-day waiting period following the filing of the required Notification and Report Forms with the Antitrust Division and the FTC or until early termination is granted. On March 24, 2021, the Company and UpHealth, and on March 25, 2021, Dr. Chirinjeev Kathuria, filed the required forms under the HSR Act with the Antitrust Division and the FTC. The latest of the 30-day waiting periods with respect to the Business Combinations expired at 11:59 p.m. Eastern time on April 26, 2021.

At any time before or after consummation of the Business Combinations, notwithstanding any termination of the waiting period under the HSR Act, the applicable competition authorities could take such action under applicable antitrust laws as each deems necessary or desirable in the public interest, including seeking to enjoin the consummation of the Business Combinations. Private parties may also seek to take legal action under the antitrust laws under certain circumstances. We cannot assure you that the Antitrust Division, the FTC, any state attorney general, or any other government authority will not attempt to challenge the Business Combinations on antitrust grounds, and, if such a challenge is made, we cannot assure you as to its result. None of the Company, UpHealth or Cloudbreak is aware of any material regulatory approvals or actions that are required for completion of the Business Combinations other than the expiration or early termination of the waiting period under the HSR Act. It is presently contemplated that if any such additional regulatory approvals or actions are required, those approvals or actions will be sought. There can be no assurance, however, that any additional approvals or actions will be obtained.

Quorum and Required Vote for Proposals for the Special Meeting

A quorum of Company stockholders is necessary to hold a valid meeting. A quorum will be present at the Special Meeting if a majority of the Company’s Common Stock outstanding and entitled to vote at the Special Meeting is represented in person or by proxy. Abstentions will count as present for the purposes of establishing a quorum.

The approval of the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal, the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal, the NYSE Stock Issuance Proposal, the Incentive Plan Proposal, the Election of Directors Proposal and the Adjournment Proposal requires the affirmative vote of a majority of the votes cast by holders of our Common Stock represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote at the Special Meeting. The approval of the Charter Amendment Proposals require the affirmative vote of holders of a majority of our outstanding shares of Common Stock entitled to vote thereon at the Special Meeting.

A failure to vote or an abstention will have no effect on the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal, the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal and the Adjournment Proposal. However, an abstention or failure to vote will have the same effect as a vote “AGAINST” the Charter Amendment Proposals. In addition, for purposes of the NYSE Stock Issuance Proposal, the Incentive Plan Proposal and the Election of Directors Proposal, the NYSE considers an abstention vote as a “vote cast”, and therefore, an abstention will have the same effect as a vote “AGAINST” such proposals, while a failure to vote will have no effect on these two proposals.

The proposals in this proxy statement/prospectus (other than the Adjournment Proposal) are conditioned on the approval of the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal and the NYSE Stock Issuance Proposal.

It is important for you to note that in the event that the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal, the NYSE Stock Issuance Proposal or the Charter Amendment Proposals do not receive the requisite vote for approval, we will not consummate the Business Combinations. If we do not consummate the Business Combinations and fail to complete an initial business combination by the applicable deadline, we will be required to dissolve and liquidate our Trust Account by returning the then remaining funds in such account to our public stockholders.

Recommendation to Company Stockholders

Our Board believes that each of the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal, the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal, the NYSE Stock Issuance Proposal, the Charter Amendment Proposals, the Incentive Plan Proposal, the Election of Directors Proposal and the Adjournment Proposal to be presented at the Special Meeting is in the best interests of the Company and our stockholders and recommends that its stockholders vote “FOR” each of the proposals.

When you consider the recommendation of our Board in favor of approval of the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal and the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal, you should keep in mind that our Sponsor and certain members of our Board and officers have interests in the Business Combinations that are different from or in addition to (or which may conflict with) your interests as a stockholder. Stockholders should take these interests into account in deciding whether to approve the proposals presented at the Special Meeting, including the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal and the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal. Please see “Special Meeting of Company Stockholders—Recommendation to Company Stockholders.”

Risk Factors

In evaluating the Business Combinations and the proposals to be considered and voted on at the Special Meeting, you should carefully review and consider the risk factors set forth under the section entitled “Risk Factors” beginning on page 63 of this proxy statement/prospectus. The occurrence of one or more of the events or circumstances described in that section, alone or in combination with other events or circumstances, may have a material adverse effect on (i) the ability of the Company, UpHealth and Cloudbreak to complete the Business Combinations, as applicable, and (ii) the business, cash flows, financial condition and results of operations of UpHealth and Cloudbreak, as applicable, prior to the consummation of the Business Combinations, as applicable, and the post-combination company following consummation of the Business Combinations.

SELECTED UNAUDITED PRO FORMA CONDENSED COMBINED FINANCIAL INFORMATION (in thousands except share and per share amounts)

On November 23, 2020, GigCapital2, Inc. announced the pending merger of a series of integrated merger transactions.

On November 23, 2020, GigCapital2 announced that it executed the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement.

Also, on November 23, 2020, GigCapital2 also announced that it executed the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement.

UpHealth has previously or contemporaneously entered into separate merger agreements with respect to the acquisitions by UpHealth of Behavioral Health Services, Innovations Group, Thrasys, TTC Healthcare, and a share purchase agreement providing for the purchase of 90% or more of the equity interests of Glocal. All of these entities have been acquired or are probable of being acquired under US GAAP and are therefore included in the pro forma financial statements contained herein. UpHealth has consummated the mergers of Thrasys and Behavioral Health Services and they are included in the UpHealth consolidated financial statements as of December 31, 2020. The audited statements of operations for Thrasys and Behavioral Health Services presented through November 20, 2020, the acquisition date, are shown separately, as only the activity after the acquisition date are included in the UpHealth results.

The UpHealth Business Combination Agreement

Pursuant to the terms of the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement, GigCapital2 will acquire UpHealth through the statutory merger of UpHealth Merger Sub with and into UpHealth, with UpHealth surviving the merger as a wholly owned subsidiary of GigCapital2. At the effective time of the UpHealth Business Combination, each share of UpHealth Common Stock will be canceled and converted into the right to receive a number of shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock equal to the Exchange Ratio. The Exchange Ratio will be equal to the Aggregate Merger Consideration divided by the sum of the aggregate number of shares of UpHealth Common Stock issued and outstanding immediately prior to the effective time of the UpHealth Business Combination. The Aggregate Merger Consideration shall not exceed 99,000,000 shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock, subject to certain adjustments, less the Thrasys Incentive Amount. UpHealth has previously entered into a share purchase agreement providing for the purchase of 90% or more of the equity interests of Glocal, with the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement providing for a purchase price adjustment for every 1% less than 90% of the equity interests that is owned by UpHealth upon the Closing. UpHealth as of the date of entry into the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement owned approximately 43% of the equity interests of Glocal. On March 26, 2021, UpHealth acquired an additional 46% of the equity interests of Glocal, and as a result, now owns 89% of the equity interests of Glocal. The Aggregate Merger Consideration may be reduced by certain share thresholds if the Glocal acquisition at the 90% threshold is not completed.

The Cloudbreak Business Combination

Pursuant to the terms of the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement (and any terms used in this paragraph that are not otherwise defined are as defined in the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement), GigCapital2 will acquire Cloudbreak through the statutory merger of Cloudbreak Merger Sub with and into Cloudbreak, with Cloudbreak surviving the merger as a wholly owned subsidiary of GigCapital2. At the effective time of the Cloudbreak Business Combination: (i) each Cloudbreak Unit (and the membership interests represented thereby) issued and outstanding immediately prior to the Closing shall be converted into the right to receive a number of shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock equal to the Common Unit Exchange Ratio (together with any Business Combination Share Adjustment to which each Common Unit is entitled, the “Common Unit Merger Consideration"); (ii) each Series A Preferred Unit (and the membership interests represented thereby) issued and outstanding immediately prior to the Closing shall be converted into the right to receive a number of shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock equal to the Preferred Unit Exchange Ratio (in addition to any Business Combination Share Adjustment to which each Series A Preferred Unit is entitled); and (iii) each option that is outstanding and unexercised immediately prior to the Closing, whether vested or unvested, shall be assumed by GigCapital2 and converted into an option to purchase a number of shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock in an amount set forth on the Allocation Schedule, which amount shall be equal to the product of (a) the number of Cloudbreak Units subject to such option, multiplied by (b) the Common Unit Exchange Ratio (each such converted option, an "Exchanged Option"). Each holder of Exchanged Options shall also be entitled to any Business Combination Share Adjustment made pursuant to the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement.

Additionally, immediately prior to the Closing, each common warrant shall convert into Common Units in accordance with their terms. The aggregate number of shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock issuable at the closing of the Cloudbreak Business Combination, and upon the exercise of all Exchanged Options on a net exercise basis, shall equal 11,000,000 shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock.

Pro Forma Condensed Combined Financial Statements

The unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial statements have been prepared using the acquisition method of accounting in accordance with Accounting Standards Codification ("ASC") Topic 805, "Business Combinations," ("ASC 805") with the Company treated as the legal acquirer. Under ASC 805, UpHealth was determined to be the ultimate accounting acquirer for the UpHealth mergers. The following tables set forth an unaudited pro forma condensed combined balance sheet as of December 31, 2020, and an unaudited proforma condensed combined statement of operations for the twelve months ended December 31, 2020 (as adjusted for conforming presentation periods for Glocal, a March 31 year-end). The unaudited pro forma condensed combined balance sheet as of December 31, 2020 gives effect to the Acquisition as if it had occurred on that date. The pro forma balance sheet data is derived from the audited historical financial statements (as restated) of GigCapital2 and the audited historical financial statements of the Merger entities as of December 31, 2020, except as to Glocal which, as noted, is a March 31 year-end. The unaudited pro forma condensed combined statement of operations for the twelve months ended December 31, 2020, has been prepared to illustrate the effects of the Acquisition, as if it had occurred on January 1, 2020. The pro forma condensed combined statement of operations is derived from the audited financial statements (as restated) of GigCapital2 for the year ended December 31, 2020, the audited financial statements of each of the UpHealth and Cloudbreak merger entities for the year ended December 31, 2020.

The historical financial statements have been adjusted in the unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial statements to give effect to events that are (i) directly attributable to the Acquisition, (ii) factually supportable, and (iii) with respect to the statements of operations, expected to have a continuing impact on the combined company. The unaudited pro forma condensed combined statements of operations reflect non-recurring transaction charges directly related to the Acquisition that the combined company has incurred in furtherance of consummation of the Acquisition, as well as transaction costs incurred, but not yet recorded, subsequent to December 31, 2020. Further, the tax rate used for these unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial statements is an estimated effective tax rate, which will likely vary from the actual effective rate in periods subsequent to the completion of the Acquisition.

The unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial statements have been prepared for informational purposes only and are not necessarily indicative of what the combined company's condensed consolidated financial position or results of operations actually would have been had the Acquisition been consummated prior to December 31, 2020, nor are they necessarily indicative of future results of operations. In addition, the unaudited pro forma combined financial statements do not purport to project the future financial position or operating results of the combined company. The fair value of each of the Merger entities' identifiable tangible and intangible assets acquired and liabilities assumed are based on preliminary estimates and are subject to adjustment as, and if, more information is obtained within twelve months of the consummation of the Mergers. As of the date of filing of this Form S-4 to which the following unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial statements are attached, the Company has not completed the detailed valuation work necessary to finalize the required estimated fair values of the Merger entities' assets acquired and liabilities assumed and related allocation of purchase price. The purchase price allocation and related depreciation and amortization included in the unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial statements are preliminary and have been made solely for purposes of preparing these unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial statements. Management anticipates that the values assigned to the assets acquired and liabilities assumed will be finalized during the one-year measurement period following the date of completion of the Acquisition. Differences between these preliminary estimates and the final acquisition accounting may occur and these differences could have a material impact on the unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial statements and the combined company's future results of operations and financial position. In addition, certain reclassifications have been made to the Merger entities' historical financial statements to conform to the presentation used in the Company's historical financial statements. Such reclassifications had no effect on the Merger entities' previously reported financial position or results of operations, except as to Glocal which, as noted, is a March 31 year-end.

The unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial statements do not include any adjustments for the anticipated benefits from cost savings or synergies of GigCapital2 and the merger entities' operating as a combined company or for liabilities resulting from integration planning, as management is in the process of making these assessments. However, liabilities ultimately may be recorded for additional costs in subsequent periods related to all merger entity companies, including severance, relocation or retention costs related to employees of the merger entities, as well as other costs associated with integrating and/or restructuring the companies. The ultimate recognition of such costs and liabilities would affect amounts in the unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial statements, and such costs and liabilities could be material.

The unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial statements should be read in conjunction with the:

- accompanying notes to the unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial statements;
- audited historical financial statements (as restated) of the Company as of and for the year ended December 31, 2020; and
- audited historical consolidated financial statements of the merger entities as of and for the year ended December 31, 2020 (twelve months ended March 31, 2020 for Glocal).

The unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial statements have been prepared using two different levels of assumed redemptions of Common Stock:

- Assuming No Redemption: This scenario assumes that no additional shares of Common Stock are redeemed; and
- Assuming Maximum Redemption: This scenario assumes that 9,867,309 shares of Common Stock are redeemed for an aggregate payment of approximately $99,700,000 (based on the estimated per share redemption price of approximately $10.10 per share based on the fair value of marketable securities held in the Trust Account as of March 19, 2021 of approximately $149,700,000) from the Trust Account. The Business Combination Agreements provide that each of UpHealth's and Cloudbreak's obligation to consummate the Business Combinations, as applicable, is conditioned on the funds in the Trust Account being no less than an aggregate amount of $150,000,000. Furthermore, under the terms of the Convertible Note Subscription Agreements, a condition to the closing of the transactions contemplated by those agreements is that at least $50,000,000 of the $150,000,000 is from the Trust Account. This scenario therefore gives effect to $50,000,000 being retained in the Trust Account. This results in public share redemptions of 9,867,309 shares for aggregate redemption payments of approximately $99,700,000.

The following risk factors that apply to the business and operations of New UpHealth will also apply to the business and operations of the post-combination company following the completion of the Business Combinations. The occurrence of one or more of the events or circumstances described in these risk factors, alone or in combination with other events or circumstances, may adversely affect the ability to complete or realize the anticipated benefits of the Business Combinations, and may harm the business, cash flows, financial condition and results of operations of the post-combination company. These risk factors are not exhaustive. You should carefully consider the following risk factors in addition to the other information included in this proxy statement/prospectus, including matters addressed in the section entitled “Cautionary Note Regarding Forward-Looking Statements.” New UpHealth may face additional risks and uncertainties that are not presently known to it, or that UpHealth or Cloudbreak, as applicable, currently deems immaterial, which may also impair New UpHealth’s business or financial condition. The following discussion should be read in conjunction with the consolidated financial statements and notes to the financial statements included herein. Additional risks, beyond those summarized below may apply to our activities or operations as currently conducted or as we may conduct them in the future or in the markets in which we operate or may in the future operate. Consistent with the foregoing, we are exposed to a variety of risks, including risks associated with:

- Our limited operating history as a combined company makes it difficult to evaluate our current business and future prospects;*
- The impact of health epidemics, including the COVID-19 pandemic, on our business, financial condition, growth and the actions we may take in response thereto;*
- The high degree of uncertainty of the level of demand for and market utilization of our solutions;*
- Substantial regulation and the potential for unfavorable changes to, or failure by us to comply with, these regulations, which could substantially harm our business and operating results;*
- Our dependency upon third-party service providers for certain technologies;*
- Increases in costs, disruption of supply or shortage of materials, which could harm our business;*
- Developments and projections relating to our competitors and industry;*
- The unavailability, reduction or elimination of government and economic incentives, which could have a material adverse effect on our business, prospects, financial condition and operating results;*
- Our management team’s limited experience managing a public company;*
- The possibility of our need to defend ourselves against fines, penalties and injunctions if we are determined to be promoting products for unapproved uses;*
- Concentration of ownership among our existing executive officers, directors and their respective affiliates, which may prevent new investors from influencing significant corporate decisions;*
- The lack of assurance that the combined company’s Common Stock will be approved for listing on NYSE or that the combined company will be able to comply with the continued listing standards of NYSE;*
- If the benefits of the Business Combinations do not meet the expectations of investors or securities analysts, the potential for the market price of the Company’s securities or, following the Closing, the post-combination company’s securities, may decline;*
- The risk that the proposed Business Combinations disrupt current plans and operations of our business as a result of the announcement and consummation of the transactions described herein; and*

- Following the consummation of the Business Combinations, the post-combination company's significant increased expenses and administrative burdens as a public company, which could have an adverse effect on its business, financial condition and results of operations.

Risks Relating to New UpHealth

The risk factors referenced below relate to New UpHealth, assuming the purchase of the remaining equity interests of Glocal, and after the consummation the Business Combinations. See "Information about New UpHealth." Unless otherwise indicated or the context otherwise requires, references in this section to "we," "our," "us" and other similar terms refer to New UpHealth.

Risks Relating to New UpHealth's Business and Industry

Our limited operating history as a combined company and evolving business make it difficult to evaluate our current business and future prospects and increases the risk of your investment.

Our limited operating history and rapidly evolving business make it difficult to evaluate our current business, future prospects and plan for growth. UpHealth began offering products and services as a combined entity late in 2020. See "Information about New UpHealth." New UpHealth will offer products and services as a combined entity following the consummation of the Business Combinations. We will continue to encounter significant risks and uncertainties frequently experienced by growing companies in rapidly changing and heavily regulated industries, such as attracting new customers, users and healthcare providers to our platform; retaining customers and encouraging them to utilize new offerings that we make available; competition from other companies; hiring, integrating, training and retaining skilled personnel; verifying the identity of customers, users and credentials of providers serving our customers; developing new solutions; determining prices for our solutions; unforeseen expenses; challenges in forecasting accuracy; and new or adverse regulatory developments affecting the use of digital health, pharmaceutical products, diagnostics, technology platforms or other aspects of the healthcare industry. Additional risks include our ability to effectively manage growth and process, and to store, protect, and use personal data in compliance with governmental regulations, contractual obligations and other legal obligations related to privacy and security. Further, because we depend, in part, on market acceptance of our newer and future services, it is difficult to evaluate trends that may affect our business and whether our expansion will be profitable. If we have difficulty launching new solutions, our reputation may be harmed and our business, financial condition and results of operations may be adversely affected. If our assumptions regarding these and other similar risks and uncertainties that relate to our business, which we use to plan our business, are incorrect or change as we gain more experience operating our platform or expand into the treatment of new conditions, or if we do not address these challenges successfully, our operating and financial results could differ materially from our expectations and our business could suffer.

It remains unclear how the ongoing coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic may impact our business, financial condition, results of operations and growth.

In March 2020, the World Health Organization declared COVID-19 a global pandemic. This contagious outbreak, which has continued to spread, and the related adverse public health developments, including orders to shelter-in-place, travel restrictions and mandated business closures, have adversely affected workforces, organizations, customers, economies and financial markets globally, leading to an economic downturn and increased market volatility. The duration and severity of this pandemic is unknown and the extent of the business disruption and financial impact depend on factors beyond our knowledge and control making it difficult for us to accurately predict the duration or magnitude of the adverse results of the outbreak and its effects on our business, results of operations or financial condition at this time, but such effects may be material.

Continued shelter-in-place, quarantine, hospital requisitions, or related measures to combat the spread of COVID-19, as well as the perceived need by individuals to continue such practices to avoid infection, among other factors, could harm our results of operations and revenue, business and financial condition. These measures and practices have resulted in temporary closures of some of our offices, the offices and practices of our customers, and may also result in delays in entry into new markets and expansion in existing markets. In addition, customers who utilize our services or products in connection with in-office healthcare procedures, as well as our businesses that provide in-office healthcare procedures, may experience a loss in revenue associated with such measures and practices, potentially negatively impacting their ability or willingness to pay us. In addition, due to the shelter-in-place orders across the globe, several of our businesses have implemented work-from-home policies for many employees which may impact productivity and disrupt our business operations. Generally, we have seen our businesses rebound from an initial negative impact at the start of the pandemic. However, given the unpredictable nature of the COVID-19 pandemic, we may in the future experience additional negative impacts on our operations, revenues, expenses, collectability of accounts receivables and other money owed, capital expenditures, liquidity and overall financial condition by disrupting or delaying delivery of materials and products in the supply chain for our offices, causing staffing shortages, or increasing capital expenditures due to the need to buy incremental hardware.

Healthcare organizations around the world have faced and will continue to face, substantial challenges in treating patients with COVID-19, such as the diversion of hospital staff and resources from ordinary functions to the treatment of patients with COVID-19, supply, resource and capital shortages and overburdening of staff and resource capacity. In the United States, governmental authorities have also recommended, and in certain cases required, that elective, specialty and other procedures and appointments, including certain primary care services, be suspended or canceled to avoid non-essential patient exposure to medical environments and potential infection with COVID-19 and to focus limited resources and personnel capacity toward the treatment of patients with COVID-19. These measures may divert patients away from our businesses that provide products and services direct to consumers and from procedures in healthcare facilities that utilize our products and services, which could harm our results of operations and revenue.

Our continued access to sources of liquidity also depend on multiple factors, including global economic conditions, the condition of global financial markets, the availability of sufficient amounts of financing and our operating performance. There is no guarantee that debt or equity financing will be available in the future to fund our obligations, or that it will be available on commercially reasonable terms, in which case we may need to seek other sources of funding.

The COVID-19 pandemic has increased interest in and customer use of digital health solutions. We cannot guarantee that this increased interest or usage will continue after the pandemic has subsided.

Due to COVID-19, digital health has seen a steep increase in use across the healthcare industry, in part due to governmental waivers of statutory and regulatory restrictions that have historically limited how digital health may be used in delivering care in certain jurisdictions. We do not know if this relaxation of regulatory barriers resulting from COVID-19 will remain or for how long. There is renewed focus on digital health and the expanded use of digital health services and related technology among legislatures and regulators due to COVID-19, which could result in regulatory changes inconsistent with, or that place additional restrictions on, our current business model or operations in certain jurisdictions. If customer adoption of digital health generally, or our platform in particular, materially decreases as COVID-19 restrictions are lifted, or if COVID-19 results in regulatory changes that limit our current activities, our industry, business and results of operations will be adversely affected.

The level of demand for and market utilization of our solutions are subject to a high degree of uncertainty.

With respect to our digital health services, the market for digital health services and related technology is in the early stages of development and characterized by rapid change and volatility. As digital health specialty consultation workflows and related business drivers continue to evolve, the level of demand for and market utilization of our digital health services and platform remain subject to a high degree of uncertainty. Our success will depend to a substantial extent on the willingness of our customers to use, and to increase the frequency and extent of their utilization of, our products and services and our ability to demonstrate the value of digital health to employers, health plans, government agencies and other purchasers of healthcare for beneficiaries in our key digital health markets. If healthcare provider and payer organizations and government agencies and health ministries do not recognize or acknowledge the benefits of our digital health services or software platform or if we are unable to reduce healthcare costs or generate positive health outcomes, then the market for our solutions might not further develop, or it might develop more slowly than we expect. Similarly, negative publicity regarding patient confidentiality and privacy in the context of technology-enabled healthcare or concerns about our solutions or the digital health market as a whole could limit market acceptance of our solutions. If our customers do not perceive the benefits of our solutions, then our market may not develop at all, or it may develop more slowly than we expect. Achieving and maintaining market acceptance of our solutions could be negatively affected by many factors, including:

- the popularity, pricing and timing of digital health consultation services being launched and distributed by us and our competitors;
- general economic conditions, particularly economic conditions adversely affecting discretionary and reimbursable healthcare spending;
- federal and state policy initiatives impacting the need for and pricing of digital health services;
- changes in customer needs and preferences;
- the development of specialty care practice standards or industry norms applicable to digital health consultation services;
- the availability of other forms of medical and digital health assistance;
- lack of additional evidence or peer-reviewed publication of clinical evidence supporting the safety, ease-of-use, cost-savings or other perceived benefits of our solutions over competitive products or other currently available methodologies;
- perceived risks associated with the use of our solutions or similar products or technologies generally; and
- critical reviews and public tastes and preferences, all of which change rapidly and cannot be predicted.

In addition, our solutions may be perceived by our customers or potential customers to be more complicated or less effective than traditional approaches, and they may be unwilling to change their current healthcare practices. Healthcare providers are often slow to change their medical treatment practices for a variety of reasons, including perceived liability risks arising from the use of new products and services and the uncertainty of third-party reimbursement. Accordingly, healthcare providers may not recommend our solutions until there is sufficient evidence to convince them to alter their current approach. Any of these factors could adversely affect the demand for and market utilization of our solutions, which would have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Our business could be adversely affected by legal challenges to our business model or by actions restricting our ability to provide the full range of our products and services in certain jurisdictions.

Our ability to conduct digital health services, medical services and pharmacy services in a particular jurisdiction is directly dependent upon the applicable laws governing remote healthcare, the practice of medicine, pharmacy licensure requirements and healthcare delivery in general in such location, which are subject to changing political, regulatory and other influences. With respect to digital health consult services, in the past, state medical boards have established rules or interpreted existing rules in a manner that has limited or restricted the ability to conduct business in accordance with a model utilized in other states or countries. Such actions could result in litigation and the suspension or modification of digital health consult operations in certain states or countries. The extent to which a jurisdiction considers particular actions or relationships to constitute practicing medicine is subject to change and to evolving interpretations by medical boards, state attorneys general and other regulatory or administrative bodies (both domestic and international), among others with broad discretion. Accordingly, we must monitor our compliance with laws in every jurisdiction in which we operate, on an ongoing basis, and we cannot provide assurance that our activities and arrangements, if challenged, will be found to be in compliance with such laws. Additionally, it is possible that the laws and rules governing the practice of medicine, including remote healthcare or pharmacy, in one or more jurisdictions may change in a manner that is detrimental to our business. If a successful legal challenge or an adverse change in the relevant laws were to occur, and we were unable to adapt our business model accordingly, our operations in the affected jurisdictions would be disrupted, which could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

In order to support the growth of our business, we may need to seek capital through new equity or debt financings, and such sources of additional capital may not be available to us on acceptable terms or at all.

The prior operations of our subsidiary companies consumed substantial amounts of cash since their respective inceptions. We intend to continue to make significant investments to support our business growth, respond to business challenges or opportunities, develop new applications and services, enhance our existing solutions and services, enhance our operating infrastructure and potentially acquire complementary businesses and technologies. For the years ended December 31, 2020, and 2019, for all acquired or to be acquired subsidiaries, aggregate net cash provided by (used in) operating activities was $2.4 million and $11.8 million, respectively.

Our future capital requirements may be significantly different from our current estimates and will depend on many factors, including our growth rate, both organically and through acquisitions, the timing and extent of spending to support development efforts, the expansion of sales and marketing activities, the introduction of new or enhanced services and the continuing market acceptance of digital health. Accordingly, we may need to engage in additional equity or debt financings or collaborative arrangements to secure additional funds. If we raise additional funds through further issuances of equity or convertible debt securities, our existing stockholders could suffer significant dilution, and any new equity securities we issue could have rights, preferences and privileges superior to those of holders of our Common Stock. Any debt financing secured by us in the future could involve additional restrictive covenants relating to our capital-raising activities and other financial and operational matters, which may make it more difficult for us to obtain additional capital and to pursue business opportunities, including potential acquisitions. In addition, during times of economic instability, including as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic, it has been difficult for many companies to obtain financing in the public markets or to obtain debt financing, and we may not be able to obtain additional financing on commercially reasonable terms, if at all. If we are unable to obtain adequate financing on terms satisfactory to us, it could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

There is a high degree of uncertainty regarding the implementation and impact of the CARES Act and future stimulus legislation, if any. There can be no assurance as to the total amount and types of assistance we will receive or that we will be able to benefit from provisions intended to increase access resources and ease regulatory burdens for healthcare providers.

The Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security (“CARES”) Act, which was signed into law on March 27, 2020, provides a substantial stimulus and assistance package intended to address the impact of the COVID-19 pandemic, including tax relief and government loans, grants and investments. The legislation, as amended, provides for $175 billion in relief funds to hospitals and other healthcare providers on the front lines of the coronavirus response to support healthcare related expenses or lost revenue attributable to COVID-19 and to ensure uninsured Americans can get testing and treatment for COVID-19. As a result, BHS received payments from the Provider Relief Fund (“PRF”) of $228,794 in 2020.

Payments from the PRF are intended to compensate healthcare providers for lost revenues and incremental healthcare related expenses attributable to coronavirus incurred in response to the COVID-19 pandemic. The Department of Health and Human Services (“HHS”) has stated that PRF payments are not loans and will not need to be repaid. However, as a condition to the receipt of funds, we and any other providers must agree to detailed sets of terms and conditions. HHS has indicated that the terms and conditions may be subject to ongoing changes and reporting. Additionally, HHS has issued a Post-Payment Notice of Reporting Requirements (“Reporting Requirements”) that outlines the process under which providers will report their use of payments from the PRF. To the extent HHS modifies the Reporting Requirements and terms and conditions, it may affect our ability to comply and may require the return of funds. As of March 16, 2021, BHS had not used any of the PRF funds. BHS has recorded a $229 thousand current liability on its consolidated balance sheet as it has not yet met all of the terms and conditions and restrictions for the use of CARES Act PRF. If it does not meet all of the terms and conditions and restrictions for the use, BHS will return the funds to HHS.

Certain of our subsidiaries received economic stimulus under the CARES Act. If such funding is not forgiven and is required to be repaid pursuant to the terms of the CARES Act or related guidance, our business, results of operations, and financial condition may be materially and adversely affected.

Section 1102 of the CARES Act established the Paycheck Protection Program, or PPP, which provided additional funding for small businesses, as defined by the Small Business Administration (“SBA”), to keep workers employed during the COVID-19 pandemic. In April 2020, Thrasys, TTC Healthcare, BHS, and Innovations Group applied for and received PPP funding from various banks in the aggregate amount of $4,653,500. Proceeds can only be used for specified covered purposes including payroll, mortgage interest, rent and utilities in accordance with the CARES Act. Each of the PPP loans has a two-year term and bears interest at a rate of 1.0% per annum. To the extent proceeds are used for these covered purposes, some or all of the related principal balances may be forgiven. Each of the subsidiaries spent their respective proceeds on covered purposes. On October 2, 2020, the SBA issued a Procedural Notice with respect to PPP loans and changes of ownership. If required, each of the subsidiaries that borrowed PPP loans has or is in the process of notifying the PPP lenders of the contemplated change of ownership transaction and has provided the PPP lenders with a copy of the proposed agreements or other documents that would effectuate the proposed transaction. Each subsidiary that borrowed PPP loans has or is in the process of completing their forgiveness applications reflecting their respective use of all of their PPP loan proceeds and submitting the forgiveness applications, together with any supporting documentation, to the PPP lender; and taking other required actions.

We cannot provide assurance that the original principal and interest amounts under the respective PPP loans will be forgiven. If it is determined that any of the subsidiaries that borrowed PPP loans were ineligible to receive their respective PPP loan or determined that any of the subsidiaries that borrowed PPP loans did not comply with requirements after receiving their respective PPP loan, they may be required to repay their respective PPP loan in its entirety and/or be subject to additional penalties (potentially including civil and criminal fines and penalties) and adverse publicity, which could have a material adverse effect on our business, results of operations, and financial condition. Additionally, the SBA may audit any PPP loan, as appropriate. Should any of the subsidiaries that borrowed PPP loans be audited or reviewed by federal or state regulatory authorities, such audit or review could result in the diversion of management’s time and attention, generation of negative publicity, the incurrence of additional legal and reputational costs, and potential exposure to civil and criminal liability. Any of these events could have a material adverse effect on our business, results of operations, and financial condition.

As structured, the acquisition of Glocal by UpHealth will not result in it being wholly-owned upon the Closing, and therefore, Glocal will have minority owners for some period of time, which may result in higher than expected costs and effort to complete the contemplated acquisition.

The Glocal SPA provides that UpHealth is to acquire 90% or more of the equity interests of Glocal, and the acquisition of these equity interests of Glocal is structured to occur in four steps. Under the terms of the Glocal SPA, only the first two of those steps are contemplated to be completed prior to the Closing.

The first step concluded on November 20, 2020, when UpHealth acquired approximately 43.46% of the outstanding equity of Glocal from two Glocal equity owners in exchange for issuance of shares of UpHealth stock and promissory notes. The second step consists of two parts. On March 26, 2021, UpHealth completed the first of these parts, when it made an investment into Glocal of $3,000,000 pursuant to a rights offering by Glocal that was open to all Glocal equity owners. As a result of this investment, UpHealth was issued additional shares in Glocal that increased its ownership to approximately 89% of the outstanding equity of Glocal. The second part of this second step, which is expected to be completed prior to the Closing, contemplates the delivery by UpHealth of UpHealth shares that are to be distributed to other Glocal equity owners who are parties to the Glocal SPA, and following delivery of certain of these UpHealth shares, receipt from one of the Glocal equity owners who participated in the first step of the acquisition of its remaining equity interest which is approximately 1%. UpHealth is prepared to deliver these UpHealth shares at this time, but is waiting for instructions from the counterparties as to where to deliver the shares. If UpHealth does not receive instructions as to where to deliver all of these shares, there is no impact on UpHealth's existing ownership (which is 89% of the outstanding equity of Glocal), or on the control of Glocal that UpHealth holds as a result. To the extent that the contractually obligated acquisition of the approximately 1% equity interest that is included in the second part of the second step has not occurred at the time of Closing, then the Aggregate Merger Consideration paid by GigCapital2 shall be reduced by approximately 99,000 shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock. In addition, because it is not anticipated that the steps for consummation of the transactions provided for in the Glocal SPA will have resulted in ownership of at least 93.46% of Glocal prior to the Closing, GigCapital2 would need to waive the closing condition (which is that UpHealth have acquired at least an additional 50% of the equity interests of Glocal above the 43.46% acquired on November 20, 2020), which GigCapital2 expects to do.

The third and fourth steps toward the Glocal acquisition will not occur until after the Closing. The third step, which is not dependent upon completion of the second step, is to transfer additional Glocal shares to New UpHealth, and the parties have agreed that the third step will occur post-Closing, after New UpHealth has sufficient cash and cash equivalents in its accounts to pay the consideration to the selling shareholders of Glocal, which is $22 million minus the amount by which the debt of Glocal exceeds $35 million. A portion of this cash payment will not be used to pay for the acquisition by New UpHealth of additional Glocal shares, but will instead be used to satisfy the obligations under the promissory notes issued in the first step. The fourth step, which will involve Glocal equity owners who are not parties to the Glocal SPA, is also anticipated to occur post-Closing; New UpHealth, as the majority shareholder, will, in conjunction with the remaining Glocal shareholders, take steps to increase its ownership in Glocal through issuance of additional shares, acquisition of remaining shares from the minority equity holders, and/or in any other manner acceptable to New UpHealth and permitted under India law.

Because of this multi-step structure for the consummation of the acquisition of ownership interests in Glocal, which contemplates that Glocal would not be a wholly-owned subsidiary upon the Closing, there will remain at least some minority owners of Glocal, for some period of time. There are no events at this time that could occur prior to the Closing that will change this fact. These minority owners would have rights to access to books and records of Glocal, and liquidation or dividend rights with respect to the shares of Glocal that they own, but will have minimal impact on UpHealth's ability to control and manage Glocal. The ongoing minority ownership interests in Glocal also could result in disputes with the minority holders. Furthermore, if the UpHealth Business Combination is not completed in time to enable the third step envisioned by the Glocal SPA to be completed by June 30, 2021, and the parties to the Glocal SPA are unable to agree to an extension, the Glocal SPA will terminate and the two Glocal equity owners who participated in the first step may elect to reverse the sale of their Glocal shares to UpHealth as a result of a failure by New UpHealth to satisfy the obligations under the promissory notes issued in the first step.

We may enter into collaborations, joint ventures, strategic alliances or partnerships with third parties that may not result in the development of commercially viable solutions or the generation of significant future revenues.

In the ordinary course of our business, we may enter into collaborations, joint ventures, strategic alliances, partnerships or other arrangements to develop products and to pursue new markets. Proposing, negotiating and implementing collaborations, joint ventures, strategic alliances or partnerships may be a lengthy and complex process. Other companies, including those with substantially greater financial, marketing, sales, technology or other business resources, may compete with us for these opportunities or arrangements. We may not identify, secure, or complete any such transactions or arrangements in a timely manner, on a cost-effective basis, on acceptable terms or at all. We may not realize the anticipated benefits of any such transaction or arrangement. In particular, these collaborations may not result in the development of products that achieve commercial success or result in significant revenues and could be terminated prior to developing any products. Additionally, we may not own, or may jointly own with a third party, the intellectual property rights in products and other works developed under our collaborations, joint ventures, strategic alliances or partnerships.

Additionally, we may not be in a position to exercise sole decision-making authority regarding the transaction or arrangement, which could create the potential risk of creating impasses on decisions, and our future collaborators may have economic or business interests or goals that are, or that may become, inconsistent with our business interests or goals. It is possible that conflicts may arise with our collaborators, such as conflicts concerning the achievement of performance milestones, or the interpretation of significant terms under any agreement, such as those related to financial obligations or the ownership or control of intellectual property developed during the collaboration. If any conflicts arise with any future collaborators, they may act in their self-interest, which may be adverse to our best interest, and they may breach their obligations to us. In addition, we may have limited control over the amount and timing of resources that any future collaborators devote to our or their future products. Disputes between us and our collaborators may result in litigation or arbitration which would increase our expenses and divert the attention of our management. Further, these transactions and arrangements will be contractual in nature and will generally be terminable under the terms of the applicable agreements and, in such event, we may not continue to have rights to the products relating to such transaction or arrangement or may need to purchase such rights at a premium.

We operate in highly competitive markets and face competition from large, well-established healthcare providers and more traditional retailers and pharmaceutical providers with significant resources, and, as a result, we may not be able to compete effectively. If we are unable to compete effectively, we will not be able to establish our products and services in the marketplace, and as a result, our business may not be profitable.

The markets for digital and traditional healthcare are intensely competitive, subject to rapid change and significantly affected by new product and technological introductions and other market activities of industry participants. We compete directly not only with other established digital health consult providers, epharmacy, behavioral health and integrated care management systems solutions, but also traditional healthcare providers, companies providing EHR/HIE (electronic health record / health information exchange) services, and pharmacies. Our current competitors include traditional healthcare providers, healthcare providers expanding into the digital health consult market, incumbent digital health consult providers, traditional pharmacies, mail-order and digital pharmacies and specialized software and solution providers that offer similar solutions. Our competitors include enterprise-focused companies that may enter the direct-to-consumer healthcare industry, as well as direct-to-consumer healthcare providers. The surge in interest in digital health, and in particular the relaxation of HIPAA privacy and security requirements, has also attracted new competition from providers who utilize consumer-grade video conferencing platforms. Many of our current and potential competitors may have greater name and brand recognition, longer operating histories and significantly greater resources than we do and may be able to offer products and services similar to those offered on our platform at more attractive prices than we can. We expect competition to intensify in the future as existing competitors and new entrants introduce new digital health services and software platforms or other technology to U.S. healthcare providers, particularly hospitals and healthcare systems. Further, our current or potential competitors may be acquired by third parties with greater available resources, which has recently occurred in our industry. As a result, our competitors may be able to respond more quickly and effectively than we can to new or changing opportunities, technologies, standards or customer requirements and may have the ability to initiate or withstand substantial price competition. In addition, our competitors have established, and may in the future establish, cooperative relationships with vendors of complementary products, technologies or services to increase the availability of their solutions in the marketplace.

New competitors or alliances may emerge that have greater market share, a larger customer base, more widely adopted proprietary technologies, greater marketing expertise and greater financial resources, which could put us at a competitive disadvantage. Our competitors could also be better positioned to serve certain segments of our current or future markets, which could create additional price pressure. In light of these factors, even if our offerings are more effective than those of our competitors, current or potential customers may accept competitive solutions in lieu of purchasing from us.

To the extent our solutions are perceived by customers and potential customers to be discretionary or otherwise non-essential, our revenues may be disproportionately affected by delays or reductions in general information technology and digital health spending. Moreover, competitors may respond to market conditions by lowering prices and attempting to lure away our customers and/or our customers may develop their own in-house solutions. In addition, the increased pace of consolidation in the healthcare industry may result in reduced overall spending on our solutions.

Our ability to compete effectively depends on our ability to distinguish our company and our offerings from our competitors and their products, and includes factors such as:

- accessibility, ease of use and convenience;
- price and affordability;
- personalization;
- brand recognition;
- long-term outcomes;
- breadth and efficacy of offerings;
- market penetration;
- marketing resources and effectiveness;
- partnerships and alliances;
- relationships with providers, suppliers and partners; and
- regulatory compliance recourses.

If we are unable to successfully compete with existing and potential new competitors, we will not be able to establish our products and services in the marketplace, and as a result, our business may not be profitable. Further, our business, financial condition and results of operations will be adversely affected.

We depend on our senior management team, and the loss of one or more of our executive officers or key employees could adversely affect our business.

Our success depends largely upon the continued services of our key executive officers. Currently these executive officers are at-will employees and therefore they may terminate employment with us at any time with no advance notice. We also rely on our leadership team in the areas of research and development, marketing, services and general and administrative functions. From time to time, there may be changes in our executive management team resulting from the hiring or departure of executives, which could disrupt our business. The replacement of one or more of our executive officers or other key employees would likely involve significant time and costs and may significantly delay or prevent the achievement of our business objectives, and our business would be adversely affected if we fail to adequately plan for succession of our executives and senior management. We currently do not have succession plans in place and we have employment arrangements with only a limited number of key executives. These do not guarantee that the services of these or suitable successor executives will continue to be available to us. Further, our failure to retain and motivate our current personnel could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

We are dependent on our ability to recruit, retain and develop a large, highly skilled and diverse workforce. We must evolve our culture in order to successfully grow our business.

To continue to execute our growth strategy, we must attract and retain highly skilled personnel. Competition is intense for qualified professionals. We may not be successful in continuing to attract and retain qualified personnel. Our subsidiary companies have from time to time in the past experienced, and we expect to continue to experience in the future, difficulty in hiring and retaining highly skilled personnel with appropriate qualifications. The pool of qualified personnel with experience working in the healthcare market is limited overall. In addition, many of the companies with which we compete for experienced personnel have greater resources than us.

Our products and services and our operations require a large number of employees all over the world. Our success is dependent on our ability to evolve our culture, align our talent with our business needs, engage our employees and inspire our employees to be open to change, to innovate and to maintain customer-focus when delivering our services. As we expand internationally, we face the challenge of recruiting, integrating, educating, managing, retaining and developing a more culturally diverse workforce

In addition, in making employment decisions, particularly in high-technology industries, job candidates often consider the value of the stock options or other equity-based awards they are to receive in connection with their employment. Volatility in the price of our stock may, therefore, adversely affect our ability to attract or retain highly skilled personnel. Further, the requirement to expense stock options and other equity-based compensation may discourage us from granting the size or type of stock option or equity awards that job candidates require to join our company. Failure to attract new personnel could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Our success depends, in part, on our continued ability to maintain customer access to a network of qualified healthcare providers, which include medical doctors, physician assistants and nurse practitioners. Failure to maintain such a network could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Our success depends, in part, on our continued ability to maintain customer access to a network of qualified healthcare providers, which include medical doctors, physician assistants and nurse practitioners. If we are unable to recruit and retain licensed physicians and other qualified providers to perform services on our platform, or develop and maintain relationships with affiliated professional entities, which we do not own, it could have a material adverse effect on our business and ability to grow and could adversely affect our results of operations. In any particular market, providers could demand higher payments or take other actions that could result in higher medical costs, less attractive service for our customers or difficulty meeting regulatory requirements. Our ability to develop and maintain satisfactory relationships with providers also may be negatively impacted by other factors not associated with us, such as pressures on healthcare providers, consolidation activity among hospitals, physician groups and other healthcare providers, changes in the patterns of delivery and payment for healthcare services and any perceived liability risks associated with the use of digital health. The failure to maintain or to secure new cost-effective arrangements that engage the providers on our platform may result in a loss of, or inability to grow, our customer base, higher costs, less attractive service for our customers and/or difficulty in meeting regulatory requirements, any of which could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

If we fail to cost-effectively develop widespread brand awareness, our business may suffer.

We believe that developing and maintaining widespread awareness of our brand in a cost-effective manner is critical to achieving widespread adoption of our products and services and attracting new customers. Our brand promotion activities may not generate customer awareness or increase revenue, and even if they do, any increase in revenue may not offset the expenses we incur in building our brand. If we fail to successfully promote and maintain our brand, or incur substantial expenses in doing so, we may fail to attract or retain customers necessary to realize a sufficient return on our brand-building efforts or to achieve the widespread brand awareness that is critical for broad customer adoption.

The emergence of new technologies may render our digital health technologies and tech-enable services obsolete or require us to expend significant resources in order to remain competitive.

The global healthcare industry is massive, with a number of large market participants with conflicting agendas, and it is subject to significant government regulation and is currently undergoing significant change. Changes in our industry, for example, such as the emergence of new technologies as more competitors enter our market, could result in our digital health solutions being less desirable or relevant.

If healthcare benefits trends shift or entirely new technologies are developed that replace existing solutions, our existing or future solutions could be rendered obsolete and our business could be adversely affected. In addition, we may experience difficulties with industry standards, design or marketing that could delay or prevent our development, introduction or implementation of new applications and enhancements.

Rapid technological change in our industry presents us with significant risks and challenges.

The global digital health market is characterized by rapid technological change, changing consumer requirements, short product lifecycles and evolving industry standards. Our success will depend on our ability to enhance our products and services with next-generation technologies and to develop or to acquire and market new services to access new consumer populations. There is no guarantee that we will possess the resources, either financial or personnel, for the research, design and development of new applications or services, or that we will be able to utilize these resources successfully and avoid technological or market obsolescence. Further, there can be no assurance that technological advances by one or more of our competitors or future competitors will not result in our present or future applications and services becoming uncompetitive or obsolete.

Natural or man-made disasters and other similar events may significantly disrupt our business and negatively impact our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Our offices may be harmed or rendered inoperable by natural or man-made disasters, including earthquakes, power outages, fires, floods, nuclear disasters and acts of terrorism or other criminal activities, which may render it difficult or impossible for us to operate our business for some period of time. Any disruptions in our operations related to the repair or replacement of our offices, could negatively impact our business and results of operations and harm our reputation. Although we maintain insurance policies covering damage to property we rent, such insurance may not be sufficient to compensate for losses that may occur. Any such losses or damages could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations. In addition, our customers' facilities may be harmed or rendered inoperable by such natural or man-made disasters, which may cause disruptions, difficulties or material adverse effects on our business.

Our business, results of operations and financial condition may fluctuate on a quarterly and annual basis, which may result in a decline in our stock price if such fluctuations result in a failure to meet any projections that we may provide or the expectations of securities analysts or investors.

The operating results of our six subsidiary company businesses have in the past varied, and our operating results in the future could vary, significantly from quarter-to-quarter and year-to-year. We may fail to match past performance, our projections or the expectations of securities analysts because of a variety of factors, many of which are outside of our control. As a result, we may not be able to accurately forecast our operating results and growth rate. Any of these events could cause the market price of our Common Stock to fluctuate. Factors that may contribute to the variability of our operating results include:

- the addition or loss of large customers, including through acquisitions or consolidations of such customers;
- seasonal and other variations in the timing of our sales and implementation cycles, especially in the case of our large customers;
- travel restrictions, shelter in place orders and other social distancing measures implemented to combat the COVID-19 pandemic, and their respective impact on economic, industry and market conditions, customer spending budgets and our ability to conduct business;
- the timing of recognition of revenue, including possible delays in the recognition of revenue due to unpredictable implementation timelines;
- the timing and success of introductions of new products and services by us or our competitors or any other change in the competitive dynamics of our industry, including consolidation among competitors, hospital and healthcare system customers or strategic partners;
- the amount of operating expenses and timing related to the maintenance and expansion of our business, operations and infrastructure;
- our ability to effectively manage the size and composition of our proprietary network of healthcare professionals relative to the level of demand for services from our customers;
- customer renewal rates and the timing and terms of such renewals;
- technical difficulties or interruptions in our services;
- breaches of information security or privacy;
- our ability to hire and retain qualified personnel;
- changes in the structure of healthcare provider and payment systems;
- changes in the legislative or regulatory environment, including with respect to healthcare, privacy or data protection, or enforcement by government regulators, including fines, orders or consent decrees;
- the cost and potential outcomes of ongoing or future regulatory investigations or examinations, or of future litigation;
- political, economic and social instability, including terrorist activities and health epidemics (including the COVID-19 pandemic), and any disruption these events may cause to the global economy; and
- changes in business or macroeconomic conditions.

The impact of one or more of the foregoing and other factors may cause our operating results to vary significantly. As such, we believe that quarter-to-quarter and year-to-year comparisons of our operating results may not be meaningful and should not be relied upon as an indication of future performance.

Developments affecting spending by the healthcare industry could adversely affect our business.

The U.S. healthcare industry has changed significantly in recent years, and we expect that significant changes will continue to occur. General reductions in expenditures by healthcare industry participants could result from, among other things:

- government regulations or private initiatives that affect the manner in which healthcare providers interact with patients, payors or other healthcare industry participants, including changes in pricing or means of delivery of healthcare products and services;
- consolidation of healthcare industry participants;
- federal amendments to, lack of enforcement or development of applicable regulations for, or repeal of the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act, as amended by the Health Care and Education Reconciliation Act of 2010 (as amended, the “ACA”);
- reductions in government funding for healthcare; and
- adverse changes in business or economic conditions affecting healthcare payors, providers or other healthcare industry participants.

Any of these changes in healthcare spending could adversely affect our revenue. Even if general expenditures by industry participants remain the same or increase, developments in the healthcare industry may result in reduced spending in some or all of the specific market segments that we serve now or in the future. However, the timing and impact of developments in the healthcare industry are difficult to predict. We cannot assure you that the demand for our products and services will continue to exist at current levels or that we will have adequate technical, financial and marketing resources to react to changes in the healthcare industry.

Economic uncertainties or prolonged downturns in the general economy, or political changes, could disproportionately affect the demand for our solutions and adversely affect our results of operations.

Current or future economic uncertainties or prolonged downturns, including those caused by the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic, could adversely affect our business and results of operations. Negative conditions in the general economy in the United States, including conditions resulting from changes in gross domestic product growth, financial and credit market fluctuations, political deadlock, natural catastrophes, pandemics, social unrest, warfare and terrorist attacks, could cause a decrease in funds available to our customers and potential customers and negatively affect the growth rate of our business.

These economic conditions may make it difficult for our customers and us to forecast and plan future budgetary decisions or business activities accurately, and they could cause our customers to reevaluate their decisions to purchase our solutions, which could delay and lengthen our sales cycles or result in cancellations of planned purchases. Furthermore, during challenging economic times or as a result of political changes, our customers may tighten their budgets and face constraints in gaining timely access to sufficient funding or other credit, which could result in an impairment of their ability to make timely payments to us. In turn, we may be required to increase our allowance for doubtful accounts, which would adversely affect our financial results.

We cannot predict the timing, strength or duration of any economic slowdown, instability or recovery, generally or within the healthcare industry, or the effect of political changes. If the economic conditions of the general economy or the healthcare industry do not improve, or worsen from present levels, our business, financial condition and results of operations could be adversely affected.

We depend upon third-party service providers for certain technologies. If these third-party providers fail to fulfill their contractual obligations, fail to maintain or support those technologies or choose to discontinue their services, our business and operations could be disrupted, we may be exposed to third party liabilities and our results of operations may be adversely affected.

We depend upon third-party service providers for important functions of our solutions. Software, network applications and data, as well as the core video and audio system integral to our business, are hosted on third-party sites. These facilities may be vulnerable to damage or interruption from earthquakes, hurricanes, floods, fires, cyber security attacks, terrorist attacks, power losses, telecommunications failures, COVID-19 pandemic-related business disruptions and similar events. The occurrence of a natural disaster or an act of terrorism, a decision to close the facilities without adequate notice or other unanticipated problems could result in lengthy interruptions in our ability to provide our services. The facilities also could be subject to break-ins, computer viruses, sabotage, intentional acts of vandalism and other misconduct. Redundancies and backup systems are in place to prevent operational disruptions and data loss, but if these technologies fail or are of poor quality, our business, reputation and results of operations could be materially adversely affected. Failures or disruption in the delivery of digital health services could result in customer dissatisfaction, disrupt our operations and materially adversely affect operating results. Additionally, we have significantly less control over the technologies third parties provide to us than if we maintained and operated them ourselves. In some cases, functions necessary to some of our solutions may be performed by these third-party technologies. If we need to find an alternative source for performing these functions, we may have to expend significant money, resources and time to develop the alternative, and if this development is not accomplished in a timely manner and without significant disruption to our business, we may be unable to fulfill our obligations to customers. Any errors, failures, interruptions or delays experienced in connection with these third-party technologies and information services or our own systems could negatively impact our relationships with customers and adversely affect our business and could expose us to third-party liabilities.

Our management team has limited experience managing a public company, and we expect to incur significant costs as a result of operating as a public company.

Following the Business Combinations, we will be a publicly traded company and our management team has limited experience managing a publicly traded company. Our management team may not successfully or effectively manage the transition of the predecessor businesses to a public company following the Business Combinations, which will be subject to significant regulatory oversight and reporting obligations under federal securities laws. Their limited experience interacting with public company investors and securities analysts and complying with the increasingly complex laws pertaining to public companies could be a significant disadvantage in that it is likely that an increasing amount of their time may be devoted to these activities, which will result in less time being devoted to the management and growth of our business. These new obligations and constituents require significant attention from our management team and could divert their attention away from the day-to-day management of our business, which could harm our business, results of operations and financial condition. We will also need to expand our employee base and hire additional employees to support our operations as a public company, which will increase our operating costs in future periods.

We expect the rules and regulations applicable to us as a public company to substantially increase our legal and financial compliance costs and to make some activities more time-consuming and costly. The increased costs will decrease our net income or increase our net loss, and may require us to reduce costs in other areas of our business, including our subsidiaries. For example, our status as a public company makes it more difficult and more expensive for us to obtain director and officer liability insurance and we may be required to incur substantial costs to maintain the level of coverage that we believe is appropriate for a public company. We cannot predict or estimate the amount or timing of additional costs we may incur to respond to these requirements. The impact of these requirements could also make it more difficult for us to attract and retain qualified persons to serve on our board of directors, our board committees or as executive officers.

Additionally, there continues to be public interest and increased legislative pressure related to environmental, social and governance, or ESG, activities of public companies. For example, there is a growing number of states requiring organizations to report their board composition as well as mandating gender diversity and representation from underrepresented communities, including New York and California. We risk negative stockholder reaction, including from proxy advisory services, as well as damage to our brand and reputation, if we do not act responsibly in a number of key areas, including diversity and inclusion, environmental stewardship, support for local communities, corporate governance and transparency and considering ESG and human capital factors in our operations.

We have recently acquired or are in the process of acquiring a total of six subsidiaries in conjunction with or through this business combination, or we may acquire other companies or technologies, which could divert our management's attention, result in dilution to our stockholders and otherwise disrupt our operations, and we may have difficulty successfully integrating any such acquisitions or realizing the anticipated benefits of them, any of which could have an adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Our subsidiary companies have in the past sought, and we in the future may seek, to acquire or invest in businesses, applications and services or technologies that we believe could complement or expand our solutions, enhance our technical capabilities or otherwise offer growth opportunities. The pursuit of potential acquisitions may divert the attention of management and cause us to incur various expenses in identifying, investigating and pursuing suitable acquisitions, whether or not they are consummated.

In addition, both with respect to the recent or pending acquisitions of our subsidiaries and additional businesses we may choose to acquire, we may not be able to successfully integrate the acquired personnel, operations and technologies successfully, or effectively manage the combined business following the acquisition. We also may not achieve the anticipated benefits from the acquired business due to a number of factors, including, but not limited to:

- management's lack of experience in acquiring and integrating business;
- inability to integrate or benefit from acquired technologies or services in a profitable manner;
- unanticipated costs or liabilities, including legal liabilities, associated with the acquisition;
- entry into new markets and locations in which we have little operating experience or experience with government rules, regulations and restrictions;
- difficulty integrating the accounting systems, operations and personnel of the acquired business;
- difficulties and additional expenses associated with supporting legacy products and hosting infrastructure of the acquired business;
- difficulty converting the customers of the acquired business onto our platform and contract terms, including disparities in the revenue, licensing, support or professional services model of the acquired company;
- diversion of management's attention from other business concerns;
- adverse effects to our existing business relationships with business partners and customers as a result of the acquisition;
- the potential loss of key employees or contractors;
- use of resources that are needed in other parts of our business; and
- use of substantial portions of our available cash to consummate the acquisition.

In addition, a significant portion of the purchase price of businesses we acquire may be allocated to acquired goodwill and other intangible assets, which must be assessed for impairment at least annually. In the future, if our acquisitions do not yield expected returns, we may be required to take charges to our results of operations based on this impairment assessment process, which could adversely affect our results of operations.

Acquisitions could also result in dilutive issuances of equity securities or the incurrence of debt, which could adversely affect our results of operations. In addition, if an acquired business fails to meet our expectations, our business, financial condition and results of operations may suffer.

If we are unable to grow, or if we fail to manage future growth effectively, our revenues may not increase and we may be unable to implement our business strategy.

Our future success depends upon our ability to grow, and if we are unable to manage our growth effectively, we may incur unexpected expenses and be unable to meet our customers' requirements, all of which could materially adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations. A key aspect to managing our growth is our ability to scale our capabilities, including in response to unexpected shifts in demand for digital health, such as during the COVID-19 pandemic. To manage our current and anticipated future growth effectively, we must continue to maintain and enhance our IT infrastructure and our financial and accounting systems and controls. We must also attract, train and retain a significant number of qualified healthcare providers, sales and marketing personnel, customer support personnel, professional services personnel, software engineers, technical personnel and management personnel. The availability of such personnel, particularly healthcare providers and software engineers, may be constrained.

Our growth also depends on the acceptance of our solutions as a suitable supplement to traditional healthcare delivery systems and on our ability to overcome operational challenges. Our business model and solutions could lose their viability as a supplement to traditional healthcare delivery systems due to customer dissatisfaction or new alternative solutions. If we are unable to address the needs of our customers, or our customers are dissatisfied with the quality of our solutions, our customers may not renew their contracts, seek to cancel or terminate their relationship with us or renew on less favorable terms, any of which could cause our annual net dollar retention rate to decrease.

Our future growth will also depend, in part, on our ability to grow our revenue from existing customers, to complete sales to potential future customers, to expand our customer base, to develop new products and services and to expand internationally. We can provide no assurances that we will be successful in executing on these growth strategies or that, even if our key metrics would indicate future growth, we will continue to grow our revenue or to generate net income. Our ability to execute on our existing sales pipeline, create additional sales pipelines and expand our customer base depends on, among other things, the attractiveness of our services relative to those offered by our competitors, our ability to demonstrate the value of our existing and future services and our ability to attract and retain a sufficient number of qualified sales and marketing leadership and support personnel. In addition, our existing customers may be slower to adopt our services than we currently anticipate, which could adversely affect our results of operations and growth prospects.

We need to continue to improve our internal systems, processes and controls to effectively manage our operations and growth. We may not be able to successfully implement and scale improvements to our systems and processes in a timely or efficient manner or in a manner that does not negatively affect our operating results. For example, our systems and processes may not prevent or detect all errors, omissions or fraud, including any fraudulent activities conducted or facilitated by our employees or the providers. We may experience difficulties in managing improvements to our systems, processes and controls or in connection with third-party software, which could impair our ability to offer our platform to our customers in a timely manner, causing us to lose customers or increase our technical support costs.

As we continue to grow, including from the integration of employees and businesses acquired in connection with previous or future acquisitions, we may find it difficult to maintain important aspects of our corporate culture, which could negatively affect our profitability and our ability to retain and recruit qualified personnel who are essential for our future success. If we do not effectively manage our growth, we may not be able to execute on our business plan, respond to competitive pressures, take advantage of market opportunities, satisfy client requirements or maintain high-quality solutions. Additionally, we may not be able to expand and upgrade our systems and infrastructure to accommodate future growth.

Failure to effectively manage our growth could also lead us to over-invest or under-invest in development and operations, result in weaknesses in our infrastructure, systems or controls, give rise to operational mistakes, financial losses, loss of productivity or business opportunities and result in loss of employees and reduced productivity of remaining employees. Our growth is expected to require significant marketing and sales investments as well as focused capital expenditures and may divert financial resources from other projects such as the development of new products and services. If we are unable to effectively manage our growth, our expenses may increase more than expected, our revenues may not increase or may grow more slowly than expected and we may be unable to implement our business strategy. The quality of our services may also suffer, which could negatively affect our reputation and harm our ability to attract and retain customers.

Current or future litigation against us could be costly and time-consuming to defend.

We are subject, and in the future may become subject from time to time, to legal proceedings and claims that arise in the ordinary course of business. Litigation may result in substantial costs, settlement and judgments and may divert management's attention and resources, which may substantially harm our business, financial condition and results of operations. Insurance may not cover such claims, provide sufficient payments to cover all of the costs to resolve one or more such claims and continue to be available on terms acceptable to us. A claim brought against us that is uninsured or underinsured could result in unanticipated costs, thereby leading analysts or potential investors to reduce their expectations of our performance, which could reduce the market price of our Common Stock.

We could experience losses or liability not covered by insurance.

Our business exposes us to risks that are inherent in the provision of digital health and remote, virtual healthcare. If customers or individuals assert liability claims against us, any ensuing litigation, regardless of outcome, could result in a substantial cost to us, divert management's attention from operations, and decrease market acceptance of our products and services. We attempt to limit our liability to customers by contract; however, the limitations of liability set forth in the contracts may not be enforceable or may not otherwise protect us from liability for damages. Additionally, we may be subject to claims that are not explicitly covered by contract. We also maintain general liability coverage; however, this coverage may not continue to be available on acceptable terms, may not be available in sufficient amounts to cover one or more large claims against us, and may include larger self-insured retentions or exclusions for certain products. In addition, the insurer might disclaim coverage as to any future claim. A successful claim not fully covered by our insurance could have a material adverse impact on our liquidity, financial condition and results of operations.

We may become subject to professional liability claims, which could cause us to incur significant expenses, may require us to pay significant damages if not covered by insurance, and could adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Our business entails the risk of professional liability claims against us and our affiliated professional entities. We and our affiliated professional entities have in the past and may in the future be subject to professional liability claims and, if these claims are successful, substantial damage awards. Although we maintain insurance covering medical malpractice claims in amounts that we believe are appropriate in light of the risks attendant to our business, we cannot predict the outcomes of medical malpractice cases and the effect that any claims of this nature, regardless of their ultimate outcome, could have on our business or reputation or on our ability to attract and retain customers. Professional liability insurance is expensive and insurance premiums may increase significantly in the future, particularly as we expand our services. As a result, adequate professional liability insurance may not be available to our providers or to us in the future at acceptable costs or at all.

Any claims made against us that are not fully covered by insurance could be costly to defend against, result in substantial damage awards against us and divert the attention of our management and our providers from our operations, which could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations. In addition, any claims may adversely affect our business or reputation.

We will qualify as an emerging growth company as defined under the JOBS Act as well as a smaller reporting company within the meaning of the Securities Act, and if we take advantage of certain exemptions from disclosure requirements available to emerging growth companies or smaller reporting companies, this could make our securities less attractive to investors and may make it more difficult to compare our performance with other public companies.

Following the consummation of the Business Combinations, we will qualify an “emerging growth company” within the meaning of the Securities Act, as modified by the Jumpstart Our Business Startups Act of 2012 (the “JOBS Act”), and may take advantage of certain exemptions from various reporting requirements that are applicable to other public companies that are not emerging growth companies for as long as we continue to be an emerging growth company, including, but not limited to, not being required to comply with the auditor attestation requirements of Section 404 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act, reduced disclosure obligations regarding executive compensation in our periodic reports and proxy statements, and exemptions from the requirements of holding a nonbinding advisory vote on executive compensation and stockholder approval of any golden parachute payments not previously approved. As a result, our stockholders may not have access to certain information they may deem important. We will remain an emerging growth company until the earliest of (i) the last day of the fiscal year in which the market value of our Common Stock that is held by non-affiliates exceeds $700,000,000 as of the end of that year’s second fiscal quarter, (ii) the last day of the fiscal year in which we have total annual gross revenue of $1.07 billion or more during such fiscal year (as indexed for inflation), (iii) the date on which we have issued more than $1 billion in non-convertible debt in the prior three-year period or (iv) the last day of the fiscal year following the fifth anniversary of GigCapital2, Inc.’s initial public offering. We cannot predict whether investors will find our securities less attractive because we will rely on these exemptions. If some investors find our securities less attractive as a result of our reliance on these exemptions, the trading prices of our securities may be lower than they otherwise would be, there may be a less active trading market for our securities and the trading prices of our securities may be more volatile.

In addition, Section 107 of the JOBS Act also provides that an emerging growth company can take advantage of the exemption from complying with new or revised accounting standards provided in Section 7(a)(2)(B) of the Securities Act as long as we are an emerging growth company. An emerging growth company can therefore delay the adoption of certain accounting standards until those standards would otherwise apply to private companies. We have not elected to opt out of such extended transition period and, therefore, we may not be subject to the same new or revised accounting standards as other public companies that are not emerging growth companies. This may make comparison of our financial statements with another public company which is not an emerging growth company or is an emerging growth company that has opted out of using the extended transition period difficult or impossible because of the potential differences in accountant standards used.

Additionally, we will qualify as a “smaller reporting company” as defined in Item 10(f)(1) of Regulation S-K. Smaller reporting companies may take advantage of certain reduced disclosure obligations, including, among other things, providing only two years of audited financial statements. We will remain a smaller reporting company until the last day of the fiscal year in which (i) the market value of our Common Stock held by non-affiliates exceeds $250,000,000 as of the end of that year’s second fiscal quarter, or (ii) our annual revenues exceeded $100,000,000 during such completed fiscal year and the market value of our Common Stock held by non-affiliates exceeds $700,000,000 as of the end of that year's second fiscal quarter. To the extent we take advantage of such reduced disclosure obligations, it may also make comparison of our financial statements with other public companies difficult or impossible.

If we fail to maintain an effective system of disclosure controls and internal control over financial reporting, our ability to produce timely and accurate financial statements or comply with applicable regulations could be impaired.

As a publicly traded company following the consummation of the Business Combinations, we will be subject to the reporting requirements of the Exchange Act, the Sarbanes-Oxley Act and the rules and regulations of the applicable listing standards of NYSE. We expect that the requirements of these rules and regulations will continue to increase our legal, accounting and financial compliance costs, make some activities more difficult, time-consuming and costly and place significant strain on our personnel, systems and resources. The Sarbanes-Oxley Act requires, among other things, that we maintain effective disclosure controls and procedures and internal control over financial reporting. We are continuing to develop and refine our disclosure controls and other procedures that are designed to ensure that information required to be disclosed by us in the reports that we will file with the SEC is recorded, processed, summarized and reported within the time periods specified in SEC rules and forms and that information required to be disclosed in reports under the Exchange Act is accumulated and communicated to our principal executive and financial officers. We are also continuing to improve our internal control over financial reporting, which includes hiring additional accounting and financial personnel to implement such processes and controls. In order to maintain and improve the effectiveness of our disclosure controls and procedures and internal control over financial reporting, we have expended, and anticipate that we will continue to expend, significant resources, including accounting-related costs and significant management oversight. If any of these new or improved controls and systems do not perform as expected, we may experience material weaknesses in our controls. Our current controls and any new controls that we develop may become inadequate because of changes in conditions in our business. Further, weaknesses in our disclosure controls and internal control over financial reporting may be discovered in the future.

Any failure to develop or maintain effective controls or any difficulties encountered in their implementation or improvement could harm our results of operations or cause us to fail to meet our reporting obligations and may result in a restatement of our financial statements for prior periods. Any failure to implement and maintain effective internal control over financial reporting also could adversely affect the results of periodic management evaluations and annual independent registered public accounting firm attestation reports regarding the effectiveness of internal control over financial reporting that we will eventually be required to include in its periodic reports that will be filed with the SEC. Ineffective disclosure controls and procedures and internal control over financial reporting could also cause investors to lose confidence in our reported financial and other information, which would likely have a negative effect on the trading price of our Common Stock. In addition, if we are unable to continue to meet these requirements, we may not be able to remain listed on NYSE. Our predecessor companies were not required to comply with the SEC rules that implement Section 404 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act and were therefore not required to make a formal assessment of the effectiveness of control over financial reporting for that purpose. As a public company, we will be required to provide an annual management report on the effectiveness of our internal control over financial reporting commencing with our annual report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2021. Our independent registered public accounting firm is not required to formally attest to the effectiveness of our internal control over financial reporting until after we are no longer an "emerging growth company" as defined in the JOBS Act or a "smaller reporting company" as defined in Item 10(f)(1) of Regulation S-K. At such time, our independent registered public accounting firm may issue a report that is adverse in the event it is not satisfied with the level at which our internal control over financial reporting is documented, designed or operating. Any failure to maintain effective disclosure controls and internal control over financial reporting could have an adverse effect on our business and results of operations and could cause a decline in the price of our Common Stock.

Changes in financial accounting standards may adversely affect our reported results of operations.

A change in accounting standards or practices, in particular with respect to revenue recognition, could adversely affect our operating results and may even affect our reporting of transactions completed before the change is effective. New accounting pronouncements and varying interpretations of accounting pronouncements have occurred and may occur in the future. For example, in May 2014, the Financial Accounting Standards Board issued Accounting Standards Update No. 2014-09, Revenue from Contracts with Customers (Topic 606), as amended, which supersedes nearly all existing revenue recognition guidance under accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. Although the new standard permits early adoption, as a private company, Topic 606 will be effective for UpHealth for annual periods beginning after December 15, 2019, and interim reporting periods within annual reporting periods beginning after December 15, 2020. Accordingly, we will adopt Topic 606 for our annual reporting period beginning January 1, 2020, and interim reporting periods within the annual reporting period beginning January 1, 2021. We currently anticipate adopting the standard using the modified retrospective approach. We are in the process of evaluating the impact of the adoption of this new revenue standard on our consolidated financial statements. These and other changes to existing rules or the questioning of current practices may adversely affect our operating results. In addition, any difficulties in implementing this new revenue standard could cause us to fail to meet our financial reporting obligations, which could result in regulatory discipline and harm investors' confidence in us.

Healthcare provider licensing and credentialing, a cost of providing professional services, can negatively impact our margins as we may incur increased expenses to utilize appropriately licensed and credentialed healthcare providers for consult demands, especially when expanding to new jurisdictions and new hospital customers.

A healthcare provider's ability to perform digital health consults is dictated by where the healthcare provider is licensed to practice and with whom the healthcare provider is privileged to provide services. Governmental licensure and healthcare provider credentialing requirements take time to procure, often necessitating months of lead-time before a healthcare provider is able to practice in a particular jurisdiction or take consults for a particular hospital facility. Our ability to manage and anticipate healthcare provider need and prioritize licensing and credentialing could impact profit margins and expense management. As consult demands increase in areas where only a limited number of healthcare providers hold necessary licenses and credentials, those healthcare providers with appropriate licensing and credentialing to meet customer demands may assume additional overtime shifts or otherwise demand increased fees, thereby increasing our costs. Further, obtaining a license to practice medicine in a particular jurisdiction is at the discretion of the local state medical board or applicable international licensing body, and, as such, timing to achieve licensure in certain jurisdictions may be outside our ability to accomplish within expected time frames.

The estimates and assumptions on which our financial projections are based may prove to be inaccurate, which may cause our actual results to materially differ from such projections, and which may adversely affect our future profitability, cash flows and market price of our Common Stock.

UpHealth's financial projections included in this proxy statement/ prospectus are dependent on certain estimates and assumptions related to, among other things, growth assumptions that are inherently subject to significant uncertainties and contingencies, as well as, among other things, matters related specifically to the recent operational performance and anticipated development of our business, and are subject to significant economic, competitive, industry and other uncertainties, and may not be achieved in full, at all, or within projected timeframes. The financial projections also reflect numerous assumptions with respect to general business, economic, market, regulatory and financial conditions and various other factors, all of which are difficult to predict and many of which are beyond our control. Furthermore, the financial projections do not take into account any circumstances or event occurring after the date they were prepared. The financial projections were not prepared with a view to public disclosure or complying with published guidelines of the SEC or the guidelines established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants for the preparation and presentation of prospective financial information. UpHealth's independent auditor has not audited, reviewed, examined, compiled nor applied agreed-upon procedures with respect to the financial projections and, accordingly, does not express an opinion or any other form of assurance with respect thereto. The financial projections were based on historical experience and on various other estimates and assumptions that our management believed to be reasonable under the circumstances and at the time they were made. There will be differences between actual and projected financial results, and actual results may be materially greater or materially less than those contained in the financial projections, especially in light of the increased difficulty in making such estimates and assumptions as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic. Any material variation between our financial projections and our actual results may adversely affect our future profitability, cash flows and market price of our Common Stock.

Our executive officers, directors, principal stockholders and their affiliates will have the ability to exercise significant influence over our company and all matters submitted to stockholders for approval.

Following the Closing, we expect our executive officers, directors and principal stockholders, together with their affiliates and related persons, to beneficially own shares of Common Stock representing a significant percentage of our capital stock. As a result, if these stockholders were to choose to act together, they would be able to influence our management and affairs and the outcome of matters submitted to our stockholders for approval, including the election of directors and any sale, merger, consolidation, or sale of all or substantially all of our assets. This concentration of voting power could delay or prevent an acquisition of our company on terms that other stockholders may desire. In addition, this concentration of ownership might adversely affect the market price of our Common Stock by:

- delaying, deferring or preventing a change of control of us;
- impeding a merger, consolidation, takeover or other business combination involving us; or
- discouraging a potential acquirer from making a tender offer or otherwise attempting to obtain control of us.

Because we do not anticipate paying any cash dividends on our capital stock in the foreseeable future, capital appreciation, if any, will be the sole source of gain for our stockholders.

We have never declared or paid cash dividends on our capital stock. We currently intend to retain all of our future earnings, if any, to finance the growth and development of our business. In addition, under the Global Loan Agreement (See "Certain Relationships and Related Party Transactions."), we are currently restricted from paying cash dividends, and we expect these restrictions to continue in the future. In addition, the terms of any future debt agreements may continue to preclude us from paying dividends. As a result, capital appreciation, if any, of our Common Stock will be the sole source of gain for our stockholders for the foreseeable future.

Risks Related to Government Regulation

Evolving government regulations may require increased costs or adversely affect our results of operations.

In a regulatory climate that is uncertain, our operations may be subject to scrutiny or reinterpretation under various laws and regulations. Healthcare is a highly regulated industry and subject to laws and regulations at the federal, state, and local level as well as evolving industry standards. Telehealth and other remote care delivery models, in particular, have experienced and will continue to experience frequently changing regulations that may differ substantially from jurisdiction to jurisdiction, including state by state. Compliance with current and future laws and regulations will likely require significant initial monetary and recurring expenses and could potentially require us to change our practices upon short notice, adding to the potential costs of compliance. These additional monetary expenditures may increase future overhead, which could have a material adverse effect on our results of operations.

We have identified what we believe are the areas of government regulation that, if changed, would be costly to us. These include: rules governing the practice of medicine by physicians; rules governing the practice of pharmacy; licensure standards for doctors, pharmacists and behavioral health professionals; laws limiting the corporate practice of medicine; fee-splitting, healthcare fraud and abuse laws; third party payor coverage and reimbursement rules; cybersecurity and privacy laws; laws and rules relating to the distinction between independent contractors and employees; prescribing of controlled substances via a remote encounter; fraud and abuse laws addressing financial relationships between healthcare entities and physicians or other referral sources; commercial and governmental payor billing; anti-kickback laws; provisions of free healthcare by the government; and tax and other laws. There could be laws and regulations applicable to our business that we have not identified or that, if changed, may be costly to us, and we cannot predict all the ways in which implementation of such laws and regulations may affect us.

In the jurisdictions in which we operate, we believe we are in compliance with all applicable laws, but, these laws and regulations are extremely complex and, in many cases, still evolving. If our operations are found to violate any of the foreign, federal, state or local laws and regulations which govern our activities, we may be subject to litigation, government enforcement actions, and applicable penalties associated with the violation, potentially including civil and criminal penalties, damages, fines, exclusion from participation in certain payor programs or curtailment of our operations. Compliance obligations under these various laws are oftentimes detailed and onerous, further contributing to the risk that we could be found to be out of compliance with particular requirements. The risk of being found in violation of these laws and regulations is further increased by the fact that in many cases, these laws have not been fully interpreted by the regulatory authorities or the courts, particularly with respect to new and emerging technologies and remote delivery of services, and may therefore be open to a variety of interpretations. In the event that we must remedy any compliance violations, we may be required to modify our services and products in a manner that undermines our solution's attractiveness to our clients or providers or experts, we may become subject to fines or other penalties or, if we determine that the requirements to operate in compliance in such jurisdictions are overly burdensome, we may elect to terminate our operations in such places. In each case, our revenue may decline, and our business, financial condition and results of operations could be materially adversely affected.

The outbreak of the SARS-CoV-2 virus and the COVID-19 disease that it causes has evolved into a global pandemic. It is difficult to predict what impact the continued prevalence of COVID-19 will have on our business and resulting operations. At the same time, the U.S. federal and state governments have relaxed certain laws and regulations to combat the spread of the novel coronavirus, including removal of restrictions on the delivery and payment for remote healthcare services and the expansion of FDA's enforcement discretion with respect to certain off-label uses of products that may benefit COVID-19 response and prevention efforts. These changes in the law are occurring quickly, are subject to varying interpretations, and are temporary in nature. We are closely following these changes and we are adapting our operations to quickly respond to the needs of our patients and our partners. We may interpret these changes differently than an applicable government regulator and may be subject to audits in the future. To the extent that any of our interpretations are found to be incorrect, we could be subject to enforcement action or overpayment liability. We may also need to quickly revert to past operations in the event that flexibilities resulting from the pandemic are removed and standard requirements are re-imposed. We are unable to predict the extent to which this pandemic will impact our business and operating results, including new information that may emerge concerning the virus and the actions to contain it or to treat COVID-19, among others.

Other legal, regulatory and commercial policy influences are subjecting our industry to significant changes, and we cannot predict whether new regulations or policies will emerge from U.S. federal or state governments, foreign governments, or third-party payors. Government and commercial payors may, in the future, consider healthcare policies and proposals intended to curb rising healthcare costs, including those that could significantly affect reimbursement for healthcare services. Future significant changes in the healthcare systems in the United States or elsewhere could also have a negative impact on the demand for our current and future services.

Additionally, the introduction of new services may require us to comply with additional, yet undetermined, laws and regulations. Compliance may require obtaining appropriate licenses or certificates, increasing our security measures and expending additional resources to monitor developments in applicable rules to ensure compliance. The failure to adequately comply with these future laws and regulations may delay or possibly prevent some of our products or services from being offered to customers, which could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

The healthcare industry is highly regulated and is subject to changing political, legislative, regulatory and other influences. Existing and new laws and regulations affecting the healthcare industry could create unexpected liabilities for us, cause us to incur additional costs and restrict our operations. Many healthcare laws are complex, and their application to specific products and services may not be clear. In particular, many existing healthcare laws and regulations, when enacted, did not anticipate the services that we provide. However, these laws and regulations may nonetheless be applied to our business. Our failure to accurately anticipate the application of these laws and regulations, or other failure to comply, could create liability for us, result in adverse publicity and materially affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

In the U.S., we conduct business in a heavily regulated industry and if we fail to comply with these laws and government regulations, we could incur substantial penalties or be required to make significant changes to our operations or experience enforcement actions or adverse publicity, which could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

The U.S. healthcare industry is heavily regulated and closely scrutinized by federal, state and local governments. Comprehensive statutes and regulations govern the manner in which we provide and bill for services and collect reimbursement from governmental programs and private payers, our contractual relationships with our providers, vendors and customers, our marketing activities and other aspects of our operations. Of particular importance are:

- the federal physician self-referral law, commonly referred to as the Stark Law, that, subject to limited exceptions, prohibits physicians from referring Medicare patients to an entity for the provision of certain “designated health services” if the physician or a member of such physician’s immediate family has a direct or indirect financial relationship (including an ownership interest or a compensation arrangement) with the entity, and prohibits the entity from billing Medicare for such designated health services;
- the federal Anti-Kickback Statute, which is an intent-based federal criminal statute that prohibits the knowing and willful offer, payment, provision, solicitation or receipt of any remuneration, directly or indirectly, in cash or in kind, for referring an individual, in return for ordering, leasing, purchasing or recommending or arranging for or to induce the referral of an individual or the ordering, purchasing or leasing of items or services covered, in whole or in part, by any federal healthcare program, such as Medicare and Medicaid. A person or entity does not need to have actual knowledge of the statute or specific intent to violate it to have committed a violation. In addition, the government may assert that a claim including items or services resulting from a violation of the federal Anti-Kickback Statute constitutes a false or fraudulent claim for purposes of the federal False Claims Act;
- the criminal healthcare fraud provisions of the federal Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996, as amended by the Health Information Technology for Economic and Clinical Health Act, or HITECH, and their implementing regulations, which we collectively refer to as HIPAA, and related rules that prohibit knowingly and willfully executing or attempting to execute a scheme or artifice to defraud any healthcare benefit program or to obtain by means of false, or fraudulent pretenses, representations, or promises, any of the money or property owned by, or under the custody or control of, any healthcare benefit program in connection with the delivery of or payment for healthcare benefits, items or services. Similar to the federal Anti-Kickback Statute, a person or entity does not need to have actual knowledge of the statute or specific intent to violate it to have committed a violation;

- the federal False Claims Act that imposes civil liability, including through qui tam and civil whistleblower actions, against individuals or entities that knowingly present, or cause to be presented, false or fraudulent claims for payment to the federal government or knowingly making, or causing to be made, a false statement or record material to the payment of a false claim or avoiding, decreasing or concealing an obligation to pay money to the federal government;
- the federal criminal statute on false statements relating to health care matters, which prohibits knowingly and willfully falsifying, concealing or covering up a material fact or making any materially false, fictitious, or fraudulent statements or representations in connection with the delivery of or payment for health care benefits, items or services;
- The Civil Monetary Penalties Law authorizes the imposition of civil monetary penalties, assessments and exclusion against an individual or entity based on a variety of prohibited conduct, including, but not limited to:
 - presenting, or causing to be presented, claims for payment to Medicare, Medicaid or other third-party payors that the individual or entity knows or should know are for an item or service that was not provided as claimed or is false or fraudulent;
 - offering remuneration to a Medicare or Medicaid beneficiary that the individual or entity knows or should know is likely to influence the beneficiary to order or receive health care items or services from a particular provider or supplier;
 - employing or contracting with an entity or individual excluded from participation in the federal health care programs;
 - violating the federal Anti-Kickback Statute;
 - making, using or causing to be made or used a false record or statement material to a false or fraudulent claim for payment for items and services furnished under a federal health care program;
 - making, using or causing to be made any false statement, omission or misrepresentation of a material fact in any application, bid or contract to participate or enroll as a provider of services or a supplier under a federal health care program; and
 - failing to timely report and return an overpayment owed to the federal government.
- Substantial civil monetary penalties may be imposed under the federal Civil Monetary Penalties Law and may vary depending on the underlying violation. In addition, an assessment of not more than three times the total amount claimed for each item or service may also apply and a violator may be subject to exclusion from federal and state health care programs;
- the federal Eliminating Kickbacks in Recovery Act of 2018 (EKRA), included as part of the Substance Use-Disorder Prevention that Promotes Opioid Recovery and Treatment (SUPPORT) for Patients and Communities Act (the “SUPPORT Act”), was signed into law on Oct. 24, 2018. The EKRA provisions, similar to the federal Anti-Kickback Statute, makes it a felony for certain entities (including substance abuse treatment centers, clinical treatment facilities and clinical laboratories) to engage in remunerative arrangements that induce or reward individuals or entities for the referral of patients to such facilities, unless an exception applies. EKRA applies regardless of payor source, including for services reimbursed exclusively through commercial insurance or self-paying patients. Violations of EKRA can lead to fines of not more than $200,000 and imprisonment of not more than 10 years, or both, for each occurrence” 18 U.S.C. 220(a);
- reassignment of payment rules that prohibit certain types of billing and collection practices in connection with claims payable by the Medicare or Medicaid programs;
- similar state law provisions pertaining to anti-kickback, self-referral, fee-splitting, patient inducement and false claims issues, some of which may apply to items or services reimbursed by any payer, including patients and commercial insurers;

- state laws that prohibit general business corporations, such as us, from practicing medicine, controlling physicians' medical decisions or engaging in some practices such as splitting fees with physicians;
- laws that regulate debt collection practices as applied to our debt collection practices;
- a provision of the Social Security Act that imposes criminal penalties on healthcare providers who fail to disclose or refund known overpayments;
- federal and state laws that prohibit providers from billing and receiving payment from Medicare and Medicaid for services unless the services are medically necessary, adequately and accurately documented and billed using codes that accurately reflect the type and level of services rendered;
- federal and state laws and policies related to healthcare providers, licensure, certification, accreditation and related to the Medicare and Medicaid programs enrollment; and
- federal and state laws and policies related to the practice of pharmacy, pharmacy licensure, and the prescribing and dispensing of pharmaceuticals and controlled substances.

In addition, the healthcare industry is required to comply with additional extensive and complex laws and regulations at the federal, state and local government levels relating to, among other things:

- licensure of health providers, certification of organizations and enrollment with government reimbursement programs;
- necessity and adequacy of medical care;
- relationships with physicians and other referral sources and referral recipients;
- billing and coding for services;
- properly handling overpayments;
- quality of medical equipment and services;
- qualifications of medical and support personnel;
- confidentiality, maintenance, data breach, identity theft and security issues associated with health-related and personal information and medical records; and
- communications with patients and consumers.

Because of the breadth of these laws and the narrowness of certain statutory and regulatory exceptions and safe harbors that may be available, it is possible that some of our business activities could be subject to challenge under one or more of such laws. Complying with these laws may prove costly. Failure to comply with these laws and other laws can result in civil and criminal penalties such as fines, damages, overpayment, recoupment, imprisonment, loss of enrollment status and exclusion from participation in federal healthcare programs, including Medicare and Medicaid. The risk of us being found in violation of these laws and regulations is increased by the fact that many of them have not been fully interpreted by the regulatory authorities or the courts, and their provisions are sometimes open to a variety of interpretations. Our failure to accurately anticipate the application of these laws and regulations to our business or any other failure to comply with regulatory requirements could create liability for us and negatively affect our business. Any action against us for violation of these laws or regulations, even if we successfully defend against it, could cause us to incur significant legal expenses, divert our management's attention from the operation of our business and result in adverse publicity.

To enforce compliance with the federal laws, the U.S. Department of Justice and the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services Office of Inspector General, or OIG, have recently increased their scrutiny of healthcare providers, which has led to a number of investigations, prosecutions, convictions and settlements in the healthcare industry. Telemedicine providers, in particular, have been subject to increased scrutiny by federal and state regulators and have resulted in significant enforcement actions. Dealing with investigations can be time- and resource-intensive and can divert management's attention from the business. Any such investigation or settlement could increase our costs or otherwise have an adverse effect on our business. In addition, because of the potential for large monetary exposure under the federal False Claims Act, which provides for treble damages and penalties of $11,665 to $23,331 per false claim or statement for penalties assessed after June 19, 2020, and with respect to violations occurring after November 2, 2015, healthcare providers often resolve allegations without admissions of liability for significant and material amounts to avoid the uncertainty of treble damages that may be awarded in litigation proceedings. Such settlements often contain additional compliance and reporting requirements as part of a consent decree, settlement agreement or corporate integrity agreement. Notably, the government has been using its newly created authority under EKRA to pursue criminal enforcement actions against substance abuse treatment facilities for certain financial arrangements that were not subject to the federal Anti-Kickback Statute due to the absence of federal healthcare program reimbursement for services rendered by such facilities. EKRA's statutory exceptions do not strictly mirror the safe harbors available under the federal Anti-Kickback Statute and in many instances, relationships that would otherwise comply with the federal Anti-Kickback Statute would nevertheless violate EKRA. EKRA grants authority to the U.S. Attorney General to promulgate additional exceptions, in consultation with the Secretary of HHS; however, the Attorney General has not yet done so. Notably, the OIG (the agency with authority to promulgate regulatory safe harbors under the federal Anti-Kickback Statute) does not have any authority over EKRA and the Attorney General does not have any particular expertise with healthcare fraud and abuse laws. Given this inexperience, there may be a substantial delay before any additional exceptions to EKRA are implemented. In the meantime, the U.S. Department of Justice is actively pursuing enforcement actions under EKRA. There is much uncertainty in how EKRA will be interpreted and applied and also, whether additional exceptions will be adopted in the future.

While we make every effort to comply with all applicable laws, we cannot rule out the possibility that the government or other third parties could interpret these laws differently and challenge our practices under one or more of these laws. The likelihood of allegations of non-compliance is increased by the fact that under certain federal and state laws applicable to our business, individuals, known as relators, may bring an action on behalf of the government alleging violations of such laws, and potentially be awarded a share of any damages or penalties ultimately awarded to the applicable government body.

The laws, regulations and standards governing the provision of healthcare services across the world including India and the U.S. may change significantly in the future. We cannot assure you that any new or changed healthcare laws, regulations or standards will not materially adversely affect our business. Further, we cannot assure you that a review of our business by judicial, law enforcement, regulatory or accreditation authorities will not result in a determination that could adversely affect our operations.

The healthcare industry in India is subject to laws, rules and regulations in the regions where we conduct our business or in which we intend to expand our operations.

Given our digital health centers are situated at multiple locations, we are subject to various and extensive local law, rules and regulations relating, among other things, to the setting up and operation of private medical care establishments. Health and safety laws and regulations in India are becoming increasingly stringent in the recent years, and it is possible that they will become significantly more stringent in the future. We may incur substantial costs in order to comply with current or future laws, rules and regulations. These current or future laws, rules and regulations may also impede our operations. Any non-compliance with the applicable laws, rules and regulations may subject us to regulatory action, including penalties and other civil or criminal proceedings, which may materially and adversely affect our business, prospects and reputation.

Our international operations pose certain risks to our business that may be different from risks associated with our domestic operations.

Our international business is subject to risks resulting from differing legal and regulatory requirements, political, social and economic conditions and unforeseeable developments in a variety of jurisdictions. We have one primary office globally and customers across more than nine countries worldwide. Our international operations are subject to particular risks in addition to those faced by our domestic operations, including:

- uncertain legal and regulatory requirements applicable to digital health, technology services and solutions and prescription medication;
- multiple, conflicting and changing laws and regulations such as tax laws, privacy and data protection laws and regulations, export and import restrictions, employment laws, regulatory requirements and other governmental approvals, permits and licenses;
- our inability to replicate our domestic business structure consistently outside of the United States, especially as it relates to our contractual arrangement with affiliated professional entities;
- the need to localize and adapt our solutions for specific countries, including translation into foreign languages and associated expenses;
- potential loss of proprietary information due to misappropriation or laws that may be less protective of our intellectual property rights than U.S. laws or that may not be adequately enforced;
- requirements of foreign laws and other governmental controls, including compliance challenges related to the complexity of multiple, conflicting and changing governmental laws and regulations, including employment, healthcare, tax, privacy and data protection laws and regulations;
- data privacy laws that require that client data be stored and processed in a designated territory;
- new and different sources of competition and laws and business practices favoring local competitors;
- local business and cultural factors that differ from our normal standards and practices, including business practices that we are prohibited from engaging in by the U.S. Foreign Corrupt Practices Act of 1977 (the “FCPA”) and other anti-corruption laws and regulations;
- changes to economic sanctions laws and regulations;
- central bank and other restrictions on our ability to repatriate cash from international subsidiaries;
- adverse tax consequences;
- fluctuations in currency exchange rates, economic instability and inflationary conditions, which could make our solutions more expensive or increase our costs of doing business in certain countries;
- limitations on future growth or inability to maintain current levels of revenues from international sales if we do not invest sufficiently in our international operations;
- different pricing environments, longer sales cycles and longer accounts receivable payment cycles and collections issues;
- difficulties in staffing, managing and operating our international operations, including difficulties related to administering our stock plans in some foreign countries and increased financial accounting and reporting burdens and complexities;
- difficulties in coordinating the activities of our geographically dispersed and culturally diverse operations;
- natural disasters, political and economic instability, including wars, terrorism, social or political unrest, including civil unrest, protests, and other public demonstrations, outbreaks of disease, pandemics or epidemics, boycotts, curtailment of trade, and other market restrictions; and
- regulatory and compliance risks that relate to maintaining accurate information and control over activities subject to regulation under the FCPA, and comparable laws and regulations in other countries.

Our overall success in international markets depends, in part, on our ability to anticipate and effectively manage these risks and there can be no assurance that we will be able to do so without incurring unexpected costs. If we are not able to manage the risks related to our international operations, our business, financial condition and results of operations may be materially adversely affected.

Our failure to comply with the anti-corruption, trade compliance and economic sanctions laws and regulations of the United States and applicable international jurisdictions could materially adversely affect our reputation and results of operations.

We must comply with anti-corruption laws and regulations imposed by governments around the world with jurisdiction over our operations, which may include the FCPA and the U.K. Bribery Act 2010 (the “Bribery Act”), as well as the laws of the countries where we do business. These laws and regulations apply to companies, individual directors, officers, employees and agents, and may restrict our operations, trade practices, investment decisions and partnering activities. Where they apply, the FCPA and the Bribery Act prohibit us and our officers, directors, employees and business partners acting on our behalf, including joint venture partners and agents, from corruptly offering, promising, authorizing or providing anything of value to public officials for the purposes of influencing official decisions or obtaining or retaining business or otherwise obtaining favorable treatment. The Bribery Act also prohibits non-governmental “commercial” bribery and accepting bribes. As part of our business, we may deal with governments and state-owned business enterprises, the employees and representatives of which may be considered public officials for purposes of the FCPA and the Bribery Act.

We also are subject to the jurisdiction of various governments and regulatory agencies around the world, which may bring our personnel and agents into contact with public officials responsible for issuing or renewing permits, licenses or approvals or for enforcing other governmental regulations. In addition, some of the international locations in which we will operate lack a developed legal system and have elevated levels of corruption. Our business also must be conducted in compliance with applicable export controls and trade and economic sanctions laws and regulations, including those of the U.S. government, the governments of other countries in which we will operate or conduct business and various multilateral organizations. Such laws and regulations include, without limitation, those administered and enforced by the U.S. Department of the Treasury’s Office of Foreign Assets Control, the U.S. Department of State, the U.S. Department of Commerce, the United Nations Security Council and other relevant sanctions authorities. Our provision of services to persons located outside the United States may be subject to certain regulatory prohibitions, restrictions or other requirements, including certain licensing or reporting requirements. Our provision of services outside of the United States also exposes us to the risk of violating, or being accused of violating, anti-corruption, exports controls and trade compliance and economic sanctions laws and regulations. Our failure to successfully comply with these laws and regulations may expose us to reputational harm as well as significant sanctions, including criminal fines, imprisonment, civil penalties, disgorgement of profits, injunctions and suspension or debarment from government contracts, as well as other remedial measures. Investigations of alleged violations can be expensive and disruptive. Though we have implemented formal training and monitoring programs, we cannot assure compliance by our employees or representatives for which we may be held responsible, and any such violation could materially adversely affect our reputation, business, financial condition and results of operations.

As we expand our international operations, we will increasingly face political, legal and compliance, operational, regulatory, economic and other risks that we do not face or are more significant than in our domestic operations. Our exposure to these risks is expected to increase.

As we expand our international operations, we will increasingly face political, legal and compliance, operational, regulatory, economic and other risks that we do not face or that are more significant than in our domestic operations. These risks vary widely by country and include varying regional and geopolitical business conditions and demands, government intervention and censorship, discriminatory regulation, nationalization or expropriation of assets and pricing constraints. Our international products and services need to meet country-specific customer preferences as well as country-specific legal requirements, including those related to licensing, digital health, privacy, data storage, location, protection and security. Our ability to conduct digital health services internationally is subject to the applicable laws governing remote healthcare and the practice of medicine in such location, and the interpretation of these laws is evolving and vary significantly from country to country and are enforced by governmental, judicial and regulatory authorities with broad discretion. We believe we are in compliance with all applicable laws and regulations. We cannot, however, be certain that our interpretation of such laws and regulations is correct in how we structure our operations, our arrangements with physicians, services agreements and customer arrangements

Our international operations increase our exposure to, and require us to devote significant management resources to implement controls and systems to comply with the privacy and data protection laws of non-U.S. jurisdictions and the anti-bribery, anti-corruption and anti-money laundering laws of the United States (including the FCPA) and the United Kingdom (including the Bribery Act) and similar laws in other jurisdictions. Implementing our compliance policies, internal controls and other systems upon our expansion into new countries and geographies may require the investment of considerable management time and financial and other resources over a number of years before any significant revenues or profits are generated. Violations of these laws and regulations could result in fines, criminal sanctions against us, our officers or employees, restrictions or outright prohibitions on the conduct of our business and significant brand and reputational harm. We must regularly reassess the size, capability and location of our global infrastructure and make appropriate changes, and must have effective change management processes and internal controls in place to address changes in our business and operations. Our success depends, in part, on our ability to anticipate these risks and manage these difficulties, and the failure to do so could have a material adverse effect on our business, operating results, financial position, brand, reputation and/or long-term growth.

Our international operations require us to overcome logistical and other challenges based on differing languages, cultures, legal and regulatory schemes and time zones. Our international operations encounter labor laws, customs and employee relationships that can be difficult, less flexible than in our domestic operations and expensive to modify or terminate. In some countries we are required to, or choose to, operate with local business partners, which requires us to manage our partner relationships and may reduce our operational flexibility and ability to quickly respond to business challenges.

Our business is subject to changes in medication pricing and is significantly impacted by pricing structures negotiated by industry participants.

Our platform aggregates and analyzes pricing data from a number of different sources. The discounted prices that we present through our platform are based in large part upon pricing structures negotiated by industry participants. We do not control the pricing strategies of pharmaceutical manufacturers, wholesalers, and pharmacy benefit managers (“PBM”), each of which is motivated by independent considerations and drivers that are outside our control and has the ability to set or significantly impact market prices for different prescription medications. While we have contractual and non-contractual relationships with certain industry participants, such as PBMs and pharmaceutical manufacturers, these and other industry participants often negotiate complex and multi-party pricing structures, and we have no control over these participants and the policies and strategies that they implement in negotiating these pricing structures.

Pharmaceutical manufacturers generally direct medication pricing by setting medication list prices and offering rebates and discounts for their medications. List prices are impacted by, among other things, market considerations such as the number of competitor medications and availability of alternative treatment options. Wholesalers can impact medication pricing by purchasing medications in bulk from pharmaceutical manufacturers and then reselling such medications to pharmacies. PBMs generally impact medication pricing through their bargaining power, negotiated rebates with pharmaceutical manufacturers and contracts with different pharmacy providers and health insurance companies. PBMs work with pharmacies to determine the negotiated rate that will be paid at the pharmacy by consumers. Medication pricing is also impacted by health insurance companies and the extent to which a health insurance plan provides for, among other things, covered medications, preferred tiers for different medications and high or low deductibles.

Changes in the fee and pricing structures among industry participants, whether due to regulatory requirements, competitive pressures or otherwise, that reduce or adversely impact fees generated by PBMs would have an adverse effect on our ability to generate revenue and business. Due in part to existing pricing structures, we generate a small portion of our revenue through contracts with pharmaceutical manufacturers and other intermediaries. Changes in the roles of industry participants and in general pricing structures, as well as price competition among industry participants, could have an adverse impact on our business. For example, integration of PBMs and pharmacy providers could result in pricing structures whereby such entities would have greater pricing power and flexibility or industry players could implement direct-to-consumer initiatives that could significantly alter existing pricing structures, either of which would have an adverse impact on our ability to present competitive and low prices to consumers and, as a result, the value of our platform for consumers and our results of operations.

If reimbursement rates paid by third-party payers are reduced, if third-party payers otherwise restrain our ability to obtain or provide services to patients, or if governments introduce free healthcare provisions or create the provision of significantly different paradigms of delivery service, our business could be negatively impacted.

Private third-party payers pay for the services that we provide through our behavioral digital health consult and on-site division. If any commercial third-party payers reduce their reimbursement rates or elect not to cover some or all of our services, our business may be harmed. Third-party payers are also entering into sole source contracts with some healthcare providers, which could effectively limit our pool of potential customers.

Private third-party payers often use plan structures, such as narrow networks or tiered networks, to encourage or require customers to use in-network providers. In-network providers typically provide services through private third-party payers for a negotiated lower rate or other less favorable terms. Private third-party payers generally attempt to limit use of out-of-network providers by requiring customers to pay higher copayment and/or deductible amounts for out-of-network care. Additionally, private third-party payers have become increasingly aggressive in attempting to minimize the use of out-of-network providers by disregarding the assignment of payment from customers to out-of-network providers (i.e., sending payments directly to customers instead of to out-of-network providers), capping out-of-network benefits payable to customers, waiving out-of-pocket payment amounts and initiating litigation against out-of-network providers for interference with contractual relationships, insurance fraud and violation of state licensing and consumer protection laws. If we become out of network for insurers, our behavioral health business could be harmed and our behavioral health patient service revenue could be reduced because customers could stop using our services.

If reimbursement rates paid by federal or state healthcare programs are reduced or if government payers otherwise restrain our ability to obtain or provide services to customers, our business, financial condition and results of operation could be harmed.

A portion of our revenue comes from government healthcare programs, principally Medicare and Tricare. Payments from federal and state government programs are subject to statutory and regulatory changes, administrative rulings, interpretations and determinations, requirements for utilization review and federal and state funding restrictions, each of which could increase or decrease program payments, as well as affect the cost of providing service to patients. We are unable to predict the effect of recent and future policy changes on our operations. In addition, the uncertainty and fiscal pressures placed upon federal and state governments as a result of, among other things, deterioration in general economic conditions and the funding requirements from the federal healthcare reform legislation, may affect the availability of taxpayer funds for Medicare and Medicaid programs. Changes in government healthcare programs may reduce the reimbursement we receive and could adversely impact our business and results of operations.

As federal healthcare expenditures continue to increase, and state governments continue to face budgetary shortfalls, federal and state governments have made, and continue to make, significant changes in the Medicare and Medicaid programs. These changes include reductions in reimbursement levels and new or modified requirements related to Medicaid waivers. Some of these changes have decreased, or could decrease, the amount of money we receive for our services relating to these programs. In some cases, private third-party payers rely on all or portions of Medicare payment systems to determine payment rates. Changes to government healthcare programs that reduce payments under these programs may negatively impact payments from private third-party payers.

Our pharmacy and behavioral digital health businesses subject us to additional regulations; if we fail to comply, we could suffer penalties or be required to make significant changes to our operations.

Our pharmacy business is subject to extensive federal, state and local regulation. Pharmacies, pharmacists and pharmacy technicians are subject to a variety of federal and state statutes and regulations governing various aspects of the pharmacy business, including the distribution of drugs; operation of mail order pharmacies; licensure of facilities and professionals, including pharmacists, technicians and other healthcare professionals; packaging, storing, distributing, shipping and tracking of pharmaceuticals; repackaging of drug products; labeling, medication guides, and other consumer disclosures; interactions with prescribing professionals; compounding of prescription medications; counseling of patients; prescription transfers; advertisement of prescription products and pharmacy services; security; controlled substance inventory control and recordkeeping; and reporting to the U.S. Drug Enforcement Agency, the Food and Drug Administration (“FDA”), state boards of pharmacy, the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission and other state enforcement or regulatory agencies. Many states have laws and regulations requiring out-of-state mail-order pharmacies to register with that state’s board of pharmacy. In addition, the FDA inspects facilities in connection with procedures to effect recalls of prescription drugs. The Federal Trade Commission also has requirements for mail-order sellers of goods. The U.S. Postal Service (the “USPS”) has statutory authority to restrict the transmission of drugs and medicines through the mail to a degree that may have an adverse effect on our mail-order operations. The USPS historically has exercised this statutory authority only with respect to controlled substances. If the USPS restricts our ability to deliver drugs through the mail, alternative means of delivery are available to us. However, alternative means of delivery could be significantly more expensive. The U.S. Department of Transportation has regulatory authority to impose restrictions on drugs inserted into the stream of commerce. These regulations generally do not apply to the USPS and its operations. Any failure or perceived failure by us to comply with any applicable federal, state and local laws and regulations could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations and may expose us to civil and criminal penalties.

We may be subject to fines, penalties and injunctions if we are determined to be promoting the use of products for unapproved uses.

Certain of the products available through our platform require approval by the FDA and are subject to the limitations placed by the FDA on the approved uses in the product prescribing information. Some of these products are prescribed by providers on the platform for “off-label” uses (i.e., for a use other than that specifically authorized by the FDA for the medication in question). While providers are legally permitted to prescribe medications for off-label uses, and although we believe our product promotion is conducted in material compliance with the FDA and other regulations, if the FDA determines that our product promotion constitutes promotion of an unapproved use of an approved product or of an unapproved product, the FDA could request that we modify our product promotion or subject us to regulatory and/or legal enforcement actions, including the issuance of a warning letter, injunction, seizure, civil fine and criminal penalties. It is also possible that other federal, state or foreign enforcement authorities might take action if they consider the product promotion to constitute promotion of an unapproved use of an approved product or of an unapproved product, which could result in significant fines or penalties under other statutes, such as laws prohibiting false claims for reimbursement.

If we fail to comply with federal and state laws and policies governing claim submissions to government healthcare programs or commercial insurance programs, we may be subject to civil and criminal penalties or loss of eligibility to participate in government healthcare programs and contractual claims by commercial insurers.

We prepare and submit claims for professional services and certain of these claims are governed by federal and state laws with potential civil and criminal penalties for non-compliance. The HIPAA security, privacy and transaction standards also have a potentially significant effect on our integrated care management services, because such services must be structured and provided in a way that supports our customers' HIPAA compliance obligations. Errors by us or our systems with respect to entry, formatting, preparation or transmission of claim information may be determined or alleged to be in violation of these laws and regulations. If our integrated care management services fail to comply with these laws and regulations, we may be subjected to federal or state government investigations and possible penalties may be imposed upon us, false claims actions may have to be defended, private payers may file claims against us and we may be excluded from Medicare, Medicaid or other government-funded healthcare programs. Further, our customers may seek contractual remedies and indemnification. Any investigation or proceeding related to these topics, even if unwarranted or without merit, could adversely affect demand for our services, could force us to expend significant capital, research and development and other resources to address the failure, and may have a material adverse effect on our business, results of operations and financial condition.

If we fail to comply with Medicare and Medicaid regulatory, guidance or policy requirements, we may be subjected to reduced reimbursement, overpayment demands or loss of eligibility to participate in these programs.

The Medicare and Medicaid programs are highly regulated, and unique requirements governing the reimbursement of professional services delivered using digital health are evolving and complicated. In addition, changes in government healthcare programs may reduce the reimbursement we receive and could adversely affect our business and results of operations. In particular, there is uncertainty regarding whether temporary waivers of certain Medicare conditions of participation and payment for many virtual care services and temporary expansions of the types of Medicare-covered services that can be provided remotely will continue or be made permanent. If we fail to comply with applicable reimbursement laws and regulations, reimbursement under these programs and participation in these programs could be adversely affected. Federal or state governments may also impose other sanctions on us for failure to comply with the applicable reimbursement regulations, including but not limited to recovering an overpayment. Failure to comply with these or future laws and regulations could limit our ability to provide digital health services to our customers.

Recent and frequent state legislative and regulatory changes specific to digital health consults may present us with additional requirements and state compliance costs, with potential operational impacts in certain jurisdictions.

In recent years, various government agencies, both domestic and international, have adopted an abundance of new legislation and regulations specific to digital health. In some cases, this legislation and regulation, typically targeting "direct-to-consumer" digital health consult and pharmacy service offerings rather than specialty consultative services, such as our acute digital health solutions, incorporates informed consent, modality, medical record and other requirements. Thus, where new legislation and regulations apply to our digital health solutions, we may incur costs to monitor, evaluate and modify operational processes for compliance. All such activities increase our costs and could, in certain circumstances, impact our ability to make available digital health services in a particular state.

Privacy, Cybersecurity, Technology and Intellectual Property

Our proprietary software may not operate properly, which could damage our reputation, give rise to claims against us or divert application of our resources from other purposes, any of which could harm our business.

Our proprietary technology platform provides customers and patients with the ability to, among other things, register for our services, request a visit (either scheduled or on demand) and communicate and interact with providers, and allows our providers to, among other things, chart patient notes, maintain medical records and conduct visits (via video, phone or the internet). Proprietary software development is time-consuming, expensive and complex, and may involve unforeseen difficulties. We may encounter technical obstacles, and it is possible that we may discover additional problems that prevent our proprietary software from operating properly. We are currently implementing software with respect to a number of new applications and services. If our solutions do not function reliably or fail to achieve member, partner or customer expectations in terms of performance, we may lose or fail to grow customer usage, partners and customers could assert liability claims against us, and partners and customers may attempt to cancel their contracts with us. This could damage our reputation and impair our ability to attract or maintain health network partners and enterprise customers.

Our business is subject to complex and evolving foreign laws and regulations regarding privacy, data protection and other matters relating to information collection.

There are numerous foreign laws, regulations and directives regarding privacy and the collection, storage, transmission, use, processing, disclosure and protection of personally identifiable information (“PII”) and other personal or customer data, the scope of which is continually evolving and subject to differing interpretations. We must comply with such laws, regulations and directives and we may be subject to significant consequences, including penalties and fines, for our failure to comply. For example, as of May 25, 2018, the General Data Protection Regulation (the “GDPR”) replaced the Data Protection Directive with respect to the processing of personal data in the European Economic Area (the “EEA”). The GDPR imposes several stringent requirements for controllers and processors of personal data, including, for example, higher standards for obtaining consent from individuals to process their personal data, more robust disclosures to individuals and a strengthened individual data rights regime, shortened timelines for data breach notifications, limitations on retention and secondary use of information, increased requirements pertaining to health data and pseudonymized (i.e., key-coded) data and additional obligations when we contract with third-party processors in connection with the processing of personal data. The GDPR provides that EU member states may make their own further laws and regulations limiting the processing of genetic, biometric or health data, which could limit our ability to use and share personal data or could cause our costs to increase and could harm our business and financial condition. Failure to comply with the requirements of the GDPR and the applicable national data protection laws of the EU member states may result in fines of up to €20,000,000 or up to 4% of the total worldwide annual turnover of the preceding financial year, whichever is higher, and other administrative penalties. To comply with the data protection rules imposed by the GDPR we may be required to put in place additional mechanisms ensuring compliance. In addition, privacy laws are developing quickly in other jurisdictions where we operate, which impose similar accountability, transparency and security obligations. This may be onerous and adversely affect our business, financial condition, results of operations and prospects.

In addition, recent legal developments in Europe have created complexity and compliance uncertainty regarding certain transfers of information from the EEA to the United States. On July 16, 2020, the Court of Justice of the European Union issued its ruling in the case of the Irish Data Protection Commissioner v. Facebook Ireland and Maximilian Schrems (Case c-311/18). The ruling invalidated reliance on the EU-US Privacy Shield as a lawful means to transfer personal data from the EEA to the United States, while also affirming the EU Standard Contractual Clauses (“SCCs”) as a valid data transfer solution. The Court also held that data exporters and importers may need to employ supplementary measures when using SCCs depending on the nature of the transfer and the laws of the recipient country. After the ruling, the European Data Protection Board issued draft recommendations on the use of supplementary measures. Shortly thereafter, the European Commission issued new draft SCCs. We are analyzing these developments and their impact on our operations. If we are unable to transfer PII between and among countries and regions in which we operate, it could affect the manner in which we provide our services or could adversely affect our financial results. Furthermore, any failure, or perceived failure, by us to comply with or make effective modifications to our policies, or to comply with any federal, state or international privacy, data-retention or data-protection-related laws, regulations, orders or industry self-regulatory principles could result in proceedings or actions against us by governmental entities or others, a loss of customer confidence, damage to our brand and reputation, and a loss of customers, any of which could have an adverse effect on our business. In addition, various federal, state and foreign legislative or regulatory bodies may enact new or additional laws and regulations concerning privacy, data-retention and data-protection issues, including laws or regulations mandating disclosure to domestic or international law enforcement bodies, which could adversely impact our business, our brand or our reputation with customers. For example, some countries have adopted laws mandating that PII regarding customers in their country be maintained solely in their country. Having to maintain local data centers and redesign product, service and business operations to limit PII processing to within individual countries could increase our operating costs significantly.

Like the U.S., India also does not have country level regulations and authorities to control data transfer and management. The most prominent provisions are contained in the Information Technology Act, 2000, that was amended by the Information Technology Amendment Act, 2008. In particular, Section 43A, which addresses ‘reasonable security practices and procedures’ is complemented by the Information Technology (Reasonable Security Practices and Procedures and Sensitive Personal Data or Information) Rules, 2011 (“Personal Data Protection Rules”). The Personal Data Protection Rules prescribe directions for the collection, disclosure, transfer and protection of sensitive personal data by a company or any person acting on behalf of a company. Further, the Personal Data Protection Rules require every such company to provide a stipulated privacy policy, which is to be published on its website, for dealing with personal information, including sensitive personal data and ensuring security of all personal data collected by it.

The India Supreme Court, in a judgment delivered on August 24, 2017, held that the right to privacy is a fundamental right, following which, the GoI set up a Committee of Experts to examine issues around, and draft a legislation on data-protection in India. The committee submitted its final report and a draft Personal Data Protection Bill to the Ministry of Electronics and Information Technology. The draft of the Personal Data Protection Bill, 2019 (“Data Protection Bill”) has been introduced before the Lok Sabha on December 11, 2019, which is currently being referred to a joint parliamentary committee by the Parliament. The Data Protection Bill proposes a legal framework governing the processing of personal data, where such data has been collected, disclosed, shared or otherwise processed within India, as well as any processing of personal data by the State, Indian companies, Indian citizens or any person or body of persons incorporated or created under India law. The Data Protection Bill defines personal data and sensitive personal data, prescribes rules for collecting, storing and processing of such data and creates rights and obligations of data-subjects and processors.

Our use and disclosure of personally identifiable information, including health information, is subject to federal and state privacy and security regulations, and our failure to comply with those regulations or to adequately secure the information we hold could result in significant liability or reputational harm and, in turn, a material adverse effect on our customer base and revenue.

Numerous state and federal laws and regulations govern the collection, dissemination, use, privacy, confidentiality, security, availability and integrity of PII, including protected health information (“PHI”). These laws and regulations include HIPAA. HIPAA establishes a set of basic national privacy and security standards for the protection of PHI, by health plans, healthcare clearinghouses and certain healthcare providers, referred to as covered entities, and the business associates with whom such covered entities contract for services, which includes us.

HIPAA requires healthcare providers like us to develop and maintain policies and procedures with respect to PHI that is used or disclosed, including the adoption of administrative, physical and technical safeguards to protect such information. HIPAA also implemented the use of standard transaction code sets and standard identifiers that covered entities must use when submitting or receiving certain electronic healthcare transactions, including activities associated with the billing and collection of healthcare claims.

HIPAA imposes mandatory penalties for certain violations. Penalties for violations of HIPAA and its implementing regulations start at $119 per violation and are not to exceed $59,522 per violation, subject to a cap of $178,000,000 for violations of the same standard in a single calendar year. However, a single breach incident can result in violations of multiple standards. HIPAA also authorizes state attorneys general to file suit on behalf of their residents. Courts are able to award damages, costs and attorneys' fees related to violations of HIPAA in such cases. While HIPAA does not create a private right of action allowing individuals to sue us in civil court for violations of HIPAA, its standards have been used as the basis for duty of care in state civil suits such as those for negligence or recklessness in the misuse or breach of PHI.

In addition, HIPAA mandates that the Secretary of Health and Human Services, or HHS, conduct periodic compliance audits of HIPAA covered entities or business associates for compliance with the HIPAA Privacy and Security Standards. It also tasks HHS with establishing a methodology whereby harmed individuals who were the victims of breaches of unsecured PHI may receive a percentage of the Civil Monetary Penalty fine paid by the violator.

HIPAA further requires that patients be notified of any unauthorized acquisition, access, use or disclosure of their unsecured PHI that compromises the privacy or security of such information, with certain exceptions related to unintentional or inadvertent use or disclosure by employees or authorized individuals. HIPAA specifies that such notifications must be made "without unreasonable delay and in no case later than 60 calendar days after discovery of the breach." If a breach affects 500 patients or more, it must be reported to HHS without unreasonable delay, and HHS will post the name of the breaching entity on its public web site. Breaches affecting 500 patients or more in the same state or jurisdiction must also be reported to the local media. If a breach involves fewer than 500 people, the covered entity must record it in a log and notify HHS at least annually.

New health information standards, whether implemented pursuant to HIPAA, congressional action or otherwise, could have a significant effect on the manner in which we must handle healthcare related data, and the cost of complying with standards could be significant. If we do not comply with existing or new laws and regulations related to PHI, we could be subject to criminal or civil sanctions.

In addition to HIPAA, certain of our operations may be subject to the regulations governing the protection patient records created by federally assisted programs for the treatment of substance use disorder ("SUD") under 42 CFR Part 2 (the "Part 2 Rule"), implemented by the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration ("SAMHSA"). The Part 2 Rule requires additional confidentiality obligations related to SUD treatment records and generally speaking, restricts the disclosure of SUD treatment records without patient consent, other than as statutorily authorized in the context of a bona fide medical emergency, or for the purpose of scientific research, audit, or program evaluation, or based on an appropriate court order. On July 15, 2020, SAMHSA issued a final rule on the protection of SUD treatment records under the Part 2 Rule that aims to reduce delays and burdens in care coordination by more closely aligning Part 2 with the HIPAA Privacy Rule, while maintaining certain privacy protections specific to Part 2. This final rule was effective August 14, 2020. Nevertheless, we must ensure that SUD treatment records covered under Part 2 are afforded the additional legal protections mandated by Part 2.

Numerous other federal and state laws protect the confidentiality, privacy, availability, integrity and security of PII, including PHI. These laws in many cases are more restrictive than, and may not be preempted by, the HIPAA rules and may be subject to varying interpretations by courts and government agencies, creating complex compliance issues for us and our customers and potentially exposing us to additional expense, adverse publicity and liability. For example, the Federal Trade Commission uses its consumer protection authority to initiate enforcement actions in response to alleged privacy and data security violations and certain states have adopted privacy and security standards that are more restrictive than HIPAA and that apply to PII in addition to PHI. For instance, the California Consumer Privacy Act, or CCPA, which came into effect January 1, 2020, was recently amended and expanded by the California Privacy Rights Act (CPRA) passed on November 3, 2020. Most of the CPRA's substantive provisions will not take effect until January 1, 2023, however, the CPRA's expansion of the "Right to Know" impacts personal information collected on or after January 1, 2022. Companies must still comply with the CCPA during the ramp up period before CPRA goes into effect. The CCPA and CPRA, among other things, create new data privacy obligations for covered companies and provide new privacy rights to California residents, including the right to opt out of certain disclosures of their information. The CCPA also created a private right of action with statutory damages for certain data breaches, thereby potentially increasing risks associated with a data breach. It remains unclear what, if any, additional modifications will be made to the CPRA by the California legislature or how it will be interpreted.

In addition to the laws discussed above, we may see more stringent state and federal privacy legislation in 2021 and beyond, as the increased cyber-attacks during the pandemic have once again put a spotlight on data privacy and security in the U.S. and other jurisdictions. We cannot predict where new legislation might arise, the scope of such legislation, or the potential impact to our business and operations. This myriad of data privacy and security laws and regulations and the evolving regulatory landscape create complex compliance issues for us and our clients and potentially expose us to additional expense, adverse publicity and liability.

Because of the extreme sensitivity of the PII we store and transmit, the security features of our technology platform are very important. If our security measures, some of which are managed by third parties, are breached or fail, unauthorized persons may be able to obtain access to sensitive client and customer data, including HIPAA-regulated PHI. As a result, our reputation could be severely damaged, adversely affecting customer and member confidence. Customers may curtail their use of, or stop using, our services or our customer base could decrease, which would cause our business to suffer. In addition, we could face litigation, damages for contract breach, penalties and regulatory actions for violation of HIPAA and other applicable laws or regulations and significant costs for remediation, notification to individuals and for measures to prevent future occurrences. Any potential security breach could also result in increased costs associated with liability for stolen assets or information, repairing system damage that may have been caused by such breaches, incentives offered to customers or other business partners in an effort to maintain our business relationships after a breach and implementing measures to prevent future occurrences, including organizational changes, deploying additional personnel and protection technologies, training employees and engaging third-party experts and consultants. While we maintain insurance covering certain security and privacy damages and claim expenses, we may not carry insurance or maintain coverage sufficient to compensate for all liability and in any event, insurance coverage would not address the reputational damage that could result from a security incident.

We outsource important aspects of the storage and transmission of client and patient information, and thus rely on third parties to manage functions that have material cybersecurity risks. We attempt to address these risks by requiring outsourcing subcontractors who handle client and customer information to sign business associate agreements contractually requiring those subcontractors to adequately safeguard PHI and PII to the same extent that applies to us and in some cases by requiring such outsourcing subcontractors to undergo third-party security assessments. In addition, we periodically hire third-party security experts to assess and test our security posture. However, we cannot assure you that these contractual measures and other safeguards will adequately protect us from the risks associated with the storage and transmission of customers' proprietary and protected health information.

We also publish statements to our customers that describe how we handle and protect PHI and PII. If federal or state regulatory authorities or private litigants consider any portion of these statements to be untrue, we may be subject to claims of deceptive practices, which could lead to significant liabilities and consequences, including, without limitation, costs of responding to investigations, defending against litigation, settling claims and complying with regulatory or court orders.

We also send short message service, or SMS, text messages to potential end users who are eligible to use our service through certain customers and partners. While we obtain consent from or on behalf of these individuals to send text messages, federal or state regulatory authorities or private litigants may claim that the notices and disclosures we provide, or form of consents we obtain or our SMS texting practices, are not adequate. These SMS texting campaigns are potential sources of risk for class action lawsuits and liability for our company. Numerous class-action suits under federal and state laws have been filed in the past year against companies who conduct SMS texting programs, with many resulting in multi-million-dollar settlements to the plaintiffs. Any future such litigation against us could be costly and time-consuming to defend.

We rely on data center providers, Internet infrastructure, bandwidth providers, third-party computer hardware and software, other third parties and our own systems for providing services to our customers, and any failure or interruption in the services provided by these third parties or our own systems could expose us to litigation and negatively impact our relationships with customers, adversely affecting our brand and our business.

We serve all of our customers leveraging a multi-cloud architecture using four vendors: Armor Defense; AWS, Microsoft Azure, and Google. This architecture provides redundancy, cost savings, and reduces our reliance on one single vendor. The actual instances are geographically diverse to insulate our applications from local failures, and have an additional layer of redundancy provided by company managed data centers. While we control and have access to our servers, we do not control the operation of these facilities. The cloud vendors and the owners of our data center facilities have no obligation to renew their agreements with us on commercially reasonable terms, or at all. If we are unable to renew these agreements on commercially reasonable terms, or if one of our cloud vendors or data center operators is acquired, we may be required to transfer our servers and other infrastructure to a new vendor or a new data center facility, and we may incur significant costs and possible service interruption in connection with doing so. Problems faced by our cloud vendors or third-party data center locations with the telecommunications network providers with whom we or they contract or with the systems by which our telecommunications providers allocate capacity among their customers, including us, could adversely affect the experience of our customers. Our cloud vendors or third-party data center operators could decide to close their facilities without adequate notice. In addition, any financial difficulties, such as bankruptcy faced by our cloud vendors or third-party data centers operators or any of the service providers with whom we or they contract may have negative effects on our business, the nature and extent of which are difficult to predict.

Additionally, if our cloud or data centers vendors are unable to keep up with our growing needs for capacity, this could have an adverse effect on our business. For example, a rapid expansion of our business could affect the service levels at our cloud vendors or data centers or cause such cloud systems or data centers and systems to fail. Any changes in third-party service levels at our cloud vendors or data centers or any disruptions or other performance problems with our products and services could adversely affect our reputation and may damage our customers' stored files or result in lengthy interruptions in our services. Interruptions in our services may reduce our revenue, cause us to issue refunds to customers for prepaid and unused subscriptions, subject us to potential liability or adversely affect customer renewal rates.

We also rely on computer hardware purchased or leased and software licensed from third parties in order to offer our services, including software from Google, , Microsoft, Apple, Audiocodes, Atlassian, Perforce, PMease and Redhat Corporation, and routers and network equipment from Cisco, Dell, Lenovo and Hewlett-Packard Company. These licenses are generally commercially available on varying terms. However, it is possible that this hardware and software may not continue to be available on commercially reasonable terms, or at all. Any loss of the right to use any of this hardware or software could result in delays in the provisioning of our services until equivalent technology is either developed by us, or, if available, is identified, obtained and integrated. These licenses are generally commercially available on varying terms. However, it is possible that this hardware and software may not continue to be available on commercially reasonable terms, or at all. Any loss of the right to use any of this hardware or software could result in delays in the provisioning of our services until equivalent technology is either developed by us, or, if available, is identified, obtained and integrated.

Our ability to deliver our internet-based and mobile-application based services depends on the development and maintenance of the infrastructure of the internet by third parties. This includes maintenance of a reliable network backbone with the necessary speed, data capacity, bandwidth capacity and security. Our services are designed to operate without interruption. However, we may experience future interruptions and delays in services and availability from time to time. In the event of a catastrophic event with respect to one or more of our systems or those of our service providers, we may experience an extended period of system unavailability, which could negatively impact our relationship with customers, providers, partners, and suppliers.

We exercise limited control over third-party vendors, which increases our vulnerability to problems with technology and information services they provide. Interruptions in our network access and services may in connection with third-party technology and information services reduce our revenue, cause us to issue refunds to customers for prepaid and unused subscription services, subject us to potential liability or adversely affect client renewal rates. Although we maintain a security and privacy damages insurance policy, the coverage under our policies may not be adequate to compensate us for all losses that may occur related to the services provided by our third-party vendors. In addition, we may not be able to continue to obtain adequate insurance coverage at an acceptable cost, if at all.

If our security measures fail or are breached and unauthorized access to a customer's data is obtained, our services may be perceived as insecure, we may incur significant liabilities, our reputation may be harmed and we could lose sales and customers.

Our services involve the storage and transmission of customers' proprietary information, sensitive or confidential data, including valuable intellectual property and personal information of employees, customers and others, as well as the protected health information, or PHI, of our customers. Because of the extreme sensitivity of the information we store and transmit, the security features of our computer, network and communications systems infrastructure are critical to the success of our business. A breach or failure of our security measures, or the security of our data storage vendors, could result from a variety of circumstances and events, including third-party action, employee negligence or error, malfeasance, computer viruses, cyber-attacks by computer hackers, failures during the process of upgrading or replacing software and databases, power outages, hardware failures, telecommunication failures, user errors or catastrophic events. Information security risks have generally increased in recent years because of the proliferation of new technologies and the increased sophistication and activities of perpetrators of cyber-attacks. As cyber threats continue to evolve, we may be required to expend additional resources to further enhance our information security measures and/or to investigate and remediate any information security vulnerabilities. If our or our vendors' security measures fail or are breached, it could result in unauthorized persons accessing sensitive client data (including PHI), a loss of or damage to our data or an inability to access data sources or process data or provide our services to our customers. Such failures or breaches of our security measures, or our inability to effectively resolve such failures or breaches in a timely manner, could severely damage our reputation, adversely affect customer or investor confidence in us, and reduce the demand for our services from existing and potential customers. In addition, we could face litigation, damages for contract breach, monetary penalties or regulatory actions for violation of applicable laws or regulations and incur significant costs for remedial measures to prevent future occurrences and mitigate past violations. Although we maintain insurance covering certain security and privacy damages and claim expenses, we may not carry insurance or maintain coverage sufficient to compensate for all liability and in any event, insurance coverage would not address the reputational damage that could result from a security incident.

We may experience cybersecurity and other breach incidents that remain undetected for an extended period. Because techniques used to obtain unauthorized access or to sabotage systems change frequently and generally are not recognized until launched, we may be unable to anticipate these techniques or to implement adequate preventive measures. If an actual or perceived breach of our security occurs, or if we are unable to effectively resolve such breaches in a timely manner, the market perception of the effectiveness of our security measures could be harmed and we could lose sales, customers, which could have a material adverse effect on our business, operations, and financial results.

We could incur substantial costs as a result of any claim of infringement of another party's intellectual property rights.

In recent years, there has been significant litigation in the United States involving patents and other intellectual property rights. Companies in the Internet and technology industries are increasingly bringing and becoming subject to suits alleging infringement of proprietary rights, particularly patent rights, and our competitors and other third parties may hold patents or have pending patent applications, which could be related to our business. These risks have been amplified by the increase in third parties, which we refer to as non-practicing entities, whose sole primary business is to assert such claims. Regardless of the merits of any intellectual property litigation, we may be required to expend significant management time and financial resources on the defense of such claims, and any adverse outcome of any such claim or the above referenced review could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition or results of operations. We expect that we may receive in the future notices that claim we or our customers using our products have misappropriated or misused other parties' intellectual property rights, particularly as the number of competitors in our market grows and the functionality of applications amongst competitors overlaps. Any future litigation, whether or not successful, could be extremely costly to defend, divert our management's time, attention and resources, damage our reputation and brand and substantially harm our business.

In addition, in most instances, we have agreed to indemnify our customers against certain third-party claims, which may include claims that our products infringe the intellectual property rights of such third parties. Our business could be adversely affected by any significant disputes between us and our customers as to the applicability or scope of our indemnification obligations to them. The results of any intellectual property litigation to which we may become a party, or for which we are required to provide indemnification, may require us to do one or more of the following:

- cease offering or using technologies that incorporate the challenged intellectual property;
- make substantial payments for legal fees, settlement payments or other costs or damages;
- obtain a license, which may not be available on reasonable terms, to sell or use the relevant technology; or
- redesign technology to avoid infringement.

If we are required to make substantial payments or undertake any of the other actions noted above as a result of any intellectual property infringement claims against us or any obligation to indemnify our customers for such claims, such payments or costs could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

We are currently party to, and may enter into future, in-bound intellectual property license agreements. We may not be able to fully protect the intellectual property rights licensed to us or maintain those licenses. Our licensors may retain the right to prosecute and defend the intellectual property rights licensed to us, in which case we would depend on the ability of our licensors to obtain, maintain and enforce intellectual property protection for the licensed intellectual property. These licensors may determine not to pursue litigation against other companies or may pursue such litigation less aggressively than we would. In addition, such licenses may only provide us with non-exclusive rights, which could allow other third parties, including our competitors, to utilize the licensed intellectual property rights. Further, our in-bound license agreements may impose various diligence, commercialization, royalty or other obligations on us. Our licensors may allege that we have breached our license agreement with them, and accordingly seek to terminate our license, which could adversely affect our competitive business position and harm our business prospects.

Any failure to protect our intellectual property rights could impair our ability to protect our technology and our brand.

Our success depends in part on our ability to enforce our intellectual property and other proprietary rights. We rely upon a combination of patent, trademark, copyright, and trade secret laws, as well as license and access agreements and other contractual provisions, to protect our intellectual property and other proprietary rights. Glocal currently has a pending patent application in India and may file for additional patents in India in the future. In addition, we attempt to protect our intellectual property and proprietary information by requiring our employees, consultants and certain of our contractors to execute confidentiality and assignment of inventions agreements. These laws, procedures and restrictions provide only limited protection and any of our intellectual property rights may be challenged, invalidated, circumvented, infringed or misappropriated. To the extent that our intellectual property and other proprietary rights are not adequately protected, third parties may gain access to our proprietary information, develop and market solutions similar to ours or use trademarks similar to ours, each of which could materially harm our business. Unauthorized parties may also attempt to copy or obtain and use our technology to develop applications with the same functionality as our products, and policing unauthorized use of our technology and intellectual property rights is difficult and may not be effective. The failure to adequately protect our intellectual property and other proprietary rights could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Tax

Certain U.S. state tax authorities may assert that we have a state nexus and seek to impose state and local income taxes, which could adversely affect our results of operations.

We are currently operate in all fifty states. There is a risk that certain state tax authorities where we do not currently file a state income tax return could assert that we are liable for state and local income taxes based upon income or gross receipts allocable to such states. States are becoming increasingly aggressive in asserting a nexus for state income tax purposes. We could be subject to state and local taxation, including penalties and interest attributable to prior periods, if a state tax authority successfully asserts that our activities give rise to a nexus. Such tax assessments, penalties and interest may adversely affect our results of operations.

Taxing authorities may successfully assert that we should have collected or in the future should collect sales and use or similar taxes for digital health services, which could adversely affect our results of operations.

We do not collect sales and use and similar taxes in any states for digital health services based on our belief that our services are not subject to such taxes in any state. Sales and use and similar tax laws and rates vary greatly from state to state. Additionally, we do not collect value-added tax or similar taxes in certain foreign jurisdictions based on our belief that our services are not subject to such taxes. Certain states or foreign jurisdictions in which we do not collect such taxes may assert that such taxes are applicable, which could result in tax assessments, penalties and interest with respect to past services, and we may be required to collect such taxes for services in the future. Such tax assessments, penalties and interest or future requirements may adversely affect our results of operations.

Risks Related to the Company and the Business Combinations

The Company has no operating history and is subject to a mandatory liquidation and subsequent dissolution requirement. If the Company is unable to consummate a business combination, including the Business Combinations, its public stockholders may be forced to wait until after June 10, 2021 (or such later date as may arise if we amend our certificate of incorporation again to further extend the time that we have to consummate a business combination) before receiving distributions from the Trust Account.

The Company is a development stage blank check company, and as it has no operating history and is subject to a mandatory liquidation and subsequent dissolution requirement. The Company has until June 10, 2021 to complete a business combination, unless we amend our certificate of incorporation again to further extend the time that we have to consummate a business combination. The Company has no obligation to return funds to investors prior to such date unless (i) it consummates a business combination prior thereto or (ii) it seeks to amend its current amended and restated certificate of incorporation prior to consummation of a business combination, and only then in cases where investors have sought to convert or sell their shares to the Company. Only after the expiration of this full time period will public security holders be entitled to distributions from the Trust Account if the Company is unable to complete a business combination. Accordingly, investors' funds may be unavailable to them until after such date and to liquidate their investment, public security holders may be forced to sell their public shares, rights or warrants, potentially at a loss. In addition, if the Company fails to complete an initial business combination by June 10, 2021 (or such later date as may arise if we amend our certificate of incorporation again to further extend the time that we have to consummate a business combination), there will be no Redemption Rights or liquidating distributions with respect to the rights and warrants, which will expire worthless, unless the Company amends its certificate of incorporation to extend its life and certain other agreements it has entered into.

We have no operating or financial history and our results of operations and those of the post-combination company may differ significantly from the unaudited pro forma financial data included in this proxy statement/prospectus.

We are a blank check company and we have no operating history and no revenues. This proxy statement/prospectus includes unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial statements for the post-combination company. The unaudited pro forma condensed combined statement of operations of the post-combination company combines the historical audited results of operations of the Company for the year ended December 31, 2020, with the historical audited results of operations of UpHealth and Cloudbreak for the year ended December 31, 2020, respectively, and gives pro forma effect to the Business Combinations as if it had been consummated on January 1, 2020. The unaudited pro forma condensed combined balance sheet of the post-combination company combines the historical balance sheets of the Company as of December 31, 2020, of UpHealth as of December 31, 2020 and of Cloudbreak as of December 31, 2020 and gives pro forma effect to the Business Combinations as if it had been consummated on December 31, 2020.

The unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial statements are presented for illustrative purposes only, are based on certain assumptions, address a hypothetical situation and reflect limited historical financial data. Therefore, the unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial statements are not necessarily indicative of the results of operations and financial position that would have been achieved had the Business Combinations and the acquisitions of UpHealth and Cloudbreak been consummated on the dates indicated above, or the future consolidated results of operations or financial position of the post-combination company. Accordingly, the post-combination company's business, assets, cash flows, results of operations and financial condition may differ significantly from those indicated by the unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial statements included in this document. For more information, please see the section entitled "Unaudited Pro Forma Condensed Combined Financial Information."

Unanticipated changes in effective tax rates or adverse outcomes resulting from examination of our income or other tax returns could adversely affect our financial condition and results of operations.

We will be subject to income taxes in the United States and other jurisdictions, and our tax liabilities will be subject to the allocation of expenses in differing jurisdictions. Our future effective tax rates could be subject to volatility or adversely affected by a number of factors, including:

- changes in the valuation of our deferred tax assets and liabilities;
- expected timing and amount of the release of any tax valuation allowances;
- tax effects of stock-based compensation;
- costs related to intercompany restructurings;
- changes in tax laws, regulations or interpretations thereof; or
- lower than anticipated future earnings in jurisdictions where we have lower statutory tax rates and higher than anticipated future earnings in jurisdictions where we have higher statutory tax rates.

In addition, we may be subject to audits of our income, sales and other transaction taxes by taxing authorities. Outcomes from these audits could have an adverse effect on our financial condition and results of operations.

If we are unable to complete an initial business combination, our public stockholders may receive only approximately $10.00 per share on the liquidation of the Trust Account (or less than $10.00 per share in certain circumstances where a third party brings a claim against us that our Sponsor is unable to indemnify), and our warrants will expire worthless.

If we are unable to complete an initial business combination by the applicable deadline, our public stockholders may receive only approximately $10.00 per share on the liquidation of the Trust Account (or less than $10.00 per share in certain circumstances where a third-party brings a claim against us that our Sponsor is unable to indemnify (as described herein)) and our warrants will expire worthless.

Following the consummation of the Business Combinations, our only significant asset will be our ownership interest in New UpHealth and such ownership may not be sufficient to pay dividends or make distributions or loans to enable us to pay any dividends on our Common Stock or satisfy our other financial obligations.

Following the consummation of the Business Combinations, we will have no direct operations and no significant assets other than our ownership of UpHealth and Cloudbreak. The UpHealth equity holders, the Cloudbreak equity holders, the directors and officers of UpHealth and the directors and officers of Cloudbreak and their respective affiliates will become stockholders of the post-combination company at that time. We will depend on UpHealth and Cloudbreak for distributions, loans and other payments to generate the funds necessary to meet our financial obligations, including our expenses as a publicly traded company and to pay any dividends with respect to our Common Stock. The financial condition and operating requirements of UpHealth and Cloudbreak may limit our ability to obtain cash from UpHealth or Cloudbreak. The earnings from, or other available assets of, UpHealth or Cloudbreak may not be sufficient to pay dividends or make distributions or loans to enable us to pay any dividends on our Common Stock or satisfy our other financial obligations.

The ability of UpHealth or Cloudbreak to make distributions, loans and other payments to us for the purposes described above and for any other purpose may be limited by credit agreements to which UpHealth or Cloudbreak is party from time to time, including existing loans and security agreements described in “TTC Healthcare’s Management’s Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations”, and “Cloudbreak’s Management’s Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations” and will be subject to the negative covenants set forth therein. Any loans or other extensions of credit to us from UpHealth or Cloudbreak will be permitted only to the extent there is an applicable exception to the investment covenants under these credit agreements. Similarly, any dividends, distributions or similar payments to us from UpHealth or Cloudbreak will be permitted only to the extent there is an applicable exception to the dividends and distributions covenants under these credit agreements.

Because we have no current plans to pay cash dividends on shares of Common Stock for the foreseeable future, you may not receive any return on investment unless you sell your shares of Common Stock for a price greater than that which you paid for it.

We may retain future earnings, if any, for future operations, expansion and debt repayment and have no current plans to pay any cash dividends for the foreseeable future. Any decision to declare and pay dividends as a public company in the future will be made at the discretion of the Company's Board and will depend on, among other things, our results of operations, financial condition, cash requirements, contractual restrictions and other factors that the Board may deem relevant. In addition, our ability to pay dividends may be limited by covenants of any existing and future outstanding indebtedness we or our subsidiaries incur. As a result, you may not receive any return on an investment in the Company's Common Stock unless you sell your Common Stock for a price greater than that which you paid for it.

There can be no assurance that New UpHealth Common Stock will be approved for listing on the NYSE or that New UpHealth will be able to comply with the continued listing standards of NYSE.

In connection with the closing of the Business Combinations, we intend to list New UpHealth's Common Stock and warrants on the NYSE under the symbols "UPH" and "UPH.WS," respectively. New UpHealth's continued eligibility for listing may depend on the number of the Company's shares that are redeemed. If, after the Business Combinations, the NYSE delists New UpHealth's shares from trading on its exchange for failure to meet the listing standards, New UpHealth and its stockholders could face significant material adverse consequences including:

- a limited availability of market quotations for New UpHealth's securities;
- a determination that New UpHealth Common Stock is a "penny stock" which will require brokers trading in New UpHealth Common Stock to adhere to more stringent rules, possibly resulting in a reduced level of trading activity in the secondary trading market for shares of New UpHealth Common Stock;
- a limited amount of analyst coverage; and
- a decreased ability to issue additional securities or obtain additional financing in the future.

The Company's independent registered public accounting firm's report contains an explanatory paragraph that expresses substantial doubt about its ability to continue as a "going concern."

As of December 31, 2020, the Company had $168,384,949 million in cash held in trust. As of December 31, 2020, the Company had a working deficit of $2,012,409. Further, the Company has incurred and expects to continue to incur significant costs in pursuit of its financing and acquisition plans, including the Business Combination Agreements. The Company cannot assure you that its plans to raise capital or to consummate an initial business combination, including the Business Combination Agreements, will be successful. These factors, among others, raise substantial doubt about its ability to continue as a going concern. The financial statements contained elsewhere in this proxy statement/prospectus do not include any adjustments that might result from its inability to consummate the Business Combinations or its inability to continue as a going concern.

Subsequent to the consummation of the Business Combinations, the post-combination company may be required to take write-downs or write-offs, restructuring and impairment or other charges that could have a significant negative effect on its financial condition, results of operations and stock price, which could cause you to lose some or all of your investment.

Although the Company has conducted due diligence on UpHealth and Cloudbreak, the Company cannot assure you that this diligence revealed all material issues that may be present in UpHealth's or Cloudbreak's business, as applicable, that it would be possible to uncover all material issues through a customary amount of due diligence, or that factors outside of the Company's, UpHealth's and Cloudbreak's control will not later arise. As a result, the post-combination company may be forced to later write-down or write-off assets, restructure its operations, or incur impairment or other charges that could result in losses. Even if the Company's due diligence successfully identifies certain risks, unexpected risks may arise and previously known risks may materialize in a manner not consistent with the Company's preliminary risk analysis. Even though these charges may be non-cash items and may not have an immediate impact on the post-combination company's liquidity, the fact that the post-combination company reports charges of this nature could contribute to negative market perceptions about it or its securities. In addition, charges of this nature may cause the post-combination company to be unable to obtain future financing on favorable terms or at all.

Following the consummation of the Business Combinations, New UpHealth will incur significant increased expenses and administrative burdens as a public company, which could have an adverse effect on its business, financial condition and results of operations.

Following the consummation of the Business Combinations, New UpHealth will face increased legal, accounting, administrative and other costs and expenses as a public company that UpHealth and Cloudbreak do not incur as private companies. The Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002 (the "Sarbanes-Oxley Act"), including the requirements of Section 404, as well as rules and regulations subsequently implemented by the SEC, the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act of 2010 and the rules and regulations promulgated and to be promulgated thereunder, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (the "PCAOB") and the securities exchanges, impose additional reporting and other obligations on public companies. Compliance with public company requirements will increase costs and make certain activities more time-consuming. A number of those requirements will require New UpHealth to carry out activities neither UpHealth nor Cloudbreak has not done previously. For example, New UpHealth will create new board committees and adopt new internal controls and disclosure controls and procedures. In addition, expenses associated with SEC reporting requirements will be incurred. Furthermore, if any issues in complying with those requirements are identified (for example, if the auditors identify a material weakness or significant deficiency in the internal control over financial reporting), New UpHealth could incur additional costs rectifying those issues, and the existence of those issues could adversely affect New UpHealth's reputation or investor perceptions of it. It may also be more expensive to obtain director and officer liability insurance. Risks associated with New UpHealth's status as a public company may make it more difficult to attract and retain qualified persons to serve on the New UpHealth Board or as executive officers. The additional reporting and other obligations imposed by these rules and regulations will increase legal and financial compliance costs and the costs of related legal, accounting and administrative activities. These increased costs will require New UpHealth to divert a significant amount of money that could otherwise be used to expand the business and achieve strategic objectives. Advocacy efforts by stockholders and third parties may also prompt additional changes in governance and reporting requirements, which could further increase costs.

The Initial Stockholders have agreed to vote in favor of the Business Combinations, regardless of how the Company's public stockholders vote.

Unlike some other blank check companies in which the initial stockholders agree to vote their Founder shares in accordance with the majority of the votes cast by the public stockholders in connection with an initial business combination, the Initial Stockholders have agreed (i) to vote their shares in favor of any proposed business combination, including the Business Combinations, (ii) not to convert their shares in connection with a stockholder vote to approve a proposed initial business combination, and (iii) not to sell any such shares to the Company in a tender offer in connection with any proposed business combination. Our Initial Stockholders have agreed to vote their shares in favor of each of the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal and the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal. As a result, we would need only 4,911,158, or approximately 33%, of the 14,817,315 public shares, to be voted in favor of the Business Combination Agreements in order to have the Business Combinations approved. Accordingly, it is more likely that the necessary stockholder approval will be received than would be the case if the Initial Stockholders agreed to vote their Founder Shares and Private Placement Shares in accordance with the majority of the votes cast by the Company's public stockholders.

The unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial information included in this proxy statement/prospectus may not be indicative of what the Company's actual financial position or results of operations would have been.

The unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial information in this proxy statement/prospectus is presented solely for illustrative purposes only and is not necessarily indicative of what the Company's actual financial position or results of operations would have been had the Business Combinations completed on the dates indicated. See the section titled "Unaudited Pro Forma Condensed Combined Financial Information" for more information.

If third parties bring claims against the Company, the proceeds held in trust could be reduced and the per-share redemption price received by stockholders may be less than $10.00 per share.

The Company's placing of funds in trust may not protect those funds from third party claims against the Company. Although the Company has sought to have all vendors and service providers the Company engages and prospective target businesses the Company negotiated with execute agreements with the Company waiving any right, title, interest or claim of any kind in or to any monies held in the Trust Account for the benefit of the Company's public stockholders, they may not execute such agreements. Furthermore, even if such entities execute such agreements with the Company, they may seek recourse against the Trust Account. A court may not uphold the validity of such agreements. Accordingly, the proceeds held in trust could be subject to claims which could take priority over those of the Company's public stockholders. If the Company is unable to complete a business combination and distribute the proceeds held in trust to the Company's public stockholders, the Sponsor has agreed (subject to certain exceptions described elsewhere in this proxy statement/prospectus) that it will be liable to ensure that the proceeds in the Trust Account are not reduced below $10.00 per share by the claims of target businesses or claims of vendors or other entities that are owed money by the Company for services rendered or contracted for or products sold to the Company. However, it may not be able to meet such obligation. Therefore, the per-share distribution from the Trust Account may be less than $10.00, plus interest, due to such claims.

Additionally, if the Company is forced to file a bankruptcy case or an involuntary bankruptcy case is filed against the Company's which is not dismissed, the proceeds held in the Trust Account could be subject to applicable bankruptcy law, and may be included in the Company's bankruptcy estate and subject to the claims of third parties with priority over the claims of the Company's stockholders. To the extent any bankruptcy claims deplete the Trust Account, the Company may not be able to return to the Company's public stockholders at least $10.00. The Sponsor may not have sufficient funds to satisfy its indemnity obligations, as its only assets are securities of the Company. The Company has not asked the Sponsor to reserve for such indemnification obligations. As a result, if any such claims were successfully made against the Trust Account, the funds available for the Company's initial business combination, including the Business Combinations, and redemptions could be reduced to less than $10.00 per public share.

Our directors may decide not to enforce the indemnification obligations of our Sponsor, resulting in a reduction in the amount of funds in the Trust Account available for distribution to our public stockholders.

In the event that the proceeds in the Trust Account are reduced below the lesser of (i) $10.00 per public share and (ii) the actual amount per share held in the Trust Account as of the date of the liquidation of the Trust Account if less than $10.00 per share due to reductions in the value of the trust assets, in each case net of the interest which may be withdrawn to pay taxes, and our Sponsor asserts that it is unable to satisfy its obligations or that it has no indemnification obligations related to a particular claim, our independent directors would determine whether to take legal action against our Sponsor to enforce its indemnification obligations. While we currently expect that our independent directors would take legal action on our behalf against our Sponsor to enforce its indemnification obligations to us, it is possible that our independent directors in exercising their business judgment and subject to their fiduciary duties may choose not to do so in any particular instance if, for example, the cost of such legal action is deemed by the independent directors to be too high relative to the amount recoverable or if the independent directors determine that a favorable outcome is not likely. If our independent directors choose not to enforce these indemnification obligations, the amount of funds in the Trust Account available for distribution to our public stockholders may be reduced below $10.00 per share.

If, before distributing the proceeds in the Trust Account to our public stockholders, we file a bankruptcy petition or an involuntary bankruptcy petition is filed against us that is not dismissed, the claims of creditors in such proceeding may have priority over the claims of our stockholders and the per-share amount that would otherwise be received by our stockholders in connection with our liquidation may be reduced.

If, before distributing the proceeds in the Trust Account to our public stockholders, we file a bankruptcy petition or an involuntary bankruptcy petition is filed against us that is not dismissed, the proceeds held in the Trust Account could be subject to applicable bankruptcy law, and may be included in our bankruptcy estate and subject to the claims of third parties with priority over the claims of our stockholders. To the extent any bankruptcy claims deplete the Trust Account, the per-share amount that would otherwise be received by our stockholders in connection with our liquidation may be reduced.

If, after we distribute the proceeds in the Trust Account to our public stockholders, we file a bankruptcy petition or an involuntary bankruptcy petition is filed against us that is not dismissed, a bankruptcy court may seek to recover such proceeds, and we and our Board may be exposed to claims of punitive damages.

If, after we distribute the proceeds in the Trust Account to our public stockholders, we file a bankruptcy petition or an involuntary bankruptcy petition is filed against us that is not dismissed, any distributions received by stockholders could be viewed under applicable debtor/creditor and/or bankruptcy laws as either a “preferential transfer” or a “fraudulent conveyance.” As a result, a bankruptcy court could seek to recover all amounts received by our stockholders. In addition, our Board may be viewed as having breached its fiduciary duty to our creditors and/or having acted in bad faith, thereby exposing itself and us to claims of punitive damages, by paying public stockholders from the Trust Account prior to addressing the claims of creditors.

The Company’s stockholders may be held liable for claims by third parties against the Company to the extent of distributions received by them.

The Company’s certificate of incorporation provides that it will continue in existence only until June 10, 2021, unless we amend our certificate of incorporation again to further extend the time that we have to consummate a business combination. If the Company has not completed a business combination by such date, the Company will (i) cease all operations except for the purpose of winding up, (ii) as promptly as reasonably possible but not more than ten business days thereafter, redeem 100% of the outstanding public shares, at a per-share price, payable in cash, equal to the aggregate amount then on deposit in the Trust Account, including any interest earned on the funds held in the Trust Account net of interest that may be used by the Company to pay its franchise and income taxes payable and up to $100,000 for dissolution expenses, divided by the number of then outstanding public shares, which redemption will completely extinguish public stockholders' rights as stockholders (including the right to receive further liquidation distributions, if any), subject to applicable law, and (iii) as promptly as reasonably possible following such redemption, subject to the approval of the Company's remaining stockholders and our Board, dissolve and liquidate, subject (in the case of (ii) and (iii) above) to the Company's obligations under Delaware law to provide for claims of creditors and the requirements of other applicable law.

If the Company is forced to file a bankruptcy case or an involuntary bankruptcy case is filed against the Company which is not dismissed, any distributions received by stockholders could be viewed under applicable debtor/creditor and/or bankruptcy laws as either a "preferential transfer" or a "fraudulent conveyance." As a result, a bankruptcy court could seek to recover all amounts received by the Company's stockholders. Furthermore, because GigCapital2 intends to distribute the proceeds held in the public shares to the Company's public stockholders promptly after expiration of the time the Company has to complete an initial business combination, this may be viewed or interpreted as giving preference to the Company's public stockholders over any potential creditors with respect to access to or distributions from the Company's assets. Furthermore, our Board may be viewed as having breached their fiduciary duties to the Company's creditors and/or may have acted in bad faith, and thereby exposing itself and the Company to claims of punitive damages, by paying public stockholders from the Trust Account prior to addressing the claims of creditors. The Company cannot assure you that claims will not be brought against it for these reasons.

Neither the Company nor its stockholders will have the protection of any indemnification, escrow, price adjustment or other provisions that allow for a post-closing adjustment to be made to the total aggregate closing consideration in the event that any of the representations and warranties made by UpHealth or Cloudbreak in the Business Combinations, as applicable, ultimately proves to be inaccurate or incorrect.

The representations and warranties made by UpHealth, Cloudbreak and the Company to each other in the Business Combination Agreements will not survive the consummation of the Business Combinations. As a result, the Company and its stockholders will not have the protection of any indemnification, escrow, price adjustment or other provisions that allow for a post-closing adjustment to be made to the total merger consideration if any representation or warranty made by UpHealth in the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement and Cloudbreak in the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement proves to be inaccurate or incorrect. Accordingly, to the extent such representations or warranties are incorrect, the Company would have no indemnification claim with respect thereto and its financial condition or results of operations could be adversely affected.

GigCapital2 may not have sufficient funds to satisfy indemnification claims of its directors and executive officers.

GigCapital2 has agreed to indemnify its officers and directors to the fullest extent permitted by law. However, GigCapital2's officers and directors have agreed to waive any right, title, interest or claim of any kind in or to any monies in the Trust Account and not to seek recourse against the Trust Account for any reason whatsoever. Accordingly, any indemnification provided will be able to be satisfied by GigCapital2 only if (i) GigCapital2 has sufficient funds outside of the Trust Account or (ii) GigCapital2 consummates an initial business combination. GigCapital2's obligation to indemnify its officers and directors may discourage stockholders from bringing a lawsuit against its officers or directors for breach of their fiduciary duty. These provisions also may have the effect of reducing the likelihood of derivative litigation against GigCapital2's officers and directors, even though such an action, if successful, might otherwise benefit GigCapital2 and its stockholders. Furthermore, a stockholder's investment may be adversely affected to the extent GigCapital2 pays the costs of settlement and damage awards against its officers and directors pursuant to these indemnification provisions.

If the Company does not file and maintain a current and effective prospectus relating to the Common Stock issuable upon exercise of the warrants, holders will only be able to exercise such warrants on a “cashless basis.”

If the Company does not file and maintain a current and effective prospectus relating to the Common Stock issuable upon exercise of the warrants at the time that holders wish to exercise such warrants, they will only be able to exercise them on a “cashless basis” provided that an exemption from registration is available. As a result, the number of shares of Common Stock that holders will receive upon exercise of the warrants will be fewer than it would have been had such holder exercised its warrant for cash. Further, if an exemption from registration is not available, holders would not be able to exercise on a cashless basis and would only be able to exercise their warrants for cash if a current and effective prospectus relating to the Common Stock issuable upon exercise of the warrants is available. Under the terms of the warrant agreement, the Company has agreed to use its best efforts to meet these conditions and to file and maintain a current and effective prospectus relating to the Common Stock issuable upon exercise of the warrants until the expiration of the warrants. However, the Company cannot assure you that it will be able to do so. If the Company is unable to do so, the potential “upside” of the holder’s investment in the Company may be reduced or the warrants may expire worthless.

Even if the Company consummates the Business Combinations, there is no guarantee that the warrants will ever be in the money, and they may expire worthless and the terms of warrants may be amended.

The exercise price for the warrants is $11.50 per share of Common Stock. There is no guarantee that the public warrants will ever be in the money prior to their expiration, and as such, the warrants may expire worthless.

In addition, the Company’s warrants were issued in registered form under a warrant agreement between Continental Stock Transfer & Trust Company, as warrant agent, and the Company. The warrant agreement provides that the terms of the warrants may be amended without the consent of any holder to cure any ambiguity or correct any defective provision, but requires the approval by the holders of at least 65% of the then outstanding public warrants to make any other change. Accordingly, the Company may amend the terms of the warrants in a manner adverse to a holder if holders of at least 65% of the then outstanding public warrants approve of such amendment. Although the Company’s ability to amend the terms of the warrants with the consent of at least 65% of the then outstanding public warrants is unlimited, examples of such amendments could be amendments to, among other things, increase the exercise price of the warrants, shorten the exercise period or decrease the number of shares and their respective affiliates and associates have of Common Stock purchasable upon exercise of a warrant.

The exercise price for our public warrants is higher than in many similar blank check company offerings in the past, and, accordingly, the public warrants are more likely to expire worthless.

The exercise price of our public warrants is higher than is typical with many similar blank check companies in the past. Historically, with regard to units offered by blank check companies, the exercise price of a public warrant was generally a fraction of the purchase price of the units in the initial public offering. The exercise price for our public warrants is $11.50 per share, subject to adjustment as provided herein. As a result, the public warrants are less likely to ever be in the money and more likely to expire worthless.

The Company may amend the terms of the rights in a manner that may be adverse to holders with the approval by the holders of at least 65% of the then outstanding rights.

The rights are issued in registered form under a right agreement between Continental Stock Transfer & Trust Company, as rights agent, and the Company. The right agreement provides that the terms of the rights may be amended without the consent of any holder to cure any ambiguity or correct any defective provision. The right agreement requires the approval by the holders of at least 65% of the then outstanding rights in order to make any change that adversely affects the interests of the registered holders.

Warrants will become exercisable for our Common Stock, which would increase the number of shares eligible for future resale in the public market and result in dilution to our stockholders.

Our public warrants are exercisable for 17,250,000 shares of Common Stock as part of our IPO at $11.50 per share. The additional shares of our Common Stock issued upon exercise of our warrants will result in dilution to the then existing holders of Common Stock of the Company and increase the number of shares eligible for resale in the public market. Sales of substantial numbers of such shares in the public market could adversely affect the market price of our Common Stock.

Stockholders may not know immediately after the Special Meeting whether we have satisfied the closing condition that the Trust Account equal or exceed $150,000,000.

If we receive valid redemption requests from holders of public shares prior to the redemption deadline, we may, at our sole discretion, following the redemption deadline and until the Closing Date, seek and permit withdrawals by one or more of such holders of their redemption requests. We may select which holders to seek such withdrawals of redemption requests from based on any factors we may deem relevant, and the purpose of seeking such withdrawals may be to increase the funds held in the trust account, including where we otherwise would not satisfy the closing condition that the amount of cash or cash equivalents that we have from any source equals or exceeds $150,000,000. This process could take a number of days, and there may be a period of time after the special meeting and before the Closing when stockholders do not know whether we have satisfied this closing condition.

The Company has no obligation to net cash settle the rights or warrants.

In no event will the Company have any obligation to net cash settle the rights or warrants. Furthermore, there are no contractual penalties for failure to deliver securities to the holders of the rights or warrants upon consummation of an initial business combination, including the Business Combinations, or exercise of the warrants. Accordingly, the rights and Warrants may expire worthless.

Certain of our warrants are being accounted for as a warrant liability and are being recorded at fair value upon issuance with changes in fair value each period reported in earnings, which may have an adverse effect on the market price of our Common Stock or may make it more difficult for us to consummate an initial business combination.

In the private placement of units that occurred concurrently with our initial public offering, our Founders acquired 567,500 private warrants. These private warrants and the shares of common stock issuable upon the exercise of the private warrants are not transferable, assignable or salable until after the completion of the Business Combination, subject to certain limited exceptions. Additionally, the private warrants are exercisable for cash or on a cashless basis, at the holder's option, and are non-redeemable so long as they are held by the initial purchasers or their permitted transferees. If the private warrants are held by someone other than the initial purchasers or their permitted transferees, the private warrants will be redeemable by the Company and exercisable by such holders on the same basis as the warrants included in the units sold in the initial public offering, in which case the 567,500 private warrants could be redeemed by the Company for $5,675. Under GAAP, we are required to evaluate contingent exercise provisions of these warrants and then their settlement provisions to determine whether they should be accounted for as a warrant liability or as equity. Any settlement amount not equal to the difference between the fair value of a fixed number of our equity shares and a fixed monetary amount precludes these warrants from being considered indexed to our own stock, and therefore, from being accounted for as equity. As a result of the provision that the private warrants, when held by someone other than the initial purchasers or their permitted transferees, will be redeemable by the Company, the requirements for accounting for these warrants as equity are not satisfied. Therefore, as described in our financial statements included in this prospectus, we are accounting for these private warrants as a warrant liability and are recording that liability at fair value upon issuance and are recording any subsequent changes in fair value as of the end of each period for which earnings are reported, as we determine based upon a valuation report obtained from our independent third party valuation firm. The impact of changes in fair value on earnings may have an adverse effect on the market price of our Common Stock. In addition, potential targets may seek a SPAC that does not have warrants that are accounted for as a warrant liability, which may make it more difficult for us to consummate an initial business combination with a target business.

The Company's ability to successfully effect the Business Combinations and to be successful thereafter will be totally dependent upon the efforts of its key personnel, including each of UpHealth's and Cloudbreak's key personnel, all of whom are expected to join the Company following the Business Combinations. While the Company intends to closely scrutinize any individuals it engages after the Business Combinations, it cannot assure you that its assessment of these individuals will prove to be correct.

The Company's ability to successfully effect the Business Combinations is dependent upon the efforts of key personnel of UpHealth, Cloudbreak and of the Company, including Dr. Avi Katz, the Company's Executive Chairman Dr. Chirinjeev Kathuria, Executive Chairman of UpHealth, Dr. Mariya Pylypiv, Vice Chairwoman of UpHealth, Ramesh Balakrishnan and Al Gatmaitan, UpHealth's Co-Chief Executive Officers and Jamey Edwards, Cloudbreak's Chief Executive Officer. Although the Company expects all of UpHealth's and Cloudbreak's key personnel to remain with the post-combination company following the Business Combinations, it is possible that the post-combination company will lose some key personnel, the loss of which could negatively impact the operations and profitability of the post-combination company. While the post-combination company intends to closely scrutinize any individuals it engages after the Business Combinations, it cannot assure you that its assessment of these individuals will prove to be correct. These individuals may be unfamiliar with the requirements of operating a public company which could cause the post-combination company to have to expend time and resources helping them become familiar with such requirements. This could be expensive and time-consuming and could lead to various regulatory issues which may adversely affect its operations.

The Company, UpHealth and Cloudbreak will be subject to business uncertainties and contractual restrictions while the Business Combinations are pending.

Uncertainty about the effect of the Business Combinations on employees and third parties may have an adverse effect on the Company, UpHealth and Cloudbreak. These uncertainties may impair our, UpHealth's or Cloudbreak's ability to retain and motivate key personnel and could cause third parties that deal with any of us or them to defer entering into contracts or making other decisions or seek to change existing business relationships. If key employees depart because of uncertainty about their future roles and the potential complexities of the Business Combination, our, UpHealth's or Cloudbreak's business could be harmed.

We may waive one or more of the conditions to the Business Combinations.

We may agree to waive, in whole or in part, one or more of the conditions to our obligations to complete the Business Combinations, to the extent permitted by our current amended and restated certificate of incorporation and bylaws and applicable laws. In addition, if any of the proposed acquisitions or Business Combinations fails to occur, but our stockholders have approved the Business Combinations, we may decide to waive a condition or proceed with the rest of the Business Combinations without resoliciting stockholder. We may not waive the condition that our stockholders approve the Business Combinations. Please see the section entitled "Proposal No. 1 - Approval of the UpHealth Business Combination - The UpHealth Business Combination Agreement - Conditions to Closing of the Business Combination" and "Proposal No. 2 - Approval of the Cloudbreak Business Combination - The Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement - Conditions to Closing of the Business Combination" for additional information.

The exercise of discretion by our directors and officers in agreeing to changes to the terms of or waivers of closing conditions in the Business Combination Agreements may result in a conflict of interest when determining whether such changes to the terms of the Business Combination Agreements or waivers of conditions are appropriate and in the best interests of our stockholders.

In the period leading up to the Closing, other events may occur that, pursuant to the Business Combination Agreements, would require the Company to agree to further amend the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement and amend the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement to consent to certain actions or to waive rights that we are entitled to under those agreements. Such events could arise because of changes in the course of UpHealth's business, Cloudbreak's business, a request by UpHealth to undertake actions that would otherwise be prohibited by the terms of the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement, a request by Cloudbreak to undertake actions that would otherwise be prohibited by the terms of the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement or the occurrence of other events that would have a material adverse effect on UpHealth's or Cloudbreak's business and would entitle the Company to terminate the Business Combination Agreements, as applicable. In any of such circumstances, it would be in the discretion of the Company, acting through the Board, to grant its consent or waive its rights. The existence of the financial and personal interests of the directors described elsewhere in this proxy statement/prospectus may result in a conflict of interest on the part of one or more of the directors between what he or she may believe is best for the Company and our stockholders and what he or she may believe is best for himself or herself or his or her affiliates in determining whether or not to take the requested action. As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, we do not believe there will be any changes or waivers that our directors and officers would be likely to make after stockholder approval of the Business Combinations has been obtained. While certain changes could be made without further stockholder approval, if there is a change to the terms of the Business Combinations that would have a material impact on the stockholders, we will be required to circulate a new or amended proxy statement or supplement thereto and resolicit the vote of our stockholders with respect to the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal and the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal, as applicable.

We, UpHealth and Cloudbreak will incur significant transaction and transition costs in connection with the Business Combinations.

We, UpHealth and Cloudbreak have both incurred and expect to incur significant, non-recurring costs in connection with consummating the Business Combinations and operating as a public company following the consummation of the Business Combinations. We, UpHealth and Cloudbreak may also incur additional costs to retain key employees. All expenses incurred in connection with the Business Combination Agreements and the transactions contemplated thereby (including the Business Combinations), including all legal, accounting, consulting, investment banking and other fees, expenses and costs, will be for the account of the party incurring such fees, expenses and costs or paid by the Company following the Closing.

The aggregate transaction expenses as a result of the Business Combinations are expected to be approximately $43,000,000. The per-share amount we will distribute to stockholders who properly exercise their redemption rights will not be reduced by the transaction expenses and after such redemptions, the per-share value of shares held by non-redeeming stockholders will reflect our obligation to pay the transaction expenses.

Our Sponsor, certain members of our Board and our officers have interests in the Business Combinations that are different from or are in addition to other stockholders in recommending that stockholders vote in favor of approval of the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal and the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal and approval of the other proposals described in this proxy statement/prospectus.

When considering our Board's recommendation that our stockholders vote in favor of the approval of the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal and the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal, our stockholders should be aware that the directors and officers of the Company have interests in the Business Combinations that may be different from, or in addition to, the interests of our stockholders. These interests include:

- the fact that our Initial Stockholders have agreed not to redeem any of the Founder Shares in connection with a stockholder vote to approve the Business Combinations;
- the fact that our Initial Stockholders have agreed to waive their rights to liquidating distributions from the Trust Account with respect to their Founder Shares if we fail to complete an initial business combination by the applicable deadline;
- if the Trust Account is liquidated, including in the event we are unable to complete an initial business combination within the required time period, our Sponsor has agreed to indemnify us to ensure that the proceeds in the Trust Account are not reduced below $10.00 per public share, or such lesser per public share amount as is in the Trust Account on the liquidation date, by the claims of prospective target businesses with which we have entered into an acquisition agreement or claims of any third party (other than our independent public accountants) for services rendered or products sold to us, but only if such a vendor or target business has not executed a waiver of any and all rights to seek access to the Trust Account;
- the continued indemnification of our existing directors and officers and the continuation of our directors' and officers' liability insurance after the Business Combinations;
- the fact that Dr. Avi Katz, Dr. Raluca Dinu and Neil Miotto will remain as board members of the post-combination company and each shall be entitled to receive compensation for serving on the board of directors of the post-combination company;
- the fact that we engaged the underwriters of our IPO as advisors to assist it in holding meetings with our stockholders to discuss potential business combination, introduce GigCapital2 to potential investors that are interested in purchasing our securities in connection with a potential business combination, assist it in obtaining stockholder approval for the business combination and assist us with our press releases and public filings in connection with a business combination. Pursuant to that agreement, we will pay the underwriters a cash fee for such services upon the consummation of the Business Combinations in an amount equal to, in the aggregate, 3.5% of the gross proceeds of the IPO, including any proceeds from the exercise of the over-allotment option; and
- the fact that our Sponsor, officers and directors will lose their entire investment in us if an initial business combination is not consummated by the applicable deadline. Prior to GigCapital2's initial public offering, our Founders purchased an aggregate of 4,307,500 Founder Shares for an aggregate purchase price of $25,000, or approximately $0.0058 per share (as compared to the $10.00 per share price being used to determine the number of shares of Common Stock being issued to the UpHealth and Cloudbreak equity holders in the Business Combinations or at which the PIPE Investors have agreed to purchase Common Stock), with the Sponsor purchasing 4,018,987 Founder Shares, Northland Investment purchasing 173,108 Founder Shares and the EarlyBird Group purchasing 115,405 Founder Shares. Additionally, the Founders purchased from GigCapital2 an aggregate of 567,500 Private Placement Units at a price of $10.00 per unit simultaneously with the consummation of GigCapital2's initial public offering for an aggregate purchase price of $5,675,000, with the Sponsor purchasing 481,250 Private Placement Units, Northland Investment purchasing 56,350 Private Placement Units and the EarlyBird Group purchasing 29,900 Private Placement Units. In addition, Northland concurrently purchased 120,000 Private Underwriter Shares at a price of $10.00 per share. Certain of GigCapital2's directors and executive officers, including Dr. Avi Katz, Dr. Raluca Dinu, Neil Miotto, John Mikulsky and Gil Frostig, also have a direct or indirect economic interest in the 481,250 Private Placement Units and in the 4,018,987 Founder Shares owned by the Sponsor. The 4,018,987 Founder Shares owned by the Sponsor would have had an aggregate market value of $40,390,819 based upon the closing price of $10.05 per public share on the NYSE on May 5, 2021, the most recent practicable date prior to the date of this proxy statement/prospectus. The 481,250 private placement units held by the Sponsor would have had an aggregate market value of $5,197,500 based upon the closing price of $10.80 per public unit on the NYSE on May 5, 2021, the most recent practicable date prior to the date of this proxy statement/prospectus. Additionally, the Sponsor, officers and directors do not currently have any unreimbursed out-of-pocket expenses in connection with the business combinations.

Our Initial Stockholders, including our Sponsor and our independent directors, hold a significant number of shares of our Common Stock. They will lose their entire investment in us if a business combination is not completed.

Our Initial Stockholders hold in the aggregate 4,995,000 Founder Shares, representing 23% of the total shares outstanding as of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus. The Founder Shares will be worthless if we do not complete a business combination by the applicable deadline.

The Founder Shares are identical to the shares of Common Stock included in the public units, except that: (i) the Founder Shares are subject to certain transfer restrictions; (ii) our Initial Stockholders, officers and directors have entered into a letter agreement with us, pursuant to which they have agreed: (a) to waive their redemption rights with respect to their shares of Common Stock in connection with the completion of our Business Combinations; (b) waive their redemption rights with respect to their shares of Common Stock in connection with a stockholder vote to approve an amendment to our current amended and restated certificate of incorporation to modify the substance or timing of our obligation to redeem 100% of our public shares if we do not complete our initial business combination within 18 months from the closing of the IPO or to provide for redemption in connection with a business combination; and (c) to waive their rights to liquidating distributions from the Trust Account with respect to their Initial Stockholder Shares if we fail to complete our initial business combination by the applicable deadline (although they will be entitled to liquidating distributions from the Trust Account with respect to any public shares they hold if we fail to complete our initial business combination by the applicable deadline).

The personal and financial interests of our officers and directors may have influenced their motivation in identifying and selecting each of UpHealth and Cloudbreak, completing a business combination with each of UpHealth and Cloudbreak and may influence their operation of the post-combination company following the Business Combinations. This risk may become more acute as the deadline of the applicable deadline for completing an initial business combination nears.

Our Sponsor, directors or officers or their affiliates may elect to purchase shares or warrants from public stockholders, which may influence a vote on a proposed Business Combinations and the other proposals described in this proxy statement/prospectus and reduce the public “float” of our Common Stock.

Our Sponsor, directors or officers or their affiliates may purchase shares in privately negotiated transactions or in the open market either prior to or following the completion of our Business Combinations, although they are under no obligation to do so. Such a purchase may include a contractual acknowledgement that such stockholder, although still the record holder of our shares is no longer the beneficial owner thereof and therefore agrees not to exercise its redemption rights. In the event that our Sponsor, directors, officers or their affiliates purchase shares in privately negotiated transactions from public stockholders who have already elected to exercise their redemption rights, such selling stockholders would be required to revoke their prior elections to redeem their shares. The purpose of such purchases could be to vote such shares in favor of the Business Combinations and thereby increase the likelihood of obtaining stockholder approval of the Business Combinations or to satisfy closing conditions in the Business Combination Agreements regarding required amounts of cash or cash equivalents that we have from any source equal or exceeds certain thresholds where it appears that such requirements would otherwise not be met. The purpose of any such purchases of public warrants could be to reduce the number of public warrants outstanding or to vote such warrants on any matters submitted to the warrant holders for approval in connection with our initial business combination. This may result in the completion of our Business Combinations that may not otherwise have been possible. Any such purchases will be reported pursuant to Section 13 and Section 16 of the Exchange Act to the extent such purchasers are subject to such reporting requirements.

In addition, if such purchases are made, the public “float” of our Common Stock and the number of beneficial holders of our securities may be reduced, possibly making it difficult to obtain or maintain the quotation, listing or trading of our securities on the NYSE or another national securities exchange or reducing the liquidity of the trading market for our Common Stock.

Stockholders of the post-combination company may not be able to enforce judgments entered by United States courts against certain of our officers and directors.

We are incorporated in the State of Delaware. However, following the Business Combinations, some of our directors and executive officers may reside outside of the U.S. As a result, stockholders of the post-combination company may not be able to effect service of process upon those persons within the U.S. or enforce against those persons judgments obtained in U.S. courts.

A market for the Company’s securities may not continue, which would adversely affect the liquidity and price of its securities.

Following the Business Combinations, the price of the post-combination company’s securities may fluctuate significantly due to the market’s reaction to the Business Combinations and general market and economic conditions. An active trading market for the Company’s securities following the Business Combinations may never develop or, if developed, it may not be sustained. In addition, the price of the post-combination company’s securities after the Business Combinations can vary due to general economic conditions and forecasts, the post-combination company’s general business condition and the release of the post-combination company’s financial reports. Additionally, if the post-combination company’s securities are not listed on, or become delisted from, the NYSE for any reason, and are quoted on the OTC Bulletin Board (an inter-dealer automated quotation system for equity securities that is not a national securities exchange) or the post-combination company’s securities are not listed on the NYSE and are quoted on the OTC Bulletin Board, the liquidity and price of the post-combination company’s securities may be more limited than if the post-combination company’s securities were quoted or listed on the NYSE or another national securities exchange. You may be unable to sell your securities unless a market can be established or sustained.

The ability to execute the post-combination company’s strategic plan could be negatively impacted to the extent a significant number of stockholders choose to redeem their shares in connection with the Business Combinations.

Depending upon the aggregate amount of cash consideration the Company would be required to pay for all shares of Common Stock that are validly submitted for redemption, the post-combination company may be required to increase the financial leverage the post-combination company’s business would have to support. This may negatively impact its ability to execute on its own future strategic plan and its financial viability.

If the post-combination company fails to introduce or acquire new products or services that achieve broad market acceptance on a timely basis, or if its products or services are not adopted as expected, the combined company will not be able to compete effectively.

The post-combination company will operate in a highly competitive, quickly changing environment, and the combined company’s future success depends on its ability to develop or acquire, and introduce new products and services that achieve broad market acceptance. The post-combination company’s ability to successfully introduce and market new products is unproven. Because the post-combination company will have a limited operating history and the market for its products, including newly acquired or developed products, is rapidly evolving, it is difficult to predict the combined company’s operating results, particularly with respect to any new products that it may introduce. The post-combination company’s future success will depend in large part upon its ability to identify demand trends in the market in which it will operate and quickly develop or acquire, and design, manufacture and sell, products and services that satisfy these demands in a cost-effective manner.

In order to differentiate the post-combination company's products and services from competitors' products, the post-combination company will need to increase focus and capital investment in research and development, including software development. If any products currently sold by, and services offered by, either UpHealth or Cloudbreak do not continue, or if the post-combination company's new products or services fail to achieve widespread market acceptance, or if we are unsuccessful in capitalizing on opportunities in the market in which the post-combination company will operate, the post-combination company's future growth may be slowed and its business, results of operations and financial condition could be materially adversely affected. Successfully predicting demand trends is difficult, and it is very difficult to predict the effect that introducing a new product or service will have on existing product or service sales. It is possible that the post-combination company may not be successful with its new products and services, and as a result the post-combination company's future growth may be slowed and its business, results of operations and financial condition could be materially adversely affected. Also, the post-combination company's may not be able to respond effectively to new product or service announcements by competitors by quickly introducing competitive products and services.

In addition, the post-combination company may acquire companies and technologies in the future. In these circumstances, the combined company may not be able to successfully manage integration of the new product and service lines with the combined company's existing suite of products and services. If the post-combination company is unable to effectively and successfully further develop these new product and service lines, the post-combination company may not be able to increase or maintain sales (as compared to sales of UpHealth or Cloudbreak, as applicable, on a standalone basis), and the post-combination company's gross margin (as compared to sales of UpHealth or Cloudbreak, as applicable, on a standalone basis) may be adversely affected.

Furthermore, the success of the post-combination company's new products will depend on several factors, including, but not limited to, market demand costs, timely completion and introduction of these products, prompt resolution of any defects or bugs in these products, the post-combination company's ability to support these products, differentiation of new products from those of the post-combination company's competitors, market acceptance of these products, delays and quality issues in releasing new products and services. The occurrence of one or more of the foregoing factors may result in lower quarterly revenue than expected, and the post-combination company may in the future experience product or service introductions that fall short of its projected rates of market adoption.

If the post-combination company's products and services fail to achieve and sustain sufficient market acceptance, the combined company's revenue will be adversely affected.

The post-combination company's success will depend on its ability to develop and market products and services that are recognized and accepted as reliable, enabling and cost-effective. Some potential customers of the combined company may already use products or services similar to what UpHealth and Cloudbreak currently offers and similar to what the post-combination company may offer in the future and may be reluctant to replace those products or services with what UpHealth and Cloudbreak currently offers or which the combined company may offer in the future. Market acceptance of the post-combination company's products, services and technology will depend on many factors, including the post-combination company's ability to convince potential customers that the post-combination company's products, services and technology are an attractive alternative to existing products, services and technology. Prior to adopting the post-combination company's products, services and technology, some potential customers may need to devote time and effort to testing and validating the post-combination company's systems. Any failure of the post-combination company's systems to meet these customer benchmarks could result in potential customers choosing to retain their existing systems or to purchase systems other than the combined company's.

If the Business Combinations' benefits do not meet the expectations of investors, stockholders or financial analysts, the market price of the Company's securities may decline.

If the benefits of the Business Combinations do not meet the expectations of investors or securities analysts, the market price of the Company's securities prior to the Closing may decline. The market values of the Company's securities at the time of the Business Combinations may vary significantly from their prices on the date the Business Combinations were executed, the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, or the date on which the Company's stockholders vote on the Business Combinations.

In addition, following the Business Combinations, fluctuations in the price of the Company's securities could contribute to the loss of all or part of your investment. Prior to the Business Combinations, there has not been a public market for UpHealth's or Cloudbreak's stock and trading in the shares of Company Common Stock has not been active. Accordingly, the valuation ascribed to UpHealth, Cloudbreak and Company Common Stock in the Business Combinations may not be indicative of the price that will prevail in the trading market following the Business Combinations. If an active market for the Company's securities develops and continues, the trading price of the Company's securities following the Business Combinations could be volatile and subject to wide fluctuations in response to various factors, some of which are beyond the Company's control. Any of the factors listed below could have a material adverse effect on your investment in the Company's securities and the Company's securities may trade at prices significantly below the price you paid for them. In such circumstances, the trading price of the Company's securities may not recover and may experience a further decline.

Factors affecting the trading price of the Company's securities following the Business Combinations may include:

- actual or anticipated fluctuations in the post-combination company's quarterly financial results or the quarterly financial results of companies perceived to be similar to the post-combination company;
- changes in the market's expectations about the post-combination company's operating results;
- success of competitors;
- the post-combination company's operating results failing to meet the expectation of securities analysts or investors in a particular period;
- changes in financial estimates and recommendations by securities analysts concerning the post-combination company or the market in general;
- operating and stock price performance of other companies that investors deem comparable to the post-combination company's;
- the post-combination company's ability to market new and enhanced services and products on a timely basis;
- changes in laws and regulations affecting the post-combination company's business;
- commencement of, or involvement in, litigation involving the Company;
- changes in the post-combination company's capital structure, such as future issuances of securities or the incurrence of additional debt;
- the volume of shares of the post-combination company's securities available for public sale;
- any major change in the board or management;
- sales of substantial amounts of Common Stock by the post-combination company's directors, executive officers or significant stockholders or the perception that such sales could occur; and
- general economic and political conditions such as recessions, interest rates, fuel prices, international currency fluctuations and acts of war or terrorism.

Broad market and industry factors may materially harm the market price of the Company's securities irrespective of its operating performance. The stock market in general and the NYSE have experienced price and volume fluctuations that have often been unrelated or disproportionate to the operating performance of the particular companies affected. The trading prices and valuations of these stocks, and of the Company's securities, may not be predictable. A loss of investor confidence in the market for retail stocks or the stocks of other companies which investors perceive to be similar to the Company could depress the Company's stock price regardless of the Company's business, prospects, financial condition or results of operations. A decline in the market price of the Company's securities also could adversely affect the Company's ability to issue additional securities and the Company's ability to obtain additional financing in the future.

Following the Business Combinations, if securities or industry analysts do not publish or cease publishing research or reports about the Company, its business, or its market, or if they change their recommendations regarding the Company's securities adversely, the price and trading volume of the Company's securities could decline.

The trading market for the post-combination company's securities will be influenced by the research and reports that industry or securities analysts may publish about the post-combination company, its business, its market, or its competitors. Securities and industry analysts do not currently, and may never, publish research on the post-combination company. If no securities or industry analysts commence coverage of the post-combination company, the post-combination company's stock price and trading volume would likely be negatively impacted. If any of the analysts who may cover the post-combination company, change their recommendation regarding the post-combination company's stock adversely, or provide more favorable relative recommendations about the post-combination company's competitors, the price of the post-combination company's securities would likely decline. If any analyst who may cover the post-combination company were to cease coverage of the post-combination company or fail to regularly publish reports on it, the post-combination company could lose visibility in the financial markets, which could cause its stock price or trading volume to decline.

The future sales of shares by existing stockholders may adversely affect the market price of the Company's Common Stock.

Sales of a substantial number of shares of the Company's Common Stock in the public market could occur at any time. If the Company's stockholders sell, or the market perceives that the Company's stockholders intend to sell, substantial amounts of the Company's Common Stock in the public market, the market price of the Company's Common Stock could decline.

Our public stockholders will experience dilution as a consequence of, among other transactions, the issuance of Common Stock as consideration in the Business Combinations. Having a minority share position may reduce the influence that our current stockholders have on the management of the post-combination company.

The issuance of the Common Stock in the Business Combinations will dilute the equity interest of our existing stockholders and may adversely affect prevailing market prices for our public shares and/or public warrants.

It is anticipated that, upon completion of the Business Combinations, assuming no redemptions: (i) the Company's public stockholders will retain an ownership interest of approximately 12.35% in the post-combination company (not including shares beneficially owned by our Sponsor); (ii) the PIPE Investors will own approximately 2.36% of the post-combination company (such that public stockholders, including the PIPE Investors, will own approximately 14.72% of the post-combination company); (iii) our Initial Stockholders (including our Sponsor) will own approximately 3.6% of the post-combination company; (iv) the former UpHealth equity holders will own approximately 74.22% of the post-combination company, assuming $86,200,000 of cash is used to repurchase UpHealth shares and (v) the former Cloudbreak equity holders will own approximately 7.11% of the post-combination company, assuming no cash is used to repurchase Cloudbreak Units. The ownership percentage with respect to the post-combination company following the Business Combinations does not take into account (i) warrants to purchase Common Stock that will remain outstanding immediately following the Business Combinations (ii) conversion of the Convertible Notes into shares of Common Stock or (iii) the issuance of any shares upon completion of the Business Combinations under the Incentive Plan, a copy of which is attached to this proxy statement/prospectus as Annex K. Depending on the number of public shares redeemed, our current stockholders could own a majority of the voting rights in the post-combination company, but would not have effective control over the post-combination company. For more information, please see the sections entitled “Summary of the Proxy Statement/Prospectus—Impact of the Business Combinations on the Company’s Public Float,” “Unaudited Pro Forma Condensed Combined Financial Information” and “Proposal No. 6-Approval of the Incentive Plan.”

The NYSE may not list our securities on its exchange, which could limit investors’ ability to make transactions in our securities and subject us to additional trading restrictions.

In connection with the Business Combinations, in order to obtain the listing of the post-combination company’s securities on the NYSE, we will be required to demonstrate compliance with the NYSE’s initial listing requirements, which are more rigorous than the NYSE’s continued listing requirements. We will seek to have the post-combination company’s securities listed on the NYSE upon consummation of the Business Combinations. We cannot assure you that we will be able to meet all initial listing requirements. Even if the post-combination company’s securities are listed on the NYSE, we may be unable to maintain the listing of its securities in the future.

If we fail to meet the initial listing requirements and the NYSE does not list the post-combination company’s securities on its exchange, neither UpHealth nor Cloudbreak would not be required to consummate the Business Combinations. In the event that either UpHealth or Cloudbreak elected to waive this condition, and the Business Combinations were consummated without the post-combination company’s securities being listed on the NYSE or on another national securities exchange, we could face significant material adverse consequences, including:

- a limited availability of market quotations for our securities;
- reduced liquidity for our securities;
- a determination that our Common Stock is a “penny stock” which will require brokers trading in our Common Stock to adhere to more stringent rules and possibly result in a reduced level of trading activity in the secondary trading market for our securities;
- a limited amount of news and analyst coverage; and
- a decreased ability to issue additional securities or obtain additional financing in the future.

The National Securities Markets Improvement Act of 1996, which is a federal statute, prevents or preempts the states from regulating the sale of certain securities, which are referred to as “covered securities.” If the post-combination company’s securities were not listed on the NYSE, such securities would not qualify as covered securities and we would be subject to regulation in each state in which we offer our securities because states are not preempted from regulating the sale of securities that are not covered securities. Although the states are preempted from regulating the sale of our securities, the federal statute does allow the states to investigate companies if there is a suspicion of fraud, and, if there is a finding of fraudulent activity, then the states can regulate or bar the sale of covered securities in a particular case. While we are not aware of a state, other than the State of Idaho, having used these powers to prohibit or restrict the sale of securities issued by blank check companies, certain state securities regulators view blank check companies unfavorably and might use these powers, or threaten to use these powers, to hinder the sale of securities of blank check companies in their states.

Resales of the shares of Common Stock included in the stock consideration could depress the market price of our Common Stock.

We will have approximately 128,942,357 shares of Common Stock outstanding immediately following the Business Combinations, and there may be a large number of shares of Common Stock sold in the market following the completion of the Business Combinations or shortly thereafter. The shares held by the Company's public stockholders are freely tradable. In addition, the Company will be obligated to register the resale of shares of Common Stock issued as merger consideration, which shares will become available for resale following the expiration of any applicable lockup period. We also expect that Rule 144 will become available for the resale of shares of our Common Stock that are not registered for resale once one year has elapsed from the date that we file the Current Report on Form 8-K following the Closing that includes the required Form 10 information that reflects we are no longer a shell company. Such sales of shares of Common Stock or the perception of such sales may depress the market price of our Common Stock.

The post-combination company may redeem the unexpired warrants prior to their exercise at a time that is disadvantageous to warrant holders, thereby making their warrants worthless.

The post-combination company has the ability to redeem outstanding warrants at any time after they become exercisable and prior to their expiration, at a price of $0.01 per warrant, provided that the last reported sales price of the Common Stock equals or exceeds $18.00 per share for any 20 trading days within a 30 trading-day period ending on the third trading day prior to the date the post-combination company sends the notice of redemption to the warrant holders. If and when the warrants become redeemable by the post-combination company, the post-combination company may exercise its redemption right even if the post-combination company is unable to register or qualify the underlying securities for sale under all applicable state securities laws. Redemption of the outstanding warrants could force you (i) to exercise your warrants and pay the exercise price therefor at a time when it may be disadvantageous for you to do so, (ii) to sell your warrants at the then-current market price when you might otherwise wish to hold your warrants or (iii) to accept the nominal redemption price which, at the time the outstanding warrants are called for redemption, is likely to be substantially less than the market value of your warrants. None of the Private Placement Warrants and warrants underlying the units issuable upon conversion of working capital loan will be redeemable by the post-combination company so long as they are held by their initial purchasers or their permitted transferees.

Anti-takeover provisions contained in the proposed Second Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation as well as provisions of Delaware law, could impair a takeover attempt.

The proposed Second Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation will contain provisions that may discourage unsolicited takeover proposals that stockholders may consider to be in their best interests. The post-combination company is also subject to anti-takeover provisions under Delaware law, which could delay or prevent a change of control. Together these provisions may make more difficult the removal of management and may discourage transactions that otherwise could involve payment of a premium over prevailing market prices for the post-combination company's securities. These provisions will include:

- no cumulative voting in the election of directors, which limits the ability of minority stockholders to elect director candidates;
- a classified board of directors with three-year staggered terms, which could delay the ability of stockholders to change the membership of a majority of the Board;
- the right of our Board to elect a director to fill a vacancy created by the expansion of our Board or the resignation, death or removal of a director in certain circumstances, which prevents stockholders from being able to fill vacancies on our Board;
- a prohibition on stockholder action by written consent, which forces stockholder action to be taken at an annual or special meeting of our stockholders; and

- the requirement that a meeting of stockholders may only be called by members of our Board or the stockholders holding a majority of our shares, which may delay the ability of our stockholders to force consideration of a proposal or to take action, including the removal of directors.

These provisions, alone or together, could delay hostile takeovers and changes in control of New UpHealth or changes in the New UpHealth Board and New UpHealth's management.

As a Delaware corporation, we are also subject to provisions of Delaware law, including Section 203 of the DGCL, which prevents some stockholders holding more than 15% of our outstanding Common Stock from engaging in certain business combinations without approval of the holders of substantially all of New UpHealth Common Stock. Any provision of Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation or bylaws or Delaware law that has the effect of delaying or deterring a change in control could limit the opportunity for our stockholders to receive a premium for their shares of our Common Stock and could also affect the price that some investors are willing to pay for our Common Stock.

The JOBS Act permits “emerging growth companies” like us to take advantage of certain exemptions from various reporting requirements applicable to other public companies that are not emerging growth companies.

We currently qualify as an “emerging growth company” as defined in Section 2(a)(19) of the Securities Act, as modified by the JOBS Act. As such, we take advantage of certain exemptions from various reporting requirements applicable to other public companies that are not emerging growth companies for as long as we continue to be an emerging growth company, including: (i) the exemption from the auditor attestation requirements with respect to internal control over financial reporting under Section 404 of SOX; (ii) the exemptions from say-on-pay, say-on-frequency and say-on-golden parachute voting requirements; and (iii) reduced disclosure obligations regarding executive compensation in our periodic reports and proxy statements. As a result, our stockholders may not have access to certain information they deem important. We will remain an emerging growth company until the earliest of (i) the last day of the fiscal year: (a) following October 18, 2023, the fifth anniversary of our IPO; (b) in which we have total annual gross revenue of at least $1.07 billion; or (c) in which we are deemed to be a large accelerated filer, which means the market value of our Common Stock that is held by non-affiliates exceeds $700,000,000 as of the prior June 30th, and (ii) the date on which we have issued more than $1.0 billion in non-convertible debt during the prior three-year period.

In addition, Section 107 of the JOBS Act also provides that an emerging growth company can take advantage of the exemption from complying with new or revised accounting standards provided in Section 7(a)(2)(B) of the Securities Act as long as we are an emerging growth company. An emerging growth company can therefore delay the adoption of certain accounting standards until those standards would otherwise apply to private companies. The JOBS Act provides that a company can elect to opt out of the extended transition period and comply with the requirements that apply to non-emerging growth companies, but any such election to opt out is irrevocable. We have elected to avail ourselves of such extended transition period, which means that when a standard is issued or revised and it has different application dates for public or private companies, we, as an emerging growth company, can adopt the new or revised standard at the time private companies adopt the new or revised standard. This may make comparison of our financial statements with another public company that is neither an emerging growth company nor an emerging growth company that has opted out of using the extended transition period difficult or impossible because of the potential differences in accounting standards used.

We cannot predict if investors will find our Common Stock less attractive because we rely on these exemptions. If some investors find our Common Stock less attractive as a result, there may be a less active trading market for our Common Stock and our stock price may be more volatile.

Our internal controls over financial reporting may not be effective and our independent registered public accounting firm may not be able to certify as to their effectiveness, which could have a significant and adverse effect on our business and reputation.

As a public company, we are required to comply with the SEC's rules implementing Sections 302 and 404 of SOX, which require management to certify financial and other information in our quarterly and annual reports and provide an annual management report on the effectiveness of internal control over financial reporting. To comply with the requirements of being a public company, the post-combination company will be required to provide management's assessment on internal controls commencing with the annual report for fiscal year ended December 31, 2022, and we may need to undertake various actions, such as implementing additional internal controls and procedures and hiring additional accounting or internal audit staff. The standards required for a public company under Section 404 of SOX are significantly more stringent than those required of UpHealth and Cloudbreak as privately-held companies. Further, as an emerging growth company, our independent registered public accounting firm is not required to formally attest to the effectiveness of our internal controls over financial reporting pursuant to Section 404 until the date we are no longer an emerging growth company. At such time, our independent registered public accounting firm may issue a report that is adverse in the event that it is not satisfied with the level at which the controls of the post-combination company are documented, designed or operating.

Testing and maintaining these controls can divert our management's attention from other matters that are important to the operation of our business. If we identify material weaknesses in the internal control over financial reporting of the post-combination company or are unable to comply with the requirements of Section 404 or assert that our internal control over financial reporting is effective, or if our independent registered public accounting firm is unable to express an opinion as to the effectiveness of our internal controls over financial reporting when we no longer qualify as an emerging growth company, investors may lose confidence in the accuracy and completeness of our financial reports and the market price of our Common Stock could be negatively affected, and we could become subject to investigations by the SEC or other regulatory authorities, which could require additional financial and management resources.

Activities taken by the Company's affiliates to purchase, directly or indirectly, public shares will increase the likelihood of approval of the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal, the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal and the other Proposals and may affect the market price of the Company's securities.

The Company's Founders, directors, officers, advisors or their affiliates may purchase shares in privately negotiated transactions either prior to or following the consummation of the Business Combinations. None of the Company's Founders, directors, officers, advisors or their affiliates will make any such purchases when such parties are in possession of any material non-public information not disclosed to the seller or during a restricted period under Regulation M under the Exchange Act. Although none of the Company's Founders, directors, officers, advisors or their affiliates currently anticipate paying any premium purchase price for such public shares, in the event such parties do, the payment of a premium may not be in the best interest of those stockholders not receiving any such additional consideration. There is no limit on the number of shares that could be acquired by the Company's Founders, directors, officers, advisors or their affiliates, or the price such parties may pay.

If such transactions are effected, the consequence could be to cause the Business Combinations to be approved in circumstances where such approval could not otherwise be obtained. Purchases of shares by the persons described above would allow them to exert more influence over the approval of the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal, the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal and other proposals and would likely increase the chances that such Proposals would be approved. If the market does not view the Business Combinations positively, purchases of public shares may have the effect of counteracting the market's view, which would otherwise be reflected in a decline in the market price of the Company's securities. In addition, the termination of the support provided by these purchases may materially adversely affect the market price of the Company's securities.

As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, no agreements with respect to the private purchase of public shares by the Company or the persons described above have been entered into with any such investor or holder. The Company will file a Current Report on Form 8-K with the SEC to disclose private arrangements entered into or significant private purchases made by any of the aforementioned persons that would affect the vote on the Business Combinations Proposal or other proposals.

Changes in laws or regulations, or a failure to comply with any laws and regulations, may adversely affect the Company's business, investments and results of operations.

The Company is subject to laws, regulations and rules enacted by national, regional and local governments. In particular, the Company is required to comply with certain SEC, NYSE and other legal or regulatory requirements, including the NYSE upon the transfer of its listing. Compliance with, and monitoring of, applicable laws, regulations and rules may be difficult, time consuming and costly. Those laws, regulations and rules and their interpretation and application may also change from time to time and those changes could have a material adverse effect on the Company's business, investments and results of operations. In addition, a failure to comply with applicable laws, regulations and rules, as interpreted and applied, could have a material adverse effect on the Company's business and results of operations.

We have not registered the shares of Common Stock issuable upon exercise of the public warrants under the Securities Act or any state securities laws at this time, and such registration may not be in place when an investor desires to exercise public warrants, thus precluding such investor from being able to exercise its public warrants except on a cashless basis and potentially causing such public warrants to expire worthless.

We have not registered the shares of Common Stock issuable upon exercise of the public warrants under the Securities Act or any state securities laws at this time. However, under the terms of the warrant agreement, we have agreed that as soon as practicable, but in no event later than 15 business days after the closing of our initial business combination, we will use our best efforts to file with the SEC a registration statement for the registration under the Securities Act of the shares of Common Stock issuable upon exercise of the warrants and thereafter will use our best efforts to cause the same to become effective within 60 business days following our initial business combination and to maintain a current prospectus relating to the Common Stock issuable upon exercise of the public warrants, until the expiration of the public warrants in accordance with the provisions of the warrant agreement. We cannot assure you that we will be able to do so if, for example, any facts or events arise which represent a fundamental change in the information set forth in the registration statement or prospectus, the financial statements contained or incorporated by reference therein are not current or correct or the SEC issues a stop order. If the shares issuable upon exercise of the public warrants are not registered under the Securities Act, we will be required to permit holders to exercise their public warrants on a cashless basis. However, no public warrant will be exercisable for cash or on a cashless basis, and we will not be obligated to issue any shares to holders seeking to exercise their public warrants, unless the issuance of the shares upon such exercise is registered or qualified under the securities laws of the state of the exercising holder or an exemption from registration is available. Notwithstanding the above, if our Common Stock is at the time of any exercise of a public warrant not listed on a national securities exchange such that it satisfies the definition of a "covered security" under Section 18(b)(1) of the Securities Act, we may, at our option, require holders of public warrants who exercise their public warrants to do so on a "cashless basis" in accordance with Section 3(a)(9) of the Securities Act and, in the event we so elect, we will not be required to file or maintain in effect a registration statement, and in the event we do not so elect, we will use our best efforts to register or qualify the shares under applicable blue sky laws to the extent an exemption is not available. In no event will we be required to net cash settle any public warrant, or issue securities or other compensation in exchange for the public warrants in the event that we are unable to register or qualify the shares underlying the public warrants under applicable state securities laws and there is no exemption available. If the issuance of the shares upon exercise of the public warrants is not so registered or qualified or exempt from registration or qualification, the holder of such public warrant shall not be entitled to exercise such public warrant and such public warrant may have no value and expire worthless. In such event, holders who acquired their public warrants as part of a purchase of public units will have paid the full unit purchase price solely for the shares of Common Stock included in the public units. If and when the public warrants become redeemable by us, we may exercise our redemption right even if we are unable to register or qualify the underlying securities for sale under all applicable state securities laws. We will use our best efforts to register or qualify such shares of Common Stock under the blue sky laws of the state of residence in those states in which the warrants were offered by us in the IPO. However, there may be instances in which holders of our public warrants may be unable to exercise such public warrants but holders of our private warrants may be able to exercise such private warrants.

Our Board did not obtain a third-party valuation or fairness opinion in determining whether or not to proceed with the business combination.

Our Board did not obtain a third-party valuation or fairness opinion in connection with their determination to approve the Business Combinations. In analyzing the Business Combinations, our Board and management conducted due diligence on each of UpHealth and Cloudbreak and researched the industry in which it operates and concluded that the Business Combinations were in the best interest of our stockholders. Accordingly, investors will be relying solely on the judgment of our Board in valuing each of UpHealth's business and Cloudbreak's business, and our Board may not have properly valued such business. The lack of a third-party valuation or fairness opinion may also lead an increased number of stockholders to vote against the proposed business combination or demand redemption of their shares for cash, which could potentially impact the ability to consummate the Business Combinations or the operations of the post-combination company.

The Company may be a "controlled company" within the meaning of the applicable rules of the NYSE and, as a result, may qualify for exemptions from certain corporate governance requirements. If the Company relies on these exemptions, its stockholders will not have the same protections afforded to stockholders of companies that are subject to such requirements.

Upon the Closing, depending on the number of shares of Common Stock redeemed by the Company's public stockholders, the former UpHealth equityholders and former Cloudbreak equityholders may control a majority of the voting power of the post-combination company's outstanding Common Stock, and the Company may then be a "controlled company" within the meaning of applicable rules of the NYSE upon the Closing of the Business Combinations. Under these rules, a company of which more than 50% of the voting power for the election of directors is held by an individual, group or another company is a "controlled company" and may elect not to comply with certain corporate governance requirements, including the requirements:

- that a majority of the board consists of independent directors;
- for an annual performance evaluation of the nominating and corporate governance and compensation committees;
- that the controlled company has a nominating and corporate governance committee that is composed entirely of independent directors with a written charter addressing the committee's purpose and responsibilities; and
- that the controlled company has a compensation committee that is composed entirely of independent directors with a written charter addressing the committee's purpose and responsibility.

If available, the post-combination company may use these exemptions now or in the future. As a result, the post-combination company's stockholders may not have the same protections afforded to stockholders of companies that are subject to all of the NYSE corporate governance requirements.

If the conditions to the Business Combination Agreements are not met, the Business Combination may not occur.

Even if the Business Combination Agreements are approved by the stockholders of GigCapital2, specified conditions must be satisfied or waived before the parties to the Business Combination Agreements are obligated to complete the Business Combinations. For a list of the material closing conditions contained in the Business Combination Agreements, see the sections entitled “Conditions to Closing of the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement” and “Conditions to Closing of the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement.” GigCapital2, UpHealth and Cloudbreak may not satisfy all of the closing conditions in the Business Combination Agreements. If the closing conditions are not satisfied or waived, the Business Combinations will not occur, or will be delayed pending later satisfaction or waiver, and such delay may cause GigCapital2, UpHealth and Cloudbreak to each lose some or all of the intended benefits of the Business Combinations.

The Company’s current certificate of incorporation and proposed Second Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation provide, subject to limited exceptions, that the Court of Chancery of the State of Delaware and the federal district courts of the United States of America will be the sole and exclusive forums for substantially all disputes between the Company and its stockholders, which could limit the Company’s stockholders’ ability to obtain a favorable judicial forum for disputes with the Company or its directors, officers, or employees.

Our Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation requires (and, if adopted, our Second Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation will continue to require), to the fullest extent permitted by law, that derivative actions brought in our name, actions against our directors, officers, and employees for breach of fiduciary duty and other similar actions may be brought only in the Court of Chancery in the State of Delaware except any action (A) as to which the Court of Chancery in the State of Delaware determines that there is an indispensable party not subject to the jurisdiction of the Court of Chancery (and the indispensable party does not consent to the personal jurisdiction of the Court of Chancery within ten days following such determination), (B) which is vested in the exclusive jurisdiction of a court or forum other than the Court of Chancery, or (C) for which the Court of Chancery does not have subject matter jurisdiction. In regard to any action arising under the Exchange Act or the Securities Act, our proposed Second Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation provides that the federal district courts of the United States of America shall, to the fullest extent permitted by law, be the sole and exclusive forum. Our current Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation provides that the Court of Chancery and the federal district court for Delaware have concurrent jurisdiction for claims arising under the Securities Act. Any person or entity purchasing or otherwise acquiring any interest in shares of our capital stock shall be deemed to have notice of and consented to the forum provisions in our Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation (or, if adopted, our Second Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation). This choice of forum provision may limit a stockholder’s ability to bring a claim in a judicial forum that it finds favorable for disputes with us or any of our directors, officers, or employees which may discourage lawsuits with respect to such claims, although our stockholders will not be deemed to have waived our compliance with federal securities laws and the rules and regulations thereunder. However, there is no assurance that a court would enforce the choice of forum provision contained in our Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation or our proposed Second Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation. If a court were to find such provision to be inapplicable or unenforceable in an action, we may incur additional costs associated with resolving such action in other jurisdictions, which could harm our business, operating results and financial condition.

Our current Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation provides, and our proposed Second Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation will provide that the exclusive forum provision will be applicable to the fullest extent permitted by applicable law. Section 27 of the Exchange Act creates exclusive federal jurisdiction over all suits brought to enforce any duty or liability created by the Exchange Act or the rules and regulations thereunder. As a result, the exclusive forum provision will not apply to suits brought to enforce any duty or liability created by the Exchange Act or any other claim for which the federal courts have exclusive jurisdiction.

The future exercise of registration rights may adversely affect the market price of our Common Stock.

Certain of our stockholders will have registration rights for restricted securities. We are obligated to register certain securities, including all of the shares of Common Stock held by the Initial Stockholders, shares of Common Stock received by certain significant UpHealth stockholders as part of the UpHealth Business Combination, shares of Common Stock received by certain significant Cloudbreak members as part of the Cloudbreak Business Combination. We are obligated to (i) file a resale “shelf” registration statement to register such securities (and any shares of UpHealth Common Stock and any Cloudbreak Units into which they may be exercised following the consummation of the Business Combinations) within 15 business days after of the Closing Date and (ii) use reasonable best efforts to cause such registration statement to be declared effective by the SEC as soon as reasonably practicable after the filing. Sales of a substantial number of shares of Common Stock pursuant to the resale registration statement in the public market could occur at any time the registration statement remains effective. In addition, certain registration rights holders can request underwritten offerings to sell their securities. These sales, or the perception in the market that the holders of a large number of shares intend to sell shares, could reduce the market price of our Common Stock.

There is uncertainty regarding the U.S. federal income tax consequences of the redemption to the holders of our Common Stock.

There is some uncertainty regarding the U.S. federal income tax consequences to holders of our Common Stock who exercise their redemption rights. The uncertainty of tax consequences relates primarily to the individual circumstances of the taxpayer and include (i) whether the redemption results in a dividend or a sale taxable as capital gain, and (ii) whether such capital gain is “long-term” or “short-term.” Whether the redemption qualifies for sale treatment will depend largely on whether the holder owns (or is deemed to own) any shares of our Common Stock following the redemption, and if so, the total number of shares of our Common Stock held by the holder both before and after the redemption relative to all shares of our Common Stock outstanding both before and after the redemption. The redemption generally will be treated as a sale, rather than a dividend, if the redemption (i) is “substantially disproportionate” with respect to the holder, (ii) results in a “complete termination” of the holder’s interest in GigCapital2 or (iii) is “not essentially equivalent to a dividend” with respect to the holder. Due to the personal and subjective nature of certain of such tests and the absence of clear guidance from the IRS, there is uncertainty as to whether a holder who elects to exercise its redemption rights will be treated as receiving a dividend or recognizing capital gain. See the section entitled “Proposal No. 1—Approval of the UpHealth Business Combination—Certain U.S. Federal Income Tax Considerations.”

Risks Related to the Redemption

We do not have a specified maximum redemption threshold. The absence of such a redemption threshold may make it possible for us to complete a Business Combinations with which a substantial majority of our stockholders do not agree.

Our current amended and restated certificate of incorporation does not provide a specified maximum redemption threshold, except that we will not redeem our public shares in an amount that would cause the Company’s net tangible assets to be less than $5,000,001 upon consummation of our initial business combination (such that we are not subject to the SEC’s “penny stock” rules). However, the Business Combination Agreements provide that the obligation of each of UpHealth and Cloudbreak to consummate the Business Combinations, as applicable, is conditioned on the amount of cash or cash equivalents that we have from any source equals or exceeds $150,000,000. Furthermore, under the terms of the Convertible Note Subscription Agreements, a condition to the closing of the transactions contemplated by those agreements is that at least $50,000,000 of the $150,000,000 is from the Trust Account. This scenario therefore gives effect to $50,000,000 being retained in the Trust Account. As a result, we may be able to complete our Business Combinations even though a portion of our public stockholders do not agree with the transaction and have redeemed their shares or have entered into privately negotiated agreements to sell their shares to our Sponsor, directors or officers or their affiliates. Based on the amount of approximately $149.6 million in our Trust Account as of March 19, 2021, 9,866,819 shares of Common Stock may be redeemed and still enable us to have sufficient cash to satisfy the cash closing conditions in the Business Combination Agreements. As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, no agreements with respect to the private purchase of public shares by the Company or the persons described above have been entered into with any such investor or holder. We will file a Current Report on Form 8-K with the SEC to disclose private arrangements entered into or significant private purchases made by any of the aforementioned persons that would affect the vote on the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal, the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal or other proposals (as described in this proxy statement/prospectus) at the Special Meeting.

In the event the aggregate cash consideration we would be required to pay for all shares of Common Stock that are validly submitted for redemption plus any amount required to satisfy cash conditions pursuant to the terms of the Business Combination Agreements exceeds the aggregate amount of cash available to us, we may not complete the Business Combinations or redeem any shares, all shares of Common Stock submitted for redemption will be returned to the holders thereof, and we instead may search for an alternate business combination.

If you or a “group” of stockholders of which you are a part are deemed to hold an aggregate of 15% or more of Company Common Stock issued in the Company’s IPO, you (or, if a member of such a group, all of the members of such group in the aggregate) will lose the ability to redeem all such shares issued in the Company’s IPO.

A public stockholder, together with any of his, her or its affiliates or any other person with whom it is acting in concert or as a “group” (as defined under Section 13 of the Exchange Act), will be restricted from redeeming in the aggregate his, her or its shares or, if part of such a group, the group’s shares, of 15% or more of the shares of Common Stock included in the units sold in the Company’s IPO. The Company refers to such shares in excess of an aggregation of 15% or more of the shares sold in the Company’s IPO as “Unredeemable Shares.” In order to determine whether a stockholder is acting in concert or as a group with another stockholder, the Company will require each public stockholder seeking to exercise Redemption Rights to certify to the Company whether such stockholder is acting in concert or as a group with any other stockholder. Such certifications, together with other public information relating to stock ownership available to the Company at that time, such as Section 13D, Section 13G and Section 16 filings under the Exchange Act, will be the sole basis on which the Company makes the above-referenced determination. Your inability to redeem any Unredeemable Shares will reduce your influence over the Company’s ability to consummate the Business Combinations and you could suffer a material loss on your investment in the Company if you sell Unredeemable Shares in open market transactions. Additionally, you will not receive redemption distributions with respect to the Unredeemable Shares if the Company consummates the Business Combinations. As a result, in order to dispose of such shares, you would be required to sell your stock in open market transactions, potentially at a loss. Notwithstanding the foregoing, stockholders may challenge the Company’s determination as to whether a stockholder is acting in concert or as a group with another stockholder in a court of competent jurisdiction.

There is no guarantee that a stockholder’s decision whether to redeem their shares for a pro rata portion of the Trust Account will put the stockholder in a better future economic position.

The Company can give no assurance as to the price at which a stockholder may be able to sell its public shares in the future following the completion of the Business Combinations or any alternative business combination. Certain events following the consummation of any initial business combination, including the Business Combinations, may cause an increase in the Company’s share price, and may result in a lower value realized now than a stockholder of the Company might realize in the future had the stockholder redeemed their shares. Similarly, if a stockholder does not redeem their shares, the stockholder will bear the risk of ownership of the public shares after the consummation of any initial business combination, and there can be no assurance that a stockholder can sell its shares in the future for a greater amount than the redemption price set forth in this proxy statement/prospectus. A stockholder should consult the stockholder’s own tax and/or financial advisor for assistance on how this may affect his, her or its individual situation.

If the Company's stockholders fail to comply with the redemption requirements specified in this proxy statement/prospectus, they will not be entitled to redeem their shares of Company Common Stock for a pro rata portion of the funds held in the Trust Account.

Holders of public shares are not required to affirmatively vote either for or against the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal, the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal or any other proposal in order to exercise their rights to redeem their shares for a pro rata portion of the Trust Account. In order to exercise their Redemption Rights, they are required to submit a request in writing and deliver their stock (either physically or electronically) to the Company's transfer agent at least two (2) business days prior to the Special Meeting. Stockholders electing to redeem their shares will receive their pro rata portion the aggregate amount then on deposit in the Trust Account, including interest earned on the funds held in the Trust Account and not previously released to it to pay the Company's franchise and income taxes, calculated as of two (2) business days prior to the anticipated consummation of the Business Combination. See the section titled "Special Meeting of Company Stockholders—Redemption Rights" for additional information on how to exercise your Redemption Rights.

The Company's stockholders who wish to redeem their shares for a pro rata portion of the Trust Account must comply with specific requirements for redemption that may make it more difficult for them to exercise their Redemption Rights prior to the deadline.

The Company's public stockholders who wish to redeem their shares for a pro rata portion of the Trust Account must, among other things as fully described in the section titled "Special Meeting of Company Stockholders—Redemption Rights," tender their certificates to the Company's transfer agent or deliver their shares to the transfer agent electronically through the DTC at least two (2) business days prior to the Special Meeting. In order to obtain a physical stock certificate, a stockholder's broker and/or clearing broker, DTC and the Company's transfer agent will need to act to facilitate this request. It is the Company's understanding that stockholders should generally allot at least two weeks to obtain physical certificates from the transfer agent. However, because GigCapital2 does not have any control over this process or over the brokers, which the Company refers to as "DTC," it may take significantly longer than two weeks to obtain a physical stock certificate. If it takes longer than anticipated to obtain a physical certificate, stockholders who wish to redeem their shares may be unable to obtain physical certificates by the deadline for exercising their Redemption Rights and thus will be unable to redeem their shares.

If a stockholder fails to receive notice of our offer to redeem our public shares in connection with our Business Combinations, or fails to comply with the procedures for tendering its shares, such shares may not be redeemed.

If, despite our compliance with the proxy rules, a stockholder fails to receive our proxy materials, such stockholder may not become aware of the opportunity to redeem its shares. In addition, the proxy materials that we are furnishing to holders of our public shares in connection with our Business Combinations describes the various procedures that must be complied with in order to validly redeem public shares. In the event that a stockholder fails to complete with these procedures, its shares may not be redeemed.

UNAUDITED PRO FORMA CONDENSED COMBINED FINANCIAL DATA

On November 23, 2020, GigCapital2 announced the pending merger of a series of integrated merger transactions.

On November 23, 2020, GigCapital2, announced that it executed the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement.

Also, on November 23, 2020, GigCapital2 also announced that it executed the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement.

UpHealth has previously or contemporaneously entered into separate merger agreements with respect to the acquisitions by UpHealth of Behavioral Health Services, Innovations Group, Thrasys, and TTC Healthcare, and a share purchase agreement providing for the purchase of 90% or more of the equity interests of Glocal. All of these entities have been acquired or are probable of being acquired under US GAAP, and are therefore included in the pro forma financial statements contained herein. UpHealth has consummated the mergers of Thrasys and Behavioral Health Services and they are included in the UpHealth consolidated financial statements as of December 31, 2020. The audited statements of operations for Thrasys and Behavioral Health Services presented through November 20, 2020, the acquisition date, are shown separately, as only the activity after the acquisition date are included in the UpHealth results.

The UpHealth Business Combination Agreement

Pursuant to the terms of the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement, GigCapital2 will acquire UpHealth through the statutory merger of UpHealth Merger Sub with and into UpHealth, with UpHealth surviving the merger as a wholly owned subsidiary of GigCapital2. At the effective time of the UpHealth Business Combination, each share of UpHealth common stock will be canceled and converted into the right to receive a number of shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock equal to the Exchange Ratio. The Exchange Ratio will be equal to the Aggregate Merger Consideration divided by the sum of the aggregate number of shares of UpHealth common stock issued and outstanding immediately prior to the effective time of the UpHealth Merger. The Aggregate Merger Consideration shall not exceed 99,000,000 shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock, subject to certain adjustments, less the Thrasys Incentive Amount. UpHealth has previously entered into a share purchase agreement providing for the purchase of 90% or more of the equity interests of Glocal, with the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement providing for a purchase price adjustment for every 1% less than 90% of the equity interests that is owned by UpHealth upon the Closing. UpHealth as of the date of entry into the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement owned approximately 43% of the equity interests of Glocal. On March 26, 2021, UpHealth acquired an additional 46% of the equity interests of Glocal, and as a result, now owns 89% of the equity interests of Glocal. The Aggregate Merger Consideration may be reduced by certain share thresholds if the Glocal acquisition at the 90% threshold is not completed.

The Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement

Pursuant to the terms of the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement (and any terms used in this paragraph that are not otherwise defined are as defined in the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement), GigCapital2 will acquire Cloudbreak through the statutory merger of Cloudbreak Merger Sub with and into Cloudbreak, with Cloudbreak surviving the merger as a wholly owned subsidiary of GigCapital2. At the effective time of the Cloudbreak Business Combination: (i) each Cloudbreak Unit (and the membership interests represented thereby) issued and outstanding immediately prior to the Closing shall be converted into the right to receive a number of shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock equal to the Common Unit Exchange Ratio; (ii) each Series A Preferred Unit (and the membership interests represented thereby) issued and outstanding immediately prior to the Closing shall be converted into the right to receive a number of shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock equal to the Preferred Unit Exchange Ratio (in addition to any Business Combination Share Adjustment to which each Series A Preferred Unit is entitled); and (iii) each option that is outstanding and unexercised immediately prior to the Closing, whether vested or unvested, shall be assumed by GigCapital2 and converted into an option to purchase a number of shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock in an amount set forth on the Allocation Schedule, which amount shall be equal to the product of (a) the number of Cloudbreak Units subject to such option, multiplied by (b) the Common Unit Exchange Ratio. Each holder of Exchanged Options shall also be entitled to any Business Combination Share Adjustment made pursuant to the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement. Additionally, immediately prior to the Closing each common warrant shall convert into Common Units in accordance with their terms. The aggregate number of shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock issuable at the Closing, and upon the exercise of all Exchanged Options on a net exercise basis, shall equal 11,000,000 shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock.

Pro Forma Condensed Combined Financial Statements

The unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial statements have been prepared using the acquisition method of accounting in accordance with Accounting Standards Codification (“ASC”) Topic 805, “Business Combinations,” (“ASC 805”) with the Company treated as the legal acquirer. Under ASC 805, UpHealth was determined to be the ultimate accounting acquirer for the UpHealth mergers. The following tables set forth an unaudited pro forma condensed combined balance sheet as of December 31, 2020, and an unaudited proforma condensed combined statement of operations for the twelve months ended December 31, 2020 (as adjusted for conforming presentation periods for Glocal, a March 31 year-end). The unaudited pro forma condensed combined balance sheet as of December 31, 2020 gives effect to the Acquisition as if it had occurred on that date. The pro forma balance sheet data is derived from the audited historical financial statements (as restated) of GigCapital2 and the audited historical financial statements of the Merger entities as of December 31, 2020, except as to Glocal which, as noted, is a March 31 year-end. The unaudited pro forma condensed combined statement of operations for the twelve months ended December 31, 2020, has been prepared to illustrate the effects of the Acquisition, as if it had occurred on January 1, 2020. The pro forma condensed combined statement of operations is derived from the audited financial statements (as restated) of GigCapital2 for the year ended December 31, 2020, the audited financial statements of each of the UpHealth and Cloudbreak merger entities for the year ended December 31, 2020.

The historical financial statements have been adjusted in the unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial statements to give effect to events that are (i) directly attributable to the Acquisition, (ii) factually supportable, and (iii) with respect to the statements of operations, expected to have a continuing impact on the combined company. The unaudited pro forma condensed combined statements of operations reflect non-recurring transaction charges directly related to the Acquisition that the combined company has incurred in furtherance of consummation of the Acquisition, as well as transaction costs incurred, but not yet recorded, subsequent to December 31, 2020. Further, the tax rate used for these unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial statements is an estimated effective tax rate, which will likely vary from the actual effective rate in periods subsequent to the completion of the Acquisition.

The unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial statements have been prepared for informational purposes only and are not necessarily indicative of what the combined company’s condensed consolidated financial position or results of operations actually would have been had the Acquisition been consummated prior to December 31, 2020, nor are they necessarily indicative of future results of operations. In addition, the unaudited pro forma combined financial statements do not purport to project the future financial position or operating results of the combined company. The fair value of each of the Merger entities’ identifiable tangible and intangible assets acquired and liabilities assumed are based on preliminary estimates and are subject to adjustment as, and if, more information is obtained within twelve months of the consummation of the Mergers. As of the date of filing of this Form S-4 to which the following unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial statements are attached, the Company has not completed the detailed valuation work necessary to finalize the required estimated fair values of the Merger entities’ assets acquired and liabilities assumed and related allocation of purchase price. The purchase price allocation and related depreciation and amortization included in the unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial statements are preliminary and have been made solely for purposes of preparing these unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial statements. Management anticipates that the values assigned to the assets acquired and liabilities assumed will be finalized during the one-year measurement period following the date of completion of the Acquisition. Differences between these preliminary estimates and the final acquisition accounting may occur and these differences could have a material impact on the unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial statements and the combined company's future results of operations and financial position. In addition, certain reclassifications have been made to the Merger entities' historical financial statements to conform to the presentation used in the Company's historical financial statements. Such reclassifications had no effect on the Merger entities' previously reported financial position or results of operations, except as to Glocal which, as noted, is a March 31 year-end.

The unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial statements do not include any adjustments for the anticipated benefits from cost savings or synergies of GigCapital2 and the merger entities' operating as a combined company or for liabilities resulting from integration planning, as management is in the process of making these assessments. However, liabilities ultimately may be recorded for additional costs in subsequent periods related to all merger entity companies, including severance, relocation or retention costs related to employees of the merger entities, as well as other costs associated with integrating and/or restructuring the companies. The ultimate recognition of such costs and liabilities would affect amounts in the unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial statements, and such costs and liabilities could be material.

The unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial statements should be read in conjunction with the:

- accompanying notes to the unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial statements;
- audited historical financial statements (as restated) of the Company as of and for the year ended December 31, 2020; and
- audited historical consolidated financial statements of the merger entities as of and for the year ended December 31, 2020 (twelve months ended March 31, 2020 for Glocal).

The unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial statements have been prepared using two different levels of assumed redemptions of Common Stock:

- Assuming No Redemption: This scenario assumes that no additional shares of Common Stock are redeemed; and
- Assuming Maximum Redemption: This scenario assumes that 9,867,309 shares of Common Stock are redeemed for an aggregate payment of approximately $99,700,000 (based on the estimated per share redemption price of approximately $10.10 per share based on the fair value of marketable securities held in the Trust Account as of March 19, 2021 of approximately $149,700,000) from the Trust Account. The Business Combination Agreements provide that each of UpHealth's and Cloudbreak's obligation to consummate the Business Combinations, as applicable, is conditioned on the funds in the Trust Account being no less than an aggregate amount of $150,000,000. Furthermore, under the terms of the Convertible Note Subscription Agreements, a condition to the closing of the transactions contemplated by those agreements is that at least $50,000,000 of the $150,000,000 is from the Trust Account. This scenario therefore gives effect to $50,000,000 being retained in the Trust Account. This results in public share redemptions of 9,867,309 shares for aggregate redemption payments of approximately $99,700,000.

(c) GigCapital2

1. 6. In accordance with the two-class method, GigCapital2's net loss is adjusted for net income that is attributable to common stock subject to redemption, as these shares only participate in the income of the Trust Account and not the losses of the Company. Accordingly, net loss per common share, basic and diluted, is calculated using only non-redeemable common stock. Post-combination, the calculation will no longer be governed by the two-class method of computing earnings per share.
7. Prior to the Global merger, basic and diluted shares exclude 14,284,449 common shares, after giving effect to the March 2021 redemption of 1,852,804 common shares, which would be potentially redeemable prior to consummation of a Business Combination in accordance with the contractual agreement of the SPAC.

Diluted earnings per share excluded 15,906,719 shares for the year ended December 31, 2020 related to the conversion of qualified and nonqualified incentive plan equity instruments that vest and convert upon a change of control, with an exercise price per share greater than the average fair value, resulting in an anti-dilutive effect on diluted earnings per share. This proposal will only be presented at the Special Meeting if there are not sufficient votes to approve the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal, the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal, the NYSE Stock Issuance Proposal, the Charter Amendment Proposals, the Incentive Plan Proposal or the Election of Directors Proposal.

THE BOARD UNANIMOUSLY RECOMMENDS THAT YOU VOTE “FOR” EACH OF THESE PROPOSALS.

Vote of the Initial Stockholders, Directors and Officers

Prior to our IPO, we entered into agreements with our Initial Stockholders, other current directors and officers, pursuant to which each agreed to vote any shares of Common Stock owned by them in favor of an initial business combination. These agreements apply to our Initial Stockholders, including our Sponsor, as it relates to the Founder Shares and the requirement to vote all of the Founder Shares in favor of the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal, the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal and for all other proposals to be presented to our stockholders at the Special Meeting and described in this proxy statement/prospectus.

Our Initial Stockholders, other current directors and officers have waived any redemption rights, including with respect to shares of Common Stock purchased in our IPO or in the aftermarket, in connection with Business Combination. The Founder Shares held by our Initial Stockholders have no redemption rights upon our liquidation and will be worthless if no business combination is effected by us by the applicable deadline. However, our Initial Stockholders are entitled to redemption rights upon our liquidation with respect to any public shares they may own.

Quorum and Required Vote for Proposals for the Special Meeting

The approval of each of the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal and the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal requires the affirmative vote of holders of a majority of the outstanding shares of our Common Stock represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon at the Special Meeting. In order to establish the quorum for purposes of each of the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal and the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal, holders of at least a majority of the outstanding shares of Common Stock must be present at the Special Meeting in person or by proxy. Accordingly, a Company stockholder’s failure to vote by proxy or to vote in person at the Special Meeting will not be counted towards the number of shares of Common Stock required to validly establish a quorum, and if a valid quorum is otherwise established, such failure to vote will have no effect on the outcome of any vote on each of the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal and the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal. Abstentions will be counted in connection with the determination of whether a valid quorum is established and will have the same effect as a vote “AGAINST” each of the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal and the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal.

The approval of the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal, the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal, the NYSE Stock Issuance Proposal, the Incentive Plan Proposal, the Election of Directors Proposal and the Adjournment Proposal requires the affirmative vote of a majority of the votes cast by holders of our Common Stock represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote at the Special Meeting. The approval of the Charter Amendment Proposals requires the affirmative vote of holders of a majority of our outstanding shares of Common Stock entitled to vote thereon at the Special Meeting.

Under these voting standards, a failure to vote or an abstention will have no effect on the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal, the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal and the Adjournment Proposal. However, an abstention or failure to vote will have the same effect as a vote “AGAINST” the Charter Amendment Proposals. In addition, for purposes of the NYSE Stock Issuance Proposal and the Incentive Plan Proposal, the NYSE considers an abstention vote as a “vote cast”, and therefore, an abstention will have the same effect as a vote “AGAINST” such proposals, while a failure to vote will have no effect on these two proposals.

The transactions contemplated by the Business Combination Agreements will be consummated only if the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal, the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal, the NYSE Stock Issuance Proposal, the Charter Amendment Proposals, the Incentive Plan Proposal and the Election of Directors Proposal are approved at the Special Meeting. The proposals in this proxy statement/prospectus (other than the Adjournment Proposal) are conditioned on the approval of each of the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal and the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal.

It is important for you to note that in the event that the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal, the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal, the NYSE Stock Issuance Proposal, the Charter Amendment Proposals, the Incentive Plan Proposal or the Election of Directors Proposal do not receive the requisite vote for approval, we will not consummate the Business Combinations. If we do not consummate the Business Combinations and fail to complete an initial business combination by the applicable deadline, we will be required to dissolve and liquidate our Trust Account by returning the then remaining funds in such account to our public stockholders.

Recommendation to Company Stockholders

Our Board believes that each of the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal, the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal, the NYSE Stock Issuance Proposal, the Charter Amendment Proposals, the Incentive Plan Proposal, the Election of Directors Proposal and the Adjournment Proposal to be presented at the Special Meeting is in the best interests of the Company and our stockholders and recommends that its stockholders vote “FOR” each of the proposals.

When you consider the recommendation of our Board in favor of approval of the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal and the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal, you should keep in mind that our Sponsor and certain members of our Board and officers have interests in the Business Combinations that are different from or in addition to (or which may conflict with) your interests as a stockholder. Stockholders should take these interests into account in deciding whether to approve the proposals presented at the Special Meeting, including the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal and the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal. These interests include, among other things:

- the fact that our Initial Stockholders have agreed not to redeem any of the Founder Shares in connection with a stockholder vote to approve the Business Combinations;
- the fact that our Initial Stockholders have agreed to waive their rights to liquidating distributions from the Trust Account with respect to their Founder Shares if we fail to complete an initial business combination by the applicable deadline;
- if the Trust Account is liquidated, including in the event we are unable to complete an initial business combination within the required time period, our Sponsor has agreed to indemnify us to ensure that the proceeds in the Trust Account are not reduced below $10.00 per public share, or such lesser per public share amount as is in the Trust Account on the liquidation date, by the claims of prospective target businesses with which we have entered into an acquisition agreement or claims of any third party (other than our independent public accountants) for services rendered or products sold to us, but only if such a vendor or target business has not executed a waiver of any and all rights to seek access to the Trust Account;
- the continued indemnification of our existing directors and officers and the continuation of our directors’ and officers’ liability insurance after the Business Combinations;
- the fact that Dr. Avi Katz, Dr. Raluca Dinu and Neil Miotto will remain as board members of the post-combination company and each shall be entitled to receive compensation for serving on the board of directors of the post-combination company;
- the fact that we engaged the underwriters of our IPO as advisors to assist it in holding meetings with our stockholders to discuss potential business combination, introduce GigCapital2 to potential investors that are interested in purchasing our securities in connection with a potential business combination, assist it in obtaining stockholder approval for the business combination and assist us with our press releases and public filings in connection with a business combination. Pursuant to that agreement, we will pay the underwriters a cash fee for such services upon the consummation of the Business Combinations in an amount equal to, in the aggregate, 3.5% of the gross proceeds of the IPO, including any proceeds from the exercise of the over-allotment option; and

- the fact that our Sponsor, officers and directors will lose their entire investment in us if an initial business combination is not consummated by the applicable deadline. Prior to GigCapital2's initial public offering, our Founders purchased an aggregate of 4,307,500 Founder Shares for an aggregate purchase price of $25,000, or approximately $0.0058 per share (as compared to the $10.00 per share price being used to determine the number of shares of Common Stock being issued to the UpHealth and Cloudbreak equity holders in the Business Combinations or at which the PIPE Investors have agreed to purchase Common Stock), with the Sponsor purchasing 4,018,987 Founder Shares, Northland Investment purchasing 173,108 Founder Shares and the EarlyBird Group purchasing 115,405 Founder Shares. Additionally, the Founders purchased from GigCapital2 an aggregate of 567,500 Private Placement Units at a price of $10.00 per unit simultaneously with the consummation of GigCapital2's initial public offering for an aggregate purchase price of $5,675,000, with the Sponsor purchasing 481,250 Private Placement Units, Northland Investment purchasing 56,350 Private Placement Units and the EarlyBird Group purchasing 29,900 Private Placement Units. In addition, Northland concurrently purchased 120,000 Private Underwriter Shares at a price of $10.00 per share. Certain of GigCapital2's directors and executive officers, including Dr. Avi Katz, Dr. Raluca Dinu, Neil Miotto, John Mikulsky and Gil Frostig, also have a direct or indirect economic interest in the 481,250 Private Placement Units and in the 4,018,987 Founder Shares owned by the Sponsor. The 4,018,987 Founder Shares owned by the Sponsor would have had an aggregate market value of $40,390,819 based upon the closing price of $10.05 per public share on the NYSE on May 5, 2021, the most recent practicable date prior to the date of this proxy statement/prospectus. The 481,250 private placement units held by the Sponsor would have had an aggregate market value of $5,197,500 based upon the closing price of $10.80 per public unit on the NYSE on May 5, 2021, the most recent practicable date prior to the date of this proxy statement/prospectus. Additionally, the Sponsor, officers and directors do not currently have any unreimbursed out-of-pocket expenses in connection with the business combinations.

Broker Non-Votes and Abstentions

Abstentions are considered present for the purposes of establishing a quorum. Abstentions will have the same effect as a vote “AGAINST” the Charter Amendment Proposals, but will have no effect on the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal, the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal, the NYSE Stock Issuance Proposal, the Incentive Plan Proposal, the Election of Directors Proposal and the Adjournment Proposal.

In general, if your shares are held in “street” name and you do not instruct your broker, bank or other nominee on a timely basis on how to vote your shares, your broker, bank or other nominee, in its sole discretion, may either leave your shares unvoted or vote your shares on routine matters, but not on any non-routine matters. None of the proposals at the Special Meeting are routine matters. As such, without your voting instructions, your brokerage firm cannot vote your shares on any proposal to be voted on at the Special Meeting.

Voting Your Shares—Stockholders of Record

If you are a Company stockholder of record, you may vote by mail or in person at the Special Meeting. Each share of our Common Stock that you own in your name entitles you to one vote on each of the proposals for the Special Meeting. Your one or more proxy cards show the number of shares of our Common Stock that you own.

Voting by Mail. You can vote your shares by completing, signing, dating and returning the enclosed proxy card in the postage-paid envelope provided. By signing the proxy card and returning it in the enclosed prepaid and addressed envelope, you are authorizing the individuals named on the proxy card to vote your shares at the Special Meeting in the manner you indicate. We encourage you to sign and return the proxy card even if you plan to attend the Special Meeting so that your shares will be voted if you are unable to attend the Special Meeting. If you receive more than one proxy card, it is an indication that your shares are held in multiple accounts. Please sign and return all proxy cards to ensure that all of your shares are voted. If you hold your shares in “street name” through a bank, broker or other nominee, you will need to follow the instructions provided to you by your bank, broker or other nominee to ensure that your shares are represented and voted at the Special Meeting. If you sign and return the proxy card but do not give instructions on how to vote your shares, your shares of our Common Stock will be voted as recommended by our Board. Our Board recommends voting “FOR” the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal, “FOR” the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal, “FOR” the NYSE Stock Issuance Proposal, “FOR” the Charter Amendment Proposals, “FOR” the Incentive Plan Proposal, “FOR” the Election of Directors Proposal and “FOR” the Adjournment Proposal. Votes submitted by mail must be received by 5:00 p.m. Eastern Time (EDT), on June 3, 2021.

Voting at the Meeting—We will be hosting the Special Meeting via live webcast. If you attend the Special Meeting, you may submit your vote at the Special Meeting online at <https://www.cstproxy.com/gigcapital2/2021>, in which case any votes that you previously submitted will be superseded by the vote that you cast at the Special Meeting. See “Registering for the Special Meeting” above for further details on how to attend the Special Meeting.

Voting Your Shares—Beneficial Owners

If your shares are held in an account at a brokerage firm, bank or other nominee, then you are the beneficial owner of shares held in “street name” and this proxy statement/prospectus is being sent to you by that broker, bank or other nominee. The broker, bank or other nominee holding your account is considered to be the stockholder of record for purposes of voting at the Special Meeting. As a beneficial owner, you have the right to direct your broker, bank or other nominee regarding how to vote the shares in your account by following the instructions that the broker, bank or other nominee provides you along with this proxy statement/prospectus. As a beneficial owner, if you wish to vote at the Special Meeting, you will need to bring to the Special Meeting a legal proxy from your broker, bank or other nominee authorizing you to vote those shares. Please see “Attending the Special Meeting” below for more details.

Revoking Your Proxy

If you give a proxy, you may revoke it at any time before the Special Meeting or at the Special Meeting by doing any one of the following:

- you may send another proxy card with a later date;
- you may notify the Company’s Secretary in writing to c/o 1731 Embarcadero Rd., Suite 200, Palo Alto, CA, Attn: Secretary, before the Special Meeting that you have revoked your proxy; or
- you may attend the Special Meeting, revoke your proxy, and vote in person, as indicated above.

No Additional Matters

The Special Meeting has been called only to consider the approval of the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal, the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal, the NYSE Stock Issuance Proposal, the Charter Amendment Proposals, the Incentive Plan Proposal, the Election of Directors Proposal and the Adjournment Proposal. Under our bylaws, other than procedural matters incident to the conduct of the Special Meeting, no other matters may be considered at the Special Meeting if they are not included in this proxy statement/prospectus, which serves as the notice of the Special Meeting.

Redemption Rights

Pursuant to our certificate of incorporation, any holders of our public shares may demand that such shares be redeemed in exchange for a pro rata share of the aggregate amount on deposit in the Trust Account, including interest (which interest shall be net of taxes payable), calculated as of two business days prior to the consummation of the Business Combinations. If demand is properly made and the Business Combinations are consummated, these shares, immediately prior to the Business Combinations, will cease to be outstanding and will represent only the right to receive a pro rata share of the aggregate amount on deposit in the Trust Account which holds the proceeds of our IPO (calculated as of two business days prior to the consummation of the Business Combinations, including interest (which interest shall be net of taxes payable)). For illustrative purposes, based on the fair value of marketable securities held in the Trust Account of approximately $168,000,000 as of January 31, 2021, the estimated per share redemption price would have been approximately $10.10 on such date.

Public stockholders may elect to redeem their shares even if they vote for the Business Combinations. Any request to redeem public shares, once made, may be withdrawn at any time until the deadline for exercising redemption requests and thereafter, with our consent, until the Closing. If we receive valid redemption requests from holders of public shares prior to the redemption deadline, we may, at our sole discretion, following the redemption deadline and until the date of Closing, seek and permit withdrawals by one or more of such holders of their redemption requests. We may select which holders to seek such withdrawals of redemption requests from based on any factors we may deem relevant, and the purpose of seeking such withdrawals may be to increase the funds held in the Trust Account, including where we otherwise would not satisfy the closing condition to have cash or cash equivalents from any source that equal or exceed $150,000,000.

In order to exercise your Redemption Rights, you must:

- if you hold public units, separate the underlying public shares, public rights and public warrants;
- prior to 5:00 p.m. Eastern Time (EDT), on June 2, 2021 (two business days before the Special Meeting), tender your shares physically or electronically and submit a request in writing that we redeem your public shares for cash to Continental Stock Transfer & Trust Company, our Transfer Agent, at the following address:

Continental Stock Transfer & Trust Company
1 State Street – 30th Floor
New York, New York 10004
E-mail: mzimkind@continentalstock.com

- in your request to Continental Stock Transfer & Trust Company for redemption, you must also affirmatively certify if you “ARE” or “ARE NOT” acting in concert or as a “group” (as defined in Section 13d-3 of the Exchange Act) with any other stockholder with respect to shares of Common Stock; and
- deliver your public shares either physically or electronically through DTC’s DWAC system to our Transfer Agent at least two business days before the Special Meeting. Stockholders seeking to exercise their Redemption Rights and opting to deliver physical certificates should allot sufficient time to obtain physical certificates from the Transfer Agent and time to effect delivery. It is our understanding that stockholders should generally allot at least two weeks to obtain physical certificates from the Transfer Agent. However, we do not have any control over this process and it may take longer than two weeks. Stockholders who hold their shares in street name will have to coordinate with their bank, broker or other nominee to have the shares certificated or delivered electronically. If you do not submit a written request and deliver your public shares as described above, your shares will not be redeemed.

Stockholders seeking to exercise their Redemption Rights, whether they are record holders or hold their shares in “street name” are required to either tender their certificates to our Transfer Agent prior to the date that is two business days prior to the Special Meeting, or to deliver their shares to the Transfer Agent electronically using DTC's DWAC system, at such stockholder's option. The requirement for physical or electronic delivery prior to the Special Meeting ensures that a redeeming stockholder's election to redeem is irrevocable once the Business Combinations are approved.

Any demand for redemption, once made, may be withdrawn at any time until the deadline for exercising redemption requests (and submitting shares to the transfer agent) and thereafter, with our consent, until the vote is taken with respect to the Business Combinations. If you delivered your shares for redemption to our transfer agent and decide within the required timeframe not to exercise your Redemption Rights, you may request that our transfer agent return the shares (physically or electronically). You may make such request by contacting our Transfer Agent at the address listed above.

Holders of outstanding public units must separate the underlying public shares, public rights and public warrants prior to exercising Redemption Rights with respect to the public shares.

If you hold public units registered in your own name, you must deliver the certificate for such public units to Continental Stock Transfer & Trust Company, our Transfer Agent, with written instructions to separate such public units into public shares, public rights and public warrants. This must be completed far enough in advance to permit the mailing of the public share certificates back to you so that you may then exercise your Redemption Rights upon the separation of the public shares from the public units.

If a broker, dealer, commercial bank, trust company or other nominee holds your public units, you must instruct such nominee to separate your public units. Your nominee must send written instructions by facsimile to Continental Stock Transfer & Trust Company, our Transfer Agent. Such written instructions must include the number of public units to be split and the nominee holding such public units. Your nominee must also initiate electronically, using DTC's DWAC system, a withdrawal of the relevant units and a deposit of an equal number of public shares and completed far enough in advance to permit your nominee to exercise your Redemption Rights upon the separation of the public shares from the public units. While this is typically done electronically on the same business day, you should allow at least one full business day to accomplish the separation. If you fail to cause your public shares to be separated in a timely manner, you will likely not be able to exercise your Redemption Rights.

Each redemption of shares of Common Stock by our public stockholders will reduce the amount in the Trust Account. The Business Combination Agreements provide that the obligations of each of UpHealth and Cloudbreak to consummate each of the UpHealth Business Combination and the Cloudbreak Business Combination, as applicable, is conditioned on the amount of cash or cash equivalents that we have from any source will be no less than an aggregate amount of $150,000,000. This condition to closing in each of the Business Combination Agreements is for the sole benefit of the parties thereto and may be waived by UpHealth and Cloudbreak, as applicable. If, as a result of redemptions of Common Stock by our public stockholders, this condition is not met (or waived), then UpHealth or Cloudbreak (as applicable) may elect not to consummate the Business Combinations, as applicable. Furthermore, under the terms of the Convertible Note Subscription Agreements, a condition to the closing of the transactions contemplated by those agreements is that at least $50,000,000 of the $150,000,000 is from the Trust Account. In addition, in no event will we redeem shares of our Common Stock in an amount that would result in the Company's failure to have net tangible assets equaling or exceeding $5,000,001 (so that we are not subject to the SEC's "penny stock" rules). Holders of our outstanding public warrants do not have redemption rights in connection with the Business Combinations.

Prior to exercising Redemption Rights, stockholders should verify the market price of our Common Stock as they may receive higher proceeds from the sale of their Common Stock in the public market than from exercising their Redemption Rights if the market price per share is higher than the redemption price. We cannot assure you that you will be able to sell your shares of our Common Stock in the open market, even if the market price per share is higher than the redemption price stated above, as there may not be sufficient liquidity in our Common Stock when you wish to sell your shares.

If you exercise your Redemption Rights, your shares of our Common Stock will cease to be outstanding immediately prior to the Business Combinations and will only represent the right to receive a pro rata share of the aggregate amount on deposit in the Trust Account. You will no longer own those shares and will have no right to participate in, or have any interest in, the future growth of the post-combination company, if any. You will be entitled to receive cash for these shares only if you properly and timely demand redemption.

If the Business Combinations are not approved and we do not consummate an initial business combination by June 10, 2021, unless we amend our certificate of incorporation again to further extend the time that we have to consummate a business combination, we will be required to dissolve and liquidate our Trust Account by returning the then remaining funds in such account to the public stockholders and our warrants will expire worthless.

Appraisal Rights

Appraisal rights are not available to holders of shares of our Common Stock in connection with the Business Combinations.

PROPOSAL NO. 1—APPROVAL OF THE UPHEALTH BUSINESS COMBINATION

We are asking our stockholders to approve and adopt the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement and the UpHealth Business Combination. Our stockholders should carefully read this proxy statement/prospectus in its entirety for more detailed information concerning the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement, a copy of which is attached as Annex A to this proxy statement/prospectus. Please see the subsection below entitled “The UpHealth Business Combination Agreement” for additional information and a summary of certain terms of the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement. You are urged to read carefully the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement in its entirety before voting on this proposal.

Because we are holding a special meeting of stockholders to vote on the UpHealth Business Combination, pursuant to the terms of Section 9.2(e) of our current amended and restated certificate of incorporation, we may consummate the UpHealth Business Combination only if it is approved by the affirmative vote (online or by proxy) of the holders of a majority of the outstanding shares of our Common Stock entitled to vote and actually cast thereon online at the special meeting, voting as a single class.

The UpHealth Business Combination Agreement

This subsection of the proxy statement/prospectus describes the material provisions of the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement, but does not purport to describe all of the terms of the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement. The following summary is qualified in its entirety by reference to the complete text of the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement, a copy of which is attached as Annex A hereto. You are urged to read the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement in its entirety because it is the primary legal document that governs the UpHealth Business Combination. All capitalized terms used in this Proposal No. 1 but not otherwise defined herein shall have the meanings assigned to such terms in the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement.

The UpHealth Business Combination Agreement contains representations, warranties and covenants that the respective parties made to each other as of the date of the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement or other specific dates. The assertions embodied in those representations, warranties and covenants were made and will be made for purposes of the contract among the respective parties and are subject to important qualifications and limitations agreed to by the parties in connection with negotiating the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement. The representations, warranties and covenants in the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement are also modified in important part by the underlying disclosure schedules, which we refer to as the “Schedules,” which are not filed publicly and which are subject to a contractual standard of materiality different from that generally applicable to stockholders and were used for the purpose of allocating risk among the parties rather than establishing matters as facts.

General: Structure of the UpHealth Business Combination

On November 20, 2020, GigCapital2, UpHealth Merger Sub and UpHealth entered into the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement (as subsequently amended and as it may be further amended from time to time), pursuant to which UpHealth Merger Sub and UpHealth will consummate the UpHealth Business Combination. The terms of the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement, which contains customary representations and warranties, covenants, closing conditions, termination provisions and other terms relating to the merger and the other transactions contemplated thereby, are summarized below.

The merger is to become effective by the filing of a certificate of merger with the Secretary of State of the State of Delaware and will be effective immediately upon such filing or upon such later time as may be agreed by the parties and specified in such certificate of merger. The parties will hold the Closing immediately prior to such filing of a certificate of merger, on the Closing Date to be specified by GigCapital2 and UpHealth, following the satisfaction or waiver (to the extent such waiver is permitted by applicable law) of the conditions set forth in the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement (other than those conditions that by their nature are to be satisfied at the Closing, but subject to the satisfaction or waiver of those conditions at such time), but in no event later than three business days after the satisfaction or waiver, if legally permissible, of each of the conditions to the completion of the UpHealth Business Combination (or on such other date, time or place as GigCapital2 and UpHealth may mutually agree).

Each share of UpHealth Common Stock issued and outstanding immediately prior to the effective time (other than shares owned by UpHealth as treasury stock and Dissenting Shares (as defined in the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement)) will be canceled and converted into the right to receive a number of shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock equal to the Exchange Ratio (as defined in the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement). The Exchange Ratio will be equal to the Aggregate Merger Consideration (as defined in the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement) divided by the sum of the aggregate number of shares of UpHealth Common Stock issued and outstanding immediately prior to the effective time of the UpHealth Business Combination. The Aggregate Merger Consideration shall not exceed 99,000,000 shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock, subject to certain adjustments, less the Thrasys Incentive Amount. UpHealth has previously entered into a share purchase agreement providing for the purchase of 90% or more of the equity interests of Glocal, with the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement providing for a purchase price adjustment for every 1% less than 90% of the equity interests that is owned by UpHealth upon the Closing. UpHealth as of the date of entry into the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement owned approximately 43% of the equity interests of Glocal. On March 26, 2021, UpHealth acquired an additional 46% of the equity interests of Glocal, and as a result, now owns 89% of the equity interests of Glocal. The Aggregate Merger Consideration shall be reduced by approximately 99,000 shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock for each 1.0% interest of Glocal that is below 90% and that is not yet acquired by UpHealth upon the UpHealth Closing. Adjustments to the Aggregate Merger Consideration will further be made to the extent that the indebtedness at the Closing of UpHealth and the Company Subsidiaries less the cash and cash equivalents of UpHealth and the Company Subsidiaries as of immediately before such time is greater than $33,850,000 (excluding any Acquisition Promissory Notes). The Acquisition Promissory Notes are promissory notes previously issued by UpHealth for its acquisitions of Thrasys, Behavioral Health Services, TTC Healthcare, Innovations Group and the interests in Glocal, with a maximum aggregate principal amount of $86,200,000, of which $35,500,000 is due and payable at the Closing.

Two individuals who are officers of UpHealth, and were shareholders of Thrasys prior to its merger with UpHealth, will following the UpHealth Closing, if he or she is a service provider to GigCapital2, the Surviving Corporation or any of the Company Subsidiaries as of the date of grant, be awarded restricted stock units of GigCapital2 in the amount of the Thrasys Incentive Amount. Following the amendments of the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement on January 29, 2021 and March 23, 2021, the Thrasys Incentive Amount that shall be eligible to be granted shall be (a) 32.016% multiplied by (b) 15.136% multiplied by (c) the Adjusted Aggregate Merger/Incentive Amount. The Adjusted Aggregate Merger/Incentive Amount shall be (a) $990,000,000, subject to certain adjustments, divided by (b) $10.00. In the event that either individual ceases to be a service provider to GigCapital2, the Surviving Corporation or any of the Company Subsidiaries as of the date of grant, the portion of the Thrasys Incentive Amount allocated to such individual will not be reallocated to the other individual. Such restricted stock units shall vest into shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock at the earlier of (i) the date that is one year after the UpHealth Closing, (ii) the date on which the last sale price of GigCapital2 Common Stock equals or exceeds $12.50 per share (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, reorganizations, recapitalizations and the like) for any 20 trading days within any 30-trading day period commencing at least 90 days after the UpHealth Closing, or (iii) the date on which GigCapital2 completes a liquidation, merger, stock exchange or other similar transaction that results in all of the GigCapital2's stockholders having the right to exchange their shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock for cash, securities or other property. If either of these individuals ceases to be a service provider to GigCapital2, the Surviving Corporation or any of the Company Subsidiaries prior to any vesting date, the unvested portion of the restricted stock units shall be cancelled and surrendered to GigCapital2.

Conversion of Securities

At the effective time of the UpHealth Business Combination, by virtue of the merger and without any action on the part of GigCapital2, UpHealth Merger Sub, UpHealth or the holders of any of UpHealth's securities:

- each share of UpHealth Common Stock issued and outstanding immediately prior to the effective time of the UpHealth Business Combination will be canceled and converted into the right to receive the number of shares of our Common Stock equal to the Exchange Ratio;
- all shares of UpHealth Common Stock held in the treasury of UpHealth will be canceled without any conversion thereof and no payment or distribution will be made with respect thereto;
- each share of UpHealth Merger Sub Common Stock issued and outstanding immediately prior to the effective time of the UpHealth Business Combination will be converted into and exchanged for one validly issued, fully paid and nonassessable share of UpHealth Common Stock; and
- in lieu of any fractional share of Common Stock to which holders of UpHealth Common Stock would otherwise be entitled, fractional shares shall be rounded up or down to the nearest whole share of Common Stock.

Following the consummation of the UpHealth Business Combination, the proposed Second Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation will be filed with the Office of the Secretary of State of the State of Delaware.

Closing

The Closing will occur as promptly as practicable, but in no event later than three business days following the satisfaction or, if permissible, waiver of all of the closing conditions.

- amend or otherwise change its certificate of incorporation, bylaws or equivalent organizational documents;
- issue, sell, pledge, dispose of, grant or encumber, or authorize the issuance, sale, pledge, disposition, grant or encumbrance of, any shares of any class of capital stock of UpHealth, or any options, warrants, convertible securities or other rights of any kind to acquire any shares of such capital stock, or any other ownership interest (including, without limitation, any phantom interest) or any material assets of UpHealth, except that a Company Subsidiary shall have the right to implement changes contemplated by the relevant acquisition agreement executed between the Company Subsidiary and UpHealth to facilitate the transactions contemplated thereunder and under the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement;

Some of the conditions to GigCapital2’s obligations are qualified by the concept of an “UpHealth Material Adverse Effect.” Under the terms of the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement, an “UpHealth Material Adverse Effect” means any event, circumstance, change, development, effect or occurrence (collectively, “Effect”) that, individually or in the aggregate with all other Effects, (a) is or would reasonably be expected to be materially adverse to the business, financial condition, assets, liabilities or results of operations of UpHealth or (b) would prevent, materially delay or materially impede the performance by UpHealth of its obligations under the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement or the consummation of the UpHealth Business Combination; provided, however, that none of the following shall be deemed to constitute, alone or in combination, or be taken into account in the determination of whether, there has been or will be an UpHealth Material Adverse Effect: (i) any change or proposed change in or change in the interpretation of any law or GAAP; (ii) events or conditions generally affecting the industries or geographic areas in which UpHealth operates; (iii) any downturn in general economic conditions, including changes in the credit, debt, securities, financial or capital markets (including changes in interest or exchange rates, prices of any security or market index or commodity or any disruption of such markets); (iv) acts of war, sabotage, civil unrest or terrorism, or any escalation or worsening of any such acts of war, sabotage, civil unrest or terrorism, or changes in global, national, regional, state or local political or social conditions; (v) any hurricane, tornado, flood, earthquake, natural disaster, or other acts of God; (vi) any epidemic or pandemic including COVID-19; (vii) any actions taken or not taken by UpHealth as required by the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement or any ancillary agreement; (viii) any Effect attributable to the announcement or execution, pendency, negotiation or consummation of the UpHealth Business Combination (including the impact thereof on relationships with customers, suppliers, employees or Governmental Authorities, as defined in the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement); (ix) any failure to meet any projections, forecasts, guidance, estimates, milestones, budgets or financial or operating predictions of revenue, earnings, cash flow or cash position, provided that this clause shall not prevent a determination that any change, event, or occurrence underlying such failure has resulted in an UpHealth Material Adverse Effect; (x) any actions taken, or failures to take action, or such other changes or events, in each case, which GigCapital2 has requested or to which it has consented or which actions are contemplated by the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement; or (xi) any statements or items set forth in the Schedules, except in the cases of clauses (i) through (iii) above, to the extent that UpHealth is materially and disproportionately affected thereby as compared with other participants in the industries in which UpHealth operates.

UpHealth Conditions

The obligations of UpHealth to consummate the UpHealth Business Combination are subject to the satisfaction or waiver (where legally permissible) at or prior to the Closing of the following additional conditions:

- the representations and warranties of GigCapital2 and UpHealth Merger Sub contained in sections entitled (a) “Organization,” (b) “Capitalization,” (c) “Authority Relative to this Agreement” and (d) “Brokers” shall each be true and correct in all material respects as of the Closing Date as though made on the Closing Date (without giving effect to any limitation as to “materiality” or “GigCapital2 Material Adverse Effect” or any similar limitation set forth therein), except to the extent that any such representation and warranty expressly speaks as of an earlier date, in which case such representation and warranty shall be true and correct in all material respects as of such earlier date; all other representations and warranties of GigCapital2 and UpHealth Merger Sub contained in the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement shall be true and correct (without giving any effect to any limitation as to “materiality” or “GigCapital2 Material Adverse Effect” or any similar limitation set forth therein) in all respects as of the Closing Date, as though made on and as of the Closing Date, except (i) to the extent that any such representation and warranty expressly speaks as of an earlier date, in which case such representation and warranty shall be true and correct as of such earlier date and (ii) where the failure of such representations and warranties to be true and correct (whether as of the Closing Date or such earlier date), taken as a whole, does not result in a GigCapital2 Material Adverse Effect;
- GigCapital2 and UpHealth Merger Sub shall have performed or complied in all material respects with all agreements and covenants required by the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement to be performed or complied with by it at or prior to the effective time of the UpHealth Business Combination;

Some of the conditions to UpHealth’s obligations are qualified by the concept of a “GigCapital2 Material Adverse Effect.” Under the terms of the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement, a “GigCapital2 Material Adverse Effect” means any event, circumstance, change or effect that, individually or in the aggregate with all other events, circumstances, changes and effects, (a) is or is reasonably expected to be materially adverse to the business, financial condition or results of operations of GigCapital2; or (b) would prevent, materially delay or materially impede the performance by GigCapital2 or UpHealth Merger Sub of their respective obligations under the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement or the consummation of the UpHealth Business Combination; provided, however, that none of the following shall be deemed to constitute, alone or in combination, or be taken into account in the determination of whether, there has been or will be a GigCapital2 Material Adverse Effect: (i) any change or proposed change in or change in the interpretation of any law or GAAP; (ii) events or conditions generally affecting the industries or geographic areas in which GigCapital2 operates; (iii) any downturn in general economic conditions, including changes in the credit, debt, securities, financial or capital markets (including changes in interest or exchange rates, prices of any security or market index or commodity or any disruption of such markets); (iv) acts of war, sabotage, civil unrest or terrorism, or any escalation or worsening of any such acts of war, sabotage, civil unrest or terrorism, or changes in global, national, regional, state or local political or social conditions; (v) any hurricane, tornado, flood, earthquake, natural disaster, or other acts of God; (vi) any epidemic or pandemic including COVID-19; (vii) any actions taken or not taken by GigCapital2 as required by the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement or any ancillary agreement, (viii) any Effect (as defined in the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement) attributable to the announcement or execution, pendency, negotiation or consummation of the UpHealth Business Combination; or (ix) any actions taken, or failures to take action, or such other changes or events, in each case, which UpHealth has requested or to which it has consented or which actions are contemplated by the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement, except in the cases of clauses (i) through (iii) above, to the extent that GigCapital2 is materially and disproportionately affected thereby as compared with other participants in the industry in which GigCapital2 operates.

Termination

The UpHealth Business Combination Agreement may be terminated and the UpHealth Business Combination may be abandoned at any time prior to the effective time of the UpHealth Business Combination, notwithstanding any requisite approval and adoption of the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement and the UpHealth Business Combination by the stockholders of UpHealth or GigCapital2, as follows:

- by mutual written consent of GigCapital2 and UpHealth;
- by GigCapital2 or UpHealth, if (a) the effective time of the UpHealth Business Combination has not occurred prior to June 10, 2021 (the “UpHealth Outside Date”); provided, however, that the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement may not be terminated under this provision by or on behalf of any party that either directly or indirectly through its affiliates is in breach or violation of any representation, warranty, covenant, agreement or obligation contained in the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement and such breach or violation is the principal cause of the failure of the conditions to the UpHealth Business Combination on or prior to the UpHealth Outside Date; (b) any governmental authority in the United States has enacted, issued, promulgated, enforced or entered any permanent injunction, order, decree or ruling which has become final and nonappealable and has the effect of making consummation of the UpHealth Business Combination illegal or otherwise preventing or prohibiting consummation of the UpHealth Business Combination; or (c) any of the Proposals fail to receive the requisite vote for approval at the Special Meeting;
- by UpHealth if there is an occurrence of a breach of any representation, warranty, covenant or agreement on the part of GigCapital2 and UpHealth Merger Sub set forth in the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement, or if any representation or warranty of GigCapital2 and UpHealth Merger Sub will have become untrue, in either case such that the first two conditions described above in “Conditions to Closing of the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement—UpHealth Conditions” would not be satisfied (a “Terminating GigCapital2 Breach”); provided that UpHealth has not waived such Terminating GigCapital2 Breach and UpHealth is not then in material breach of its representations, warranties, covenants or agreements in the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement; provided further, that, if such Terminating GigCapital2 Breach is curable by GigCapital2 and UpHealth Merger Sub, UpHealth may not terminate the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement under this provision for so long as GigCapital2 and UpHealth Merger Sub continue to exercise their reasonable efforts to cure such breach, unless such breach is not cured within 30 days after notice of such breach is provided by UpHealth to GigCapital2; or

- by GigCapital2 if (a) UpHealth has failed to deliver the Written Consent to GigCapital2 within seventy-two hours after this Registration Statement becomes effective; (b) there is an occurrence of a breach of any representation, warranty, covenant or agreement on the part of UpHealth set forth in the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement, or if any representation or warranty of UpHealth will have become untrue, in either case such that the first two conditions described above in “—Conditions to Closing of the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement—GigCapital2 and UpHealth Merger Sub Conditions” would not be satisfied (a “Terminating UpHealth Breach”); provided that GigCapital2 has not waived such Terminating UpHealth Breach and GigCapital2 and UpHealth Merger Sub are not then in material breach of their representations, warranties, covenants or agreements in the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement; provided further that, if such Terminating UpHealth Breach is curable by UpHealth, GigCapital2 may not terminate the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement under this provision for so long as UpHealth continues to exercise its reasonable efforts to cure such breach, unless such breach is not cured within 30 days after notice of such breach is provided by GigCapital2 to UpHealth; or (c) UpHealth has not delivered its audited financial statements to GigCapital2 within 30 days of the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement.

Effect of Termination

If the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement is terminated, the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement will forthwith become void, and there will be no liability under the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement on the part of any party to the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement, except as set forth in the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement or in the case of termination subsequent to a willful material breach of the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement by a party thereto.

Related Agreements

This section describes the material provisions of certain additional agreements entered into or to be entered into pursuant to the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement, which are included in the Related Agreements, but does not purport to describe all of the terms thereof. To the extent not yet filed with the SEC or included in this Registration Statement on Form S-4, the Related Agreements will be filed with the SEC at a future date. Stockholders and other interested parties are urged to read such Related Agreements in their entirety.

Stockholder Support Agreement

Contemporaneously with the execution of the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement, on November 20, 2020, GigCapital2 entered into a stockholder support agreement with certain of the stockholders of UpHealth (the “Stockholder Support Agreement”) pursuant to which such UpHealth stockholders agreed to vote all of their shares of UpHealth Common Stock in favor of the approval and adoption of the UpHealth Business Combination and the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement. Additionally, such UpHealth stockholders agreed not to (a) sell, assign, transfer (including by operation of law), pledge, dispose of, permit to exist any material lien with respect to or otherwise encumber any of their shares of UpHealth Common Stock (or enter into any arrangement with respect thereto), subject to certain exceptions, or (b) deposit any of their shares of UpHealth Common Stock into a voting trust or enter into any voting arrangement that is inconsistent with the Stockholder Support Agreement.

UpHealth Registration Rights and Lock-Up Agreement

In connection with the closing of the UpHealth Business Combination, we will enter into a Registration Rights and Lock-Up Agreement (the “UpHealth Registration Rights and Lock-Up Agreement”). Pursuant to the terms of the UpHealth Registration Rights and Lock-Up Agreement, subject to certain requirements and customary conditions, including with regard to the number of demand rights that may be exercised, the UpHealth holders may demand at any time or from time to time, that GigCapital2 file a registration statement on Form S-1 or Form S-3 to register certain shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock held by such holders or to conduct an underwritten offering. The UpHealth Registration Rights and Lock-Up Agreement will also provide the UpHealth Holders with “piggy-back” registration rights, subject to certain requirements and customary conditions.

The UpHealth Registration Rights and Lock-Up Agreement further provides that, subject to certain exceptions, each of the UpHealth Holders shall not transfer any shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock beneficially owned or owned of record by such UpHealth holders until the earlier of (i) six months or one year (as applicable) after the date of the closing of the UpHealth Business Combination or (ii) the date on which, subsequent to the UpHealth Business Combination, the last sale price of the GigCapital2 Common Stock (x) equals or exceeds $12.50 per share (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, reorganizations, recapitalizations and the like) for any 20 trading days within any 30 trading day period commencing at least 90 days after the UpHealth Business Combination, or (y) the date following the completion of the UpHealth Business Combination on which GigCapital2 completes a liquidation, merger, stock exchange or other similar transaction that results in all of the GigCapital2’s stockholders having the right to exchange their shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock for cash, securities or other property; provided that in the sole discretion of the majority of the independent members of the GigCapital2 Board, such lock-up period may end earlier than as provided therein upon written notice to the UpHealth holders.

PIPE Subscription Agreements

On January 20, 2021, GigCapital2 entered into the PIPE Subscription Agreements, each dated January 20, 2021, with the PIPE Investors, including the placement agent for the PIPE, Oppenheimer & Co. Inc., pursuant to which, among other things, GigCapital2 agreed to issue and sell, in private placements to close immediately prior to the closing of the Business Combinations, the PIPE Shares to the PIPE Investors. The obligations to consummate the subscriptions are conditioned upon, among other things, all conditions precedent to the closing of the transactions contemplated by the Note Subscription Agreements (as defined below) having been satisfied or waived, and the closing of the transaction contemplated by the PIPE Subscription Agreements occurring concurrently with the closing of the transactions contemplated by the Note Subscription Agreements. Pursuant to the PIPE Subscription Agreements, GigCapital2 agreed that, prior to the closing of the Business Combinations, GigCapital2 file with the SEC (at GigCapital2’s sole cost and expense) a registration statement registering the resale of the PIPE Shares (the “Resale Registration Statement”), and GigCapital2 shall use its commercially reasonable efforts to have the Resale Registration Statement declared effective upon the closing of the Business Combinations, but no later than 60 calendar days (or 90 calendar days if the SEC notifies GigCapital2 that it will not review the Resale Registration Statement) after the closing of the Business Combinations; provided, however, that GigCapital2’s obligations to include the PIPE Shares held by a PIPE Investor in the Resale Registration Statement will be contingent upon the respective PIPE Investor furnishing in writing, to GigCapital2, such information regarding the PIPE Investor, the securities of GigCapital2 held by such PIPE Investor and the intended method of disposition of the shares, as shall be reasonably requested by GigCapital2 to effect the registration of such shares, and will execute such documents in connection with such registration, as GigCapital2 may reasonably request, which will be what is customary of a selling stockholder in similar situations.

Convertible Note Subscription Agreements and Indenture

On January 20, 2021, GigCapital2 also entered into convertible note subscription agreements (the “Note Subscription Agreements”), each dated January 20, 2021, with certain institutional investors (the “Note Investors”), pursuant to which the Note Investors, upon the terms and subject to the conditions set forth in the respective Notes Subscription Agreements, shall purchase from GigCapital2, and GigCapital2 shall issue to the Note Investors, subject to the terms and conditions of the Indenture to be entered into in connection with the closing of the Business Combinations, between UpHealth, Inc. (formerly GigCapital2) and Wilmington Trust, National Association, a national banking association, in its capacity as the Indenture Trustee thereunder, $255,000,000 of unsecured convertible notes (the “Notes”) which shall bear interest at a rate of 6.25% per annum, payable semi-annually, and be convertible into shares of Common Stock at a conversion price of $11.50 in accordance with the terms thereof, and shall mature five years after their issuance. GigCapital2 may force conversion of the Notes after the first anniversary of the issuance of the Notes, subject to a holder's prior right to convert, if the trading price of the Common Stock exceeds 130% of the conversion price 20 out of the preceding 30 trading days and 30-day average daily trading volume ending on, and including, the last trading day of the applicable exercise period is greater than or equal to $2,000,000. Upon such conversion, GigCapital2 will be obligated to pay all regularly scheduled interest payments, if any, due on the converted Notes on each interest payment date occurring after the conversion date for such conversion to, but excluding, the maturity date. In the event that a holder of the Notes elects to convert the Notes prior to the second anniversary of the issuance of the Notes, GigCapital2 will be obligated to pay an amount equal to twelve months of interest, or if on or after such second anniversary of the issuance of the Notes, any remaining amounts that would be owed to, but excluding, the third anniversary of the issuance of the Notes.

GigCapital2 shall be obligated to register the shares issuable upon conversion of the Notes. GigCapital2 agreed that, within 45 days after the consummation of the Business Combinations (the "Convertible Note Resale Registration Filing Deadline"), GigCapital2 will file with the SEC a registration statement (the "Convertible Note Resale Registration Statement") registering the resale of the shares of Common Stock issuable upon conversion of the Notes (the "Convertible Note Registrable Securities"), and GigCapital2 shall use its commercially reasonable efforts to have the Convertible Note Resale Registration Statement declared effective as soon as practicable after the filing thereof, but no later than the 60th calendar day (or 90th calendar day if the SEC notifies GigCapital2 that it will "review" the Convertible Note Resale Registration Statement) following the Convertible Note Resale Registration Filing Deadline. GigCapital2 will use its commercially reasonable efforts to maintain the continuous effectiveness of the Convertible Note Resale Registration Statement, and to be supplemented and amended to the extent necessary to ensure that such Convertible Note Resale Registration Statement is available or, if not available, that another registration statement is available for the resale of the Convertible Note Registrable Securities, until the earliest of (i) the date on which the Convertible Note Registrable Securities may be resold without volume or manner of sale limitations pursuant to Rule 144 promulgated under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, (ii) the date on which such Convertible Note Registrable Securities have actually been sold and (iii) the date which is three years after the closing of the Business Combinations.

Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in the Note Subscription Agreements, GigCapital2 shall be entitled to delay or postpone the effectiveness of the Convertible Note Resale Registration Statement, and from time to time to require any Note Investor not to sell under the Convertible Note Resale Registration Statement or to suspend the effectiveness thereof, if the negotiation or consummation of a transaction by GigCapital2 or its subsidiaries is pending or an event has occurred, which negotiation, consummation or event, the New UpHealth Board following the closing of the Business Combinations, reasonably believes, upon the advice of legal counsel, would require additional disclosure by GigCapital2 in the Convertible Note Resale Registration Statement of material information that GigCapital2 has a bona fide business purpose for keeping confidential and the non-disclosure of which in the Convertible Note Resale Registration Statement would be expected, in the reasonable determination of the New UpHealth Board, upon the advice of legal counsel, to cause the Convertible Note Resale Registration Statement to fail to comply with applicable disclosure requirements.

The obligations of the Note Investors to consummate the subscriptions provided for in the Note Subscription Agreements are conditioned upon, among other things, GigCapital2 having cash and cash equivalents in its trust account and from the transactions contemplated in the Note Subscription Agreements and the PIPE Subscription Agreements of an aggregate amount not less than $150,000,000 pursuant to the terms and conditions of the Business Combination Agreements, and at least $50,000,000 in the Trust Account after giving effect to any redemptions, and all conditions precedent to the closing of the transactions contemplated by the PIPE Subscription Agreements having been satisfied or waived, and the closing under the Note Subscription Agreements occurring concurrently with the investment by the PIPE Investors.

Proposed Second Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation

Pursuant to the terms of the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement, upon the Closing, we will amend and restate our Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation to, among other things, provide for certain provisions described below relating to the capital structure of New UpHealth following the consummation of the UpHealth Business Combination.

Authorized Share Amendment. The proposed Second Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation will increase the number of authorized shares of our Common Stock from 100,000,000 shares to 300,000,000 shares.

Director Classification Amendment. The proposed Second Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation will reclassify the GigCapital2 Board.

Additional Amendments. The proposed Second Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation will also eliminate certain provisions relating to an initial business combination that will no longer be applicable to us following the Closing, change the post-combination company's name to "UpHealth, Inc." and make certain other changes that the GigCapital2 Board deems appropriate for a public operating company.

For more information about the amendments to our Charter, see the sections entitled "Proposal No. 5A—Approval of Additional Amendments to Current Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation in Connection with the Business Combination Proposal," "Proposal No. 5B—Amendment to Exclusive Forum Provision Proposal," and "Proposal No. 7—Election of Directors Proposal."

Background of the UpHealth Business Combination

The terms of the UpHealth Business Combination are the result of negotiations among the representatives of GigCapital2 and UpHealth. The following is a brief description of the background of these negotiations and the resulting UpHealth Business Combination.

GigCapital2 is a blank check company incorporated in Delaware on March 6, 2019, for the purpose of effecting a merger, share exchange, asset acquisition, share purchase, reorganization or similar business combination with one or more businesses. We have sought to capitalize on the substantial deal sourcing, investing and operating expertise of our management team to identify and combine with a business with high growth potential in the United States or internationally.

On June 10, 2019, we completed our IPO of 15,000,000 units at a price of $10.00 per unit generating gross proceeds of $150,000,000 before underwriting discounts and expenses. Each unit consisted of one share of Common Stock, one warrant to purchase one share of Common Stock, and one right to receive one-twentieth (1/20) of one share of Common Stock upon the completion of an initial business combination. Each Public Warrant will become exercisable 30 days after the Closing and entitle the holder thereof to purchase one share of Common Stock at a price of $11.50 per share. On June 13, 2019, the Company consummated the closing of the sale of 2,250,000 additional units upon receiving notice of the underwriters' election to partially exercise their over-allotment option (the "over-allotment"), generating additional gross proceeds of approximately $22,500,000.

On June 5, 2019, the Founders purchased from us an aggregate of 492,500 Private Placement Units at a price of $10.00 per unit in a private placement that occurred simultaneously with the completion of the initial closing of our IPO. On June 13, 2019, the Founders also purchased from us an aggregate of 75,000 Private Placement Units at a price of $10.00 per unit in a private placement that occurred simultaneously with the completion of the exercise of the over-allotment option. Additionally, on June 5, 2019, one of our underwriters, Northland Securities, Inc., purchased 100,000 Private Underwriter Shares at a purchase price of $10.00 per share in a private placement that occurred simultaneously with the completion of the initial closing of the IPO. Northland also purchased from us an additional 20,000 Private Underwriter Shares at a price of $10.00 per share in a private placement that occurred simultaneously with the completion of the exercise of the over-allotment option.

Upon the closing of the IPO, the over-allotment and the private placement, approximately $175,000,000 ($10.00 per Unit) of the net proceeds of the sale of the public units in the initial public offering and the Private Underwriter Shares and the Private Placement Units in the private placements was placed in the Trust Account maintained by Continental Stock Transfer & Trust Company, acting as trustee. The proceeds held in the Trust Account were invested in U.S. government securities, within the meaning set forth in Section 2(a)(16) of the Investment Company Act, with a maturity of 180 days or less or in any open ended investment company that holds itself out as a money market fund selected by us meeting the conditions of paragraphs (d)(2), (d)(3) and (d)(4) of Rule 2a-7 of the Investment Company Act, as determined by us, until the earlier of: (i) the completion of a business combination, (ii) the redemption of any public shares properly submitted in connection with a stockholder vote to amend our current certificate of incorporation to modify the substance or timing of our obligation to redeem 100% of our public shares if we do not complete a business combination within 18 months from the closing of the IPO or to provide for redemption in connection with a business combination and (iii) the redemption of our public shares if we are unable to complete a business combination within the required time period, subject to applicable law.

Prior to the consummation of our IPO, the Sponsor purchased 2,378,125 Founder Shares (after various adjustments) for an aggregate purchase price of $23,781.25, or approximately $0.01 per share.

Our certificate of incorporation originally provided that we had 18 months from the closing of our IPO, or until December 10, 2020, to complete an initial business combination. On November 2, 2020, we filed with the SEC and mailed to our stockholders a definitive proxy statement with notice of our 2020 annual meeting at which our stockholders considered Extension Amendment No.1 to our certificate of incorporation to extend the date that we had to consummate an initial business combination from December 10, 2020 to March 10, 2021. Following the approval of Extension Amendment No.1, we had approximately $168.4 million remaining in the Trust Account. On March 10, 2021, our stockholders approved Extension Amendment No. 2 to our certificate of incorporation to extend the date that we have to consummate an initial business combination from March 10, 2021 to June 10, 2021. In connection with the approval of Extension Amendment No. 2, our stockholders elected to redeem 1,852,804 shares of Common Stock. Following the approval of Extension Amendment No. 2, we had approximately $149.6 million remaining in the Trust Account.

Prior to the consummation of our IPO, neither GigCapital2, nor anyone on its behalf, contacted any prospective target business or had any substantive discussions, formal or otherwise, with respect to such a transaction with GigCapital2.

After our IPO, our officers and directors commenced an active search for prospective businesses or assets to acquire in our initial business combination. Representatives of GigCapital2 were contacted by, and representatives of GigCapital2 contacted, numerous individuals, financial advisors, business owners and other entities who offered to present ideas for business combination opportunities. Our officers and directors and their affiliates actively searched for and brought business combination targets to our attention. During this search process, GigCapital2 reviewed more than 200 acquisition opportunities and entered into discussions with more than 20 potential target businesses or their representatives pursuant to signed nondisclosure agreements. Such non-disclosure agreements contained customary terms for a special purpose acquisition company and a private company target, including confidentiality provisions and use restrictions for information provided by the target and exceptions to such provisions. Further, such non-disclosure agreements did not contain any standstill or “don’t ask, don’t waive” provisions. In addition to UpHealth and Cloudbreak, we delivered or received draft term sheets or preliminary proposals for us to acquire potential targets, some at a high level early in discussions, to or from 15 other prospective targets, for which 13 of those targets we sent a signed term sheet, and 5 of those were counter-signed by the targets, including Bolder which we publicly announced. We were not subject to an exclusivity provision in any of these 5 fully-executed term sheets prohibiting us from negotiating or entering into agreements to acquire UpHealth and Cloudbreak.

The decision not to pursue the alternative acquisition targets was generally the result of one or more of (i) our determination that these businesses did not represent an attractive target due to a combination of business prospects, strategy, management teams, structure, valuation or ability to execute or (ii) our decision to pursue the Business Combinations with UpHealth and Cloudbreak.

On September 10, 2020, Dr. Chirinjeev Kathuria contacted Dr. Avi Katz to discuss GigCapital2 meeting with UpHealth Services, Inc. management regarding a possible business combination.

On September 13, 2020, Drs. Kathuria and Katz spoke again about a possible business combination. After speaking, Dr. Kathuria sent an investor presentation prepared by UpHealth's financial advisor, Needham & Company ("Needham"), and an executive summary presentation of UpHealth. Drs. Katz and Kathuria also agreed to have the management team of UpHealth present to the management team of GigCapital2 on September 15, 2020.

On September 15, 2020, a representative of Needham sent to representatives of GigCapital2 and its counsel, DLA Piper LLP (US) ("DLA Piper") a financial model of UpHealth and a confidential investor presentation. Following receipt of these materials, the management team of UpHealth presented the company to the management team of GigCapital2.

On September 19, 2020, representatives of GigCapital2, UpHealth, DLA Piper and UpHealth's counsel, Husch Blackwell LP ("Husch Blackwell") met to introduce everybody and to discuss the plans of UpHealth to combine Thrasys, TTC Healthcare, Innovations Group and Glocal into UpHealth, and have the resulting combined company engage in a business combination with a special purpose acquisition company. Dr. Kathuria informed the participants in the meeting that he had negotiated letters of intent to acquire each of the four companies and that Husch Blackwell was in the process of preparing definitive acquisition companies to implement the terms of these letters of intent. Representatives of DLA Piper and Husch Blackwell arranged during this meeting to meet again on September 21, 2020 to further discuss the plans of UpHealth, and that meeting occurred as planned.

On September 21, 2020, UpHealth and an affiliate of GigCapital2, GigFounders, LLC that provides services to GigCapital2, entered into a mutual non-disclosure agreement. This non-disclosure agreement did not contain any standstill or "don't ask, don't waive" provisions. Following the execution of the non-disclosure agreement, on September 21, 2020, UpHealth provided representatives of GigCapital2 and DLA Piper with access to a virtual data room.

During the course of September 22 through 24, 2020 representatives of UpHealth and GigCapital2 engaged in discussions regarding a possible business combination. GigCapital2 management also began to review the contents of the virtual data room and valuation information to assist in making an assessment of an appropriate valuation for UpHealth.

On September 23, 2020, a representative of Husch Blackwell informed a representative of DLA Piper that UpHealth intended to acquire BHS as a fifth entity in addition to the four identified on September 19, 2020.

On September 24, 2020, Dr. Dinu sent to Dr. Kathuria a draft letter of intent proposing that GigCapital2 acquire UpHealth, setting a pre-money rollover equity valuation for UpHealth of $1.1 billion. The draft letter of intent did not provide for GigCapital2 to agree to exclusively only negotiate a business combination with UpHealth until a later date which would arise only with the satisfaction of certain conditions, including a determination that UpHealth would be able to consummate at least some of its intended acquisitions and also that PCAOB-standard audited financial statements of the companies that UpHealth intended to acquire could be obtained in time to consummate the proposed business combination with GigCapital2 during 2020. The draft letter of intent proposed that there would be a nine person board appointed to GigCapital2 following the consummation of the proposed business combination, of which three would be designated by GigCapital2. The draft letter of intent did not contemplate that any member of the management of GigCapital2 would become employed by GigCapital2 following the consummation of the proposed business combination.

On September 25, 2020, a representative of Needham sent Dr. Dinu a revised draft letter of intent that made minor, primarily non-substantive revisions to the draft letter of intent.

On September 26, 2020, Dr. Katz sent a further revised draft letter of intent to representatives of UpHealth and Needham that primarily made clarifications to the debt of UpHealth following the acquisitions by UpHealth of its intended acquisitions.

On September 29, 2020, Dr. Kathuria informed that with a change to the size of the intended equity incentive plan pool, the revised draft letter of intent of September 26, 2020 was acceptable to UpHealth.

On September 30, 2020, the parties signed this letter of intent with the revision that had been provided by Dr. Kathuria on September 29, 2020.

Between October 1 and 23, 2020, GigCapital2 continued to conduct limited diligence on UpHealth, and representatives of DLA Piper and Husch Blackwell continued to discuss structure of an acquisition of UpHealth by GigCapital2 as well as the progress that UpHealth was making with its intended acquisitions. However, during this period, the parties did not otherwise engage in substantive work in furtherance of a proposed business combination, and as permitted by the executed letter of intent, GigCapital2 engaged in discussions with other potential targets for it to acquire for its initial business combination.

On October 12, 2020, Dr. Pylypiv e-mailed to Drs. Katz and Dinu materials regarding Cloudbreak, which UpHealth was also considering acquiring in conjunction with the proposed business combination. Representatives of UpHealth had initiated discussions with representatives of Cloudbreak about a transaction in May 2019, and the parties had engaged in on-and-off discussions through July 2020, with conversations reopening in late September 2020 following the commencement of discussions between GigCapital2 and UpHealth.

On October 19, 2020, GigCapital2 filed with the SEC a preliminary proxy statement for its annual meeting of stockholders and to amend its current amended and restated certificate of incorporation with the Extension Amendment No.1.

Also on October 19, 2020, a representative of Husch Blackwell told a representative of DLA Piper that UpHealth had the prior week signed a term sheet to acquire Cloudbreak.

On October 23, Dr. Katz informed Dr. Kathuria that for timing reasons, including that it did not appear that the proposed business combination could be consummated during 2020 as provided for in the letter of intent, GigCapital2 intended to suspend further work unless UpHealth was able to accelerate its intended acquisitions.

On October 27, 2020, GigCapital2 announced that it had entered into a non-binding letter of intent to acquire Waste to Energy Partners LLC (dba Bolder Industries).

Following the announcement of the letter of intent with Bolder Industries, Dr. Kathuria followed up with Dr. Katz about UpHealth and GigCapital2 continuing to engage in discussions regarding a proposed business combination. On October 29, 2020, Dr. Katz told Dr. Kathuria that GigCapital2 remained interested in acquiring UpHealth but that to move forward with discussions, UpHealth would have to in the beginning of November 2020 have executed definitive acquisition agreements for its intended acquisitions and be in position to close with at least certain of those for which there were no regulatory conditions to closing during November 2020.

On October 30, 2020 a telephone call was arranged between representatives of UpHealth, the management of the companies that UpHealth intended to acquire, GigCapital2, DLA Piper and Husch Blackwell to discuss a path to move forward on the terms communicated by Dr. Katz on October 29, 2020.

On October 31, 2020, Dr. Kathuria introduced the Chief Executive Officer of Cloudbreak, Jamey Edwards, to Dr. Katz, and Dr. Katz and Mr. Edwards proceeded to speak about the inclusion of Cloudbreak in the proposed transaction between UpHealth and GigCapital2.

On November 2, 2020, Dr. Katz, Mr. Edwards, a representative of the majority stockholder of Cloudbreak, and representatives of DLA Piper and counsel to Cloudbreak, Sidley Austin LLP (“Sidley”), met to further discuss the inclusion of Cloudbreak in the proposed transaction between UpHealth and GigCapital2. During this meeting, the parties to the meeting discussed the possibility of GigCapital2 entering into a direct acquisition agreement with Cloudbreak, rather than UpHealth acquiring Cloudbreak.

Also on November 2, 2020, a representative of UpHealth told Dr. Dinu that UpHealth and Glocal had entered into a definitive acquisition agreement. In addition, on that same day, a representative of Husch Blackwell told a representative of DLA Piper that UpHealth and TTC Healthcare had entered into a definitive acquisition agreement, and that Innovations Group and BHS were expected to sign their definitive acquisition agreements that evening, which they both did, with the agreement with Thrasys still to be finalized.

On November 3, 2020, Dr. Pylypiv told Dr. Dinu that UpHealth and Thrasys had entered into a definitive acquisition agreement.

Also, on November 3, 2020, a representative of DLA Piper informed a representative of Husch Blackwell of the plan for GigCapital2 to enter into a direct acquisition agreement with Cloudbreak and that as a result, there would be two separate definitive acquisition agreements, one with UpHealth and one with Cloudbreak.

Beginning on November 4, 2020, representatives of GigCapital2 and DLA began to engage in an in-depth diligence review of UpHealth, and the 5 companies with which it has entered definitive acquisition agreements.

On November 15, 2020, a representative of DLA Piper sent to a representative of Husch Blackwell, an initial draft of the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement. The draft reflected a pre-money valuation for UpHealth, presuming that UpHealth has closed all 5 of its pending acquisitions, of $990 million, which has been reduced from the $1.1 billion in the letter of intent to reflect GigCapital2 management’s assessment of the appropriate valuation for UpHealth based upon market comparable valuations and the fact that a certain portion of the value that would arise for UpHealth would be as a function of the inclusion of Cloudbreak with UpHealth, which was now going to occur by way of a separate transaction, and that value would be captured by what GigCapital2 would be paying for the acquisition of Cloudbreak.

On November 15, 2020, representatives of GigCapital2 met with representatives of UpHealth to discuss due diligence findings and the New UpHealth financial model. The representatives of GigCapital2 told the representatives of UpHealth that based upon its due diligence findings, they were of the belief that UpHealth needed to adjust the New UpHealth revenue and EBITDA down from what UpHealth had initially presented to GigCapital2. The adjustments which GigCapital2 believed were needed were in part what drove the reduction of the pre-money valuation for UpHealth from $1.1 billion as reflected in the draft letter of intent provided on September 24, 2020 to $990 million as reflected in the initial draft of the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement. UpHealth agreed with the assessment that downward adjustments should be made to the New UpHealth revenue and EBITDA, and on November 15, provided GigCapital2 management a revised New UpHealth financial model, which is what was presented to the GigCapital2 Board.

Between November 15, 2020 and the signing of the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement on November 20, 2020, DLA Piper and Husch Blackwell, on behalf of their respective clients, continued to negotiate and draft the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement and the Related Agreements pertaining to the UpHealth Business Combination. The UpHealth Business Combination Agreement provided that Drs. Katz and Dinu and Mr. Miotto would remain on the GigCapital2 Board as the three designees to the Board by GigCapital2 as provided for by the letter of intent between GigCapital2 and UpHealth. Between November 16, 2020 and November 20, 2020, as discussed in “Proposal No. 2 - Approval of the Cloudbreak Business Combination”, DLA Piper and Sidley negotiated and drafted the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement.

On November 16, 2020, representatives of Thrasys’ counsel, Duane Morris LLP, engaged with representatives of DLA Piper and Husch Blackwell to discuss issues pertaining to the structure of the issuance of equity to certain parties affiliated with Thrasys. These discussions continued until November 19, 2020, with the parties agreeing to use the concept of the Thrasys Incentive Amount within the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement.

On November 20, 2020, representatives of Husch Blackwell and DLA Piper finished up the drafting the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement and the Related Agreements pertaining to the UpHealth Business Combination. That same day, UpHealth closed on its acquisitions of BHS and Thrasys, and 43% of the shares of stock of Glocal.

Also on November 20, 2020, the GigCapital2 Board convened a remote special meeting by videoconference. Representatives of DLA Piper attended the meeting to review the terms of the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement (as well as the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement) and the Related Agreements pertaining to the UpHealth Business Combination. Drs. Katz and Dinu reported on matters relating to the proposed Business Combinations, and discussion ensued regarding the proposed pre-money valuation of both UpHealth and Cloudbreak equity, including a consideration of the diligence conducted on UpHealth, financial projections for the combined company of UpHealth and Cloudbreak, as well as individual financial projections for the various companies, including the companies being acquired by UpHealth, and a set of publicly available comparable company financial and valuation benchmarking data that was provided by UpHealth's financial advisor, Needham, to UpHealth, and from UpHealth, to the management of GigCapital2. Following this discussion, the GigCapital2 Board unanimously approved the UpHealth Business Combination (as well as the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement).

Also on November 20, 2020, the UpHealth board of directors approved the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement. Following the respective approvals by the boards of directors GigCapital2 and UpHealth, on that same day, the parties executed the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement and the Related Agreements that required execution at such time. GigCapital2 and Cloudbreak also executed the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement on November 20, 2020.

On November 22, 2020, GigCapital2 informed Bolder Industries that it would not be proceeding forward with a possible business combination with Bolder Industries.

Before the market open on November 23, 2020, the parties announced both the UpHealth Business Combination and the Cloudbreak Business Combination, together with the execution of the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement and Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement.

GigCapital2 Board's Reasons for the Approval of the UpHealth Business Combination

The GigCapital2 Board considered a wide variety of factors in connection with its evaluation of the UpHealth Business Combination. In light of the complexity of those factors, the GigCapital2 Board, as a whole, did not consider it practicable to, nor did it attempt to, quantify or otherwise assign relative weights to the specific factors it took into account in reaching its decision. The GigCapital2 Board viewed its decision as being based on all of the information available and the factors presented to and considered by it. In addition, individual members of the GigCapital2 Board may have given different weight to different factors. This explanation of the reasons for the GigCapital2 Board's approval of the Business Combinations, and all other information presented in this section, is forward-looking in nature and, therefore, should be read in light of the factors discussed in the section entitled "Cautionary Note Regarding Forward-Looking Statements."

Before reaching its decision, the GigCapital2 Board reviewed the results of the due diligence conducted by GigCapital2's management and GigCapital2's advisors. GigCapital2's management, including its directors and advisors, has many years of experience in both operational management and investment and financial management and analysis and, in the opinion of the GigCapital2 Board, was suitably qualified to conduct the due diligence and other investigations and analyses required in connection with the search for a business combination partner. A detailed description of the experience of GigCapital2's executive officers and directors is included in the section entitled “Information About the Company Prior to the Business Combination - Management”. The due diligence which was conducted included:

- meetings and calls with the management teams, advisors and UpHealth regarding operations and forecasts;
- meetings and calls with UpHealth’s customers, suppliers and industry partners;
- research on comparable public companies;
- review of material contracts;
- review of intellectual property matters;
- review of financial, tax, legal, insurance and accounting due diligence;
- consultation with legal and financial advisors and industry experts;
- financial and valuation analysis of UpHealth and the UpHealth Business Combination; and
- the financial statements of UpHealth.

In the prospectus for our IPO, we identified the following general criteria and guidelines that we believed would be important in evaluating prospective target businesses, although we indicated we may enter into a business combination with a target business that does not meet these criteria and guidelines. The GigCapital2 Board considered each of the factors identified in the IPO prospectus in its evaluation of UpHealth and the companies which UpHealth has acquired or is acquiring. Furthermore, in light of the due diligence conducted of UpHealth and these companies, and the evaluation of the following factors with regard to them collectively, the GigCapital2 Board’s decision to pursue a Business Combination with UpHealth resulted in the Board deciding not to forego the UpHealth Business Combination and instead continue to look for an alternative acquisition target.

- Target TMT companies that are at the forefront of high technology and are enabling the future evolution of intelligent systems and solutions.
- Focus on TMT companies positioned to benefit from a public listing and greater access to capital.
- Emphasis on companies that can benefit from a public listing and greater access to capital.
- Businesses with a catalyst for significantly improved financial performance.
- Market-leading participant with experienced and motivated management teams that may benefit from enhanced leadership and governance.
- Middle-market businesses.
- Prioritize entities with a well-performing management team and exceptional leadership talent that wishes to continue to drive the company to growth, and is coachable and eager to extend their knowledge and savvy through an interactive, and hands-on and supportive board of directors.

Based upon our due diligence, we believe that UpHealth satisfied this criteria.

In approving the UpHealth Business Combination, the GigCapital2 Board determined not to obtain a fairness opinion. The officers and directors of GigCapital2 have substantial experience in evaluating the operating and financial merits of companies from a wide range of industries and concluded that their experience and background enabled them to make the necessary analyses and determinations regarding the UpHealth Business Combination.

The factors considered by the GigCapital2 Board include, but are not limited to, those set forth above as well as the following, several of which are based upon our due diligence:

Large Addressable Market. UpHealth will present an integrated global healthcare platform that addresses massive markets and critical needs.

Growth Prospects. UpHealth has proven solutions with significant contracted growth across U.S. and international markets, and the combination of the various companies into one allows for opportunities to drive additional organic and synergistic growth.

Experienced and Proven Management Team. The executive team of UpHealth and the companies which UpHealth has acquired or is acquiring has demonstrated operational, financial and technical expertise, and this senior management team intends to remain with UpHealth following the Closing in the capacity of its officers and/or directors, which will provide helpful continuity in advancing UpHealth's strategic and growth goals.

Lock-Up. The Co-Chief Executive Officers and all other significant senior members of management have agreed to be subject to a twelve-month lock-up in respect of their shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock (subject to certain customary exceptions).

Due Diligence. Due diligence examinations of UpHealth and the companies which UpHealth has acquired or is acquiring and discussions with each of their management.

Other Alternatives. The GigCapital2 Board believes, after a thorough review of other business combination opportunities reasonably available to GigCapital2, that the proposed UpHealth Business Combination, together with the Cloudbreak Business Combination, represents the best potential business combination for GigCapital2 and the most attractive opportunity for GigCapital2 based upon the process utilized to evaluate and assess other potential acquisition targets, and the GigCapital2 Board's belief that such process has not presented a better alternative.

Negotiated Transaction. The financial and other terms of the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement and the fact that such terms and conditions are reasonable and were the product of arm's length negotiations between GigCapital2 and UpHealth.

In the course of its deliberations, the GigCapital2 Board also considered a variety of uncertainties, risks and other potentially negative factors relevant to the UpHealth Business Combination, including the following:

- Integration Risk. The risk that UpHealth, in integrating 6 separate early-stage companies, would not be successful in this integration and the risk that it may not be able to execute on its business plan.
- Macroeconomic Risk. The risk of macroeconomic uncertainty and the effects it could have on UpHealth's revenues.
- Future Growth Risk. The risk that future growth of UpHealth is dependent upon participants in and utilizing the healthcare system becoming comfortable with digital healthcare services.
- Cost Assumption Risk. The risk that UpHealth may not be able to achieve current cost assumptions.
- Competitive Risk. The risk that UpHealth operates in a highly competitive and rapidly evolving industry.
- Public Company Risk. The risks that are associated with being a publicly traded company that is in its early, developmental stage.
- Benefits May Not Be Achieved Risk. The risk that the potential benefits of the UpHealth Business Combination may not be fully achieved or may not be achieved within the expected timeframe.

- Redemption Risk. The risk that a significant number of GigCapital2 stockholders elect to redeem their shares prior to the consummation of the UpHealth Business Combination and pursuant to GigCapital2's existing amended and restated certificate of incorporation, which would potentially make the UpHealth Business Combination more difficult to complete or reduce the amount of cash available to the combined company to accelerate its business plan following the Closing.
- Stockholder Vote Risk. The risk that GigCapital2's stockholders may fail to provide the votes necessary to effect the UpHealth Business Combination.
- Litigation Risk. The risk of the possibility of litigation challenging the UpHealth Business Combination or that an adverse judgment granting permanent injunctive relief could indefinitely enjoin consummation of the Business Combinations.
- Closing Conditions Risk. The risk that completion of the UpHealth Business Combination is conditioned on the satisfaction of certain closing conditions that are not within GigCapital2's control.
- No Third-Party Valuation Risk. The risk that GigCapital2 did not obtain a third-party valuation or fairness opinion in connection with the UpHealth Business Combination.
- GigCapital2 Stockholders Receiving a Minority Positions Risk. The risk that GigCapital2 stockholders will hold a minority position in the combined company.
- Fees, Expenses and Time Risk. The risk of incurring significant fees and expenses associated with completing the UpHealth Business Combination and the substantial time and effort of management required to complete the UpHealth Business Combination.
- Other Risks Factors. Various other risk factors associated with UpHealth's business, as described in the section entitled "Risk Factors."

In addition to considering the factors described above, the GigCapital2 Board also considered that some officers and directors of GigCapital2 may have interests in the UpHealth Business Combination as individuals that are in addition to, and that may be different from, the interests of GigCapital2's stockholders. However, no member of management of GigCapital2 will be employed by UpHealth or Cloudbreak following the Closing. GigCapital2's independent directors reviewed and considered these interests during the negotiation of the UpHealth Business Combination and in evaluating and unanimously approving, as members of the GigCapital2 Board, the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement and the UpHealth Business Combination. For more information, see the section entitled "—Interests of Certain Persons in the UpHealth Business Combination."

The Company's Board concluded that the potential benefits that it expects the Company and its stockholders to achieve as a result of the Business Combinations outweigh the potentially negative factors associated with the Business Combinations. Accordingly, the Company's Board, based on its consideration of the specific factors listed above, unanimously (a) determined that the Business Combinations, the Merger, the other transactions contemplated by the Business Combination Agreements, and subsequently determined that the PIPE Subscription Agreements and PIPE Investment, and the Convertible Note Subscription Agreements, Convertible Note Investment and the other agreements contemplated by the Convertible Note Subscription Agreements, are just and equitable and fair as to the Company and its stockholders, and that it is advisable and in the best interests of the Company and its stockholders to adopt and approve these agreements and transactions, (b) approved, adopted and declared advisable the Business Combination Agreements, the PIPE Subscription Agreements, the Convertible Note Subscription Agreements and the agreements and transactions contemplated thereby and (c) recommended that the stockholders of the Company approve each of the Proposals.

The above discussion of the material factors considered by the GigCapital2 Board is not intended to be exhaustive but does set forth the principal factors considered by the GigCapital2 Board.

Unaudited Prospective Financial Information

UpHealth provided GigCapital2 with its internally prepared pro forma forecasts for New UpHealth taking into account the combination of all 5 companies acquired by or being acquired by UpHealth plus Cloudbreak for each of the years in the three-year period ending December 31, 2022. GigCapital2 management reviewed and as a result of its due diligence investigation, discussed with UpHealth, which revised the forecasts for presentation to the GigCapital2 Board as part of the GigCapital2 Board's review and subsequent approval of the UpHealth Business Combination. The revisions made by UpHealth to the pro forma forecast for New UpHealth pertained to reductions in projected revenues and EBITDA for certain of the companies acquired by, or being acquired by, UpHealth. UpHealth and GigCapital2 do not, as a matter of general practice, publicly disclose long-term forecasts or internal projections of future performance, revenue, financial condition or other results. However, in connection with the proposed UpHealth Business Combination, management of GigCapital2 used the financial projections set forth below to present key elements of the forecasts provided to GigCapital2. The forecasts were prepared solely for internal use and not with a view toward public disclosure, the published guidelines of the SEC regarding projections or the guidelines established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants for preparation and presentation of prospective financial information.

The inclusion of financial projections in this proxy statement/prospectus should not be regarded as an indication that GigCapital2, UpHealth, the companies acquired by UpHealth or being acquired by it, Cloudbreak, their respective directors, officers, advisors or other representatives considered, or now considers, such financial projections necessarily to be predictive of actual future results or to support or fail to support your decision whether to vote for or against the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal. The financial projections are not fact and should not be relied upon as being necessarily indicative of future results, and readers of this proxy statement/prospectus, including investors or stockholders, are cautioned not to place undue reliance on this information. You are cautioned not to rely on the projections in making a decision regarding the UpHealth Business Combination, as the projections may be materially different than actual results. We will not refer back to the financial projections in our future periodic reports filed under the Exchange Act.

The financial projections reflect numerous estimates and assumptions with respect to general business, economic, regulatory, market and financial conditions and other future events, as well as matters specific to UpHealth's business, all of which are difficult to predict and many of which are beyond UpHealth's and GigCapital2's control. The financial projections are forward-looking statements that are inherently subject to significant uncertainties and contingencies, many of which are beyond UpHealth's and GigCapital2's control. The various risks and uncertainties include those set forth in the sections entitled "Risk Factors," "UpHealth's Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations" and "Cautionary Note Regarding Forward-Looking Statements." As a result, there can be no assurance that the projected results will be realized or that actual results will not be significantly higher or lower than projected. Since the financial projections cover multiple years, such information by its nature becomes less reliable with each successive year. These financial projections are subjective in many respects and thus are susceptible to multiple interpretations and periodic revisions based on actual experience and business developments.

Furthermore, the financial projections do not take into account any circumstances or events occurring after the date they were prepared. None of UpHealth's independent registered accounting firm, GigCapital2's independent registered accounting firm or any other independent accountants, have compiled, examined or performed any procedures with respect to the financial projections included below, nor have they expressed any opinion or any other form of assurance on such information or their accuracy or achievability, and they assume no responsibility for, and disclaim any association with, the financial projections. Nonetheless, a summary of the financial projections is provided in this proxy statement/prospectus because they were made available to GigCapital2 and the GigCapital2 Board in connection with their review of the proposed UpHealth Business Combination.

EXCEPT TO THE EXTENT REQUIRED BY APPLICABLE FEDERAL SECURITIES LAWS, BY INCLUDING IN THIS PROXY STATEMENT/PROSPECTUS A SUMMARY OF THE FINANCIAL PROJECTIONS FOR UPHEALTH, GIGCAPITAL2 UNDERTAKES NO OBLIGATIONS AND EXPRESSLY DISCLAIMS ANY RESPONSIBILITY TO UPDATE OR REVISE, OR PUBLICLY DISCLOSE ANY UPDATE OR REVISION TO, THESE FINANCIAL PROJECTIONS TO REFLECT CIRCUMSTANCES OR EVENTS, INCLUDING UNANTICIPATED EVENTS, THAT MAY HAVE OCCURRED OR THAT MAY OCCUR AFTER THE PREPARATION OF THESE FINANCIAL PROJECTIONS, EVEN IN THE EVENT THAT ANY OR ALL OF THE ASSUMPTIONS UNDERLYING THE FINANCIAL PROJECTIONS ARE SHOWN TO BE IN ERROR OR CHANGE.

The projections were prepared by, and are the responsibility of, UpHealth and GigCapital2 management. Plante & Moran, PLLC, UpHealth's independent auditor, and BPM LLP, GigCapital2's independent registered public accounting firm, have not examined, compiled or otherwise applied procedures with respect to the accompanying prospective financial information presented herein and, accordingly, expresses no opinion or any other form of assurance on it. The audit reports included in this proxy statement/prospectus relate to historical financial information of UpHealth, the companies acquired or being acquired by it, and Cloudbreak. It does not extend to the projections and should not be read as if it does.

Comparable Company Analysis

GigCapital2's management primarily relied upon a public company comparables analysis to assess the value that the public markets would likely ascribe to New UpHealth following the Business Combinations with GigCapital2 and this analysis was presented to the Board. The relative valuation analysis was based on publicly-traded companies in the digital health sectors, and included companies in these sectors that recently become public, as these were determined to be most comparable. The comparable public companies the GigCapital2 Board reviewed within these sectors are set forth in the table below. These companies were selected by GigCapital2 based upon discussions with UpHealth and Cloudbreak, and UpHealth's financial advisor, Needham. However, the GigCapital2 Board realized that no company was identical in nature to UpHealth.

The GigCapital2 Board reviewed, among other things, information for benchmarking of similar companies and information for comparable companies regarding estimated enterprise value multiples, projected revenue growth for 2021 over 2020 and EBITDA margins for 2021.

The key elements for benchmarking of similar companies, based on an analysis as of November 20, 2020, are summarized in the table below:

Notes:

Sources: Company filings, Bloomberg estimates as of market close on November 20, 2020

(1) Forecasts based on company estimates in Form S-4 filings

(2) Gray bar denotes pending SPAC transaction

(3) The UpHealth financial information presented is unaudited, includes non-GAAP financial measures and reflects the pro-forma combination of the individual business entities.

(1) Gray bar denotes pending SPAC transaction

(2) The UpHealth financial information presented is unaudited, includes non-GAAP financial measures and reflects the pro-forma combination of the individual business entities.

The multiples for the selected comparable companies, based on analysis as of November 20, 2020, are summarized in the table below:

The implied total enterprise value as a multiple of estimated 2021 revenues of the digital health companies in the first table above based upon a median estimated calendar year 2021 multiple is 12.0x. New UpHealth's estimated 2021 revenue multiple of total enterprise value of 6.9x is discounted 42% to this comparable set of publicly traded companies.

Based on the review of these selected comparable publicly traded companies, the GigCapital2 Board concluded that New UpHealth's pro forma implied total enterprise value as a multiple of its estimated 2021 revenue was below the total enterprise value as a multiple of the estimated 2021 revenues of similar benchmarks of such companies. This analysis supported the GigCapital2 Board's determination, based on a number of factors, that the terms of the Business Combinations were fair to and in the best interests of GigCapital2 and its stockholders.

Satisfaction of 80% Test

It is a requirement under our existing amended and restated certificate of incorporation and the NYSE listing requirements that the business or assets acquired in an initial business combination have a fair market value equal to at least 80% of the balance of the funds in the Trust Account (excluding the deferred underwriting discounts and commissions and taxes payable on the income earned on the Trust Account) at the time of the execution of a definitive agreement for an initial business combination. On November 19, 2020, there was approximately $174.2 million in the Trust Account, and 80% of that amount was therefore approximately $139.4 million. The fair market value of the target or targets had to be determined by the GigCapital2 Board based upon one or more standards generally accepted by the financial community, such as discounted cash flow valuation or value of comparable businesses. Subject to this requirement, our management has had virtually unrestricted flexibility in identifying and selecting one or more prospective target businesses, although GigCapital2 was not permitted to effectuate an initial business combination with another blank check company or a similar company with nominal operations. In any case, GigCapital2 determined that it would only complete an initial business combination in which it acquired 50% or more of the outstanding voting securities of the target or were otherwise not required to register as an investment company under the Investment Company Act. Furthermore, and for the reasons discussed above, GigCapital2 has determined that the combined fair market value of UpHealth and Cloudbreak exceeds $139.6 million, and therefore, that the requirement that the business or assets in an initial business combination have a fair market value equal to at least 80% of the balance of the funds in the Trust Account has been satisfied.

Interests of Certain Persons in the UpHealth Business Combination

In considering the recommendation of the GigCapital2 Board to vote in favor of the UpHealth Business Combination, stockholders should be aware that, aside from their interests as stockholders, our Sponsor and certain of our directors and officers have interests in the UpHealth Business Combination that are different from, or in addition to, those of other stockholders generally. Our directors were aware of and considered these interests, among other matters, in evaluating the UpHealth Business Combination, and in recommending to stockholders that they approve the UpHealth Business Combination. Stockholders should take these interests into account in deciding whether to approve the UpHealth Business Combination. These interests include, among other things:

- the fact that our Initial Stockholders have agreed not to redeem any of the Founder Shares in connection with a stockholder vote to approve the Business Combinations;
- the fact that our Initial Stockholders have agreed to waive their rights to liquidating distributions from the Trust Account with respect to their Founder Shares if we fail to complete an initial business combination by the applicable deadline;
- if the Trust Account is liquidated, including in the event we are unable to complete an initial business combination within the required time period, our Sponsor has agreed to indemnify us to ensure that the proceeds in the Trust Account are not reduced below $10.00 per public share, or such lesser amount per public share as is in the Trust Account on the liquidation date, by the claims of (a) any third party (other than our independent public accountants) for services rendered or products sold to us or (b) a prospective target business with which we have entered into a letter of intent, confidentiality or other similar agreement or UpHealth Business Combination Agreement, but only if such a third party or target business has not executed a waiver of all rights to seek access to the Trust Account;
- the continued indemnification of our existing directors and officers and the continuation of our directors' and officers' liability insurance after the UpHealth Business Combination;
- the fact that Dr. Avi Katz, Dr. Raluca Dinu and Neil Miotto will remain as board members of the post-combination company and each shall be entitled to receive compensation for serving on the board of directors of the post-combination company;
- the fact that we engaged the underwriters of our IPO as advisors to assist it in holding meetings with our stockholders to discuss potential business combination, introduce GigCapital2 to potential investors that are interested in purchasing our securities in connection with a potential business combination, assist it in obtaining stockholder approval for the business combination and assist us with our press releases and public filings in connection with a business combination. Pursuant to that agreement, we will pay the underwriters a cash fee for such services upon the consummation of the Business Combinations in an amount equal to, in the aggregate, 3.5% of the gross proceeds of the IPO, including any proceeds from the exercise of the over-allotment option; and
- the fact that our Sponsor, officers and directors will lose their entire investment in us if an initial business combination is not consummated by the applicable deadline. Prior to GigCapital2's initial public offering, our Founders purchased an aggregate of 4,307,500 Founder Shares for an aggregate purchase price of $25,000, or approximately $0.0058 per share (as compared to the $10.00 per share price being used to determine the number of shares of Common Stock being issued to the UpHealth and Cloudbreak equity holders in the Business Combinations or at which the PIPE Investors have agreed to purchase Common Stock), with the Sponsor purchasing 4,018,987 Founder Shares, Northland Investment purchasing 173,108 Founder Shares and the EarlyBird Group purchasing 115,405 Founder Shares. Additionally, the Founders purchased from GigCapital2 an aggregate of 567,500 Private Placement Units at a price of $10.00 per unit simultaneously with the consummation of GigCapital2's initial public offering for an aggregate purchase price of $5,675,000, with the Sponsor purchasing 481,250 Private Placement Units, Northland Investment purchasing 56,350 Private Placement Units and the EarlyBird Group purchasing 29,900 Private Placement Units. In addition, Northland concurrently purchased 120,000 Private Underwriter Shares at a price of $10.00 per share. Certain of GigCapital2's directors and executive officers, including Dr. Avi Katz, Dr. Raluca Dinu, Neil Miotto, John Mikulsky and Gil Frostig, also have a direct or indirect economic interest in the 481,250 Private Placement Units and in the 4,018,987 Founder Shares owned by the Sponsor. The 4,018,987 Founder Shares owned by the Sponsor would have had an aggregate market value of $40,390,819 based upon the closing price of $10.05 per public share on the NYSE on May 5, 2021, the most recent practicable date prior to the date of this proxy statement/prospectus. The 481,250 private placement units held by the Sponsor would have had an aggregate market value of $5,197,500 based upon the closing price of $10.80 per public unit on the NYSE on May 5, 2021, the most recent practicable date prior to the date of this proxy statement/prospectus. Additionally, the Sponsor, officers and directors do not currently have any unreimbursed out-of-pocket expenses in connection with the business combinations.

Potential Purchases of Public Shares

In connection with the stockholder vote to approve the UpHealth Business Combination, our Sponsor, directors, officers, advisors or any of their respective affiliates may privately negotiate transactions to purchase public shares from stockholders who would have otherwise elected to have their shares redeemed in conjunction with the UpHealth Business Combination for a per share pro rata portion of the Trust Account. There is no limit on the number of public shares our Sponsor, directors, officers, advisors or any of their respective affiliates may purchase in such transactions, subject to compliance with applicable law and the rules of the NYSE. Any such privately negotiated purchases may be effected at purchase prices that are in excess of the per share pro rata portion of the Trust Account. However, our Sponsor, directors, officers, advisors and their respective affiliates have no current commitments, plans or intentions to engage in such transactions and have not formulated any terms or conditions for any such transactions. None of the funds in the Trust Account will be used to purchase public shares or public warrants in such transactions. None of our Sponsor, directors, officers, advisors or any of their respective affiliates will make any such purchases when they are in possession of any material non-public information not disclosed to the seller of such public shares or during a restricted period under Regulation M under the Exchange Act. Such a purchase could include a contractual acknowledgement that such stockholder, although still the record holder of such public shares, is no longer the beneficial owner thereof and therefore agrees not to exercise its redemption rights, and could include a contractual provision that directs such stockholder to vote such shares in a manner directed by the purchaser.

In the event that our Sponsor, directors, officers, advisors or any of their respective affiliates purchase shares in privately negotiated transactions from public stockholders who have already elected to exercise their redemption rights, such selling stockholders would be required to revoke their prior elections to redeem their shares.

The purpose of any such purchases of public shares could be to (a) vote such shares in favor of the UpHealth Business Combination and thereby increase the likelihood of obtaining stockholder approval of the UpHealth Business Combination or (b) to satisfy a closing condition in the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement, where it appears that such requirement would otherwise not be met. The purpose of any such purchases of public warrants could be to reduce the number of public warrants outstanding. Any such purchases of our public shares or public warrants may result in the completion of the UpHealth Business Combination that may not otherwise have been possible. Any such purchases will be reported pursuant to Section 13 and Section 16 of the Exchange Act to the extent the purchasers are subject to such reporting requirements.

In addition, if such purchases are made, the public “float” of our Common Stock may be reduced and the number of beneficial holders of our securities may be reduced, which may make it difficult to maintain or obtain the quotation, listing or trading of our securities on a national securities exchange.

Our Sponsor, officers, directors, advisors or any of their respective affiliates anticipate that they may identify the stockholders with whom our Sponsor, officers, directors, advisors or any of their respective affiliates may pursue privately negotiated purchases by either the stockholders contacting us directly or by our receipt of redemption requests submitted by stockholders (in the case of shares of Common Stock) following our mailing of proxy materials in connection with the UpHealth Business Combination. To the extent that our Sponsor, officers, directors, advisors or any of their respective affiliates enter into a privately negotiated purchase, they would identify and contact only potential selling stockholders who have expressed their election to redeem their shares for a pro rata share of the Trust Account or vote against the Business Combinations, whether or not such stockholder has already submitted a proxy with respect to the UpHealth Business Combination but only if such shares have not already been voted at the stockholder meeting related to the UpHealth Business Combination. Our Sponsor, officers, directors, advisors or any of their respective affiliates will select which stockholders to purchase shares from based on the negotiated price and number of shares and any other factors that they may deem relevant, and will only purchase public shares if such purchases comply with Regulation M under the Exchange Act and the other federal securities laws.

Any purchases by our Sponsor, officers, directors, advisors or any of their respective affiliates who are affiliated purchasers under Rule 10b-18 under the Exchange Act will only be made to the extent such purchases are able to be made in compliance with Rule 10b-18, which is a safe harbor from liability for manipulation under Section 9(a)(2) of and Rule 10b-5 under the Exchange Act. Rule 10b-18 has certain technical requirements that must be complied with in order for the safe harbor to be available to the purchaser. Our Sponsor, officers, directors, advisors and any of their respective affiliates will not make purchases of Common Stock if the purchases would violate Section 9(a)(2) of or Rule 10b-5 under the Exchange Act.

Total Company Shares to Be Issued in the UpHealth Business Combination

We anticipate that, upon completion of the UpHealth Business Combination, the ownership of New UpHealth will be as follows:

- the former UpHealth equity holders will own 94,200,198 shares of our Common Stock, representing a 74.22% interest;
- the former Cloudbreak equity holders will own 9,021,209 shares of our Common Stock, representing a 7.11% interest;
- the public stockholders (not including any Initial Stockholders that own public shares) will own 18,679,815 shares of our Common Stock, representing a 14.72% interest; and
- the Initial Stockholders will own 5,023,376 shares of our Common Stock, representing a 3.96% interest.

The number of shares and the interests set forth above assume that (a) no public stockholders elect to have their public shares redeemed, (b) 94,200,198 shares of Common Stock are issued to the former UpHealth equity holders in the UpHealth Business Combination, (c) 9,021,209 shares of Common Stock are issued to the former Cloudbreak equity holders in the Cloudbreak Business Combination, (d) none of GigCapital2’s Initial Stockholders or the former UpHealth equity holders purchase shares of Common Stock in the open market and (e) there are no other issuances of equity interests of UpHealth. As a result of the UpHealth Business Combination, the economic and voting interests of our public stockholders will decrease.

The ownership percentages with respect to New UpHealth set forth above do not take into account warrants to purchase Common Stock that will remain outstanding immediately following the UpHealth Business

Combination, but do include the Founder Shares, which will convert into Common Stock upon an initial business combination. If the facts are different than these assumptions, the percentage ownership retained by GigCapital2's existing stockholders in UpHealth following the UpHealth Business Combination will be different. For example, if we assume that all outstanding 17,250,000 public warrants and 567,500 Private Placement Warrants were exercisable and exercised following completion of the UpHealth Business Combination, then the ownership of New UpHealth would be as follows:

- the former UpHealth equity holders will own 94,200,198 shares of our Common Stock, representing a 65.08% interest;
- the former Cloudbreak equity holders will own 9,021,209 shares of our Common Stock, representing a 6.23% interest;
- the public stockholders (not including any Initial Stockholders that own public shares) will own 35,929,815 shares of our Common Stock, representing a 24.82% interest;
- the Initial Stockholders will own 5,590,876 shares of our Common Stock, representing a 3.86% interest.

The public warrants and Private Placement Warrants will become exercisable 30 days after the completion of an initial business combination and will expire five years after the completion of an initial business combination or earlier upon their redemption or liquidation.

You should read “Summary of the Proxy Statement/Prospectus—Ownership of UpHealth After the Closing” and “Unaudited Pro Forma Condensed Combined Financial Information” for further information.

Board of Directors of New UpHealth Following the Business Combinations

Assuming the Election of Directors Proposal is approved by our stockholders at the special meeting, we expect the New UpHealth Board to be comprised of the individuals set forth below following the completion of the Business Combinations. Four independent directors (under NYSE rules) will be designated by a majority of Dr. Avi S. Katz, Dr. Raluca Dinu, Dr. Chirinjeev Kathuria and Dr. Mariya Pylypiv.

Name	Age	Position
Dr. Avi Katz	63	Co-Chairman of the Board
Dr. Chirinjeev Kathuria	56	Co-Chairman of the Board
Dr. Raluca Dinu	47	Director
Dr. Mariya Pylypiv	32	Director
Neil Miotto	74	Director
Nathan Locke	38	Director
Jerome Ringo	66	Director
Agnès Rey-Giraud	56	Director
Moshe Bar-Siman-Tov	44	Director

Upon the Closing Date, we anticipate that the New UpHealth Board will consist of nine members, reclassified into three separate classes, with each class serving a three-year term; except with respect to the election of directors at the special meeting pursuant to Proposal No. 7 — The Election of Directors Proposal, the Class I directors will be elected to an initial one-year term (and three-year terms subsequently), the Class II directors will be elected to an initial two-year term (and three-year terms subsequently) and the Class III directors will be elected to an initial three-year term (and three-year terms subsequently).

Our Board has nominated the following individuals for election at our special meeting pursuant to Proposal No. 7 — The Election of Directors Proposal:

- Class I Directors: Messrs. Bar-Siman-Tov, Miotto and Ringo;

- Class II Directors: Drs. Dinu and Pylypiv, and Mr. Locke; and
- Class III Directors: Drs. Katz and Kathuria and Ms. Rey-Giraud.

For additional details, see the sections of this proxy statement/prospectus entitled “Proposal No. 7 — The Election of Directors Proposal” and “Management After the Business Combinations.”

Redemption Rights

Pursuant to our current certificate of incorporation, holders of public shares may elect to have their shares redeemed for cash at the applicable redemption price per share calculated in accordance with our current certificate of incorporation. As of January 31, 2021, the estimated per share redemption price would have been approximately $10.10. If a holder exercises its redemption rights, then such holder will be exchanging its shares of our Common Stock for cash and will no longer own shares of the post-combination company. Such a holder will be entitled to receive cash for its public shares only if it properly demands redemption and delivers its shares (either physically or electronically) to our Transfer Agent in accordance with the procedures described herein.

Each redemption of shares of Common Stock by our public stockholders will reduce the amount in the Trust Account. The UpHealth Business Combination Agreement provides that our obligation to consummate the UpHealth Business Combination is conditioned on the amount of cash or cash equivalents that we have from any source be no less than an aggregate amount of $150,000,000. This condition to closing in the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement is for the sole benefit of the parties thereto and may be waived by UpHealth. If, as a result of redemptions of Common Stock by our public stockholders, this condition is not met (or waived), then we or UpHealth (as applicable) may elect not to consummate the Business Combinations. Furthermore, under the terms of the Convertible Note Subscription Agreements, a condition to the closing of the transactions contemplated by those agreements is that at least $50,000,000 remains in the Trust Account after giving effect to any redemptions. In addition, in no event will we redeem shares of our Common Stock in an amount that would result in the Company’s failure to have net tangible assets equaling or exceeding $5,000,001 (so that we are not subject to the SEC’s “penny stock” rules). Holders of our outstanding public warrants do not have redemption rights in connection with the Business Combinations. Please see the section entitled “Special Meeting of Company Stockholders - Redemption Rights” for the procedures to be followed if you wish to redeem your shares for cash.

Appraisal Rights

Appraisal rights are not available to our stockholders in connection with the UpHealth Business Combination.

Pursuant to Section 262 of the DGCL, UpHealth stockholders who comply with the applicable requirements of Section 262 of the DGCL and do not otherwise fail to perfect, waive, withdraw or lose the right to appraisal under Delaware law have the right to seek appraisal of the fair value of their shares of UpHealth capital stock, as determined by the Court of Chancery, if the UpHealth Business Combination is completed. The “fair value” of such shares of UpHealth capital stock as determined by the Court of Chancery may be more or less than, or the same as, the value of the consideration that such stockholder would otherwise be entitled to receive under the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement. UpHealth stockholders who do not vote in favor of the UpHealth Business Combination nor consent in writing to it and who wish to preserve their appraisal rights must so advise UpHealth by submitting a demand for appraisal within the period prescribed by Section 262 of the DGCL after receiving a notice from UpHealth or the Company that appraisal rights are available to them, and must otherwise precisely follow the procedures prescribed by Section 262 of the DGCL. Failure to follow any of the statutory procedures set forth in Section 262 of the DGCL will result in the loss or waiver of appraisal rights under Delaware law. In view of the complexity of Section 262 of the DGCL, UpHealth stockholders who may wish to pursue appraisal rights should consult their legal and financial advisors. Any shares of UpHealth capital stock that are outstanding immediately prior to the Effective Time and that are held by stockholders of the Company who shall have neither voted in favor of the UpHealth Business Combination nor consented thereto in writing and who shall have demanded properly in writing appraisal for such UpHealth capital stock in accordance with Section 262 of the DGCL and otherwise complied with all of the provisions of the DGCL relevant to the exercise and perfection of dissenters' rights are referred to as "Dissenting Shares." In view of the complexity of Section 262 of the DGCL, UpHealth stockholders who may wish to pursue appraisal rights should consult their legal and financial advisors.

Accounting Treatment

The UpHealth Business Combination will be accounted for as a reverse recapitalization in accordance with GAAP. Under this method of accounting, the Company will be treated as the "acquired" company for financial reporting purposes. Accordingly, for accounting purposes, the UpHealth Business Combination will be treated as the equivalent of New UpHealth issuing stock for the net assets of the Company, accompanied by a recapitalization whereby no goodwill or other intangible assets are recorded.

Name; Headquarters

The name of the post-combination company after the UpHealth Business Combination will be UpHealth, Inc. and our headquarters will be located at Delray Beach, Florida.

Certain U.S. Federal Income Tax Considerations

The following is a discussion of certain U.S. federal income tax consequences to holders of our Common Stock electing to have their shares redeemed for cash if the Business Combinations are completed, and the ownership and disposition of our Common Stock. This discussion is limited to holders that hold our Common Stock as a "capital asset" for U.S. federal income tax purposes (generally, property held for investment). This summary is based on the provisions of the Code, U.S. Treasury regulations, administrative rules and judicial decisions, all as in effect on the date hereof. These authorities may change or be subject to differing interpretations. Any such change or differing interpretation may be applied retroactively in a manner that could adversely affect holders to which this section applies. We have not sought and will not seek any rulings from the IRS with respect to the statements made and the conclusions reached in the following discussion, and there can be no assurance that the IRS or a court will agree with such statements and conclusions.

The following does not purport to be a complete analysis of all potential tax effects resulting from redemptions of our Common Stock or the ownership and disposition of our Common Stock, and this discussion does not address all aspects of U.S. federal income taxation that may be relevant to particular holders in light of their personal circumstances. In addition, this summary does not address the Medicare tax on certain investment income, U.S. federal estate or gift tax laws, any state, local or non-U.S. tax laws or any tax treaties. This summary also does not address tax considerations applicable to investors that may be subject to special treatment under the U.S. federal income tax laws, such as:

- banks, insurance companies or other financial institutions;
- tax-exempt or governmental organizations;
- qualified foreign pension funds (or any entities all of the interests of which are held by a qualified foreign pension fund);
- brokers or dealers in securities or foreign currencies;
- U.S. persons whose functional currency is not the U.S. dollar;
- "controlled foreign corporations," "passive foreign investment companies" and corporations that accumulate earnings to avoid U.S. federal income tax;

- traders in securities that use the mark-to-market method of accounting for U.S. federal income tax purposes;
- persons subject to the alternative minimum tax;
- partnerships or other pass-through entities for U.S. federal income tax purposes or holders of interests therein;
- persons deemed to sell our Common Stock under the constructive sale provisions of the Code;
- persons that acquired our Common Stock through the exercise of employee stock options or otherwise as compensation or through a tax-qualified retirement plan;
- real estate investment trusts;
- regulated investment companies;
- certain former citizens or long-term residents of the United States; and
- persons that hold our Common Stock, as part of a straddle, appreciated financial position, synthetic security, hedge, conversion transaction or other integrated investment or risk reduction transaction.

If a partnership (including an entity or arrangement treated as a partnership for U.S. federal income tax purposes) holds our Common Stock, the tax treatment of a partner in the partnership generally will depend upon the status of the partner, the activities of the partnership and certain determinations made at the partner level. Accordingly, we urge partners in partnerships (including entities or arrangements treated as partnerships for U.S. federal income tax purposes) holding our Common Stock to consult their tax advisors regarding the U.S. federal income tax consequences to them relating to the matters discussed below.

U.S. Holders

This section is addressed to U.S. Holders of our Common Stock. For purposes of this discussion, a “U.S. Holder” is a beneficial owner of shares of our Common Stock that is, for U.S. federal income tax purposes:

- an individual who is a citizen or resident of the United States;
- a corporation (or other entity taxable as a corporation for U.S. federal income tax purposes) created or organized in or under the laws of the United States, any state thereof or the District of Columbia;
- an estate the income of which is subject to U.S. federal income tax regardless of its source; or
- a trust (i) the administration of which is subject to the primary supervision of a U.S. court and which has one or more United States persons (within the meaning of the Code) who have the authority to control all substantial decisions of the trust or (ii) which has made a valid election under applicable U.S. Treasury regulations to be treated as a United States person.

Redemption of Our Common Stock

In the event that a U.S. Holder of our Common Stock exercises its redemption rights pursuant to the redemption provisions described in the section entitled “Special Meeting of Company Stockholders—Redemption Rights,” the treatment of the transaction for U.S. federal income tax purposes will depend on whether the redemption qualifies as a sale of the Common Stock under Section 302 of the Code. If the redemption qualifies as a sale of Common Stock, the U.S. Holder will be treated as described under “—Redemption Treated as a Sale of Our Common Stock” below. If the redemption does not qualify as a sale of Common Stock, the U.S. Holder will be treated as receiving a corporate distribution with the tax consequences described below under “—Redemption Treated as a Distribution.”

Whether a redemption qualifies as a sale of Common Stock will depend largely on the total number of shares of our stock treated as held by the U.S. Holder (including any stock constructively owned by the U.S. Holder as a result of owning warrants) relative to all of our shares of stock outstanding both before and after the redemption. The redemption of a U.S. Holder’s Common Stock generally will be treated as a sale of such Common Stock (rather than as a corporate distribution) if the redemption (i) is “substantially disproportionate” with respect to the U.S. Holder, (ii) results in a “complete termination” of the U.S. Holder’s interest in the Company or (iii) is “not essentially equivalent to a dividend” with respect to the U.S. Holder. These tests are explained more fully below.

In determining whether any of the foregoing tests are satisfied, a U.S. Holder takes into account not only stock owned directly by the U.S. Holder, but also shares of our stock that are treated as constructively owned by the U.S. Holder. In addition to stock actually owned by a U.S. Holder, such U.S. Holder may also be treated as constructively owning stock owned by certain related individuals and entities in which the U.S. Holder has an interest or that have an interest in such U.S. Holder, as well as any stock that the U.S. Holder has a right to acquire by exercise of an option, which would generally include Common Stock which could be acquired pursuant to the exercise of the warrants. In order to meet the substantially disproportionate test, the percentage of our outstanding voting stock actually and constructively owned by the U.S. Holder immediately following the redemption of Common Stock must, among other requirements, be less than 80% of the percentage of our outstanding voting stock actually and constructively owned by the U.S. Holder immediately before the redemption. There will be a complete termination of a U.S. Holder’s interest if either (i) all of the shares of our Common Stock actually and constructively owned by the U.S. Holder are redeemed or (ii) all of the shares of our Common Stock actually owned by the U.S. Holder are redeemed and the U.S. Holder is eligible to waive, and effectively waives in accordance with specific rules, the attribution of stock owned by certain family members and the U.S. Holder does not constructively own any other stock. Finally, the redemption of a U.S. Holder’s Common Stock will not be essentially equivalent to a dividend if such redemption results in a “meaningful reduction” of the U.S. Holder’s proportionate interest in us. Whether the redemption will result in a meaningful reduction in a U.S. Holder’s proportionate interest in the Company will depend on the particular facts and circumstances. However, the IRS has indicated in a published ruling that even a small reduction in the proportionate interest of a small minority stockholder in a publicly held corporation who exercises no control over corporate affairs may constitute such a “meaningful reduction.” A U.S. Holder should consult with its own tax advisors as to the tax consequences of electing to have our Common Stock redeemed for cash.

If none of the foregoing tests are satisfied, then the redemption will be treated as a corporate distribution, and the tax effects will be as described under “—Redemption Treated as a Distribution” below. After the application of those rules, any remaining tax basis of the U.S. Holder in the redeemed Common Stock will be added to the U.S. Holder’s adjusted tax basis in its remaining stock, or, if it has none, to the U.S. Holder’s adjusted tax basis in its warrants or possibly in other stock constructively owned by it.

Redemption Treated as a Sale of Our Common Stock. If the redemption qualifies as a sale of our Common Stock, a U.S. Holder generally will recognize capital gain or loss in an amount equal to the difference between (i) the amount of cash received in such redemption and (ii) the U.S. Holder’s adjusted tax basis in its Common Stock redeemed. A U.S. Holder’s adjusted tax basis in its Common Stock generally will equal the U.S. Holder’s acquisition cost less any prior distributions paid to such U.S. Holder that were treated as a return of capital for U.S. federal income tax purposes. Any capital gain or loss recognized with respect to a redemption generally will be long-term capital gain or loss if the U.S. Holder held the Common Stock redeemed for more than one year. Long-term capital gains recognized by non-corporate U.S. Holders will be eligible to be taxed at reduced rates. The deductibility of capital losses is subject to limitations.

Redemption Treated as a Distribution. If the redemption does not qualify as a sale of our Common Stock, the U.S. Holder will generally be treated as receiving a distribution of cash from the Company. Such distribution generally will constitute a dividend for U.S. federal income tax purposes to the extent paid from our current or accumulated earnings and profits, as determined under U.S. federal income tax principles. Distributions in excess of our current and accumulated earnings and profits will constitute a return of capital that will be applied against and reduce (but not below zero) the U.S. Holder's adjusted tax basis in our Common Stock. Any remaining excess will be treated as gain realized on the sale or other disposition of the Common Stock and will be treated as described under "—Redemption Treated as a Sale of Our Common Stock" above.

Dividends we pay to a U.S. Holder that is a corporation for U.S. federal income tax purposes generally will qualify for the dividends received deduction if the requisite holding period is satisfied. With certain exceptions (including, but not limited to, dividends treated as investment income for purposes of investment interest deduction limitations), and provided certain holding period requirements are met, dividends we pay to a non-corporate U.S. Holder generally will constitute "qualified dividends" that will be subject to tax at the maximum tax rate accorded to long-term capital gains. It is unclear whether the redemption rights with respect to the Common Stock described in this proxy statement/prospectus may prevent a U.S. Holder from satisfying the applicable holding period requirements with respect to the dividends received deduction or the preferential tax rate on qualified dividend income, as the case may be.

The rules governing the tax treatment of redemptions are complex and the determination of whether a redemption will be treated as a sale of our Common Stock or as a distribution with respect to our Common Stock is made on a holder-by-holder basis. U.S. Holders of our Common Stock considering the exercise of their redemption rights are encouraged to consult their own tax advisors as to whether the redemption of their Common Stock will be treated as a sale or as a distribution under the Code.

Ownership and Disposition of Our Common Stock

Distributions on Our Common Stock. If we pay cash distributions to U.S. Holders of shares of our Common Stock, such distributions generally will constitute dividends for U.S. federal income tax purposes to the extent paid from our current or accumulated earnings and profits, as determined under U.S. federal income tax principles. Distributions in excess of current and accumulated earnings and profits will constitute a return of capital that will be applied against and reduce (but not below zero) the U.S. Holder's adjusted tax basis in our Common Stock. Any remaining excess will be treated as gain realized on the sale or other disposition of the Common Stock and will be treated as described under "—Sale, Taxable Exchange or Other Taxable Disposition of Our Common Stock" below.

Dividends we pay to a U.S. Holder that is a corporation generally will qualify for the dividends received deduction (at varying percentages based upon such U.S. Holder's ownership percentage in us) if the requisite holding period is satisfied. With certain exceptions (including, but not limited to, dividends treated as investment income for purposes of investment interest deduction limitations) and provided certain holding period requirements are met, dividends we pay to a non-corporate U.S. Holder generally will constitute "qualified dividends" that will be subject to tax at the maximum tax rate accorded to long-term capital gains.

Sale, Taxable Exchange or Other Taxable Disposition of Our Common Stock. Upon a sale, taxable exchange or other taxable disposition of our Common Stock, a U.S. Holder generally will recognize capital gain or loss in an amount equal to the difference between the amount realized and the U.S. Holder's adjusted tax basis in the shares of our Common Stock. Any such capital gain or loss generally will be long-term capital gain or loss if the U.S. Holder's holding period for shares of our Common Stock so disposed of exceeds one year. Long-term capital gains recognized by non-corporate U.S. Holders will be eligible to be taxed at reduced rates. The deductibility of capital losses is subject to limitations. Generally, the amount of gain or loss recognized by a U.S. Holder is an amount equal to the difference between (i) the sum of the amount of cash and the fair market value of any property received in such disposition and (ii) the U.S. Holder's adjusted tax basis in its Common Stock so disposed of.

Information Reporting and Backup Withholding

Payments received by a U.S. Holder may be subject, under certain circumstances, to information reporting and backup withholding. Backup withholding will not apply, however, to a U.S. Holder that (i) is a corporation or entity that is otherwise exempt from backup withholding (which, when required, certifies as to its exempt status) or (ii) furnishes a correct taxpayer identification number and makes any other required certification on IRS Form W-9.

Backup withholding is not an additional tax. Rather, the U.S. income tax liability (if any) of persons subject to backup withholding will be reduced by the amount of tax withheld. If backup withholding results in an overpayment of taxes, a refund may be obtained, provided that the required information is timely furnished to the IRS.

Non-U.S. Holders

This section is addressed to Non-U.S. Holders of our Common Stock. For purposes of this discussion, a “Non-U.S. Holder” is any beneficial owner of our Common Stock that is neither a U.S. Holder nor an entity treated as a partnership for U.S. federal income tax purposes.

Redemption of Our Common Stock

The characterization of the redemption of a Non-U.S. Holder’s shares of our Common Stock pursuant to the redemption provisions described in the section entitled “Special Meeting of Company Stockholders—Redemption Rights” as a sale or distribution for U.S. federal income tax purposes generally will correspond to the U.S. federal income tax characterization of such a redemption of a U.S. Holder’s Common Stock, as described under “U.S. Holders—Redemption of Our Common Stock” above.

Redemption Treated as a Sale of Our Common Stock. If the redemption qualifies as a sale of our Common Stock with respect to a Non-U.S. Holder, subject to the discussions below under “Non-U.S. Holders—Information Reporting and Backup Withholding” and “Non-U.S. Holders—Foreign Account Tax Compliance Act,” such Non-U.S. Holder generally should not be subject to U.S. federal income or withholding tax in respect of any such gain realized upon the redemption of its Common Stock unless:

- the Non-U.S. Holder is an individual who is present in the United States for a period or periods aggregating 183 days or more during the calendar year in which the sale or disposition occurs and certain other conditions are met;
- the gain is effectively connected with a trade or business conducted by the Non-U.S. Holder in the United States (and, if required by an applicable income tax treaty, is attributable to a permanent establishment maintained by the Non-U.S. Holder in the United States); or
- we are or have been a “U.S. real property holding corporation” (a “USRPHC”) for U.S. federal income tax purposes at any time during the shorter of the five-year period ending on the date of disposition or the period that the Non-U.S. Holder held our Common Stock, and, in the case where shares of our Common Stock are regularly traded on an established securities market, the Non-U.S. Holder has owned, directly or constructively, more than 5% of our Common Stock at any time within the shorter of the five-year period preceding the disposition or such Non-U.S. Holder’s holding period for the shares of our Common Stock.

A Non-U.S. Holder described in the first bullet point above will be subject to U.S. federal income tax at a rate of 30% (or such lower rate as specified by an applicable income tax treaty) on the amount of such gain, which generally may be offset by U.S. source capital losses.

A Non-U.S. Holder whose gain is described in the second bullet point above generally will be taxed on a net income basis at the rates and in the manner generally applicable to United States persons (as defined in the Code) unless an applicable income tax treaty provides otherwise. If the Non-U.S. Holder is a corporation for U.S. federal income tax purposes whose gain is described in the second bullet point above, then such gain would also be included in its effectively connected earnings and profits (as adjusted for certain items), which may be subject to a branch profits tax (at a rate of 30% or such lower rate as specified by an applicable income tax treaty).

Generally, a corporation is a USRPHC if the fair market value of its United States real property interests equals or exceeds 50% of the sum of the fair market value of its worldwide property interests and its other assets used or held for use in a trade or business. We believe that we currently are not (and have not been during the applicable testing period) a USRPHC for U.S. federal income tax purposes.

Redemption Treated as a Distribution. If the redemption does not qualify as a sale of our Common Stock, a Non-U.S. Holder will generally be treated as receiving a distribution of cash from the Company. Such distribution generally will constitute a dividend for U.S. federal income tax purposes to the extent paid from our current or accumulated earnings and profits, as determined under U.S. federal income tax principles. Distributions in excess of our current and accumulated earnings and profits will constitute a return of capital that will be applied against and reduce (but not below zero) the Non-U.S. Holder's adjusted tax basis in our Common Stock. Any remaining excess will be treated as gain realized on the sale or other disposition of the Common Stock and will be treated as described under "—Redemption Treated as a Sale of Our Common Stock" above.

Subject to the withholding requirements under FATCA (as defined below) and provided such dividend is not effectively connected with the Non-U.S. Holder's conduct of a trade or business within the United States, each of which is discussed below, any portion of such distribution treated as a dividend made to a Non-U.S. Holder on our Common Stock generally will be subject to U.S. withholding tax at a rate of 30% of the gross amount of the dividend unless an applicable income tax treaty provides for a lower rate. To receive the benefit of a reduced treaty rate, a Non-U.S. Holder must provide the applicable withholding agent with an applicable IRS Form W-8, together with all attachments (or a successor form) certifying qualification for the reduced rate. Because we generally cannot determine at the time we make a distribution whether or not the distribution will exceed our current and accumulated earnings and profits, we normally will withhold tax on the entire amount of any distribution at the 30% rate (subject to reduction by an applicable income tax treaty). However, some or all of any amounts thus withheld may be refundable to the Non-U.S. Holder if it is subsequently determined that such distribution was, in fact, in excess of our current and accumulated earnings and profits.

Dividends paid to a Non-U.S. Holder that are effectively connected with a trade or business conducted by the Non-U.S. Holder within the United States (and, if required by an applicable income tax treaty, are treated as attributable to a permanent establishment maintained by the Non-U.S. Holder in the United States) generally will be taxed on a net income basis at the rates and in the manner generally applicable to United States persons (as defined under the Code). Such effectively connected dividends will not be subject to U.S. withholding tax if the Non-U.S. Holder satisfies certain certification requirements by providing the applicable withholding agent with a properly executed IRS Form W-8ECI certifying eligibility for exemption. If the Non-U.S. Holder is a corporation for U.S. federal income tax purposes, it may also be subject to a branch profits tax (at a 30% rate or such lower rate as specified by an applicable income tax treaty) on its effectively connected earnings and profits (as adjusted for certain items), which will include effectively connected dividends.

The rules governing the tax treatment of redemptions are complex and the determination of whether a redemption will be treated as a sale of the Common Stock or as a distribution with respect to such stock is made on a holder-by-holder basis. As a result, a withholding agent may require a Non-U.S. Holder to provide certain information regarding its ownership in order to determine whether the redemption proceeds should be treated as sale proceeds or as a distribution subject to withholding. Non-U.S. Holders of our Common Stock considering the exercise of their redemption rights are encouraged to consult their own tax advisors as to whether the redemption of their Common Stock will be treated as a sale or as a distribution under the Code.

Ownership and Disposition of Our Common Stock

Distributions on Our Common Stock. In general, any distributions we make to a Non-U.S. Holder of shares of our Common Stock, to the extent paid out of our current or accumulated earnings and profits (as determined under U.S. federal income tax principles), will constitute dividends for U.S. federal income tax purposes and, provided such dividends are not effectively connected with the Non-U.S. Holder's conduct of a trade or business within the United States, we will be required to withhold tax from the gross amount of the dividend at a rate of 30%, unless such Non-U.S. Holder is eligible for a reduced rate of withholding tax under an applicable income tax treaty and provides proper certification of its eligibility for such reduced rate (usually on an IRS Form W-8BEN or W-8BEN-E). Any distribution not constituting a dividend will be treated first as reducing (but not below zero) the Non-U.S. Holder's adjusted tax basis in its shares of our Common Stock and, to the extent such distribution exceeds the Non-U.S. Holder's adjusted tax basis, as gain realized from the sale or other disposition of the Common Stock, which will be treated as described under "—Sale, Taxable Exchange or Other Taxable Disposition of Our Common Stock" below.

This withholding tax does not apply to dividends paid to a Non-U.S. Holder who provides a Form W-8ECI, certifying that the dividends are effectively connected with the Non-U.S. Holder's conduct of a trade or business within the United States. Instead, the effectively connected dividends will be subject to regular U.S. income tax as if the Non-U.S. Holder were a U.S. resident, subject to an applicable income tax treaty providing otherwise. A Non-U.S. corporation receiving effectively connected dividends may also be subject to an additional "branch profits tax" imposed at a rate of 30% (or a lower treaty rate). In addition, if we determine that we are likely to be classified as a USRPHC (see "—Sale, Taxable Exchange or Other Taxable Disposition of Our Common Stock" below), we may withhold up to 15% of any distribution to a Non-U.S. Holder to which Section 301 of the Code applies and which is not made out of our earnings and profits.

Sale, Taxable Exchange or Other Taxable Disposition of Our Common Stock. Subject to the discussions below under "Non-U.S. Holders—Information Reporting and Backup Withholding" and "Non-U.S. Holders—Foreign Account Tax Compliance Act," a Non-U.S. Holder generally should not be subject to U.S. federal income or withholding tax in respect of any gain recognized on a sale, taxable exchange or other taxable disposition of our Common Stock, unless:

- the Non-U.S. Holder is an individual who is present in the United States for a period or periods aggregating 183 days or more during the calendar year in which the sale or disposition occurs and certain other conditions are met;
- the gain is effectively connected with a trade or business conducted by the Non-U.S. Holder in the United States (and, if required by an applicable income tax treaty, is attributable to a permanent establishment maintained by the Non-U.S. Holder in the United States); or
- we are or have been a USRPHC for U.S. federal income tax purposes at any time during the shorter of the five-year period ending on the date of disposition or the period that the Non-U.S. Holder held our Common Stock, and, in the case where shares of our Common Stock are regularly traded on an established securities market, the Non-U.S. Holder has owned, directly or constructively, more than 5% of our Common Stock at any time within the shorter of the five-year period preceding the disposition or such Non-U.S. Holder's holding period for the shares of our Common Stock.

A Non-U.S. Holder described in the first bullet point above will be subject to U.S. federal income tax at a rate of 30% (or such lower rate as specified by an applicable income tax treaty) on the amount of such gain, which generally may be offset by U.S. source capital losses.

A Non-U.S. Holder whose gain is described in the second bullet point above generally will be taxed on a net income basis at the rates and in the manner generally applicable to United States persons (as defined in the Code) unless an applicable income tax treaty provides otherwise. If the Non-U.S. Holder is a corporation for U.S. federal income tax purposes whose gain is described in the second bullet point above, then such gain would also be included in its effectively connected earnings and profits (as adjusted for certain items), which may be subject to a branch profits tax (at a rate of 30% or such lower rate as specified by an applicable income tax treaty).

If the third bullet point above applies to a Non-U.S. Holder, gain recognized by such holder on the sale, exchange or other disposition of our Common Stock will be subject to tax at generally applicable U.S. federal income tax rates. In addition, a buyer of our Common Stock from such holder may be required to withhold U.S. federal income tax at a rate of 15% of the amount realized upon such disposition. We do not believe we currently are a USRPHC and we do not anticipate becoming one in the near future, although no assurances can be given in this regard.

Information Reporting and Backup Withholding

Any dividends paid to a Non-U.S. Holder (including a redemption of our Common Stock treated as such) must be reported annually to the IRS and to the Non-U.S. Holder. Copies of these information returns may be made available to the tax authorities in the country in which the Non-U.S. Holder resides or is established. Any dividends paid to a Non-U.S. Holder (including constructive dividends received pursuant to a redemption of our Common Stock) generally will not be subject to backup withholding if the Non-U.S. Holder establishes an exemption by properly certifying its non-U.S. status on an applicable IRS Form W-8, together with all attachments (or a successor form).

Payments of the proceeds of the sale or other disposition by a Non-U.S. Holder of our Common Stock effected by or through a U.S. office of a broker generally will be subject to information reporting and backup withholding (at the applicable rate) unless the Non-U.S. Holder establishes an exemption by properly certifying its non-U.S. status on an applicable IRS Form W-8 (or a successor form) and certain other conditions are met. Information reporting and backup withholding generally will not apply to any payment of the proceeds from a sale or other disposition of our Common Stock effected outside the United States by a non-U.S. office of a broker. However, unless such broker has documentary evidence in its records that the Non-U.S. Holder is not a United States person and certain other conditions are met, or the Non-U.S. Holder otherwise establishes an exemption, information reporting will apply to a payment of the proceeds of the disposition of our Common Stock effected outside the United States by such a broker if it has certain relationships within the United States.

Backup withholding is not an additional tax. Rather, the U.S. federal income tax liability (if any) of persons subject to backup withholding will be reduced by the amount of tax withheld. If backup withholding results in an overpayment of taxes, a refund may be obtained, provided that the required information is timely furnished to the IRS.

Additional Withholding Requirements under FATCA

Sections 1471 through 1474 of the Code, and the U.S. Treasury regulations and administrative guidance issued thereunder (“FATCA”), impose a 30% withholding tax on any dividends paid on our Common Stock, and subject to the discussion of certain proposed Treasury regulations below, on the gross proceeds from a disposition of our Common Stock, in each case if paid to a “foreign financial institution” or a “non-financial foreign entity” (each as defined in the Code) (including, in some cases, when such foreign financial institution or non-financial foreign entity is acting as an intermediary), unless (i) in the case of a foreign financial institution, such institution enters into an agreement with the U.S. government to withhold on certain payments, and to collect and provide to the U.S. tax authorities substantial information regarding U.S. account holders of such institution (which includes certain equity and debt holders of such institution, as well as certain account holders that are non-U.S. entities with U.S. owners), (ii) in the case of a non-financial foreign entity, such entity certifies that it does not have any “substantial United States owners” (as defined in the Code) or provides the applicable withholding agent with a certification identifying the direct and indirect substantial United States owners of the entity, or (iii) the foreign financial institution or non-financial foreign entity otherwise qualifies for an exemption from these rules and provides appropriate documentation. Foreign financial institutions located in jurisdictions that have an intergovernmental agreement with the United States governing these rules may be subject to different rules. Under certain circumstances, a holder might be eligible for refunds or credits of such taxes.

The U.S. Treasury released proposed Treasury regulations which, if finalized in their present form, would eliminate the federal withholding tax of 30% applicable to the gross proceeds of a sale or other disposition of our Common Stock. In its preamble to such proposed Treasury regulations, the U.S. Treasury stated that taxpayers may generally rely on the proposed regulations until final regulations are issued.

Non-U.S. Holders are encouraged to consult with their own tax advisors regarding the possible implications of FATCA to them.

Regulatory Matters

Neither GigCapital2 nor UpHealth is aware of any material regulatory approvals or actions that are required for completion of the UpHealth Business Combination other than as required under the HSR Act. The parties have filed a premerger notification under the HSR Act, and all waiting periods related to the notification have expired or been granted early termination. It is presently contemplated that if any additional regulatory approvals or actions are required, those approvals or actions will be sought. There can be no assurance, however, that any such additional approvals or actions will be obtained.

Vote Required for Approval

The UpHealth Business Combination is conditioned on the approval of the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal, the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal, the NYSE Stock Issuance Proposal, the Charter Approval Proposal, the Incentive Plan Proposal and the Election of Directors Proposal at the Special Meeting. The proposals in this proxy statement/prospectus (other than the Adjournment Proposal) are conditioned on the approval of the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal.

This UpHealth Business Combination Proposal (and consequently, the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement and the transactions contemplated thereby, including the UpHealth Business Combination) will be adopted and approved only if at least a majority of the votes cast at the Special Meeting vote “FOR” the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal. A stockholder’s failure to vote, as well as an abstention and broker non-vote, will have no effect on the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal. Abstentions will be counted in connection with the determination of whether a valid quorum is established but will have no effect on the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal.

Our Initial Stockholders have agreed to vote their shares of Common Stock “FOR” the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal. As of the record date, our Initial Stockholders own approximately 23% of our issued and outstanding shares of Common Stock.

Recommendation of the GigCapital2 Board

OUR BOARD OF DIRECTORS RECOMMENDS THAT OUR STOCKHOLDERS VOTE “FOR”
THE UPHEALTH BUSINESS COMBINATION PROPOSAL.

The existence of financial and personal interests of one or more of the Company’s directors or officers may result in a conflict of interest on the part of such director(s) or officer(s) between what he or they may believe is in the best interests of the Company and its stockholders and what he or they may believe is best for himself or themselves in determining to recommend that stockholders vote for the proposals. See the section above entitled “—Interests of Certain Persons in the Transactions” for a further discussion.

PROPOSAL NO. 2—APPROVAL OF THE CLOUDBREAK BUSINESS COMBINATION

We are asking our stockholders to approve and adopt the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement and the Cloudbreak Business Combination. Our stockholders should carefully read this proxy statement/prospectus in its entirety for more detailed information concerning the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement, a copy of which is attached as Annex B to this proxy statement/prospectus. Please see the subsection below entitled “The Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement” for additional information and a summary of certain terms of the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement. You are urged to read carefully the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement in its entirety before voting on this proposal.

Because we are holding a special meeting of stockholders to vote on the Cloudbreak Business Combination, pursuant to the terms of Section 9.2(e) of our current amended and restated certificate of incorporation, we may consummate the Cloudbreak Business Combination only if it is approved by the affirmative vote (online or by proxy) of the holders of a majority of the outstanding shares of our Common Stock entitled to vote and actually cast thereon online at the special meeting, voting as a single class.

The Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement

This subsection of the proxy statement/prospectus describes the material provisions of the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement, but does not purport to describe all of the terms of the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement. The following summary is qualified in its entirety by reference to the complete text of the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement, a copy of which is attached as Annex B hereto. You are urged to read the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement in its entirety because it is the primary legal document that governs the Cloudbreak Business Combination. All capitalized terms used in this Proposal No. 2 but not otherwise defined herein shall have the meanings assigned to such terms in the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement.

The Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement contains representations, warranties and covenants that the respective parties made to each other as of the date of the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement or other specific dates. The assertions embodied in those representations, warranties and covenants were made and will be made for purposes of the contract among the respective parties and are subject to important qualifications and limitations agreed to by the parties in connection with negotiating the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement. The representations, warranties and covenants in the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement are also modified in important part by the underlying disclosure schedules, which we refer to as the “Schedules,” which are not filed publicly and which are subject to a contractual standard of materiality different from that generally applicable to stockholders and were used for the purpose of allocating risk among the parties rather than establishing matters as facts.

General: Structure of the Cloudbreak Business Combination

On November 20, 2020, GigCapital2, Cloudbreak Merger Sub and Cloudbreak entered into the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement (as subsequently amended and as it may be further amended from time to time), pursuant to which Cloudbreak Merger Sub and Cloudbreak will enter into the Cloudbreak Business Combination. The terms of the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement, which contains customary representations and warranties, covenants, closing conditions, termination provisions and other terms relating to the merger and the other transactions contemplated thereby, are summarized below.

The merger is to become effective by the filing of a certificate of merger with the Secretary of State of the State of Delaware and will be effective immediately upon such filing or upon such later time as may be agreed by the parties and specified in such certificate of merger. The parties will hold the Closing immediately prior to such filing of a certificate of merger, on the closing date to be specified by GigCapital2 and Cloudbreak, following the satisfaction or waiver (to the extent such waiver is permitted by applicable law) of the conditions set forth in the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement (other than those conditions that by their nature are to be satisfied at the Closing, but subject to the satisfaction or waiver of those conditions at such time), but in no event later than three business days after the satisfaction or waiver, if legally permissible, of each of the conditions to the completion of the Cloudbreak Business Combination (or on such other date, time or place as GigCapital2 and Cloudbreak may mutually agree).

Immediately prior to the effective time of the Cloudbreak Business Combination, (i) each Common Unit (as defined in the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement) (and the membership interests represented thereby) issued and outstanding immediately prior to the Closing shall be converted into the right to receive a number of shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock equal to the Common Unit Exchange Ratio (together with any Business Combination Share Adjustment, as defined below, to which each Common Unit is entitled, the “Common Unit Merger Consideration”); (ii) each Series A Preferred Unit (as defined in the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement) (and the membership interests represented thereby) issued and outstanding immediately prior to the Closing shall be converted into the right to receive a number of shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock equal to the Preferred Unit Exchange Ratio (in addition to any Business Combination Share Adjustment to which each Series A Preferred Unit is entitled); and (iii) each Option (as defined in the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement) that is outstanding and unexercised immediately prior to the Closing, whether vested or unvested, shall be assumed by GigCapital2 and converted into an option to purchase a number of shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock in an amount set forth on the Allocation Schedule (as defined in the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement), which amount shall be equal to the product of (i) the number of Common Units subject to such Option, multiplied by (ii) the Common Unit Exchange Ratio (as defined in the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement) (each such converted option, an “Exchanged Option”); provided, however, that any fractional share resulting from such multiplication shall be rounded up to the nearest whole share, and the Company shall pay to such Continuing Employee (as defined in the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement) a cash amount in respect of such fractional share on the next full payroll cycle following Closing. Each holder of Exchanged Options shall also be entitled to any Business Combination Share Adjustment (as defined in the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement) made pursuant to the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement.

Except as specifically agreed to otherwise or provided in the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement, following the Closing, each Exchanged Option shall continue to be governed by the same vesting and exercisability terms and otherwise substantially similar terms and conditions as were applicable to the corresponding former Option immediately prior to the Closing. Additionally, immediately prior to the Closing, each Common Warrant (as defined in the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement) shall convert into Common Units in accordance with their terms. The aggregate number of shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock issuable at the Closing, and upon the exercise of all Exchanged Options on a net exercise basis, shall equal 11,000,000 shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock. Furthermore, in connection with the Closing, (i) GigCapital2 has agreed to repay or cause to be repaid on behalf of Cloudbreak certain debt obligations of Cloudbreak of approximately $28,000,000 and (ii) the Significant UpHealth Stockholders have agreed to subject 5,500,000 of their shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock (as adjusted for stock splits, combinations, reorganizations and the like) that they would receive upon the Closing as part of the UpHealth Business Combination to potential forfeiture and transfer (such transfer, the “Business Combination Share Adjustment”) to the Cloudbreak members in connection with a Valuation Shortfall on the 540th day from the date of the Closing (or if such day is not a business day, the following business day) (the “Measurement Date”) as provided in the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement. A Valuation Shortfall shall occur if the dollar volume-weighted average price for the GigCapital2 Common Stock on the New York Stock Exchange during the period beginning at 9:30 a.m., New York time, and ending at 4:00 p.m., New York time, as reported by Bloomberg through its “HP” function (set to weighted average) or if not available on Bloomberg, as reported by Morningstar (the “VWAP”) for the ten trading days preceding the Measurement Date (the “Reference VWAP”) is less than $13.64, and the amount of such Valuation Shortfall is the difference between $13.64 minus the Reference VWAP. In the event that a Valuation Shortfall occurs, the amount of shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock that the Significant UpHealth Stockholders shall forfeit to the Cloudbreak members will be the lesser of (i) the Adjustment Amount and (ii) 5,500,000 (or, if the Adjustment Amount equals 5,500,000, the Adjustment Amount). The Adjustment Amount means the quotient (rounded up to the nearest whole number) of (A) the Aggregate Valuation Shortfall, divided by (B) the Reference VWAP. The Aggregate Valuation Shortfall means the product of (A) the amount of the Valuation Shortfall multiplied by (B) 11,000,000.

Conversion of Securities

At the effective time of the Cloudbreak Business Combination, by virtue of the merger and without any action on the part of GigCapital2, Cloudbreak Merger Sub, Cloudbreak or the holders of any of Cloudbreak's securities:

- each Common Warrant shall convert into Common Units in accordance with their terms;
- each Common Unit (and the membership interests represented thereby) issued and outstanding immediately prior to the effective time of the Cloudbreak Business Combination will be converted into the right to receive the number of shares of our Common Stock equal to the Common Unit Exchange Ratio;
- each Series A Preferred Unit (and the membership interests represented thereby) issued and outstanding immediately prior to the effective time of the Cloudbreak Business Combination will be converted into the right to receive the number of shares of our Common Stock equal to the Preferred Unit Exchange Ratio;
- each Cloudbreak option that is outstanding and unexercised immediately prior to the effective time of the Cloudbreak Business Combination, whether vested or unvested, shall be assumed by us and converted into an option to purchase a number of shares of our Common Stock in an amount set forth on the Allocation Schedule (as defined in the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement), which amount shall be equal to the product of (a) the number of Common Units subject to such Cloudbreak option multiplied by (b) the Common Unit Exchange Ratio; provided, however, that any fractional share resulting from such multiplication shall be rounded up to the nearest whole share, and we will pay to such Continuing Employee (as defined in the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement) a cash amount in respect of such fractional share on the next full payroll cycle following the closing of the Cloudbreak Business Combination. The exercise price of each such option shall be equal to (A) the exercise price of the option from which it was converted, divided by (B) the Common Unit Exchange Ratio, with such quotient rounded down to the nearest whole cent. Each holder of Exchanged Options shall also be entitled to any Business Combination Share Adjustment made pursuant to the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement and, to the extent applicable, Section 424(a) of the Code. Except as specifically provided in the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement or as otherwise agreed to in writing, following the effective time of the Cloudbreak Business Combination, each exchanged option will continue to be governed by the same vesting and exercisability terms and otherwise substantially similar terms and conditions as were applicable to the corresponding former Cloudbreak option immediately prior to the effective time of the Cloudbreak Business Combination; and
- any fractional shares of our common stock shall be rounded up to a whole share of common.

Following the consummation of the Cloudbreak Business Combination, the proposed Second Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation will be filed with the Office of the Secretary of State of the State of Delaware.

Closing

The Closing will occur as promptly as practicable, but in no event later than three business days following the satisfaction or waiver, if legally permissible, of all of the closing conditions.

A Valuation Shortfall shall occur if the VWAP for the ten trading days preceding the Measurement Date is less than $13.64, and the amount of such Valuation Shortfall is the difference between $13.64 and the Reference VWAP. Conduct of Business Pending the Merger

Cloudbreak has agreed that, prior to the effective time of the Cloudbreak Business Combination or termination of the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement, subject to certain exceptions, it will conduct its business in the ordinary course of business and in a manner consistent with past practice. Cloudbreak has also agreed to use its commercially reasonable efforts to preserve substantially intact the business organization of

Cloudbreak and its subsidiaries, to keep the services of its Key Employees (as that term is defined in the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement), except as would not result or be reasonably likely to result in a material adverse effect for Cloudbreak and its subsidiaries as a whole, and to conduct the business of Cloudbreak and its Subsidiaries in compliance with applicable laws, including all healthcare laws. - GigCapital2 shall have received a written opinion from DLA Piper LLP (US) (or another law firm or accounting firm reasonably satisfactory to GigCapital2), issued to GigCapital2 and in form and substance reasonably acceptable to GigCapital2, to the effect that on the basis of facts, representations and assumptions set forth or referred to in such opinion, the Cloudbreak Business Combination, taken together with the UpHealth Business Combination and other related transactions, should qualify as an exchange described in Section 351(a) of the Code; and
- Cloudbreak shall have delivered to GigCapital2 its audited financial statements for the years ended December 31, 2018 and 2019.

Some of the conditions to GigCapital2’s obligations are qualified by the concept of a “Cloudbreak Material Adverse Effect.” Under the terms of the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement, a “Cloudbreak Material Adverse Effect” means any event, circumstance, change, development, effect or occurrence (collectively, “Effect”) that, individually or in the aggregate with all other Effects, (a) is or would reasonably be expected to be materially adverse to the business, financial condition, assets, liabilities or results of operations of Cloudbreak and its subsidiaries taken as a whole or (b) would prevent, materially delay or materially impede the performance by the Company of its obligations under this Agreement or the consummation of the Merger or any of the other Transactions; provided, however, that none of the following shall be deemed to constitute, alone or in combination, or be taken into account in the determination of whether, there has been or will be a Cloudbreak Material Adverse Effect: (i) any change or proposed change in or change in the interpretation of any Law or GAAP after the date of this Agreement; (ii) events or conditions generally affecting the industries or geographic areas in which Cloudbreak and its subsidiaries operate; (iii) any downturn in general economic conditions, including changes in the credit, debt, securities, financial or capital markets (including changes in interest or exchange rates, prices of any security or market index or commodity or any disruption of such markets); (iv) any geopolitical conditions, outbreak of hostilities, acts of war, sabotage, civil unrest, cyberterrorism, terrorism, military actions, weather conditions, epidemics, pandemics or other outbreaks of illness (including COVID-19 or any similar or related disease caused by the SARS-CoV-2 virus or any mutation or evolution thereof), or public health events, or any escalation or worsening of any such acts of war, sabotage, civil unrest or terrorism, or changes in global, national, regional, state or local political or social conditions; (v) any hurricane, tornado, flood, earthquake, volcanic activity, tsunami, flood, mudslide, wild fire, natural disaster, or other acts of God, (vi) any actions taken or not taken by Cloudbreak and its subsidiaries as required by the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement or any of the related agreements entered into in connection with the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement, (vii) any Effect attributable to the announcement or execution, pendency, negotiation or consummation of the Merger or any of the other Transactions (including the impact thereof on relationships with customers, suppliers, employees or Governmental Authorities), (viii) any failure to meet any projections, forecasts, guidance, estimates, milestones, budgets or financial or operating predictions of revenue, earnings, cash flow or cash position, provided that this clause (viii) shall not prevent a determination that any change, event, or occurrence underlying such failure has resulted in a Cloudbreak Material Adverse Effect, (ix) any actions taken, or failures to take action, or such other changes or events, in each case, which GigCapital2 has requested or to which it has consented or which actions are contemplated by this Agreement or (x) any statements or items set forth in the Cloudbreak disclosure schedules, except in the cases of clauses (i) through (iii), to the extent that Cloudbreak and its subsidiaries, taken as a whole, are disproportionately affected thereby as compared with other participants in the industries in which the Cloudbreak and its subsidiaries operate.

Cloudbreak Conditions

The obligations of Cloudbreak to consummate the Cloudbreak Business Combination are subject to the satisfaction or waiver (where legally permissible) at or prior to the Closing of the following additional conditions:

- the representations and warranties of GigCapital2 and Cloudbreak Merger Sub contained in the sections entitled (a) “Organization,” (b) “Capitalization,” (c) “Authority Relative to the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement” and (d) “Brokers” in the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement shall each be true and correct in all material respects as of the Closing Date as though made on the Closing Date (without giving effect to any limitation as to “materiality” or “GigCapital2 Material Adverse Effect” or any similar limitations set forth therein), except to the extent that any such representation or warranty expressly speaks as of an earlier date, in which case such representation and warranty shall be true and correct as of such earlier date. All other representations and warranties of GigCapital2 and Merger Sub contained in the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement shall be true and correct (without giving any effect to any limitation as to “materiality” or “GigCapital2 Material Adverse Effect” or any similar limitation set forth therein) in all respects as of the Closing Date, as though made on and as of the Closing Date, except (i) to the extent that any such representation and warranty expressly speaks as of an earlier date, in which case such representation and warranty shall be true and correct as of such earlier date and (ii) where the failure of such representations and warranties to be true and correct (whether as of the Closing Date or such earlier date), taken as a whole, does not result in a GigCapital2 Material Adverse Effect;

- GigCapital2 and Cloudbreak Merger Sub shall have performed or complied in all material respects with all agreements and covenants required by the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement to be performed or complied with by it at or prior to the effective time of the Cloudbreak Business Combination;
- GigCapital2 shall have delivered to Cloudbreak a customary officer's certificate (signed by the President of GigCapital2), dated the date of the Closing, certifying as to the satisfaction of certain conditions;

- A supplemental listing shall have been filed with the NYSE as of the Closing Date to list the shares constituting the Business Combination Shares;
- GigCapital2 shall have an aggregate amount of cash and cash equivalents available from any sources of not less than $150,000,000;
- Cloudbreak shall have received a written opinion from a third party law firm or accounting firm reasonably satisfactory to Cloudbreak, issued to Cloudbreak and in form and substance reasonably acceptable to Cloudbreak, to the effect that on the basis of facts, representations and assumptions set forth or referred to in such opinion, the Cloudbreak Business Combination, taken together with the UpHealth Business Combination and other related transactions, should qualify as an exchange described in Section 351(a) of the Code;
- the GigCapital2 Extension Amendment No.1 shall have been approved and adopted by the requisite affirmative vote of the stockholders of GigCapital2 in accordance with the GigCapital2 Extension Proxy Statement, the DGCL, the GigCapital2 organizational documents and the rules and regulations of the NYSE;
- the Escrow Agreement shall be in full force and effect, and certain of the UpHealth stockholders shall not have attempted to repudiate or disclaim any of their obligations thereunder; and
- GigCapital2 shall have delivered a copy of the Cloudbreak Registration Rights and Lock-Up Agreement duly executed by GigCapital2 and the GigCapital2 stockholders party thereto.

Some of the conditions to Cloudbreak's obligations are qualified by the concept of a "GigCapital2 Material Adverse Effect." Under the terms of the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement, a "GigCapital2 Material Adverse Effect means any Effect that, individually or in the aggregate with all other Effects, (a) is or would reasonably be expected to be materially adverse to the business, financial condition or results of operations of GigCapital2; or (b) would prevent, materially delay or materially impede the performance by GigCapital2 or Merger Sub of their respective obligations under this Agreement or the consummation of the Merger or any of the other Transactions; provided, however, that none of the following shall be deemed to constitute, alone or in combination, or be taken into account in the determination of whether, there has been or will be a GigCapital2 Material Adverse Effect: (i) any change or proposed change in or change in the interpretation of any Law or GAAP after the date of this Agreement; (ii) events or conditions generally affecting the industries or geographic areas in which GigCapital2 operates; (iii) any downturn in general economic conditions, including changes in the credit, debt, securities, financial or capital markets (including changes in interest or exchange rates, prices of any security or market index or commodity or any disruption of such markets); (iv) acts of war, sabotage, civil unrest or terrorism, or any escalation or worsening of any such acts of war, sabotage, civil unrest or terrorism, or changes in global, national, regional, state or local political or social conditions; (v) any hurricane, tornado, flood, earthquake, natural disaster, or other acts of God, (vi) any actions taken or not taken by GigCapital2 as required by the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement or any of the related agreements entered into in connection with the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement, (vii) any Effect attributable to the announcement or execution, pendency, negotiation or consummation of the Merger or any of the other Transaction, or (viii) any actions taken, or failures to take action, or such other changes or events, in each case, which the Company has requested or to which it has consented or which actions are contemplated by this Agreement, except in the cases of clauses (i) through (iii), to the extent that GigCapital2 is disproportionately affected thereby as compared with other participants in the industry in which GigCapital2 operates.

Termination

The Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement may be terminated and the Cloudbreak Business Combination may be abandoned at any time prior to the effective time of the Cloudbreak Business Combination, notwithstanding any requisite approval and adoption of the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement and the Cloudbreak Business Combination by the stockholders of Cloudbreak or GigCapital2, as follows:

- by mutual written consent of GigCapital2 and Cloudbreak;
- by GigCapital2 or Cloudbreak, if (a) the effective time of the Cloudbreak Business Combination has not occurred prior to June 10, 2021 (the “Cloudbreak Outside Date”); provided, however, that the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement may not be terminated under this provision by or on behalf of any party that either directly or indirectly through its affiliates is in breach or violation of any representation, warranty, covenant, agreement or obligation contained in the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement and such breach or violation is the principal cause of the failure of the conditions to the merger on or prior to the Cloudbreak Outside Date; (b) any governmental authority in the United States has enacted, issued, promulgated, enforced or entered any injunction, order, decree or ruling (whether temporary, preliminary or permanent) which has become final and nonappealable and has the effect of making consummation of the Cloudbreak Business Combination illegal or otherwise preventing or prohibiting consummation of the Cloudbreak Business Combination; (c) any of the Proposals fail to receive the requisite vote for approval at the special meeting; or (d) if Cloudbreak fails to deliver written consent to the Cloudbreak members within seventy-two (72) hours after the Registration Statement becomes effective;
- by Cloudbreak if there is an occurrence of a breach of any representation, warranty, covenant or agreement on the part of GigCapital2 and Cloudbreak Merger Sub set forth in the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement, or if any representation or warranty of GigCapital2 and Cloudbreak Merger Sub will have become untrue, in either case such that the first two conditions described above in “—Conditions to Closing of the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement—Cloudbreak Conditions” would not be satisfied (a “Terminating GigCapital2 Breach”); provided that Cloudbreak has not waived such Terminating GigCapital2 Breach and Cloudbreak is not then in material breach of its representations, warranties, covenants or agreements in the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement; provided, however, that, if such Terminating GigCapital2 Breach is curable by GigCapital2 and Cloudbreak Merger Sub, Cloudbreak may not terminate the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement under this provision for so long as GigCapital2 and Cloudbreak Merger Sub continue to exercise their reasonable efforts to cure such breach, unless such breach is not cured within 30 days after notice of such breach is provided by Cloudbreak to GigCapital2;
- by GigCapital2 if there is an occurrence of a breach of any representation, warranty, covenant or agreement on the part of Cloudbreak set forth in the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement, or if any representation or warranty of Cloudbreak will have become untrue, in either case such that the first two conditions described above in “—Conditions to Closing of the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement—GigCapital2 and Cloudbreak Merger Sub Conditions” would not be satisfied (a “Terminating Cloudbreak Breach”); provided that GigCapital2 has not waived such Terminating Cloudbreak Breach and GigCapital2 and Cloudbreak Merger Sub are not then in material breach of their representations, warranties, covenants or agreements in the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement; provided further that, if such Terminating Cloudbreak Breach is curable by Cloudbreak, GigCapital2 may not terminate the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement under this provision for so long as Cloudbreak continues to exercise its reasonable efforts to cure such breach, unless such breach is not cured within 30 days after notice of such breach is provided by GigCapital2 to Cloudbreak; and

- by the Company if there are less than $125,000,000 of cash and cash equivalents in the Trust Fund at any time prior to the Closing.

Effect of Termination

If the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement is terminated, the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement will forthwith become void, and there will be no liability under the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement on the part of any party to the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement, except as set forth in the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement or in the case of termination subsequent to a willful material breach of the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement by a party thereto.

Related Agreements

This section describes the material provisions of certain additional agreements entered into or to be entered into pursuant to the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement, which are included in the Related Agreements, but does not purport to describe all of the terms thereof. To the extent not yet filed with the SEC or included in this Registration Statement on Form S-4, the Related Agreements will be filed with the SEC at a future date. Stockholders and other interested parties are urged to read such Related Agreements in their entirety.

Member Support Agreement

Contemporaneously with the execution of the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement, on November 20, 2020, GigCapital2 entered into a member support agreement with certain of the members of Cloudbreak (the “Member Support Agreement”) pursuant to which such Cloudbreak members agreed to vote all of their units of Cloudbreak in favor of the approval and adoption of the Cloudbreak Business Combination and the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement and against any action, agreement or transaction or proposal that would result in a breach of any action, agreement or transaction or proposal that would result in a breach of any covenant, representation or warranty or any other obligation or agreement of Cloudbreak under the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement or that would reasonably be expected to result in the failure of the Cloudbreak Business Combination. Additionally, such Cloudbreak members agreed not to (a) sell, assign, transfer (including by operation of law), pledge, dispose of, permit to exist any material lien with respect to or otherwise encumber any of their units of Cloudbreak (or enter into any arrangement with respect thereto), subject to certain exceptions, (b) deposit any of their common units of Cloudbreak and Cloudbreak preferred units into a voting trust or enter into any voting agreement or arrangement that is inconsistent with the Member Support Agreement, or (c) enter into any contract, option or other arrangement or undertaking with respect to the direct or indirect acquisition or sale, assignment, transfer (including by operation of law) or other disposition of any Units, subject to certain exceptions.

Sponsor Support Agreement

Concurrently with the execution and delivery of the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement, GigCapital2, Cloudbreak and GigAcquisitions2, LLC (the “Sponsor”), entered into the Sponsor Support Agreement, attached hereto as Annex F, (the “Sponsor Support Agreement”), pursuant to which, among other things, the Sponsor has agreed to vote all GigCapital2 Common Stock in favor of the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement, the Cloudbreak Business Combination and the other transactions contemplated by the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement.

Cloudbreak Registration Rights and Lock-Up Agreement

In connection with the closing of the Cloudbreak Business Combination, we will enter into a Registration Rights and Lock-Up Agreement (the “Cloudbreak Registration Rights and Lock-Up Agreement”). Pursuant to the terms of the Cloudbreak Registration Rights and Lock-Up Agreement, subject to certain requirements and customary conditions, including with regard to the number of demand rights that may be exercised, the Cloudbreak holders may demand at any time or from time to time, that GigCapital2 file a registration statement on Form S-1 or Form S-3 to register certain shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock held by such holders or to conduct an underwritten offering. The Cloudbreak Registration Rights and Lock-Up Agreement will also provide the Cloudbreak holders with “piggy-back” registration rights, subject to certain requirements and customary conditions.

The Cloudbreak Registration Rights and Lock-Up Agreement further provides that, subject to certain exceptions, each of the Cloudbreak holders shall not transfer any shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock beneficially owned or owned of record by such Cloudbreak holders until the earlier of (i) six months or one year (as applicable) after the date of the closing of the Cloudbreak Business Combination or (ii) the date on which, subsequent to the Cloudbreak Business Combination, the last sale price of the GigCapital2 Common Stock (x) equals or exceeds $12.50 per share (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, reorganizations, recapitalizations and the like) for any 20 trading days within any 30 trading day period commencing at least 90 days after the Cloudbreak Business Combination, or (y) the date following the completion of the Cloudbreak Business Combination on which GigCapital2 completes a liquidation, merger, stock exchange or other similar transaction that results in all of the GigCapital2’s stockholders having the right to exchange their shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock for cash, securities or other property; provided that in the sole discretion of the majority of the independent members of the GigCapital2 Board, such lock-up period may end earlier than as provided therein upon written notice to the Cloudbreak holders.

Proposed Second Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation

Pursuant to the terms of the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement and the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement and as discussed in “Proposal No. 1 – UpHealth Business Combination Proposal,” upon the Closing, we will amend and restate our Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation to, among other things, provide for certain provisions described below relating to the capital structure of New UpHealth following the consummation of the Cloudbreak Business Combination and the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement.

For more information about the amendments to our Charter, see the sections entitled “Proposal No. 4—The Charter Approval Proposal” and “Proposal No. 7—Election of Directors Proposal.”

Background of the Cloudbreak Business Combination

The terms of the Cloudbreak Business Combination are the result of negotiations among the representatives of GigCapital2 and Cloudbreak. The following is a brief description of the background of these negotiations and the resulting Cloudbreak Business Combination.

GigCapital2 is a blank check company incorporated in Delaware on March 6, 2019, for the purpose of effecting a merger, share exchange, asset acquisition, share purchase, reorganization or similar business combination with one or more businesses. We have sought to capitalize on the substantial deal sourcing, investing and operating expertise of our management team to identify and combine with a business with high growth potential in the United States or internationally.

On June 10, 2019, we completed our IPO of 15,000,000 units at a price of $10.00 per unit generating gross proceeds of $150,000,000 before underwriting discounts and expenses. Each unit consists of one share of the Common Stock, one warrant to purchase one share of Common Stock, and one right to receive one-twentieth (1/20) of one share of Common Stock upon the completion of an initial business combination. Each Public Warrant will become exercisable 30 days after the Closing and entitle the holder thereof to purchase one share of Common Stock at a price of $11.50 per share. On June 13, 2019, the Company consummated the closing of the sale of 2,250,000 additional units upon receiving notice of the underwriters' election to partially exercise their over-allotment option, generating additional gross proceeds of approximately $22,500,000.

On June 5, 2019, the Founders purchased from us an aggregate of 492,500 Private Placement Units at a price of $10.00 per unit in a private placement that occurred simultaneously with the completion of the initial closing of our IPO. On June 13, 2019, the Founders also purchased from us an aggregate of 75,000 Private Placement Units at a price of $10.00 per unit in a private placement that occurred simultaneously with the completion of the exercise of the over-allotment option. Additionally, On June 5, 2019, one of our underwriters, Northland Securities, Inc., purchased 100,000 Private Underwriter Shares at a purchase price of $10.00 per share in a private placement that occurred simultaneously with the completion of the initial closing of the IPO. Northland also purchased from us an additional 20,000 Private Underwriter Shares at a price of $10.00 per share in a private placement that occurred simultaneously with the completion of the exercise of the over-allotment option.

Upon the closing of the IPO, the over-allotment and the private placement, approximately $175,000,000 ($10.00 per Unit) of the net proceeds of the sale of the public units in the initial public offering and the Private Underwriter Shares and the Private Placement Units in the private placements was placed in the Trust Account maintained by Continental Stock Transfer & Trust Company, acting as trustee. The proceeds held in the Trust Account were invested in U.S. government securities, within the meaning set forth in Section 2(a)(16) of the Investment Company Act, with a maturity of 180 days or less or in any open ended investment company that holds itself out as a money market fund selected by us meeting the conditions of paragraphs (d)(2), (d)(3) and (d)(4) of Rule 2a-7 of the Investment Company Act, as determined by us, until the earlier of: (i) the completion of a business combination, (ii) the redemption of any public shares properly submitted in connection with a stockholder vote to amend our current certificate of incorporation to modify the substance or timing of our obligation to redeem 100% of our public shares if we do not complete a business combination within 18 months from the closing of the IPO or to provide for redemption in connection with a business combination and (iii) the redemption of our public shares if we are unable to complete a business combination within the required time period, subject to applicable law.

Prior to the consummation of our IPO, the Sponsor purchased 2,378,125 Founder Shares (after various adjustments) for an aggregate purchase price of $23,781.25, or approximately $0.01 per share.

Our certificate of incorporation originally provided that we had 18 months from the closing of the GigCapital2's IPO, or until December 10, 2020, to complete an initial business combination. On November 2, 2020, we filed with the SEC and mailed to our stockholders a definitive proxy statement with notice of our 2020 annual meeting at which our stockholders considered Extension Amendment No.1 to our certificate of incorporation to extend the date that we have to consummate an initial business combination from December 10, 2020 to March 10, 2021. Following the approval of Extension Amendment No.1, we had approximately $168.4 million remaining in the Trust Account. On March 10, 2021, our stockholders approved Extension Amendment No. 2 to our certificate of incorporation to extend the date that we have to consummate an initial business combination from March 10, 2021 to June 10, 2021. Following the approval of Extension Amendment No. 2, we had approximately $149.6 million remaining in the Trust Account.

Prior to the consummation of our IPO, neither GigCapital2, nor anyone on its behalf, contacted any prospective target business or had any substantive discussions, formal or otherwise, with respect to such a transaction with GigCapital2.

As discussed in "Proposal No. 1—Approval of the UpHealth Business Combination—Background of the UpHealth Business Combination", after our IPO, our officers and directors commenced an active search for prospective businesses or assets to acquire in our initial business combination. Representatives of GigCapital2 were contacted by, and representatives of GigCapital2 contacted, numerous individuals, financial advisors, business owners and other entities who offered to present ideas for business combination opportunities. Our officers and directors and their affiliates actively searched for and brought business combination targets to our attention. During this search process, GigCapital2 reviewed more than 200 acquisition opportunities and entered into discussions with more than 20 potential target businesses or their representatives pursuant to signed nondisclosure agreements. Such non-disclosure agreements contained customary terms for a special purpose acquisition company and a private company target, including confidentiality provisions and use restrictions for information provided by the target and exceptions to such provisions. Further, such non-disclosure agreements did not contain any standstill or “don’t ask, don’t waive” provisions. In addition to UpHealth and Cloudbreak, we delivered or received draft term sheets or preliminary proposals for us to acquire potential targets, some at a high level early in discussions, to or from 15 other prospective targets, for which 13 of those targets we sent a signed term sheet, and 5 of those were counter-signed by the targets, including Bolder Industries which we publicly announced. We were not subject to an exclusivity provision in any of these 5 fully-executed term sheets prohibiting us from negotiating or entering into agreements to acquire UpHealth and Cloudbreak.

The decision not to pursue the alternative acquisition targets was generally the result of one or more of (i) our determination that these businesses did not represent an attractive target due to a combination of business prospects, strategy, management teams, structure, valuation or ability to execute or (ii) our decision to pursue the Business Combinations with UpHealth and Cloudbreak.

See “Proposal No. 1—Approval of the UpHealth Business Combination—Background of the UpHealth Business Combination” for a chronology of the background to the UpHealth Business Combination, including how GigCapital2 was introduced to Cloudbreak.

On October 31, 2020, Dr. Chirinjeev Kathuria introduced the Chief Executive Officer of Cloudbreak, Jamey Edwards, to Dr. Avi Katz, and Dr. Katz and Mr. Edwards proceeded to speak about the inclusion of Cloudbreak in the proposed transaction between UpHealth and GigCapital2.

On November 2, 2020, Dr. Katz, Mr. Edwards, a representative of the majority stockholder of Cloudbreak, and representatives of DLA Piper and Sidley met to further discuss the inclusion of Cloudbreak in the proposed transaction between UpHealth and GigCapital2. During this meeting, the parties discussed the possibility of GigCapital2 entering into a direct acquisition agreement with Cloudbreak, rather than UpHealth acquiring Cloudbreak, as UpHealth and Cloudbreak had discussed and agreed to when those two companies entered into a term sheet on October 15, 2020.

Between November 3 and 7, 2020, Dr. Katz, Mr. Edwards and a representative of the majority stockholder of Cloudbreak engaged in discussions regarding revisions to the terms previously agreed to between UpHealth and Cloudbreak in the October 15, 2020 term sheet that would enable GigCapital2 to directly acquire Cloudbreak, rather than UpHealth acquiring Cloudbreak.

Beginning on November 4, 2020, representatives of GigCapital2 and DLA began to engage in an in-depth diligence review of Cloudbreak.

On November 16, 2020, a representative of DLA Piper sent to a representative of Sidley, an initial draft of the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement. The draft reflected a pre-money equity valuation for Cloudbreak of $110 million. In addition, the draft included a provision whereby certain Significant UpHealth Stockholders would agree to subject certain of their shares to an escrow as a security to guaranty Cloudbreak shareholders a pre-money equity value of $150 million upon the 18 month anniversary of the Closing, based upon the post-closing share price of the combined public company shares. See “Proposal No. 2—Approval of the Cloudbreak Business Combination—Representations, Warranties and Covenants” for a discussion of the escrow arrangement with the Significant UpHealth Stockholders.

Between November 16, 2020 and the signing of the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement on November 20, 2020, DLA Piper and Sidley, on behalf of their respective clients, continued to negotiate and draft the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement and the Related Agreements pertaining to the Cloudbreak Business Combination. During this period, as discussed in “Proposal No. 1—Approval of the UpHealth Business Combination—Background of the UpHealth Business Combination”, DLA Piper and Husch Blackwell separately negotiated and drafted the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement.

On November 20, 2020, representatives of Sidley and DLA Piper finished up the drafting the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement and the Related Agreements pertaining to the Cloudbreak Business Combination.

Also on November 20, 2020, the GigCapital2 Board convened a remote special meeting by videoconference. Representatives of DLA Piper attended the meeting to review the terms of the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement (as well as the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement) and the Related Agreements pertaining to the Cloudbreak Business Combination. Drs. Katz and Dinu reported on matters relating to the proposed Business Combinations, and discussion ensued regarding the proposed pre-money valuation of both UpHealth and Cloudbreak equity, including a consideration of the diligence conducted on Cloudbreak, financial projections for the combined company of UpHealth and Cloudbreak, as well as individual financial projections for the various companies, including the companies being acquired by UpHealth, and a set of publicly available comparable company financial and valuation benchmarking data that was provided by UpHealth’s financial advisor, Needham, to UpHealth, and from UpHealth, to the management of GigCapital2. Following this discussion, the GigCapital2 Board unanimously approved the Cloudbreak Business Combination (as well as the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement).

Also on November 20, 2020, the Cloudbreak board of directors approved the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement. Following the respective approvals by the boards of directors GigCapital2 and Cloudbreak, on that same day, the parties executed the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement and the Related Agreements that required execution at such time. GigCapital2 and UpHealth also executed the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement on November 20, 2020.

Before the market open on November 23, 2020, the parties announced both the UpHealth Business Combination and the Cloudbreak Business Combination, together with the execution of the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement and Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement.

GigCapital2 Board’s Reasons for the Approval of the Cloudbreak Business Combination

The GigCapital2 Board considered a wide variety of factors in connection with its evaluation of the Cloudbreak Business Combination. In light of the complexity of those factors, the GigCapital2 Board, as a whole, did not consider it practicable to, nor did it attempt to, quantify or otherwise assign relative weights to the specific factors it took into account in reaching its decision. The GigCapital2 Board viewed its decision as being based on all of the information available and the factors presented to and considered by it. In addition, individual members of the GigCapital2 Board may have given different weight to different factors. This explanation of the reasons for the GigCapital2 Board’s approval of the Business Combinations, and all other information presented in this section, is forward-looking in nature and, therefore, should be read in light of the factors discussed in the section entitled “Cautionary Note Regarding Forward-Looking Statements.”

Before reaching its decision, the GigCapital2 Board reviewed the results of the due diligence conducted by GigCapital2’s management and GigCapital2’s advisors. GigCapital2’s management, including its directors and advisors, has many years of experience in both operational management and investment and financial management and analysis and, in the opinion of the GigCapital2 Board, was suitably qualified to conduct the due diligence and other investigations and analyses required in connection with the search for a business combination partner. A detailed description of the experience of GigCapital2’s executive officers and directors is included in the section entitled “Information About the Company Prior to the Business Combination—Management”. The due diligence which was conducted included:

- meetings and calls with the management teams, advisors and Cloudbreak regarding operations and forecasts;
- meetings and calls with Cloudbreak’s customers, suppliers and industry partners;
- research on comparable public companies;
- review of material contracts;
- review of intellectual property matters;
- review of financial, tax, legal, insurance and accounting due diligence;
- consultation with legal and financial advisors and industry experts;
- financial and valuation analysis of Cloudbreak and the Cloudbreak Business Combination; and
- the financial statements of Cloudbreak.

In the prospectus for our IPO, we identified the following general criteria and guidelines that we believed would be important in evaluating prospective target businesses, although we indicated we may enter into a business combination with a target business that does not meet these criteria and guidelines. The GigCapital2 Board considered each of the factors identified in the IPO prospectus in its evaluation of Cloudbreak. Furthermore, in light of the due diligence conducted of Cloudbreak, and the evaluation of the following factors with regard to them collectively, the GigCapital2 Board’s decision to pursue a Business Combination with Cloudbreak resulted in the Board deciding not to forego the Cloudbreak Business Combination and instead continue to look for an alternative acquisition target.

- Target TMT companies that are at the forefront of high technology and are enabling the future evolution of intelligent systems and solutions.
- Focus on TMT companies positioned to benefit from a public listing and greater access to capital.
- Emphasis on companies that can benefit from a public listing and greater access to capital.
- Businesses with a catalyst for significantly improved financial performance.
- Market-leading participant with experienced and motivated management teams that may benefit from enhanced leadership and governance.
- Middle-market businesses.
- Prioritize entities with a well-performing management team and exceptional leadership talent that wishes to continue to drive the company to growth, and is coachable and eager to extend their knowledge and savvy through an interactive, and hands-on and supportive board of directors.

Based upon our due diligence, we believe that Cloudbreak satisfied this criteria.

In approving the Cloudbreak Business Combination, the GigCapital2 Board determined not to obtain a fairness opinion. The officers and directors of GigCapital2 have substantial experience in evaluating the operating and financial merits of companies from a wide range of industries and concluded that their experience and background enabled them to make the necessary analyses and determinations regarding the Cloudbreak Business Combination.

The factors considered by the GigCapital2 Board include, but are not limited to, those set forth above as well as the following, several of which are based upon our due diligence:

Large Addressable Market. New UpHealth, of which Cloudbreak will become a part, will present an integrated global healthcare platform that addresses massive markets and critical needs.

Growth Prospects. New UpHealth, of which Cloudbreak will become a part, has proven solutions with significant contracted growth across U.S. and international markets, and the combination of the various companies into one allows for opportunities to drive additional organic and synergistic growth.

Experienced and Proven Management Team. The executive team of Cloudbreak has demonstrated operational, financial and technical expertise, and this senior management team intends to remain with New UpHealth following the Closing in the capacity of members of its senior manager team, which will provide helpful continuity in advancing New UpHealth's strategic and growth goals.

Lock-Up. The Chief Executive Officer of Cloudbreak has agreed to be subject to a twelve-month lock-up in respect of his shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock (subject to certain customary exceptions).

Due Diligence. Due diligence examinations of Cloudbreak and discussions with its management.

Other Alternatives. The GigCapital2 Board believes, after a thorough review of other business combination opportunities reasonably available to GigCapital2, that the proposed Cloudbreak Business Combination, together with the UpHealth Business Combination, represents the best potential business combination for GigCapital2 and the most attractive opportunity for GigCapital2 based upon the process utilized to evaluate and assess other potential acquisition targets, and the GigCapital2 Board's belief that such process has not presented a better alternative.

Negotiated Transaction. The financial and other terms of the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement and the fact that such terms and conditions are reasonable and were the product of arm's length negotiations between GigCapital2 and Cloudbreak.

In the course of its deliberations, the GigCapital2 Board also considered a variety of uncertainties, risks and other potentially negative factors relevant to the Cloudbreak Business Combination, including the following:

- Integration Risk. The risk that Cloudbreak, in being part of the integration of 6 separate early-stage companies, would not be part of a successful integration, and the risk that the combined company, therefore, may not be able to execute on its business plan.
- Macroeconomic Risk. The risk of macroeconomic uncertainty and the effects it could have on Cloudbreak's revenues.
- Future Growth Risk. The risk that future growth of Cloudbreak is dependent upon participants in and utilizing the healthcare system becoming comfortable with digital healthcare services.
- Cost Assumption Risk. The risk that Cloudbreak may not be able to achieve current cost assumptions.
- Competitive Risk. The risk that Cloudbreak operates in a highly competitive and rapidly evolving industry.
- Public Company Risk. The risks that are associated with being a publicly traded company that is in its early, developmental stage.
- Benefits May Not Be Achieved Risk. The risk that the potential benefits of the Cloudbreak Business Combination may not be fully achieved or may not be achieved within the expected timeframe.
- Redemption Risk. The risk that a significant number of GigCapital2 stockholders elect to redeem their shares prior to the consummation of the Cloudbreak Business Combination and pursuant to GigCapital2's existing amended and restated certificate of incorporation, which would potentially make the Cloudbreak Business Combination more difficult to complete or reduce the amount of cash available to the combined company to accelerate its business plan following the Closing.
- Stockholder Vote Risk. The risk that GigCapital2's stockholders may fail to provide the votes necessary to effect the Cloudbreak Business Combination.

- Litigation Risk. The risk of the possibility of litigation challenging the Cloudbreak Business Combination or that an adverse judgment granting permanent injunctive relief could indefinitely enjoin consummation of the Business Combinations.
- Closing Conditions Risk. The risk that completion of the Cloudbreak Business Combination is conditioned on the satisfaction of certain closing conditions that are not within GigCapital2's control.
- No Third-Party Valuation Risk. The risk that GigCapital2 did not obtain a third-party valuation or fairness opinion in connection with the Cloudbreak Business Combination.
- GigCapital2 Stockholders Receiving a Minority Positions Risk. The risk that GigCapital2 stockholders will hold a minority position in the combined company.
- Fees, Expenses and Time Risk. The risk of incurring significant fees and expenses associated with completing the Cloudbreak Business Combination and the substantial time and effort of management required to complete the Cloudbreak Business Combination.
- Other Risks Factors. Various other risk factors associated with Cloudbreak's business, as described in the section entitled "Risk Factors."

In addition to considering the factors described above, the GigCapital2 Board also considered that some officers and directors of GigCapital2 may have interests in the Cloudbreak Business Combination as individuals that are in addition to, and that may be different from, the interests of GigCapital2's stockholders. GigCapital2's independent directors reviewed and considered these interests during the negotiation of the Cloudbreak Business Combination and in evaluating and unanimously approving, as members of the GigCapital2 Board, the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement and the Cloudbreak Business Combination. For more information, see the section entitled "—Interests of Certain Persons in the Cloudbreak Business Combination."

The GigCapital2 Board concluded that the potential benefits that it expects GigCapital2 and its stockholders to achieve as a result of the Cloudbreak Business Combination outweigh the potentially negative factors associated with the Cloudbreak Business Combination. Accordingly, the GigCapital2 Board, based on its consideration of the specific factors listed above, unanimously (a) determined that the Cloudbreak Business Combination, the Merger, the other transactions contemplated by the Business Combination Agreement, are just and equitable and fair as to the Company and its stockholders, and that it is advisable and in the best interests of the Company and its stockholders of the Company to adopt and approve these agreements and transactions, (b) approved, adopted and declared advisable the Business Combination Agreement and the agreements and transactions contemplated thereby and (c) recommended that the stockholders of the Company approve each of the Proposals.

The above discussion of the material factors considered by the GigCapital2 Board is not intended to be exhaustive but does set forth the principal factors considered by the GigCapital2 Board.

Unaudited Prospective Financial Information

See "Proposal No. 1—Approval of the UpHealth Business Combination—Unaudited Prospective Financial Information" for a discussion of the internally prepared forecasts from UpHealth regarding the New UpHealth business. GigCapital2 management reviewed and as a result of its due diligence investigation, discussed with UpHealth, which revised the forecasts for presentation to the GigCapital2 Board as part of the GigCapital2 Board's review and subsequent approval of the UpHealth Business Combination. The revisions made by UpHealth to the pro forma forecast for New UpHealth pertained to reductions in projected revenues and EBITDA for certain of the companies acquired by, or being acquired by, UpHealth. UpHealth and GigCapital2 do not, as a matter of general practice, publicly disclose long-term forecasts or internal projections of future performance, revenue, financial condition or other results. However, in connection with the proposed Cloudbreak Business Combination, management of GigCapital2 used the financial projections set forth below to present key elements of the forecasts provided to GigCapital2. The forecasts were prepared solely for internal use and not with a view toward public disclosure, the published guidelines of the SEC regarding projections or the guidelines established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants for preparation and presentation of prospective financial information.

The inclusion of financial projections in this proxy statement/prospectus should not be regarded as an indication that GigCapital2, Cloudbreak, UpHealth, the companies acquired by it or being acquired by it, their respective directors, officers, advisors or other representatives considered, or now considers, such financial projections necessarily to be predictive of actual future results or to support or fail to support your decision whether to vote for or against the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal. The financial projections are not fact and should not be relied upon as being necessarily indicative of future results, and readers of this proxy statement/prospectus, including investors or stockholders, are cautioned not to place undue reliance on this information. You are cautioned not to rely on the projections in making a decision regarding the Cloudbreak Business Combination, as the projections may be materially different than actual results. We will not refer back to the financial projections in our future periodic reports filed under the Exchange Act.

The financial projections reflect numerous estimates and assumptions with respect to general business, economic, regulatory, market and financial conditions and other future events, as well as matters specific to Cloudbreak's business, all of which are difficult to predict and many of which are beyond Cloudbreak's and GigCapital2's control. The financial projections are forward-looking statements that are inherently subject to significant uncertainties and contingencies, many of which are beyond Cloudbreak's and GigCapital2's control. The various risks and uncertainties include those set forth in the sections entitled "Risk Factors," "Cloudbreak's Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations" and "Cautionary Note Regarding Forward-Looking Statements." As a result, there can be no assurance that the projected results will be realized or that actual results will not be significantly higher or lower than projected. Since the financial projections cover multiple years, such information by its nature becomes less reliable with each successive year. These financial projections are subjective in many respects and thus are susceptible to multiple interpretations and periodic revisions based on actual experience and business developments.

Furthermore, the financial projections do not take into account any circumstances or events occurring after the date they were prepared. None of Cloudbreak's independent registered accounting firm, GigCapital2's independent registered accounting firm or any other independent accountants, have compiled, examined or performed any procedures with respect to the financial projections included below, nor have they expressed any opinion or any other form of assurance on such information or their accuracy or achievability, and they assume no responsibility for, and disclaim any association with, the financial projections. Nonetheless, a summary of the financial projections is provided in this proxy statement/prospectus because they were made available to GigCapital2 and the GigCapital2 Board in connection with their review of the proposed Cloudbreak Business Combination.

EXCEPT TO THE EXTENT REQUIRED BY APPLICABLE FEDERAL SECURITIES LAWS, BY INCLUDING IN THIS PROXY STATEMENT/PROSPECTUS A SUMMARY OF THE FINANCIAL PROJECTIONS FOR UPHEALTH, GIGCAPITAL2 UNDERTAKES NO OBLIGATIONS AND EXPRESSLY DISCLAIMS ANY RESPONSIBILITY TO UPDATE OR REVISE, OR PUBLICLY DISCLOSE ANY UPDATE OR REVISION TO, THESE FINANCIAL PROJECTIONS TO REFLECT CIRCUMSTANCES OR EVENTS, INCLUDING UNANTICIPATED EVENTS, THAT MAY HAVE OCCURRED OR THAT MAY OCCUR AFTER THE PREPARATION OF THESE FINANCIAL PROJECTIONS, EVEN IN THE EVENT THAT ANY OR ALL OF THE ASSUMPTIONS UNDERLYING THE FINANCIAL PROJECTIONS ARE SHOWN TO BE IN ERROR OR CHANGE.

The projections were prepared by, and are the responsibility of, Cloudbreak and GigCapital2 management. Hall & Company Certified Public Accountants and Consultants, Inc., Cloudbreak's independent auditor, and BPM LLP, GigCapital2's independent registered public accounting firm, have not examined, compiled or otherwise applied procedures with respect to the accompanying prospective financial information presented herein and, accordingly, expresses no opinion or any other form of assurance on it. The audit report included in this proxy statement/prospectus relates to historical financial information of Cloudbreak. It does not extend to the projections and should not be read as if it does.

The key elements of the pro forma projections for New UpHealth following the Business Combinations provided to GigCapital2 on November 19, 2020 (which were the projections as revised by UpHealth management and were the only pro forma projections provided to the GigCapital2 Board as the GigCapital2 Board did not consider separate projections for Cloudbreak on a standalone basis) in connection with the evaluation of the Business Combinations by the GigCapital2 Board are summarized below:

Comparable Company Analysis

GigCapital2's management primarily relied upon a public company comparables analysis to assess the value that the public markets would likely ascribe to New UpHealth following the Business Combinations with GigCapital2 and this analysis was presented to the Board. The relative valuation analysis was based on publicly-traded companies in the digital health sectors, and included companies in these sectors that recently become public, as these were determined to be most comparable. The comparable public companies the GigCapital2 Board reviewed within these sectors are set forth in the table below. These companies were selected by GigCapital2 based upon discussions with UpHealth and Cloudbreak, and UpHealth's financial advisor, Needham. However, the GigCapital2 Board realized that no company was identical in nature to UpHealth.

The GigCapital2 Board reviewed, among other things, information for benchmarking of similar companies and information for comparable companies regarding estimated enterprise value multiples, projected revenue growth for 2021 over 2020 and EBITDA margins for 2021.

The key elements for benchmarking of similar companies, based on an analysis as of November 20, 2020, are summarized in the table below:

Notes:

Sources: Company filings, Bloomberg estimates as of market close on November 20, 2020

(1) Forecasts based on company estimates in S-4 filings

(2) Gray bar denotes pending SPAC transaction

(3) The UpHealth financial information presented is unaudited, includes non-GAAP financial measures and reflects the pro-forma combination of the individual business entities.

Notes:

(1) Gray bar denotes pending SPAC transaction

(2) The UpHealth financial information presented is unaudited, includes non-GAAP financial measures and reflects the pro-forma combination of the individual business entities.

The multiples for the selected comparable companies, based on analysis as of November 20, 2020, are summarized in the table below:

The implied total enterprise value as a multiple of estimated 2021 revenues of the digital health companies in the first table above based upon a median estimated calendar year 2021 multiple is 12.0x. New UpHealth's estimated 2021 revenue multiple of total enterprise value of 6.9x is discounted 42% to this comparable set of publicly traded companies.

Based on the review of these selected comparable publicly traded companies, the GigCapital2 Board concluded that New UpHealth's pro forma implied total enterprise value as a multiple of its estimated 2021 revenue was below the total enterprise value as a multiple of the estimated 2021 revenues of similar benchmarks of such companies. This analysis supported the GigCapital2 Board's determination, based on a number of factors, that the terms of the Business Combinations were fair to and in the best interests of GigCapital2 and its stockholders.

Satisfaction of 80% Test

It is a requirement under our existing amended and restated certificate of incorporation and the NYSE listing requirements that the business or assets acquired in an initial business combination have a fair market value equal to at least 80% of the balance of the funds in the Trust Account (excluding the deferred underwriting discounts and commissions and taxes payable on the income earned on the Trust Account) at the time of the execution of a definitive agreement for an initial business combination. On November 19, 2020, there was approximately $174.2 million in the Trust Account, and 80% of that amount was therefore approximately $139.4 million. The fair market value of the target or targets had to be determined by the GigCapital2 Board based upon one or more standards generally accepted by the financial community, such as discounted cash flow valuation or value of comparable businesses. Subject to this requirement, our management has had virtually unrestricted flexibility in identifying and selecting one or more prospective target businesses, although GigCapital2 was not permitted to effectuate an initial business combination with another blank check company or a similar company with nominal operations. In any case, GigCapital2 determined that it would only complete an initial business combination in which it acquired 50% or more of the outstanding voting securities of the target or were otherwise not required to register as an investment company under the Investment Company Act. Furthermore, and for the reasons discussed above, GigCapital2 has determined that the combined fair market value of UpHealth and Cloudbreak exceeds $139.6 million, and therefore, that the requirement that the business or assets in an initial business combination have a fair market value equal to at least 80% of the balance of the funds in the Trust Account has been satisfied.

Interests of Certain Persons in the Cloudbreak Business Combination

In considering the recommendation of the GigCapital2 Board to vote in favor of the Cloudbreak Business Combination, stockholders should be aware that, aside from their interests as stockholders, our Sponsor and certain of our directors and officers have interests in the Cloudbreak Business Combination that are different from, or in addition to, those of other stockholders generally. Our directors were aware of and considered these interests, among other matters, in evaluating the Cloudbreak Business Combination, and in recommending to stockholders that they approve the Cloudbreak Business Combination. Stockholders should take these interests into account in deciding whether to approve the Cloudbreak Business Combination. These interests include, among other things:

- the fact that our Initial Stockholders have agreed not to redeem any of the Founder Shares in connection with a stockholder vote to approve the Business Combinations;
- the fact that our Initial Stockholders have agreed to waive their rights to liquidating distributions from the Trust Account with respect to their Founder Shares if we fail to complete an initial business combination by the applicable deadline;
- if the Trust Account is liquidated, including in the event we are unable to complete an initial business combination within the required time period, our Sponsor has agreed to indemnify us to ensure that the proceeds in the Trust Account are not reduced below $10.00 per public share, or such lesser amount per public share as is in the Trust Account on the liquidation date, by the claims of (a) any third party (other than our independent public accountants) for services rendered or products sold to us or (b) a prospective target business with which we have entered into a letter of intent, confidentiality or other similar agreement or Cloudbreak Business Combination agreement, but only if such a third party or target business has not executed a waiver of all rights to seek access to the Trust Account;
- the continued indemnification of our existing directors and officers and the continuation of our directors' and officers' liability insurance after the Cloudbreak Business Combination;
- the fact that Dr. Avi Katz, Dr. Raluca Dinu and Neil Miotto will remain as board members of the post-combination company and each shall be entitled to receive compensation for serving on the board of directors of the post-combination company;
- the fact that we engaged the underwriters of our IPO as advisors to assist it in holding meetings with our stockholders to discuss potential business combination, introduce GigCapital2 to potential investors that are interested in purchasing our securities in connection with a potential business combination, assist it in obtaining stockholder approval for the business combination and assist us with our press releases and public filings in connection with a business combination. Pursuant to that agreement, we will pay the underwriters a cash fee for such services upon the consummation of the Business Combinations in an amount equal to, in the aggregate, 3.5% of the gross proceeds of the IPO, including any proceeds from the exercise of the over-allotment option; and
- the fact that our Sponsor, officers and directors will lose their entire investment in us if an initial business combination is not consummated by the applicable deadline. Prior to GigCapital2's initial public offering, our Founders purchased an aggregate of 4,307,500 Founder Shares for an aggregate purchase price of $25,000, or approximately $0.0058 per share (as compared to the $10.00 per share price being used to determine the number of shares of Common Stock being issued to the UpHealth and Cloudbreak equity holders in the Business Combinations or at which the PIPE Investors have agreed to purchase Common Stock), with the Sponsor purchasing 4,018,987 Founder Shares, Northland Investment purchasing 173,108 Founder Shares and the EarlyBird Group purchasing 115,405 Founder Shares. Additionally, the Founders purchased from GigCapital2 an aggregate of 567,500 Private Placement Units at a price of $10.00 per unit simultaneously with the consummation of GigCapital2's initial public offering for an aggregate purchase price of $5,675,000, with the Sponsor purchasing 481,250 Private Placement Units, Northland Investment purchasing 56,350 Private Placement Units and the EarlyBird Group purchasing 29,900 Private Placement Units. In addition, Northland concurrently purchased 120,000 Private Underwriter Shares at a price of $10.00 per share. Certain of GigCapital2's directors and executive officers, including Dr. Avi Katz, Dr. Raluca Dinu, Neil Miotto, John Mikulsky and Gil Frostig, also have a direct or indirect economic interest in the 481,250 Private Placement Units and in the 4,018,987 Founder Shares owned by the Sponsor. The 4,018,987 Founder Shares owned by the Sponsor would have had an aggregate market value of $40,390,819 based upon the closing price of $10.05 per public share on the NYSE on May 5, 2021, the most recent practicable date prior to the date of this proxy statement/prospectus. The 481,250 private placement units held by the Sponsor would have had an aggregate market value of $5,197,500 based upon the closing price of $10.80 per public unit on the NYSE on May 5, 2021, the most recent practicable date prior to the date of this proxy statement/prospectus. Additionally, the Sponsor, officers and directors do not currently have any unreimbursed out-of-pocket expenses in connection with the business combinations.

Potential Purchases of Public Shares

In connection with the stockholder vote to approve the Cloudbreak Business Combination, our Sponsor, directors, officers, advisors or any of their respective affiliates may privately negotiate transactions to purchase public shares from stockholders who would have otherwise elected to have their shares redeemed in conjunction with the Cloudbreak Business Combination for a per share pro rata portion of the Trust Account. There is no limit on the number of public shares our Sponsor, directors, officers, advisors or any of their respective affiliates may purchase in such transactions, subject to compliance with applicable law and the rules of the NYSE. Any such privately negotiated purchases may be effected at purchase prices that are in excess of the per share pro rata portion of the Trust Account. However, our Sponsor, directors, officers, advisors and their respective affiliates have no current commitments, plans or intentions to engage in such transactions and have not formulated any terms or conditions for any such transactions. None of the funds in the Trust Account will be used to purchase public shares or public warrants in such transactions. None of our Sponsor, directors, officers, advisors or any of their respective affiliates will make any such purchases when they are in possession of any material non-public information not disclosed to the seller of such public shares or during a restricted period under Regulation M under the Exchange Act. Such a purchase could include a contractual acknowledgement that such stockholder, although still the record holder of such public shares, is no longer the beneficial owner thereof and therefore agrees not to exercise its redemption rights, and could include a contractual provision that directs such stockholder to vote such shares in a manner directed by the purchaser.

In the event that our Sponsor, directors, officers, advisors or any of their respective affiliates purchase shares in privately negotiated transactions from public stockholders who have already elected to exercise their redemption rights, such selling stockholders would be required to revoke their prior elections to redeem their shares.

The purpose of any such purchases of public shares could be to (a) vote such shares in favor of the Cloudbreak Business Combination and thereby increase the likelihood of obtaining stockholder approval of the Cloudbreak Business Combination or (b) to satisfy a closing condition in the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement, where it appears that such requirement would otherwise not be met. The purpose of any such purchases of public warrants could be to reduce the number of public warrants outstanding. Any such purchases of our public shares or public warrants may result in the completion of the Cloudbreak Business Combination that may not otherwise have been possible. Any such purchases will be reported pursuant to Section 13 and Section 16 of the Exchange Act to the extent the purchasers are subject to such reporting requirements.

In addition, if such purchases are made, the public “float” of our Common Stock may be reduced and the number of beneficial holders of our securities may be reduced, which may make it difficult to maintain or obtain the quotation, listing or trading of our securities on a national securities exchange.

Our Sponsor, officers, directors, advisors or any of their respective affiliates anticipate that they may identify the stockholders with whom our Sponsor, officers, directors, advisors or any of their respective affiliates may pursue privately negotiated purchases by either the stockholders contacting us directly or by our receipt of redemption requests submitted by stockholders (in the case of shares of Common Stock) following our mailing of proxy materials in connection with the Cloudbreak Business Combination. To the extent that our Sponsor, officers, directors, advisors or any of their respective affiliates enter into a privately negotiated purchase, they would identify and contact only potential selling stockholders who have expressed their election to redeem their shares for a pro rata share of the Trust Account or vote against the Business Combination, whether or not such stockholder has already submitted a proxy with respect to the Cloudbreak Business Combination but only if such shares have not already been voted at the stockholder meeting related to the Cloudbreak Business Combination. Our Sponsor, officers, directors, advisors or any of their respective affiliates will select which stockholders to purchase shares from based on the negotiated price and number of shares and any other factors that they may deem relevant, and will only purchase public shares if such purchases comply with Regulation M under the Exchange Act and the other federal securities laws.

Any purchases by our Sponsor, officers, directors, advisors or any of their respective affiliates who are affiliated purchasers under Rule 10b-18 under the Exchange Act will only be made to the extent such purchases are able to be made in compliance with Rule 10b-18, which is a safe harbor from liability for manipulation under Section 9(a)(2) of and Rule 10b-5 under the Exchange Act. Rule 10b-18 has certain technical requirements that must be complied with in order for the safe harbor to be available to the purchaser. Our Sponsor, officers, directors, advisors and any of their respective affiliates will not make purchases of Common Stock if the purchases would violate Section 9(a)(2) of or Rule 10b-5 under the Exchange Act.

Total Company Shares to Be Issued in the Cloudbreak Business Combination

We anticipate that, upon completion of the Cloudbreak Business Combination, the ownership of New UpHealth, including that of the former Cloudbreak equity holders, will be as follows:

- the former Cloudbreak equity holders will own 9,021,209 shares of our Common Stock, representing a 7.11% interest;
- the former UpHealth equity holders will own 94,200,198 shares of our Common Stock, representing a 74.22% interest;
- the public stockholders (not including any Initial Stockholders that own public shares) will own 18,679,815 shares of our Common Stock, representing a 14.72% interest; and
- the Initial Stockholders will own 5,023,376 shares of our Common Stock, representing a 3.96% interest.

The number of shares and the interests set forth above assume that (a) no public stockholders elect to have their public shares redeemed, (b) 9,021,209 shares of Common Stock are issued to the former Cloudbreak equity holders in the Cloudbreak Business Combination, (c) 94,200,198 shares of Common Stock are issued to the former UpHealth equity holders in the UpHealth Business Combination, (d) all pre-merger Cloudbreak options have vested and been exercised prior to the merger (however, for a discussion of the actual adjustment provisions applicable to the Cloudbreak Options, see “Proposal No. 2—Approval of the Cloudbreak Business Combination—The Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement—Conversion of Securities”), (e) none of GigCapital2’s Initial Stockholders or the former Cloudbreak equity holders purchase shares of Common Stock in the open market and (f) there are no other issuances of equity interests of Cloudbreak. As a result of the Cloudbreak Business Combination, the economic and voting interests of our public stockholders will decrease.

The ownership percentages with respect to New Cloudbreak set forth above do not take into account warrants to purchase Common Stock that will remain outstanding immediately following the Cloudbreak Business Combination, but do include the Founder Shares, which will convert into Common Stock upon an initial business combination. If the facts are different than these assumptions, the percentage ownership retained by GigCapital2's existing stockholders in Cloudbreak following the Cloudbreak Business Combination will be different. For example, if we assume that all outstanding 17,250,000 public warrants and 567,500 Private Placement Warrants were exercisable and exercised following completion of the Cloudbreak Business Combination, then the ownership of Cloudbreak would be as follows:

- the former Cloudbreak equity holders will own 9,021,209 shares of our Common Stock, representing a 6.23% interest;
- the public stockholders (not including any Initial Stockholders that own public shares) will own 35,929,815 shares of our Common Stock, representing a 24.82% interest;
- the Initial Stockholders will own 5,590,876 shares of our Common Stock, representing an 3.86% interest.

The public warrants and private placement warrants will become exercisable 30 days after the completion of an initial business combination and will expire five years after the completion of an initial business combination or earlier upon their redemption or liquidation.

You should read “Summary of the Proxy Statement/Prospectus—Ownership of Cloudbreak After the Closing” and “Unaudited Pro Forma Condensed Combined Financial Information” for further information.

Redemption Rights

Pursuant to our current certificate of incorporation, holders of public shares may elect to have their shares redeemed for cash at the applicable redemption price per share calculated in accordance with our current certificate of incorporation. As of January 31, 2021, the estimated per share redemption price would have been approximately $10.10. If a holder exercises its redemption rights, then such holder will be exchanging its shares of our Common Stock for cash and will no longer own shares of the post-combination company. Such a holder will be entitled to receive cash for its public shares only if it properly demands redemption and delivers its shares (either physically or electronically) to our Transfer Agent in accordance with the procedures described herein.

Each redemption of shares of Common Stock by our public stockholders will reduce the amount in the Trust Account. The Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement provides that that our obligation to consummate the Cloudbreak Business Combination is conditioned on the amount of cash or cash equivalents that we have from any source be no less than an aggregate amount of $150,000,000. This condition to closing in the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement is for the sole benefit of the parties thereto and may be waived by Cloudbreak. If, as a result of redemptions of Common Stock by our public stockholders, this condition is not met (or waived), then we or Cloudbreak (as applicable) may elect not to consummate the Cloudbreak Business Combination. Furthermore, under the terms of the Convertible Note Subscription Agreements, a condition to the closing of the transactions contemplated by those agreements is that at least $50,000,000 of the $150,000,000 is from the Trust Account. In addition, in no event will we redeem shares of our Common Stock in an amount that would result in the Company's failure to have net tangible assets equaling or exceeding $5,000,001 (so that we are not subject to the SEC's “penny stock” rules). Holders of our outstanding public warrants do not have redemption rights in connection with the Cloudbreak Business Combination. Please see the section entitled “Special Meeting of Company Stockholders - Redemption Rights” for the procedures to be followed if you wish to redeem your shares for cash.

Appraisal Rights

Appraisal rights are not available to our stockholders or to members of Cloudbreak in connection with the Cloudbreak Business Combination.

Accounting Treatment

The Cloudbreak Business Combination will be accounted for as an acquisition in accordance with Accounting Standards Codification Topic 805, with the Company treated as the legal and accounting acquiror.

Name; Headquarters

The name of the post-combination company after the Cloudbreak Business Combination will be UpHealth, Inc. and our headquarters will be located at Delray Beach, Florida.

Certain U.S. Federal Income Tax Considerations

For a discussion of certain U.S. federal income tax considerations, see “Proposal No. 1—Certain U.S. Federal Income Tax Considerations.”

Regulatory Matters

Neither GigCapital2 nor Cloudbreak is aware of any material regulatory approvals or actions that are required for completion of the Cloudbreak Business Combination other than as required under the HSR Act. The parties have filed a premerger notification under the HSR Act, and all waiting periods related to the notification have expired or been granted early termination. It is presently contemplated that if any additional regulatory approvals or actions are required, those approvals or actions will be sought. There can be no assurance, however, that any such additional approvals or actions will be obtained.

Vote Required for Approval

The Cloudbreak Business Combination is conditioned on the approval of the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal, the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal, the NYSE Stock Issuance Proposal, the Charter Approval Proposal, the Incentive Plan Proposal and the Election of Directors Proposal are approved at the Special Meeting. The proposals in this proxy statement/prospectus (other than the Adjournment Proposal) are conditioned on the approval of the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal.

This Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal (and consequently, the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement and the transactions contemplated thereby, including the Cloudbreak Business Combination) will be adopted and approved only if at least a majority of the votes cast at the Special Meeting vote “FOR” the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal. A stockholder’s failure to vote, as well as an abstention and broker non-vote, will have no effect on the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal. Abstentions will be counted in connection with the determination of whether a valid quorum is established but will have no effect on the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal.

Our Initial Stockholders have agreed to vote their shares of Common Stock “FOR” the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal. As of the record date, our Initial Stockholders own approximately 23% of our issued and outstanding shares of Common Stock.

Recommendation of the GigCapital2 Board

OUR BOARD OF DIRECTORS RECOMMENDS THAT OUR STOCKHOLDERS VOTE “FOR” THE CLOUDBREAK BUSINESS COMBINATION PROPOSAL.

The existence of financial and personal interests of one or more of the Company’s directors or officers may result in a conflict of interest on the part of such director(s) or officer(s) between what he or they may believe is in the best interests of the Company and its stockholders and what he or they may believe is best for himself or themselves in determining to recommend that stockholders vote for the proposals. See the section above entitled “- Interests of Certain Persons in the Transactions” for a further discussion.

PROPOSAL NO. 3—THE NYSE STOCK ISSUANCE PROPOSAL

Overview

Assuming each of the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal and Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal are approved, we are asking our stockholders to approve, for purposes of complying with applicable listing rules of the NYSE, the issuance of more than 20% of the Company's outstanding Common Stock in connection with the Business Combinations, including the issuances described below.

Issuance of Common Stock to UpHealth and Cloudbreak equity holders under Business Combination Agreements

Subject to the terms and conditions the Business Combination Agreements, GigCapital2 has agreed to pay (i) UpHealth equity holders aggregate consideration consisting of 99,000,000 shares of Common Stock, including any shares issuable in respect of vested equity awards of UpHealth and (ii) Cloudbreak equity holders aggregate consideration consisting of 11,000,000 shares of Common Stock, including any shares issuable in respect of vested equity awards of Cloudbreak. Upon the Closing, the former UpHealth equity holders are expected to hold, in the aggregate, approximately 73.0% of the issued and outstanding shares of Common Stock. Upon the Closing, the former Cloudbreak equity holders are expected to hold, in the aggregate, approximately 8.1% of the issued and outstanding shares of Common Stock.

Issuance of Common Stock to PIPE Investors

On January 20, 2021, the Company entered into the PIPE Subscription Agreements with the PIPE Investors, pursuant to which, among other things, the Company agreed to issue and sell, in private placements to close immediately prior to the Closing, an aggregate of 3,000,000 shares of Common Stock at $10.00 per share to the PIPE Investor for an aggregate purchase price of $30,000,000.

Issuance of Common Stock to Convertible Note Investors

On January 20, 2021, the Company entered into the Convertible Note Subscription Agreements with the Convertible Note Investors, pursuant to which, among other things, the Company agreed to issue and sell to the Convertible Note Investors, in private placements to close immediately prior to Closing, the Convertible Notes for an aggregate purchase price of $255,000,000. The Convertible Notes are convertible into 22,173,913 shares of Common Stock at a conversion price of $11.50.

The issuance of more than 20% of the Company's outstanding Common Stock in connection with the Business Combinations, the PIPE Subscription Agreements and the Convertible Note Subscription Agreements, including up to 110,000,000 shares of Common Stock to UpHealth and Cloudbreak equity holders, 3,000,000 shares of Common Stock to the PIPE Investor and 22,173,913 shares of our Common Stock upon conversion of the Convertible Notes.

Why the Company Needs Stockholder Approval

Pursuant to Section 312.03(c) of the NYSE's Listed Company Manual, stockholder approval is required prior to the issuance of Common Stock in any transaction or series of related transactions if: (1) the Common Stock has, or will have upon issuance, voting power equal to or in excess of 20% of the voting power outstanding before the issuance of such stock, or (2) the number of shares of Common Stock to be issued is, or will be upon issuance, equal to or in excess of 20% of the number of shares of Common Stock outstanding before the issuance of the Common Stock.

As described above, upon the consummation of the Business Combinations and the transactions contemplated by the PIPE Subscription Agreements and the Convertible Note Subscription Agreements, we expect to issue (1) up to 110,000,000 shares of our Common Stock to UpHealth and Cloudbreak equity holders in accordance with the terms and subject to the conditions of the Business Combination Agreement, (2) 3,000,000 shares of our Common Stock to the PIPE Investors, in accordance with the terms and subject to the conditions of the PIPE Subscription Agreements and (3) 22,173,913 of our Common Stock upon conversion of the Convertible Notes, in accordance with the terms and subject to the conditions of the Convertible Note Subscription Agreements and the Indenture. Accordingly, the aggregate number of shares of our Common Stock that we will issue in connection with the Business Combination and the transactions contemplated by the PIPE Subscription Agreements and the Convertible Note Subscription Agreements will exceed 20% of both the voting power and the number of shares of Common Stock outstanding before such issuance, and for this reason, we are seeking the approval of our stockholders for the issuance of shares of our Common Stock pursuant to the Business Combination Agreements, the PIPE Investment and the Convertible Note Investment.

Moreover, pursuant to Section 312.03(d) of the NYSE's Listed Company Manual, stockholder approval is required prior to an issuance that will result in a change of control of the Company. The issuances of shares of Common Stock described above could result in a change of control of the Company. Accordingly, the Company is seeking the approval of its stockholders for such issuances.

In the event that this proposal is not approved by Company stockholders, the Business Combinations and the transactions contemplated by the PIPE Subscription Agreements and the Convertible Note Subscription Agreements cannot be consummated. In the event that this proposal is approved by Company stockholders, but the Business Combination Agreements are terminated (without the Business Combinations being consummated) prior to the issuance of shares of our Common Stock pursuant to the Business Combination Agreements, such shares of Common Stock will not be issued.

Vote Required for Approval

The approval of the NYSE Stock Issuance Proposal requires the affirmative vote of a majority of the votes cast by the stockholders present in person or represented by proxy and entitled to vote at the Special Meeting. Accordingly, under Delaware law, a Company stockholder's failure to vote, as well as an abstention and broker non-vote, will have no effect on the NYSE Stock Issuance Proposal. For purposes of NYSE rules, however, abstentions are treated as "votes cast" and will be counted as votes "AGAINST" this proposal. Abstentions will be counted in connection with the determination of whether a valid quorum is established.

Our Initial Stockholders have agreed to vote their shares of Common Stock "FOR" the NYSE Stock Issuance Proposal. As of the record date, our Initial Stockholders own approximately 23% of our issued and outstanding shares of Common Stock.

This Proposal No. 3 is conditioned upon the approval of the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal. If the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal is not approved, this Proposal No. 3 will have no effect, even if approved by our stockholders.

Recommendation of the Board of Directors

OUR BOARD OF DIRECTORS RECOMMENDS THAT OUR STOCKHOLDERS VOTE "FOR" THE NYSE STOCK ISSUANCE PROPOSAL.

The existence of financial and personal interests of one or more of the Company's directors or officers may result in a conflict of interest on the part of such director(s) or officer(s) between what he or they may believe is in the best interests of the Company and its stockholders and what he or they may believe is best for himself or themselves in determining to recommend that stockholders vote for the proposals. See the section above entitled "Proposal No. 1—Approval of the UpHealth Business Combination—Interests of Certain Persons in the Transactions" and "Proposal No. 2—Approval of the Cloudbreak Business Combination—Interests of Certain Persons in the Transactions" for a further discussion.

PROPOSAL NO. 4—CLASSIFICATION OF THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS PROPOSAL

Overview

Assuming the Business Combination Proposals are approved, our stockholders are also being asked to approve the classification of the Board. Our current amended and restated certificate of incorporation does not currently contemplate classification of directors.

In connection with the Business Combinations, our Board will be reconstituted and initially comprised of nine directors who will be voted upon by the stockholders at the special meeting. Our Board believes it is in the best interests of the Company for the Board to be classified into three classes, each comprising as nearly as possible one-third of the directors to serve three-year terms; provided that the term of the initial Class I Directors shall expire at the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Company held in 2022, the term of the initial Class II Directors shall expire at the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Company held in 2023 and the term of the initial Class III Directors shall expire at the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Company held in 2024.

Furthermore, any vacancies which occur during the year may be filled by the Board to serve for the unexpired term of his or her predecessor in office, and a director chosen to fill a position resulting from an increase in the number of directors shall hold office for the remainder of the full term of the class of directors in which the vacancy occurred and until his or her successor has been elected and qualified, subject, however, to such director's earlier death, resignation, retirement, disqualification or removal.

Reasons for the Amendments

The classification of directors is intended to encourage experience and leadership stability on the Board of the post-combination company. The Board believes that providing for a classified board of directors will assure desirable continuity in leadership and policy following the Business Combinations.

Comparison of Current Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation to Proposed Second Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation

The following table sets forth a summary of the change proposed to be made between our current amended and restated certificate of incorporation and the proposed Second Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation. This summary is qualified by reference to the complete text of the proposed Second Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation, a copy of which is attached to this proxy statement/prospectus as Annex C. All stockholders are encouraged to read the proposed second amended and restated certificate of incorporation in its entirety for a more complete description of its terms. Capitalized terms used in the summary set forth in the table below have the meaning set forth in the current amended and restated certificate of incorporation and the proposed Second Amended and Restated certificate of incorporation, as applicable.

ARTICLE V	There is no applicable language in the current amended and restated certificate of incorporation.	Section 5.2(b) shall be revised and restated in its entirety as follows: Section 5.2(b). Subject to Section 5.5 hereof, the Board shall be divided into three classes, as nearly equal in number as possible and designated Class I, Class II, and Class III. The Board is authorized to assign members of the Board already in office to Class I, Class II, or Class III. The

At each succeeding annual meeting of the stockholders of the Corporation, beginning with the first annual meeting of the stockholders of the Corporation following the effectiveness of this Second Amended and Restated Certificate, each of the successors elected to replace the class of directors whose term expires at that annual meeting shall be elected for a three-year term or until the election and qualification of their respective successors in office, subject to their earlier death, resignation or removal. Subject to Section 5.5 hereof, if the number of directors that constitutes the Board is changed, any increase or decrease shall be apportioned by the Board among the classes so as to maintain the number of directors in each class as nearly equal as possible, but in no case shall a decrease in the number of directors constituting the Board shorten the term of any incumbent director. Subject to the rights of the holders of one or more series of Preferred Stock, voting separately by class or series, to elect directors pursuant to the terms of one or more series of Preferred Stock, the election of directors shall be determined by a plurality of the votes cast by the stockholders present in person or represented by proxy at the meeting and entitled to vote thereon. PROPOSAL NO. 5A—APPROVAL OF ADDITIONAL AMENDMENTS TO CURRENT CERTIFICATE OF INCORPORATION IN CONNECTION WITH THE BUSINESS COMBINATIONS PROPOSAL

Overview

Assuming the Business Combination Proposals are approved, our stockholders are also being asked to approve certain amendments to our current amended and restated certificate of incorporation, which are, in the judgment of our Board, necessary to adequately address the needs of the post-combination company.

The additional amendments effect the following:

- change the post-combination company's name to UpHealth, Inc.;
- delete the second sentence in Article II and delete the prior provisions under, and references to, Article IX (Business Combination Requirements; Existence) of the amended and restated certificate of incorporation;
- Amend certain terms in Article X (Corporate Opportunities) with respect to certain non-employee directors of the combined company pursuing outside business activities and corporate opportunities; and
- Amend the exclusive forum provision in our current amended and restated certificate of incorporation to provide that U.S. federal district courts are the sole and exclusive forum for claims arising under the Securities Act (these amendments are separately addressed under Proposal No. 5B—Amendment to Exclusive Forum Provision).

Reasons for the Amendments

These additional amendments to the amended and restated certificate of incorporation of the post-combination company and the reasons for each of them are:

- Amending Article I to change the post-combination company's name to "UpHealth, Inc." Currently, the Company's name is GigCapital2, Inc. The Board believes the name of the post-combination company should more closely align with the name of the existing operating business of New UpHealth and therefore has proposed the name change.
- Amending Article II to delete the provision regarding the Company's powers to consummate a business combination.
- Amending Articles IV and XI to delete references to Article IX, which will be deleted in its entirety, as more fully described below.
- Deleting Article IX to eliminate provisions specific to our status as a blank check company. This deletion is desirable because these provisions will serve no purpose following the consummation of the Business Combinations. For example, these proposed amendments remove the requirement to dissolve the Company and allow it to continue as a corporate entity with perpetual existence following consummation of the Business Combinations. Perpetual existence is the usual period of existence for corporations, and the Board believes it is the most appropriate period for the post-combination company following the Business Combinations. In addition, certain provisions in Article IX of our Charter require that proceeds from the Company's IPO be held in the Trust Account until a business combination or liquidation of the Company has occurred. These provisions would restrict our ability to pursue the Business Combinations with UpHealth and Cloudbreak, among other things.
- Revising Article X regarding corporate opportunities to add certain terms with respect to certain non-employee directors of the combined company pursuing outside business activities and corporate opportunities, as certain of our non-employee directors may serve as directors of multiple companies in the same or similar lines of business as the combined company.

- Amending Article XI regarding the exclusive forum provision for certain lawsuits to clarify that for any action arising under the Securities Act, the U.S. federal district courts will have exclusive jurisdiction (see Proposal No. 5B—Amendment to Exclusive Forum Provision).

ARTICLE IX The current amended and restated certificate of incorporation provides as follows:

The proposed certificate will not include provisions similar to Article IX (Business Combination Requirements; Existence) of the current certificate of incorporation.

ARTICLE IX
BUSINESS COMBINATION REQUIREMENTS; EXISTENCE

Section 9.1—General.

(a) The provisions of this Article IX shall apply during the period commencing upon the effectiveness of this Amended and Restated Certificate and terminating upon the consummation of the Corporation's initial Business Combination and no amendment to this Article IX shall be effective prior to the consummation of the initial Business Combination unless approved by the affirmative vote of the holders of at least 65% of all then outstanding shares of the Common Stock.

(b) Immediately after the Offering, a certain amount of the net offering proceeds received by the Corporation in the Offering (including the proceeds of any exercise of the underwriters' over-allotment option) and certain other amounts specified in the Corporation's registration statement on Form S-1, as initially filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission on November 15, 2017, as amended (the "Registration Statement"), shall be deposited in a trust account (the "Trust Account"), established for the benefit of the Public Stockholders (as defined below) pursuant to a trust agreement described in the Registration Statement. Except for the withdrawal of interest to pay taxes, none of the funds held in the Trust Account (including the interest earned on the funds held in the Trust Account) will be released from the Trust Account until the earliest to occur of (i) the completion of the initial Business Combination, (ii) the redemption of 100% of the Offering Shares (as defined below) if the Corporation is unable to complete its initial Business Combination within 15 months from the closing of the Offering (or 24 months from the closing date of the Offering provided that GigAcquisitions, LLC (or its designees) must deposit into the Trust Account funds equal to 1% of the gross proceeds of the Offering (including such proceeds from the exercise of the underwriters' over-allotment option, if exercised) in exchange for a non-interest bearing, unsecured promissory note), and (iii) the redemption of shares in connection with a vote seeking to amend any provisions of the Amended and Restated Certificate relating to our pre-initial Business Combination activity and related stockholders' rights (as described in Section 9.7). Holders of shares of Common Stock included as part of the units sold in the Offering (the "Offering Shares") (whether such Offering Shares were purchased in the Offering or in the secondary market following the Offering and whether or not such holders are Founders (as such term is defined in the Registration Statement), officers or directors of the Corporation, or affiliates of any of the foregoing) are referred to herein as "Public Stockholders." The gross proceeds from the issuance of such promissory notes pursuant to subpart (ii) above of this Section 9.1(b) will be added to the proceeds from the Offering to be held in the Trust Account and shall be used to fund the redemption of the Offering Shares in accordance with this Article IX.

Section 9.2—Redemption Rights.

(a) Prior to the consummation of the initial Business Combination, the Corporation shall provide all holders of Offering Shares with the opportunity to have their Offering Shares redeemed upon the consummation of the initial Business Combination pursuant to, and subject to the limitations of, Sections 9.2(b) and 9.2(c) (such rights of such holders to have their Offering Shares redeemed pursuant to such Sections, the "Redemption Rights") hereof for cash equal to the applicable redemption price per share determined in accordance with Section 9.2(b) hereof (the "Redemption Price"); provided, however, that the Corporation shall not be required under the Tender Offer Rules; provided, however, that if a stockholder vote is required by law to approve the proposed initial Business Combination, or the Corporation decides to submit the proposed initial Business Combination to the stockholders for their approval for business or other legal reasons, the Corporation shall offer to redeem the Offering Shares, subject to lawfully available funds therefor, in accordance with the provisions of Section 9.2(a) hereof in conjunction with a proxy solicitation pursuant to the Proxy Solicitation Rules (and not the Tender Offer Rules) at a price per share equal to the Redemption Price calculated in accordance with the following provisions of this Section 9.2(b). In the event that the Corporation offers to redeem the Offering Shares pursuant to a tender offer in accordance with the Tender Offer Rules, the Redemption Price per share of the Common Stock payable to holders of the Offering Shares tendering their Offering Shares pursuant to such tender offer shall be equal to the quotient obtained by dividing: (i) the aggregate amount on deposit in the Trust Account as of two business days prior to the consummation of the initial Business Combination, including interest not previously released to the Corporation to pay its taxes, by (ii) the total number of then outstanding Offering Shares. If the Corporation offers to redeem the Offering Shares in conjunction with a stockholder vote on the proposed initial Business Combination pursuant to a proxy solicitation, the Redemption Price per share of the Common Stock payable to holders of the Offering Shares exercising their Redemption Rights shall be equal to the quotient obtained by dividing (a) the aggregate amount on deposit in the Trust Account as of two business days prior to the consummation of the initial Business Combination, including interest not previously released to the Corporation to pay its taxes, by (b) the total number of then outstanding Offering Shares.

(c) If the Corporation offers to redeem the Offering Shares in conjunction with a stockholder vote on an initial Business Combination pursuant to a proxy solicitation, a Public Stockholder, together with any affiliate of such stockholder or any other person with whom such stockholder is acting in concert or as a “group” (as defined under Section 13(d)(3) of the Exchange Act), shall be restricted from seeking Redemption Rights with respect to more than an aggregate of 15% of the Offering Shares without the prior consent of the Corporation.

(d) In the event that the Corporation has not consummated an initial Business Combination within 15 months from the closing of the Offering (or 24 months from the closing date of the Offering provided that the deposit referenced in to subpart (ii) of Section 9.1(b) above shall be made), the Corporation shall (i) cease all operations except for the purpose of winding up, (ii) as promptly as reasonably possible but not more than 10 business days thereafter subject to lawfully available funds therefor, redeem 100% of the Offering Shares in consideration of a per-share price, payable in cash, equal to the quotient obtained by dividing (A) the aggregate amount then on deposit in the Trust Account, including interest not previously released to the Corporation to pay its taxes (less up to $100,000 of such net interest to pay dissolution expenses), by (B) the total number of then outstanding Offering Shares, which redemption will completely extinguish rights of the Public Stockholders (including the right to receive further liquidating distributions, if any), subject to applicable law, and (iii) as promptly as reasonably possible following such redemption, subject to the approval of the remaining stockholders and the Board in accordance with applicable law, dissolve and liquidate, subject in each case to the Corporation's obligations under the DGCL to provide for claims of creditors and other requirements of applicable law.

(e) If the Corporation offers to redeem the Offering Shares in conjunction with a stockholder vote on an initial Business Combination, the Corporation shall consummate the proposed initial Business Combination only if (i) such initial Business Combination is approved by the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of the Common Stock that are voted at a stockholder meeting held to consider such initial Business Combination and (ii) the Redemption Limitation is not exceeded.

(f) If the Corporation conducts a tender offer pursuant to Section 9.2(b), the Corporation shall consummate the proposed initial Business Combination only if the Redemption Limitation is not exceeded.

Section 9.3—Distributions from the Trust Account.

(a) A Public Stockholder shall be entitled to receive funds from the Trust Account only as provided in Sections 9.2(a), 9.2(b), 9.2(d) or 9.7 hereof. In no other circumstances shall a Public Stockholder have any right or interest of any kind in or to distributions from the Trust Account, and no stockholder other than a Public Stockholder shall have any interest in or to the Trust Account.

(b) Each Public Stockholder that does not exercise its Redemption Rights shall retain its interest in the Corporation and shall be deemed to have given its consent to the release of the remaining funds in the Trust Account to the Corporation, and following payment to any Public Stockholders exercising their Redemption Rights, the remaining funds in the Trust Account shall be released to the Corporation.

(c) The exercise by a Public Stockholder of the Redemption Rights shall be conditioned on such Public Stockholder following the specific procedures for redemptions set forth by the Corporation in any applicable tender offer or proxy materials sent to the Public Stockholders relating to the proposed initial Business Combination. Payment of the amounts necessary to satisfy the Redemption Rights properly exercised shall be made as promptly as practical after the consummation of the initial Business Combination.

Section 9.4—Share Issuances. Prior to the consummation of the Corporation's initial Business Combination, the Corporation shall not issue any additional shares of capital stock of the Corporation that would entitle the holders thereof to receive funds from the Trust Account or vote on any initial Business Combination, on any pre-Business Combination activity or on any amendment to this Article IX.

Section 9.5—Transactions with Affiliates. In the event the Corporation enters into an initial Business Combination with a target business that is affiliated with any of the Founders, any director or officer of the Corporation or any of their respective affiliates, the Corporation, or a committee of the independent directors of the Corporation, shall obtain an opinion from an independent accounting firm or an independent investment banking firm that is a member of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority that such Business Combination is fair to the Corporation from a financial point of view.

Section 9.6—No Transactions with Other Blank Check Companies. The Corporation shall not enter into an initial Business Combination with another blank check company or a similar company with nominal operations.

Section 9.7—Additional Redemption Rights. If, in accordance with Section 9.1(a), any amendment is made to this Article IX, the Public Stockholders shall be provided with the opportunity to redeem their Offering Shares upon the approval of any such amendment, at a per-share price, payable in cash, equal to the aggregate amount then on deposit in the Trust Account, including interest not previously released to the Corporation to pay its taxes, divided by the number of then outstanding Offering Shares; provided, however, that any such amendment will be voided, and this Article IX will remain unchanged, if any stockholders who wish to redeem are unable to redeem due to the Redemption Limitation.

ARTICLE X . The current amended and restated certificate of incorporation provides as follows:

ARTICLE X CORPORATE OPPORTUNITY

To the extent allowed by law, the doctrine of corporate opportunity, or any other analogous doctrine, shall not apply with respect to the Corporation or any of its officers or directors, and the Corporation renounces any expectancy that any of the directors or officers of the Corporation will offer any such corporate opportunity of which he or she may become aware to the Corporation, except, the doctrine of corporate opportunity shall apply with respect to any of the directors or officers of the Corporation only with respect to a corporate opportunity that was offered to such person solely in his or her capacity as a director or officer of the Corporation and such opportunity is one the Corporation is legally and contractually permitted to undertake and would otherwise be reasonable for the Corporation to pursue, and to the extent the director or officer is permitted to refer that opportunity to the Corporation without violating any legal obligation.

Article IX shall be revised and restated in its entirety as follows:

ARTICLE IX CORPORATE OPPORTUNITY

Section 9.1—Corporate Opportunities and Non-Employee Directors

(a) In recognition and anticipation that members of the Board who are not employees of the Corporation (the “Non-Employee Directors”) and their respective Affiliates may now engage and may continue to engage in the same or similar activities or related lines of business as those in which the Corporation, directly or indirectly, may engage and/or other business activities that overlap with or compete with those in which the Corporation, directly or indirectly, may engage, the provisions of this Article IX are set forth to regulate and define the conduct of certain affairs of the Corporation with respect to certain classes or categories of business opportunities as they may involve any of the Non-Employee Directors or their respective Affiliates and the powers, rights, duties and liabilities of the Corporation and its directors, officers and stockholders in connection therewith. For purposes of this Article IX, (i) “Affiliate” shall mean, (a) in respect of each Non-Employee Director, any Person that, directly or indirectly, is controlled by such Non-Employee Director (other than the

PROPOSAL NO. 5B— AMENDMENT TO EXCLUSIVE FORUM PROVISION PROPOSAL

Overview

Assuming the Business Combination Proposals are approved, our stockholders are also being asked to authorize the adoption of amendments to the existing exclusive forum provisions of the current certificate of incorporation, to provide that the federal district courts of the United States will be the sole and exclusive forum for the resolution of claims arising under the Securities Act, to the fullest extent permitted by law. The proposed amendment also expressly provides that any person or entity purchasing or otherwise acquiring securities of the Company will be deemed to have notice of the exclusive forum provision and to have consented to it.

The current Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation includes provisions that require that certain kinds of stockholder litigation can be brought only in specified, exclusive forums. As part of those provisions, the current Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation provides that any action arising under the Securities Act can be brought in either the Court of Chancery of the State of Delaware or in federal district court for the District of Delaware (which shall have concurrent jurisdiction over actions). The proposed Second Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation instead provides that the federal district courts of the United States will be the sole and exclusive forum for the resolution of claims arising under the Securities Act. Like the current certificate of incorporation, the Second Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation continues to provide that unless the Company consents in writing to the selection of an alternative forum, the Court of Chancery of the State of Delaware shall be the sole and exclusive forum for any stockholder (including a beneficial owner) to bring (i) any derivative action or proceeding brought on behalf of the Company, (ii) any action asserting a claim of breach of a fiduciary duty owed by any director, officer or other employee of the Company to the Company or the Company's stockholders, (iii) any action asserting a claim against the Company, its directors, officers or employees arising pursuant to any provision of the DGCL or the Second Amended and Restated Certificate or the Bylaws, or (iv) any action asserting a claim against the Company, its directors, officers or employees that is governed by the internal affairs doctrine and, if brought outside of Delaware, the stockholder bringing the suit will be deemed to have consented to service of process on such stockholder's counsel except any action (A) as to which the Court of Chancery determines that there is an indispensable party not subject to the jurisdiction of the Court of Chancery (and the indispensable party does not consent to the personal jurisdiction of the Court of Chancery within ten days following such determination), (B) which is vested in the exclusive jurisdiction of a court or forum other than the Court of Chancery, or (C) for which the Court of Chancery does not have subject matter jurisdiction. The Second Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation also continues to provide that notwithstanding the other exclusive forum provisions, they will not apply to suits brought to enforce any liability or duty created by the Exchange Act or any other claim for which the federal courts have exclusive jurisdiction.

Any person or entity purchasing or otherwise acquiring any interest in any shares of the Company's capital stock shall be deemed to have notice of and to have consented to the forum provisions in the current amended and restated certificate of incorporation. If any action the subject matter of which is within the scope of the forum provisions is filed in a court other than a court located within the State of Delaware (a "foreign action") in the name of any stockholder, such stockholder shall be deemed to have consented to: (x) the personal jurisdiction of the state and federal courts located within the State of Delaware in connection with any action brought in any such court to enforce the forum provisions (an "enforcement action"); and (y) having service of process made upon such stockholder in any such enforcement action by service upon such stockholder's counsel in the foreign action as agent for such stockholder.

Reasons for the Amendments

These additional amendments to the Second Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation of New UpHealth and the reasons for them are:

- Amending Article XI regarding the exclusive forum provision for certain lawsuits to provide that for any action arising under the Securities Act the federal district courts of the United States of America shall, to the fullest extent permitted by law, be the sole and exclusive forum is appropriate instead of the Delaware state courts for the resolution of such federal law-based claims.

PROPOSAL NO. 6—APPROVAL OF THE GIGCAPITAL2, INC. 2021 INCENTIVE PLAN, INCLUDING THE AUTHORIZATION OF THE INITIAL SHARE RESERVE

Overview

In connection with the Business Combinations, our Board recommends that the stockholders approve the GigCapital2, Inc. 2021 Equity Incentive Plan. The following is a summary of certain terms and conditions of the Incentive Plan. This summary is qualified in its entirety by reference to the Incentive Plan, which is attached as Annex K to this proxy statement/prospectus. You are encouraged to read the entirety of the Incentive Plan.

Summary of the Incentive Plan

The purpose of the Incentive Plan is to advance the interests of GigCapital2, Inc. and its stockholders by providing an incentive to attract, retain and reward persons for performing services and by motivating such persons to contribute to the growth and profitability of GigCapital2, Inc. and its affiliates following the closing of the Business Combinations.

Approval of the Incentive Plan by the Company's stockholders is required, among other things, in order to:

- (i) comply with stock exchange listing rules requiring stockholder approval of equity compensation plans; and
- (ii) allow the grant of incentive stock options to employees under the Incentive Plan.

If this Incentive Plan Proposal is approved by the Company's stockholders, the Incentive Plan will become effective immediately as of the closing of the Business Combinations. In the event that the Company's stockholders do not approve this Proposal, the Incentive Plan will not become effective. Approval of the Incentive Plan by the Company's stockholders will allow the post-combination company to grant restricted stock unit awards, stock options, stock appreciation rights, restricted stock purchase rights, restricted stock bonuses, performance shares, performance units, cash-based awards and other stock-based awards at levels determined appropriate by the post-combination company's Board or the Board's compensation committee following the Closing of the Business Combinations. The Incentive Plan will allow the post-combination company to utilize the foregoing types of equity and cash incentives in order to attract, retain and motivate employees, officers, directors, and consultants following the Closing of the Business Combinations.

The post-combination company's employee equity compensation program, as implemented under the Incentive Plan, will allow the post-combination company to remain competitive with comparable companies in its industry by giving it resources to attract and retain talented individuals. Approval of the Incentive Plan will provide the post-combination company with flexibility to use equity compensation and other incentive awards to attract, retain and motivate talented employees, officers, directors, and consultants.

Best Practices Integrated into the Post-Combination Company's Equity Compensation Program and the Incentive Plan

The Incentive Plan includes provisions that are designed to protect the interests of the stockholders of the post-combination company following its effectiveness and to reflect corporate governance best practices including:

- Awards granted under the Incentive Plan will be subject to reduction, cancellation, forfeiture, or recoupment in accordance with any "clawback" policy or similar provisions required by applicable law, stock exchange listing standards, or policies adopted by the post-combination company.
- No discounted stock options or stock appreciation rights. All stock options and stock appreciation rights granted under the Incentive Plan must have an exercise price not less than the fair market value of a share of Common Stock on the effective date the stock option or stock appreciation right is granted.
- Material amendments require stockholder approval. Consistent with any applicable law, regulation or rule, including the rules of any stock exchange, the Incentive Plan requires stockholder approval of any material revisions to the Incentive Plan, including: (a) an increase in the maximum aggregate number of shares of Common Stock that may be issued under the Incentive Plan (except by operation of the provisions of the Incentive Plan relating to changes in the post-combination company's capital structure), (b) a change in the class of persons eligible to receive incentive stock options, or (c) or as otherwise required by applicable law, regulation, or rule.

- Limit on non-employee director awards and other awards. The annual compensation awarded to any non-employee directors of the post-combination company during each calendar year, including both shares subject to stock awards granted under the Incentive Plan or otherwise and any cash fees paid to such non-employee director during any calendar year may not exceed $1,000,000 in total value, or $2,000,000 for the calendar year in which a non-employee director is first elected to the Board (calculating the value of any such stock awards based on the grant date fair market value of such stock awards for financial reporting purposes). Such limitation on non-employee director stock awards does not apply to any cash retainer fees, including cash retainer fees converted into equity awards at the election of the non-employee director, expense reimbursements, or distributions from any deferred compensation program applicable to the non-employee director.
- Limit potential excise taxes, and loss of deductibility to GigCapital2, under the Code with respect to amounts paid upon a change in control of GigCapital2.

Information Regarding the Post-Combination Company's Incentive Program

It is critical to the post-combination company's long-term success that the interests of its employees, directors, officers, and consultants are tied to its success as "owners" of the business. Approval of the Incentive Plan will allow the post-combination company to grant restricted stock unit awards, stock options, stock appreciation rights, restricted stock purchase rights, restricted stock bonuses, performance shares, performance units, cash-based awards and other stock-based awards at levels determined appropriate by its the post-combination company's Board or the Board's compensation committee following the Closing of the Business Combinations in order to attract new employees, directors, officers, and consultants, retain existing employees, directors, officers, and consultants, and to motivate such persons to exert maximum efforts for the post-combination company's success. The Incentive Plan will allow the post-combination company to utilize these foregoing types of equity and cash incentive awards with flexibility to offer competitive equity compensation packages in order to retain and motivate the talent necessary for the post-combination company.

If the Company's proposal to approve the Incentive Plan is approved by the Company's stockholders, the post-combination company will reserve 10% of its fully-diluted capitalization following the Closing of the Business Combinations, plus a number of shares equal to 4.84818% multiplied by the Adjusted Aggregate Merger/Thrasys Incentive Amount (as defined in the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement), available for grant under the Incentive Plan as of the effective time of the Closing of the Business Combinations. This pool size is necessary to provide sufficient reserved shares for a level of grants that will attract, retain, and motivate employees and other participants under the Incentive Plan. Furthermore, if the Incentive Plan is approved by the Company's stockholders, the number of shares available for grant pursuant to the Incentive Plan will be subject to annual increases effective as of the first day of the post-combination company's fiscal year beginning in 2022 and the first day of each subsequent fiscal year through and including the first day of the post-combination company's fiscal year commencing in 2032 in an amount equal to the lesser of (i) 5% of the number of shares of the Common Stock outstanding as of the post-combination company's immediately preceding fiscal year or (ii) such amount, if any, as the Board may determine.

Description of the Incentive Plan

The material features of the the Incentive Plan are described below. The following description of the Incentive Plan is a summary only and is qualified in its entirety by reference to the complete text of the Incentive Plan. Stockholders are urged to read the actual text of the Incentive Plan in its entirety.

Purpose

The purpose of the Incentive Plan is to advance the interests of GigCapital2, Inc. and its stockholders by providing an incentive to attract, retain and reward persons for performing services and by motivating such persons to contribute to the growth and profitability of GigCapital2, Inc. and its affiliates following the closing of the Business Combination.

Types of Awards

The terms of the Incentive Plan provide for the grant of restricted stock unit awards, incentive stock options (within the meaning of Section 422 of the Code), nonstatutory stock options, SARs, restricted stock awards, restricted stock units awards, performance units, performance shares, cash-based awards, and other stock-based awards.

Shares Available for Awards

Subject to adjustment for specified changes in the post-combination company's capitalization as set forth in the Incentive Plan, the maximum aggregate number of shares of Common Stock that may be issued under the Incentive Plan will be equal to (1) the sum of (A) a number of shares of Common Stock equal to 4,848,188 multiplied by the Adjusted Aggregate Merger/Thrasys Incentive Amount (as set forth in the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement), plus (B) 10% of the fully-diluted capitalization of the post-combination company following the Closing of the Business Combinations, plus (2) annual increases effective as of the first day of the post-combination company's fiscal year beginning in 2022 and the first day of each subsequent fiscal year through and including the first day of the post-combination company's fiscal year commencing in 2032 in an amount equal to the lesser of (i) 5% of the number of shares of the Common Stock outstanding as of the post-combination company's immediately preceding fiscal year or (ii) such amount, if any, as the Board may determine. Subject to compliance with the requirements of Section 409A of the Code and any other applicable provisions of the Code and regulations thereunder, and with other applicable law or requirements (including applicable stock exchange requirements), the post-combination company's Board or the Board's compensation committee may authorize the issuance or assumption of benefits under the Incentive Plan in connection with any merger, consolidation, acquisition of property or stock, or reorganization upon such terms and conditions as it may deem appropriate without affecting the number of shares of Common Stock reserved or available for awards under the Plan. In addition, subject to compliance with applicable laws, and stock exchange listing requirements, shares available for grant under a stockholder approved plan of an acquired company (as appropriately adjusted to reflect the transaction) may be used for awards under the Incentive Plan to individuals who were not employees or directors of the post-combination company or a parent or subsidiary of the post-combination company prior to the transaction and will not reduce the number of shares otherwise available for issuance under the Incentive Plan.

Shares issued under the Incentive Plan will consist of authorized but unissued or reacquired shares of Common Stock. No fractional shares of Common Stock will be delivered under the Incentive Plan.

The following shares of Common Stock will become available again for issuance under the Incentive Plan:

(i) any shares subject to a stock award that are not issued because such stock award expired or was canceled or terminated without all of the shares covered by such stock award having been exercised or settled in full; (ii) any shares subject to any portion of a stock award that is settled in cash; (iii) any shares issued pursuant to a stock award that are forfeited back to or repurchased for an amount not greater than the award's purchase price by the post-combination company; (iv) any shares reacquired by the post-combination company or withheld in satisfaction of tax withholding obligations on a stock award; and (v) any shares reacquired by the post-combination company or withheld as consideration for the exercise price of a stock option.

Non-Employee Director Compensation Limit

Under the Incentive Plan, the annual compensation awarded to any non-employee directors of the post-combination company during each calendar year, including both shares subject to stock awards granted under the Incentive Plan or otherwise and any cash fees paid to such non-employee director during any calendar year may not exceed $1,000,000 in total value, or $2,000,000 for the calendar year in which a non-employee director is first elected to the Board (calculating the value of any such stock awards based on the grant date fair market value of such stock awards for financial reporting purposes). Such limitation on non-employee director stock awards does not apply to any cash retainer fees, including cash retainer fees converted into equity awards at the election of the non-employee director, expense reimbursements, or distributions from any deferred compensation program applicable to the non-employee director.

Administration

The Incentive Plan will be concurrently administered by the Board or the Board's compensation committee. The Board and the Board's compensation committee may each be considered to be a "Plan Administrator" for purposes of this Incentive Plan Proposal. Subject to the terms of the Incentive Plan, the Plan Administrator has full and final power and authority to make all determinations and take all actions with respect to the Incentive Plan or any award as Plan Administrator may deem advisable to the extent not inconsistent with the provisions of the Incentive Plan or applicable law, including: determine the recipients of awards, the types of awards to be granted, the number of shares of Common Stock subject to or the cash value of awards, the terms and conditions of awards granted, and the criteria to be satisfied by participants as a condition to receipt of performance awards under the Incentive Plan, including the period of their exercisability and vesting. The Plan Administrator also has the authority to provide for accelerated exercisability and vesting of awards. Subject to the limitations set forth below, the Plan Administrator also determines the fair market value applicable to a stock award and the exercise price of stock options and stock appreciation rights granted under the Incentive Plan.

Amendment and Termination

The Plan Administrator may at any time amend the Incentive Plan or any outstanding award and may at any time terminate or suspend the Incentive Plan as to future grants of awards, provided that the Plan Administrator may not, without the affected award recipient's consent, alter the terms of an award so as to materially adversely affect a participant's rights under the award without the consent of the participant. Consistent with any applicable law, regulation or rule, including the rules of any stock exchange, the Incentive Plan requires stockholder approval of any material revisions to the Incentive Plan, including: (a) an increase in the maximum aggregate number of shares of Common Stock that may be issued under the Incentive Plan (except by operation of the provisions of the Incentive Plan relating to changes in the post-combination company's capital structure), (b) a change in the class of persons eligible to receive incentive stock options, or (c) or as otherwise required by applicable law, regulation, or rule. No awards may be made under the Incentive Plan following the ten year anniversary of the earlier of the date that the board of directors or the stockholders approve the Incentive Plan, but previously granted awards may continue in accordance with their terms beyond that date unless earlier terminated by the Plan Administrator.

Eligibility

All of the post-combination company's (including its affiliates) employees, non-employee directors, officers, and consultants will be eligible to participate in the Incentive Plan following the Closing of the Business Combinations and may receive all types of awards other than incentive stock options. Incentive stock options may be granted under the Incentive Plan only to the post-combination company's employees (including officers) and employees of its affiliates (as determined in accordance with Section 422 of the Code).

Terms and Conditions of Awards

All Awards

Generally, the Plan Administrator will determine the terms of all awards under the Plan, including the vesting and acceleration of vesting of awards, provisions for the withholding of taxes, and payment of amounts in lieu of cash dividends or other cash distributions with respect to the post-combination company's Common Stock subject to awards.

Awards Requiring Exercise

Incentive stock options may not be transferred other than by will or the laws of descent and distribution, and during an employee's lifetime may be exercised only by the employee or the employee's guardian or legal representative. Upon the cessation of a participant's employment with the post-combination company, an award requiring exercise will cease to be exercisable and will terminate and all other unvested awards will be forfeited, except that:

- All stock options and SARs held by the participant which were exercisable immediately prior to the participant's termination of service with the post-combination company other than for Cause (as defined in the Incentive Plan) will remain exercisable for the lesser of (i) three months or (ii) the period ending on the latest date such stock option or SAR could have been exercised;
- All stock options and SARs held by the participant which were exercisable immediately prior to the participant's termination of service with the post-combination company due to death will remain exercisable for the lesser of (i) the one year period ending with the first anniversary of the participant's termination or (ii) the period ending on the latest date on which such stock option or SAR could have been exercised (provided that a participant's service will be deemed to have terminated due to death if the participant dies within three (3) months (or such other period provided by the participant's award agreement) after the participant's termination of service); and
- All stock options and SARs held by a participant which were exercisable immediately prior to the participant's termination of service with the post-combination company due to Disability (as defined in the Incentive Plan) will remain exercisable for the lesser of (i) the one year period ending with the first anniversary of the participant's termination or (ii) the period ending on the latest date on which such stock option or SAR could have been exercised.

The exercise price (or base value from which appreciation is to be measured) of each award requiring exercise will be 100% of the fair market value of the Common Stock subject to such award, as determined on the effective date of the grant, or such higher amount as the Plan Administrator may determine; provided that incentive stock options granted to participants who own stock of the post-combination company possessing more than 10% of the total combined voting power of all classes of stock of the post-combination company or any parent corporation, subsidiary corporation or affiliate of the post-combination company (a "Ten Percent Holder") must have an exercise price per share not less than 110% of the fair market value of a share of Common Stock on the effective date the incentive stock option is granted. Fair market value will be determined by the Plan Administrator consistent with the applicable requirements of Section 409A of the Code.

Awards requiring exercise will have a maximum term not to exceed ten years from the date of grant. Incentive stock options granted to a Ten Percent Holder will have a maximum term not to exceed five years from the date of grant.

Effect of a Change in Control

In the event of a "Change in Control" as described in the Incentive Plan, the acquiring or successor entity may assume or continue all or any awards outstanding under the Incentive Plan or substitute substantially equivalent awards. Any awards that are not assumed or continued in connection with a Change in Control or are not exercised or settled prior to the Change in Control will terminate effective as of the time of the Change in Control. The Plan Administrator may provide for the acceleration of vesting of any or all outstanding awards upon such terms and to such extent as it determines, except that the vesting of all awards held by members of the board of directors who are not employees will automatically be accelerated in full. The Incentive Plan also authorizes the Plan Administrator, in its discretion and without the consent of any participant, to cancel each or any outstanding award denominated in shares of Common Stock upon a Change in Control in exchange for a payment to the participant with respect to each share subject to the canceled award of an amount equal to the excess of the consideration to be paid per share of Common Stock of the post-combination company in the Change in Control transaction over the exercise price per share, if any, under the award.

The Incentive Plan defines a “Change in Control” to include (a) a “person” (with certain exceptions specified by the Incentive Plan) becoming the direct or indirect “beneficial owner” of more than 50% of the total fair market value or combined voting power of the post-combination company’s then outstanding securities entitled to vote in the election of directors; (b) stockholder approval of a plan of liquidation or dissolution of the post-combination company; or (c) the occurrence of any of the following events upon which the stockholders of the post-combination company immediately before the event do not retain immediately after the event direct or indirect beneficial ownership of more than 50% of the combined voting power of outstanding securities entitled to vote in the election of directors of the post-combination company, its successor or the entity to which the assets of the post-combination company were transferred: (i) a sale or exchange by the stockholders in a single or series of related transactions of more than 50% of the post-combination company’s voting stock, (ii) a merger or consolidation to which the post-combination company is a party, or (iii) the sale, exchange or transfer of all or substantially all of the assets of the post-combination company (other than a sale, exchange or transfer to one or more subsidiaries of the post-combination company).

However, in certain instances, the term “Change in Control” may be given a more limited meaning. If an amount treated as nonqualified deferred compensation within the meaning of Section 409A of the Code would become payable under the Plan as the result of a change in control event, that event must qualify as a change in the ownership or effective control of the post-combination company or in the ownership of a substantial portion of the assets of the post-combination company within the meaning of Section 409A.

Changes in and Distributions with Respect to Company Common Stock

In the event of a merger, consolidation, reorganization, reincorporation, recapitalization, reclassification, stock dividend, stock split, reverse stock split, split-up, split-off, spin-off, combination of shares, exchange of shares or similar change affecting the post-combination company’s Common Stock, or in the event of payment of a dividend or distribution to the stockholders of the post-combination company in a form other than Common Stock (excepting regular, periodic cash dividends) that has a material effect on the fair market value of shares of our stock, the Plan Administrator will make appropriate adjustments to the maximum number of shares that may be delivered under the Incentive Plan, to the maximum number of shares that may be issued upon the exercise of incentive stock options, to the maximum number of shares that may be issued with respect to stock options that are not incentive stock options, and will also make appropriate adjustments to the number and kind of shares of stock or securities subject to awards then outstanding or subsequently granted, any exercise price or purchase price relating to awards in order to prevent dilution or enlargement of participants’ rights under the Incentive Plan.

Effect of Section 280G and Section 4999 of the Code in Connection with a Change in Control

If any acceleration of vesting pursuant to an award granted under the Incentive Plan and any other payment or benefit received or to be received by a participant in the Incentive Plan would subject the participant to any excise tax pursuant to Section 4999 of the Code due to the characterization of such acceleration of vesting, payment or benefit as an “excess parachute payment” under Section 280G of the Code, then, provided such election would not subject the participant to taxation under Section 409A, the participant may elect to reduce the amount of any acceleration of vesting called for under the award in order to avoid such characterization.

Clawback Policy

The Plan Administrator may specify in any award agreement that an award granted under the Incentive Plan and the participant's rights, payments, and benefits with respect to such award will be subject to reduction, cancellation, forfeiture, or recoupment upon the occurrence of specified events, in addition to any otherwise applicable vesting or performance conditions of the award. Such events may include, but are not limited to, termination of the participant's service for Cause (within the meaning of the Incentive Plan) or any act by the participant, whether before or after termination of service, that would constitute Cause for termination of service, or any accounting restatement due to material noncompliance of the post-combination company with any financial reporting requirements of securities laws as a result of which, and to the extent that, such reduction, cancellation, forfeiture, or recoupment is required by applicable securities laws. In addition, to the extent that clawback or similar provisions applicable to awards are required by applicable law, stock exchange listing standards, or policies adopted by the post-combination company, awards granted under the Incentive Plan will be subject to such provisions.

If the post-combination company is required to prepare an accounting restatement due to the material noncompliance of the post-combination company, as a result of misconduct, with any financial reporting requirement under the securities laws, any participant who knowingly or through gross negligence engaged in the misconduct, or who knowingly or through gross negligence failed to prevent the misconduct, and any participant who is one of the individuals subject to automatic forfeiture under Section 304 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, will reimburse the post-combination company for (i) the amount of any payment in settlement of an award received by such participant during the 12-month period following the first public issuance or filing with the United States Securities and Exchange Commission (whichever first occurred) of the financial document embodying such financial reporting requirement, and (ii) any profits realized by such participant from the sale of securities of the post-combination company during such 12-month period.

U.S. Federal Income Tax Consequences

The following is a general summary of the material U.S. federal income tax consequences of the grant, exercise and vesting of awards under the Incentive Plan and the disposition of shares acquired pursuant to the exercise or settlement of such awards and is intended to reflect the current provisions of the Code and the regulations thereunder. This summary is not intended to be a complete statement of applicable law, nor does it address foreign, state, local or payroll tax considerations. This summary further assumes that all awards described in the summary are exempt from, or comply with, the requirement of Section 409A of the Code. Moreover, the U.S. federal income tax consequences to any particular participant may differ from those described herein by reason of, among other things, the particular circumstances of such participant.

Stock Options. Holders of incentive stock options will generally incur no federal income tax liability at the time of grant or upon vesting or exercise of those options. However, the spread at exercise may give rise to "alternative minimum tax" liability for the taxable year in which the exercise occurs. If the holder does not dispose of the shares before the later of two years following the date of grant and one year following the date of exercise, the difference between the exercise price and the amount realized upon disposition of the shares will constitute long-term capital gain or loss, as the case may be. Assuming the holding period is satisfied, no deduction will be allowed to us for federal income tax purposes in connection with the grant or exercise of the incentive stock option. If, within two years following the date of grant or within one year following the date of exercise, the holder of shares acquired through the exercise of an incentive stock option disposes of those shares, the participant will generally realize taxable compensation at the time of such disposition equal to the difference between the exercise price and the lesser of the fair market value of the share on the date of exercise or the amount realized on the subsequent disposition of the shares, and that amount will generally be deductible by us for federal income tax purposes, subject to the possible limitations on deductibility under Sections 280G and 162(m) of the Code for compensation paid to individuals designated in those Sections. Finally, if incentive stock options (granted under all stock plans of the post-combination company and its parent and subsidiary corporations, including the Incentive Plan) first become exercisable by a participant in any one year for shares having an aggregate value in excess of $100,000 (based on the grant date value), the portion of the incentive stock options in respect of those excess shares will be treated as non-qualified stock options for federal income tax purposes.

No income will be realized by a participant upon grant or vesting of an option that does not qualify as an incentive stock option (a “non-qualified stock option”). Upon the exercise of a non-qualified stock option, the participant will recognize ordinary compensation income in an amount equal to the excess, if any, of the fair market value of the underlying exercised shares over the option exercise price paid at the time of exercise, and the participant’s tax basis will equal the sum of the compensation income recognized and the exercise price. We will be able to deduct this same excess amount for U.S. federal income tax purposes, but such deduction may be limited under Sections 280G and 162(m) of the Code for compensation paid to certain individuals designated in those Sections. In the event of a sale of shares received upon the exercise of a non-qualified stock option, any appreciation or depreciation after the exercise date generally will be taxed as capital gain or loss and will be long-term gain or loss if the holding period for such shares is more than one year.

SARs. No income will be realized by a participant upon grant or vesting of a SAR. Upon the exercise of a SAR, the participant will recognize ordinary compensation income in an amount equal to the fair market value of the payment received in respect of the SAR. We will be able to deduct this same amount for U.S. federal income tax purposes, but such deduction may be limited under Sections 280G and 162(m) of the Code for compensation paid to certain individuals designated in those Sections.

Restricted Stock. A participant will not be subject to tax upon the grant of an award of restricted stock unless the participant otherwise elects to be taxed at the time of grant pursuant to Section 83(b) of the Code. On the date an award of restricted stock becomes transferable or is no longer subject to a substantial risk of forfeiture (i.e., the vesting date), the participant will have taxable compensation equal to the difference between the fair market value of the shares on that date over the amount the participant paid for such shares, if any, unless the participant made an election under Section 83(b) of the Code to be taxed at the time of grant. If the participant made an election under Section 83(b), the participant will have taxable compensation at the time of grant equal to the difference between the fair market value of the shares on the date of grant over the amount the participant paid for such shares, if any. If the election is made, the participant will not be allowed a deduction for amounts subsequently required to be returned to us. (Special rules apply to the receipt and disposition of restricted shares received by officers and directors who are subject to Section 16(b) of the Exchange Act.) We will be able to deduct, at the same time as it is recognized by the participant, the amount of taxable compensation to the participant for U.S. federal income tax purposes, but such deduction may be limited under Sections 280G and 162(m) of the Code for compensation paid to certain individuals designated in those Sections.

Restricted Stock Units. A participant will not be subject to tax upon the grant or vesting of a restricted stock unit award. Rather, upon the delivery of shares or cash pursuant to a restricted stock unit award, the participant will have taxable compensation equal to the fair market value of the number of shares (or the amount of cash) the participant actually receives with respect to the award. We will be able to deduct the amount of taxable compensation to the participant for U.S. federal income tax purposes, but the deduction may be limited under Sections 280G and 162(m) of the Code for compensation paid to certain individuals designated in those Sections.

New Incentive Plan Benefits

Grants under the Incentive Plan will be made at the discretion of the compensation committee of the post-combination company. In accordance with the terms of the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement, the post-combination company intends to grant an amount equal to up to 4.84818% multiplied by the Adjusted Aggregate Merger/Thrasys Incentive Amount in restricted stock units as awards to two employees of GigCapital2 following the Business Combinations under the Incentive Plan. Any other grants under the Incentive Plan are not yet determinable, however, it is expected that additional grants will be made, including to individuals who will be directors and executive officers of the post-combination company. Any such additional grants would be made in accordance with the executive compensation program discussed in the section entitled “Management After the Business Combinations—Post-Combination Company Executive Compensation—Compensation Philosophy and Objectives Following the Business Combinations”, including the recommendations of management relating thereto. The value of the awards granted under the Incentive Plan will depend on a number of factors, including the fair market value of the Common Stock on future dates, the exercise decisions made by the participants and the extent to which any applicable performance goals necessary for vesting or payment are achieved.

The table below sets forth information regarding proposed grants to be awarded to employees of GigCapital2 by the post-combination company following the closing of the Business Combinations, subject to approval of the Incentive Plan.

Grants of Plan-Based Awards Proposed Upon Closing of Business Combinations

Name and Position	Dollar Value ($) (1)	Number of shares of Restricted Stock Units (2)
GigCapital2 employees as a group	$48,265,372	4,807,308

- (1) Based on the closing price of our Common Stock on May 12, 2021.
- (2) The above amount is an estimated amount resulting from the formula of 4.84818% multiplied by the Adjusted Aggregate Merger/Thrasys Incentive Amount, assuming no adjustments are made as provided for in the definition of Adjusted Aggregate Merger/Thrasys Incentive Amount as set forth in the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement. Each of the restricted stock units will vest upon the earliest of (i) the first anniversary of the Closing Date of the Business Combinations or (ii) the date, following the Closing Date, on which the Fair Market Value (as determined under the Incentive Plan) of the post-combination company’s Common Stock equals or exceeds $12.50 per share for any 20 trading days within any 30 trading day period commencing at least 90 days after the Closing Date, or (ii) the date on which the post-combination company completes a Change in Control (within the meaning of the Incentive Plan) that results in all of the Company’s stockholders having the right to exchange their shares of Stock for cash, securities, or other property.

Effective Date; Term

If this Incentive Plan Proposal is approved by the Company’s stockholders, the Incentive Plan will be effective immediately upon the closing of the Business Combinations. No award will be granted under the Incentive Plan on or after the tenth anniversary of the earlier of the Incentive Plan being approved by the board of directors or the stockholders. Any award outstanding under the Incentive Plan at the time of termination will remain in effect until such award is exercised or has expired in accordance with its terms.

Vote Required for Approval

The approval of the Incentive Plan requires the affirmative vote of holders of a majority of the shares of our Common Stock represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon at the Special Meeting. Abstentions will have the same effect as a vote against this Proposal.

Recommendation of the Board of Directors

OUR BOARD OF DIRECTORS UNANIMOUSLY RECOMMENDS THAT OUR STOCKHOLDERS VOTE “FOR” THE APPROVAL OF THE GIGCAPITAL2, INC. 2021 EQUITY INCENTIVE PLAN.

PROPOSAL NO. 7—THE ELECTION OF DIRECTORS PROPOSAL

Overview

Pursuant to the Company's existing Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation, the GigCapital2 Board is currently divided into three classes, Class I, Class II and Class III with only one class of directors being elected in each year and each class (except for those directors appointed prior to our first annual meeting of stockholders) serving a three-year term. The proposed Second Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation provides that the authorized number of directors will be fixed in the manner as provided in the bylaws of GigCapital2, which bylaws are to provide for a classified board with three terms pursuant to the Merger Agreement.

Pursuant to the Business Combination Agreements, at the Closing Date, our board of directors will consist of Dr. Avi Katz, Dr. Raluca Dinu, Dr. Chirinjeev Kathuria, Neil Miotto, Dr. Mariya Pylypiv, Nathan Locke, Agnès Rey-Giraud, Jerome Ringo and Moshe Bar-Siman-Tov. Messrs. Bar-Siman-Tov, Miotto and Ringo will be nominated to serve as Class I directors, Drs. Dinu and Pylypiv, and Mr. Locke will be nominated to serve as Class II directors, and Drs. Katz and Kathuria, and Ms. Rey-Giraud will be nominated to serve as Class III directors.

Information regarding each nominee is set forth in the section entitled "Management After the Business Combinations."

Vote Required for Approval

The Election of Directors Proposal is conditioned on the approval of the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal and the NYSE Stock Issuance Proposal at the special meeting.

If a quorum is present, directors are elected by a plurality of the votes cast, in person online or by proxy. This means that the nine nominees will be elected if they receive more affirmative votes than any other nominee for the same position. Votes marked "FOR" a nominee will be counted in favor of that nominee. Proxies will have full discretion to cast votes for other persons in the event any nominee is unable to serve. Failure to vote by proxy or to vote in person online at the special meeting and broker non-votes will have no effect on the vote since a plurality of the votes cast is required for the election of each nominee.

Recommendation of the Board of Directors

OUR BOARD OF DIRECTORS RECOMMENDS THAT OUR STOCKHOLDERS VOTE "FOR" PROPOSAL NO. 7.

PROPOSAL NO. 8—THE ADJOURNMENT PROPOSAL

Overview

The Adjournment Proposal, if adopted, will allow our Board to adjourn the Special Meeting to a later date or dates to permit further solicitation of proxies. The Adjournment Proposal will only be presented to our stockholders in the event that there are insufficient votes for, or otherwise in connection with, the approval of the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal, the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal, the NYSE Stock Issuance Proposal, the Charter Amendment Proposals, the Incentive Plan Proposal or the Election of Directors Proposal, but no other proposal if the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal, the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal, the NYSE Stock Issuance Proposal, the Charter Amendment Proposals, the Incentive Plan Proposal and the Election of Directors Proposal are approved.

Consequences if the Adjournment Proposal is Not Approved

If the Adjournment Proposal is not approved by our stockholders, our Board may not be able to adjourn the Special Meeting to a later date in the event that there are insufficient votes for, or otherwise in connection with, the approval of the UpHealth Business Combination Proposal, the Cloudbreak Business Combination Proposal, the NYSE Stock Issuance Proposal, the Charter Amendment Proposals, the Incentive Plan Proposal, the Election of Directors Proposal or any other proposal.

Vote Required for Approval

The approval of the Adjournment Proposal requires the affirmative vote of a majority of the votes cast by the stockholders present in person or represented by proxy and entitled to vote at the Special Meeting. Accordingly, a Company stockholder's failure to vote, as well as an abstention from voting and a broker non-vote, will have no effect on the Adjournment Proposal. Abstentions will be counted in connection with the determination of whether a valid quorum is established but will have no effect on the Adjournment Proposal.

Recommendation of the Board of Directors

OUR BOARD OF DIRECTORS RECOMMENDS THAT OUR STOCKHOLDERS VOTE “FOR” THE ADJOURNMENT PROPOSAL.

The existence of financial and personal interests of one or more of the Company's directors or officers may result in a conflict of interest on the part of such director(s) or officer(s) between what he or they may believe is in the best interests of the Company and its stockholders and what he or they may believe is best for himself or themselves in determining to recommend that stockholders vote for the proposals. See the section above entitled “Proposal No. 1—Approval of the UpHealth Business Combination—Interests of Certain Persons in the Transactions” and “Proposal No. 2—Approval of the Cloudbreak Business Combination—Interests of Certain Persons in the Transactions” for a further discussion.

INFORMATION ABOUT THE COMPANY PRIOR TO THE BUSINESS COMBINATIONS

Overview

The Company is a Private-to-Public Equity (PPE) company, also known as a blank check company or a special purpose acquisition company, incorporated as a Delaware corporation on March 6, 2019 and formed for the purpose of acquiring, through a merger, capital stock exchange, asset acquisition, stock purchase, reorganization, recapitalization, exchangeable share transaction or other similar business transaction with one or more operating businesses or assets.

“Private-to-Public Equity (PPE)” is a trademark of an affiliate of the Company, GigFounders, LLC, used pursuant to agreement.

Significant Activities Since Inception

The registration statement for the Company’s IPO was declared effective on June 5, 2019. On June 10, 2019, the Company consummated its IPO of 15,000,000 units at a price of $10.00 per unit, generating gross proceeds of $150,000,000. Each unit consisted of one share of Common Stock, one warrant to purchase one share of Common Stock and one right to receive one-twentieth of one share of Common Stock upon the completion of an initial business combination, which would be triggered by the Business Combinations. Each public warrant is exercisable for one share of Common Stock at a price of $11.50 per full share.

Prior to the sale of the public units in the IPO, the Company consummated a private placement of 492,500 Private Placement Units at a price of $10.00 per unit in a private placement that occurred simultaneously with the completion of the initial closing of our IPO. On June 13, 2019, the Founders also purchased from us an aggregate of 75,000 Private Placement Units at a price of $10.00 per unit in a private placement that occurred simultaneously with the completion of the exercise of the over-allotment option. Each Private Placement Unit consists of one Placement Share, one warrant, and one right to receive one-twentieth of a share of Common Stock upon the consummation of our initial Business Combination. Warrants will be exercisable for $11.50 per share, and the exercise price of the warrants may be adjusted in certain circumstances as described our financial statements. Unlike the warrants included in the units sold in our IPO, if held by the original holder or its permitted transferees, the warrants included in the Private Placement Units are not redeemable by us and subject to certain limited exceptions, will be subject to transfer restrictions until one year following the consummation of the initial business combination. If the warrants included in the Private Placement Units are held by holders other than the initial holders or their permitted transferees, the warrants included in the Private Placement Units will be redeemable by us and exercisable by holders on the same basis as the warrants included in our IPO.

On June 5, 2019, one of our underwriters, Northland Securities, Inc., purchased 100,000 Private Underwriter Shares at a purchase price of $10.00 per share in a private placement that occurred simultaneously with the completion of the initial closing of the IPO. Northland also purchased from us an additional 20,000 Private Underwriter Shares at a price of $10.00 per share in a private placement that occurred simultaneously with the completion of the exercise of the over-allotment option. The Private Underwriter Shares are identical to the Placement Shares.

In connection with the Company’s IPO, the underwriters were granted an option to purchase up to an additional 2,250,000 additional public units (“Over-Allotment Units”) solely to cover over-allotments, if any, at an offering price of $10.00 per Over-Allotment Unit. On June 11, 2019, the underwriters exercised their over-allotment option in full, and on June 13, 2019 the underwriters purchased an additional 2,250,000 Over-Allotment Units, generating additional gross proceeds of $22,500,000.00.

The Company’s public units began trading on the NYSE under the symbol “GIX.U” on June 6, 2019. On June 26, 2019, the Company announced that the holders of the Company’s units may elect to separately trade the securities underlying such units. On July 1, 2019, the Company’s shares of Common Stock, public warrants and public rights began trading on the NYSE under the symbols “GIX”, “GIX.WS” and “GIX.RT” respectively. No fractional warrants were issued upon separation of the units and only whole warrants trade. Each warrant entitles the holder to purchase one common share at a price of $11.50. Warrants may only be exercised for whole shares and will become exercisable 30 days after the completion of the Company’s initial business combination. The Company’s warrants expire five years after the completion of the Business Combinations or earlier upon redemption or liquidation the Company’s prospectus.

On October 27, 2020, the Company and Waste to Energy Partners LLC (dba Bolder Industries) (“Bolder Industries”) issued a joint press release announcing that the Company and Bolder Industries had entered into a non-binding letter of intent for a business combination. However, as a result of the decision to proceed with the Business Combinations, the Company terminated the discussions and negotiations with Bolder Industries.

On November 20, 2020, the Company and UpHealth Merger Sub entered into the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement (as subsequently amended on January 29, 2021, March 23, 2021 and April 23, 2021, and as it may be further amended from time to time) with UpHealth. If the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement is adopted by UpHealth stockholders and the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement is approved by Company stockholders at the Special Meeting, UpHealth Merger Sub will merge with and into UpHealth, with UpHealth surviving the merger. For more information about the transactions contemplated by the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement, please see the section entitled “Proposal No. 1 - Approval of the UpHealth Business Combination.” A copy of the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement is attached to this proxy statement/prospectus as Annex A.

On November 20, 2020, the Company and Cloudbreak Merger Sub entered into the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement (as subsequently amended on April 23, 2021 and as it may be further amended from time to time) with Cloudbreak. If the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement is adopted by Cloudbreak members and the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement is approved by Company stockholders at the Special Meeting, Cloudbreak Merger Sub will merge with and into Cloudbreak, with Cloudbreak surviving the merger. For more information about the transactions contemplated by the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement, please see the section entitled “Proposal No. 2 - Approval of the Cloudbreak Business Combination.” A copy of the Cloudbreak Business Combination Agreement is attached to this proxy statement/prospectus as Annex B.

Initial Business Combination

Under NYSE rules, an initial business combination must occur with one or more target businesses that together have a fair market value of at least 80% of the Company’s assets held in the Trust Account (excluding taxes payable on the income earned on the Trust Account) at the time of the agreement to enter into the initial business combination. The fair market value of the target or targets must be determined by the Company’s Board based upon one or more standards generally accepted by the financial community, such as discounted cash flow valuation or value of comparable businesses. Subject to this requirement, the Company’s management has had virtually unrestricted flexibility in identifying and selecting one or more prospective target businesses, although the Company was not permitted to effectuate an initial business combination with another blank check company or a similar company with nominal operations. In any case, the Company determined that it would only complete an initial business combination in which it acquired 50% or more of the outstanding voting securities of the target or were otherwise not required to register as an investment company under the Investment Company Act.

Redemption Rights for Holders of Public Shares

As of January 31, 2021, the amount in the Trust Account is approximately $10.10 per public share. The Initial Stockholders have agreed to waive their Redemption Rights with respect to any Common Stock they may hold (other than any public shares, in the case of Cowen Investments) in connection with the consummation of the Business Combinations. The Founder Shares will be excluded from the pro rata calculation used to determine the per-share redemption price.

Holders of outstanding units must separate the underlying public shares, public rights and public warrants prior to exercising Redemption Rights with respect to the public shares. For more information about how to separate the underlying public shares from units, see the section titled “Special Meeting of Company Stockholders—Redemption Rights.”

Limitations on Redemption Rights

Notwithstanding the foregoing the Company’s current certificate of incorporation provides that a public stockholder, together with any affiliate of such stockholder or any other person with whom such stockholder is acting in concert or as a “group” (as defined under Section 13d-3 of the Exchange Act), will be restricted from seeking redemptions with respect to more than an aggregate of 15% of the public shares.

Submission of Our Initial Business Combination to a Stockholder Vote

The Special Meeting of our stockholders to which this proxy statement/prospectus relates is to solicit your approval of the Business Combinations. Unlike many other blank check companies, our public stockholders are not required to vote against the Business Combinations in order to exercise their redemption rights. If the Business Combinations are not completed, then public stockholders electing to exercise their redemption rights will not be entitled to receive such payments. Our Initial Stockholders, including our Sponsor, have agreed to vote any shares of Common Stock owned by them in favor of the Business Combinations.

Employees

The Company has two executive officers. These individuals are not obligated to devote any specific number of hours to the Company’s matters but they intend to devote as much of their time as they deem necessary to the Company’s affairs until the Company has completed its initial business combination. The amount of time the Company’s officers devote in any time period varies based on the stage the Company is in with respect to the business combination. The Company does not intend to have any full time employees prior to the consummation of an initial business combination, which would be the Business Combinations are completed.

Board Composition

New UpHealth’s business and affairs will be organized under the direction of the New UpHealth Board. We anticipate that the New UpHealth Board will consist of nine members upon the consummation of the Business Combinations. The New UpHealth Board will be comprised of Dr. Avi Katz, Dr. Raluca Dinu, Dr. Chirinjeev Kathuria, Neil Miotto, Dr. Mariya Pylypiv, Nathan Locke, Agnès Rey-Giraud, Jerome Ringo and Moshe Bar-Siman-Tov. Dr. Katz and Dr. Kathuria will serve as Co-Chairman of the New UpHealth Board. The primary responsibilities of the New UpHealth Board will be to provide oversight, strategic guidance, counseling and direction to New UpHealth’s management. The New UpHealth Board will meet on a regular basis and additionally as required.

In accordance with the terms of the proposed Second Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation, which will be effective upon the consummation of the Business Combinations, the New UpHealth Board will be divided into three classes, Class I, Class II and Class III, with only one class of directors being elected in each year and each class serving a three-year term, except with respect to the election of directors at the special meeting pursuant to Proposal No. 7—The Election of Directors Proposal, the Class I directors will be elected to an initial one-year term (and three-year terms subsequently), the Class II directors will be elected to an initial two-year term (and three-year terms subsequently) and the Class III directors will be elected to an initial three-year term (and three-year terms subsequently). There is no cumulative voting with respect to the election of directors, with the result that the holders of more than 50% of the shares voted for the election of directors can elect all of the directors.

The New UpHealth Board will be divided into the following classes:

- Class I will consist of Messrs. Bar-Siman-Tov, Miotto and Ringo, whose terms will expire at New UpHealth’s first annual meeting of stockholders to be held after the completion of this offering;
- Class II will consist of Drs. Dinu and Pylypiv, and Mr. Locke, whose terms will expire at New UpHealth’s second annual meeting of stockholders to be held after the completion of this offering; and
- Class III will consist of Drs. Katz and Kathuria, and Ms. Rey-Giraud, whose terms will expire at New UpHealth’s third annual meeting of stockholders to be held after the completion of this offering.

At each annual meeting of stockholders to be held after the initial classification, the successors to directors whose terms then expire will be elected to serve from the time of election and qualification until the third annual meeting following their election and until their successors are duly elected and qualified. This classification of the New UpHealth Board may have the effect of delaying or preventing changes in New UpHealth’s control or management. New UpHealth’s directors may be removed for cause by the affirmative vote of the holders of at least a majority of New UpHealth’s voting stock.

Stockholder Communications

The Company's Board has established a process for stockholders to send communications to the Company Board. Stockholders may communicate with the Company's Board generally or a specific director at any time by writing to the Company's Secretary, c/o GigCapital2, Inc., 1731 Embarcadero Rd., Suite 200, Palo Alto, CA 94303. The Company will review all messages received, and forward any message that reasonably appears to be a communication from a stockholder about a matter of stockholder interest that is intended for communication to the Company's Board. Communications are sent as soon as practicable to the director to whom they are addressed, or if addressed to the Company's Board generally, to the Executive Chairman of the Company's Board. Because other appropriate avenues of communication exist for matters that are not of stockholder interest, communications that do not relate to matters of stockholder interest are not forwarded to the Company's Board.

Director Independence

NYSE requires that a majority of the Company's Board must be composed of "independent directors," which is defined generally as a person other than an executive officer or employee of the Company or any other individual having a relationship, which, in the opinion of the Board would interfere with the director's exercise of independent judgment in carrying out the responsibilities of a director.

Messrs. Miotto, Mikulsky, and Frostig are the Company's independent directors. The Company's independent directors have regularly scheduled meetings at which only independent directors are present. Any affiliated transactions will be on terms no less favorable to the Company than could be obtained from independent parties. Any affiliated transactions must be approved by a majority of the Company's independent and disinterested directors.

Board Leadership Structure and Role in Risk Oversight

The Company's governance framework provides the Board with flexibility to select the appropriate Board leadership structure for the Company. In making leadership structure determinations, the Company's Board considers many factors, including the specific needs of the Company and what is in the best interests of the Company's stockholders. While the Board does not currently have a formal policy on whether the role of the Chief Executive Officer and Executive Chairman of the Board should be separate, since 2017, Dr. Katz has served as the Company's Chief Executive Officer, President, Executive Chairman of the Board and Secretary. The Company believes this structure is appropriate for the Company at this time, as the combined roles help provide strong and consistent leadership for the Company's management team and Board. When the Board convenes for a meeting, the non-management directors meet in executive session if the circumstances warrant. Given the composition of the Board with a majority of independent directors, the Board does not believe that it is necessary to formally designate a lead independent director at this time, although it may consider appointing a lead independent director if the circumstances change.

The Board's oversight of risk is administered directly through the Board, as a whole, or through its audit committee. Various reports and presentations regarding risk management are presented to the Board to identify and manage risk. The audit committee addresses risks that fall within the committee's area of responsibility. For example, the audit committee is responsible for overseeing the quality and objectivity of the Company's financial statements and the independent audit thereof. Management furnishes information regarding risk to the Board from time to time as requested.

Compensation Committee Interlocks and Insider Participation

None of the Company's executive officers currently serves and in the past year has not served as a member of the Board or compensation committee of any entity that has one or more executive officers serving on the Company's Board.

Number and Terms of Office of Officers and Directors

The members of the Board were elected to the Board in connection with the IPO. The members will stand for re-election at the Company's annual meeting of stockholders, which will only be held if the Business Combinations are not consummated prior to the date of the annual meeting of stockholders. In the event the Business Combinations are consummated prior to the date of the annual meeting, at the special meeting of stockholders that will be held to seek approval of the Business Combinations stockholders will be asked to vote on the directors who will comprise the Board after the closing of the Business Combinations.

The Company's executive officers are elected by the Board and serve at the discretion of the Board, rather than for specific terms of office. The Company's Board is authorized to appoint persons to the offices set forth in the Company's Bylaws as it deems appropriate. The Company's Bylaws provide that the Company's executive officers may consist of a Chief Executive Officer, a President, a Chief Financial Officer, Vice Presidents, a Secretary, Assistant Secretaries, a Treasurer and such other offices as may be determined by the Board.

Committees of the Company's Board

The Company's Board has three standing committees: an audit committee; a compensation committee; and a nominating and corporation governance committee. Each committee operates under a certificate of incorporation that is approved by the Company's Board and has the composition and responsibilities described below.

Prior to the Business Combinations, holders of the Company's public shares will not have the right to recommend director candidates for nomination to the Board.

Conflicts of Interest

The Founders, our underwriters and certain members of our Board and officers of the Company have interests in the Business Combinations that are different from or in addition to (and which may conflict with) your interest. These interests include but are not limited to:

- the fact that our Initial Stockholders have agreed not to redeem any of the Founder Shares in connection with a stockholder vote to approve the Business Combinations;
- the fact that our Initial Stockholders have agreed to waive their rights to liquidating distributions from the Trust Account with respect to their Founder Shares if we fail to complete an initial business combination by the applicable deadline;
- if the Trust Account is liquidated, including in the event we are unable to complete an initial business combination within the required time period, our Sponsor has agreed to indemnify us to ensure that the proceeds in the Trust Account are not reduced below $10.00 per public share, or such lesser per public share amount as is in the Trust Account on the liquidation date, by the claims of prospective target businesses with which we have entered into an acquisition agreement or claims of any third party (other than our independent public accountants) for services rendered or products sold to us, but only if such a vendor or target business has not executed a waiver of any and all rights to seek access to the Trust Account;
- the continued indemnification of our existing directors and officers and the continuation of our directors' and officers' liability insurance after the Business Combinations;
- the fact that Dr. Avi Katz, Dr. Raluca Dinu and Neil Miotto will remain as board members of the post-combination company and each shall be entitled to receive compensation for serving on the board of directors of the post-combination company;
- the fact that we engaged the underwriters of our IPO as advisors to assist it in holding meetings with our stockholders to discuss potential business combination, introduce GigCapital2 to potential investors that are interested in purchasing our securities in connection with a potential business combination, assist it in obtaining stockholder approval for the business combination and assist us with our press releases and public filings in connection with a business combination. Pursuant to that agreement, we will pay the underwriters a cash fee for such services upon the consummation of the Business Combinations in an amount equal to, in the aggregate, 3.5% of the gross proceeds of the IPO, including any proceeds from the exercise of the over-allotment option; and
- the fact that our Sponsor, officers and directors will lose their entire investment in us if an initial business combination is not consummated by the applicable deadline. Prior to GigCapital2's initial public offering, our Founders purchased an aggregate of 4,307,500 Founder Shares for an aggregate purchase price of $25,000, or approximately $0.0058 per share (as compared to the $10.00 per share price being used to determine the number of shares of Common Stock being issued to the UpHealth and Cloudbreak equity holders in the Business Combinations or at which the PIPE Investors have agreed to purchase Common Stock), with the Sponsor purchasing 4,018,987 Founder Shares, Northland Investment purchasing 173,108 Founder Shares and the EarlyBird Group purchasing 115,405 Founder Shares. Additionally, the Founders purchased from GigCapital2 an aggregate of 567,500 Private Placement Units at a price of $10.00 per unit simultaneously with the consummation of GigCapital2's initial public offering for an aggregate purchase price of $5,675,000, with the Sponsor purchasing 481,250 Private Placement Units, Northland Investment purchasing 56,350 Private Placement Units and the EarlyBird Group purchasing 29,900 Private Placement Units. In addition, Northland concurrently purchased 120,000 Private Underwriter Shares at a price of $10.00 per share. Certain of GigCapital2's directors and executive officers, including Dr. Avi Katz, Dr. Raluca Dinu, Neil Miotto, John Mikulsky and Gil Frostig, also have a direct or indirect economic interest in the 481,250 Private Placement Units and in the 4,018,987 Founder Shares owned by the Sponsor. The 4,018,987 Founder Shares owned by the Sponsor would have had an aggregate market value of $40,390,819 based upon the closing price of $10.05 per public share on the NYSE on May 5, 2021, the most recent practicable date prior to the date of this proxy statement/prospectus. The 481,250 private placement units held by the Sponsor would have had an aggregate market value of $5,197,500 based upon the closing price of $10.80 per public unit on the NYSE on May 5, 2021, the most recent practicable date prior to the date of this proxy statement/prospectus. Additionally, the Sponsor, officers and directors do not currently have any unreimbursed out-of-pocket expenses in connection with the business combinations.

After the completion of the Business Combinations, Dr. Avi Katz, Dr. Raluca Dinu and Neil Miotto will serve on the Board of the post-combination company.

In general, executive officers and directors of a corporation incorporated under the laws of the State of Delaware are required to present business opportunities to a corporation if:

- the corporation could financially undertake the opportunity;
- the opportunity is within the corporation's line of business; and
- it would not be fair to the corporation and its stockholders for the opportunity not to be brought to the attention of the corporation.

Accordingly, as a result of multiple business affiliations, the Company's officers and directors may have similar legal obligations relating to presenting business opportunities meeting the above-listed criteria to multiple entities. In addition, conflicts of interest may arise when the Company's Board evaluates a particular business opportunity with respect to the above-listed criteria. The Company cannot assure you that any of the above mentioned conflicts will be resolved in the Company's favor.

In order to minimize potential conflicts of interest which may arise from multiple corporate affiliations, each of the Company's officers and directors has contractually agreed, pursuant to a written agreement with the Company, until the earliest of November 20, 2020 (the date of the execution of a definitive agreement for the Business Combinations), the Company's liquidation or such time as he or she ceases to be an officer or director, to present to the Company for the Company's consideration, prior to presentation to any other entity, any suitable business opportunity which may reasonably be required to be presented to the Company, subject to any fiduciary or contractual obligations he or she might have. Accordingly, the Company's Charter provides that the doctrine of corporate opportunity will not apply with respect to any of the Company's executive officers or directors in circumstances where the application of the doctrine would conflict with any fiduciary duties or contractual obligations they may have.

Below is a table summarizing the entities to which the Company’s executive officers and directors currently have fiduciary duties or contractual obligations:

When the Company submits the Business Combinations to its public stockholders for a vote, the Initial Stockholders have agreed to vote any shares held by them in favor of the Business Combinations. In addition, they have agreed to waive their respective rights to participate in any liquidation distribution with respect to their Founder Shares. If they purchased shares of Common Stock as part of the IPO or in the open market, however, they would be entitled to participate in any liquidation distribution in respect of such shares but have agreed not to convert or sell such shares to the Company in connection with the consummation of the Business Combinations.

All ongoing and future transactions between the Company and any of its Initial Stockholders or their respective affiliates will be on terms believed by the Company to be no less favorable to the Company than are available from unaffiliated third parties. Such transactions will require prior approval by a majority of the Company’s uninterested “independent” directors or the members of the Company’s Board of who do not have an interest in the transaction, in either case who had access, at the Company’s expense, to the Company’s attorneys or independent legal counsel. The Company will not enter into any such transaction unless the Company’s disinterested “independent” directors determine that the terms of such transaction are no less favorable to the Company than those that would be available to the Company with respect to such a transaction from unaffiliated third parties.

Limitation on Liability and Indemnification of Officers and Directors

The current certificate of incorporation provides that the Company's directors and officers will be indemnified by the Company to the fullest extent authorized by the DGCL as it now exists or may in the future be amended, unless a director violated his or her duty of loyalty to the Company or its stockholders, acted in bad faith, knowingly or intentionally violated the law, authorized unlawful payments of dividends, unlawful stock purchases or unlawful redemptions, or derived improper personal benefit from its actions as a director. In addition, the current certificate of incorporation provides that the Company's directors will not be personally liable for monetary damages to the Company for breaches of their fiduciary duty as directors, unless they violated their duty of loyalty to the Company or its stockholders, acted in bad faith, knowingly or intentionally violated the law, authorized unlawful payments of dividends, unlawful stock purchases or unlawful redemptions, or derived an improper personal benefit from their actions as directors.

The Company's Bylaws also permit the Company to secure and maintain insurance, at the Company's expense, on behalf of any director, officer, employee or agent of the Company or another corporation, partnership, joint venture, trust or other enterprise against any expense, liability or loss, whether or not the Company would have the power to indemnify such person against such expense, liability or loss under the DGCL. The Company has purchased a policy of directors' and officers' liability insurance that insures its directors and officers against the cost of defense, settlement or payment of a judgment in some circumstances and insures the Company against its obligations to indemnify its directors and officers.

These provisions may discourage stockholders from bringing a lawsuit against the Company's directors for breach of their fiduciary duty. These provisions also may have the effect of reducing the likelihood of derivative litigation against directors and officers, even though such an action, if successful, might otherwise benefit the Company and its stockholders. Furthermore, a stockholder's investment may be adversely affected to the extent the Company pay the costs of settlement and damage awards against directors and officers pursuant to these indemnification provisions. The Company believes that these provisions, the insurance and the indemnity agreements are necessary to attract and retain talented and experienced directors and officers.

THE COMPANY'S MANAGEMENT'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS OF FINANCIAL CONDITION AND RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

The following discussion of the Company's financial condition and results of operations should be read in conjunction with the Company's consolidated financial statements and notes to those statements included in this proxy statement/prospectus. This discussion contains forward-looking statements that involve risks and uncertainties. Please see "Cautionary Note Regarding Forward-Looking Statements" and "Risk Factors" in this proxy statement/prospectus. Unless otherwise indicated or the context otherwise requires, references in this section to "we," "our," "us" and other similar terms refer to the Company and its consolidated subsidiaries before the Business Combinations."

Overview

We are a Private-to-Public Equity (PPE) company, also known as a blank check company or special purpose acquisition vehicle, incorporated in the State of Delaware and formed for the purpose of acquiring, engaging in a share exchange, share reconstruction and amalgamation with, purchasing all or substantially all of the assets of, or engaging in any other similar business combination with one or more businesses or entities. We intend to effectuate our initial Business Combination using cash from the proceeds from the sale of units in our initial public offering (the "Offering"), the sale of the Private Placement Units to our Founders and the sale of the Private Underwriter Shares to one of our underwriters, both of which occurred simultaneously with the completion of the Offering, our common equity or any preferred equity that we may create in accordance with the terms of our charter documents, debt, or a combination of cash, common or preferred equity and debt. The units sold in the Offering each consisted of one share of Common Stock, one warrant to purchase one share of Common Stock, and one right to receive one-twentieth (1/20) of one share of Common Stock upon the consummation of our initial Business Combination. The Private Placement Units were substantially similar to the units sold in the Offering, but for certain differences in the warrants included in each of them. For clarity, the warrants included in the units are referred to herein as the "public warrants", and the warrants included in the Private Placement Units are referred to herein as the "private warrants."

The issuance of additional shares of Common Stock or the creation of one or more classes of preferred stock during our initial Business Combination:

- may significantly dilute the equity interest of investors in this offering who would not have pre-emption rights in respect of any such issue;
- may subordinate the rights of holders of Common Stock if the rights, preferences, designations and limitations attaching to the preferred shares are senior to those afforded our shares of Common Stock;
- could cause a change in control if a substantial number of shares of Common Stock are issued, which may affect, among other things, our ability to use our net operating loss carry forwards, if any, and could result in the resignation or removal of our present officers and directors;
- may have the effect of delaying or preventing a change of control of us by diluting the share ownership or voting rights of a person seeking to obtain control of us; and
- may adversely affect prevailing market prices for our shares of Common Stock.

Similarly, if we issue debt securities or otherwise incur significant indebtedness, it could result in:

- default and foreclosure on our assets if our operating revenues after our initial Business Combination are insufficient to repay our debt obligations;
- acceleration of our obligations to repay the indebtedness even if we make all principal and interest payments when due if we breach certain covenants that require the maintenance of certain financial ratios or reserves without a waiver or renegotiation of that covenant;

- our immediate payment of all principal and accrued interest, if any, if the debt is payable on demand;
- our inability to obtain necessary additional financing if any document governing such debt contains covenants restricting our ability to obtain such financing while the debt security is outstanding;
- our inability to pay dividends on our shares of Common Stock;
- using a substantial portion of our cash flow to pay principal and interest on our debt, which will reduce the funds available for dividends on our Common Stock if declared, expenses, capital expenditures, acquisitions and other general corporate purposes;
- limitations on our flexibility in planning for and reacting to changes in our business and in the industry in which we operate;
- increased vulnerability to adverse changes in general economic, industry and competitive conditions and adverse changes in government regulation; and
- limitations on our ability to borrow additional amounts for expenses, capital expenditures, acquisitions, debt service requirements, execution of our strategy and other purposes and other disadvantages compared to our competitors who have less debt.

We expect to incur significant costs in the pursuit of our acquisition plans. We cannot assure you that our plans to raise capital or to complete our initial Business Combination will be successful.

We had until December 10, 2020 to complete a Business Combination. On December 8, 2020, after approval by our stockholders of Extension Amendment No. 1 at our annual meeting of stockholders, we filed the Extension Amendment No. 1 to our current Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation to extend the date by which we had to consummate an initial Business Combination from December 10, 2020 to March 10, 2021. In connection with Extension Amendment No. 1, an aggregate 579,881 shares of the Company's Common Stock were redeemed, and $5,857,340 was withdrawn out of the Trust Account to pay for such redemption leaving approximately $168.4 million remaining in our Trust Account as of December 31, 2020 to consummate a Business Combination.

On March 10, 2021, the Company held a special meeting of its stockholders (the "Special Meeting"). At the Special Meeting, the Company's stockholders approved Extension Amendment No. 2. The certificate of amendment was filed with the Delaware Secretary of State and has an effective date of March 10, 2021. In connection with this Extension Amendment No. 2, an aggregate 1,852,804 shares of the Company's Common Stock were redeemed, and $18,715,459 was withdrawn out of the Trust Account to pay for such redemption leaving approximately $149.6 million remaining in our Trust Account to consummate a Business Combination.

Results of Operations and Known Trends or Future Events

We have neither engaged in any operations nor generated any revenues to date. For the period from March 6, 2019 (date of inception) through December 31, 2020, our only activities have been organizational activities, those necessary to prepare for the Offering and to identify a target business for the Business Combination. We do not expect to generate any operating revenues until after completion of our initial Business Combination. We expect to generate non-operating income in the form of interest income on cash and marketable securities held in the Trust Account at UBS Financial Services, Inc. in New York, New York with Continental Stock Transfer & Trust Company acting as trustee, which was funded after the Offering to hold an amount of cash and marketable securities equal to that raised in the Offering. Due to the recent impact from the COVID-19 pandemic that started in March 2020, many investors sold U.S. treasuries to meet their investment objectives, including but not limited to, the purchase of depressed equities, the forced sale by losses on other positions, and the need to settle short-term debts. This created volatility in the financial markets and reduced return on investments in U.S. treasury bills. As a result, we shifted our investment portfolio held in the Trust Account from U.S. treasury bills to money market funds in May 2020. We expect to incur increased expenses as a result of being a public company (for legal, financial reporting, accounting and auditing compliance), as well as for due diligence expenses.

For the year ended December 31, 2020, we had a net loss of $4,128,841 which consisted of operating expenses of $3,949,600, other expense resulting from the revaluation of the warrant liability of $930,700 and a provision for income taxes of $271,087 partially offset by interest income on marketable securities held in the Trust Account of $1,022,546.

For the period from March 6, 2019 (date of inception) through December 31, 2019, we had a net income of $295,115 which consisted of interest income on marketable securities held in the Trust Account of $1,872,701, which was partially offset by operating expenses of $953,436, other expense resulting from the revaluation of the warrant liability of $65,336 and a provision for income taxes of $558,814.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

On June 10, 2019, we consummated the initial closing of the Offering with the delivery of 15,000,000 Units at a price of $10.00 per unit, generating gross proceeds of $150,000,000. Simultaneously with the initial closing of the Offering, we consummated the initial closing of the Private Placement with the sale of 492,500 Private Placement Units at a price of $10.00 per unit and the sale of 100,000 Private Underwriter Shares at a price of $10.00 per share, generating aggregated gross proceeds of $5,925,000.

On June 13, 2019, in connection with the underwriters' exercise in full of their option to purchase an additional 2,250,000 units solely to cover over-allotments, if any, we consummated the sale of an additional 2,250,000 Units at a price of $10.00 per unit, generating gross proceeds of $22,500,000. Simultaneously with the closing of the sale of such additional units, the Company consummated the second closing of the Private Placement resulting in the sale of an additional 75,000 Private Placement Units at a price of $10.00 per unit and the sale of 20,000 Private Underwriter Shares at a price of $10.00 per share, generating aggregated gross proceeds of $950,000.

Following the initial and second closings of the Offering and the Private Placement, a total of $172,500,000 was placed in the Trust Account. We incurred $4,332,430 in offering related costs, including $3,450,000 of underwriting fees and $882,430 of other costs.

As of December 31, 2020, we held cash and marketable securities in the Trust Account of $168,384,949 (including $2,895,247 of interest income earned, less $1,152,958 withdrawn from the interest earned on the Trust Account to pay tax obligations and $5,857,340 on redemptions) in the Trust Account. The marketable securities consisted of money market funds meeting certain conditions under Rule 2a-7 under the Investment Company Act of 1940 which invest only in direct U.S. government obligations. Interest income earned from the funds held in the Trust Account may be used by us to pay taxes. For the year ended December 31, 2020, we withdrew $774,840 from the interest earned on the Trust Account to pay tax obligations.

As of December 31, 2019, we held cash and marketable securities in the Trust Account of $173,994,583 (including $1,872,701 of interest earned) in the Trust Account. The marketable securities consisted of U.S. treasury bills with a maturity of 180 days or less. Interest income earned from the funds held in the Trust Account may be used by us to pay taxes. For the period March 6, 2019 (date of inception) through December 31, 2019, we withdrew $378,118 from the interest earned on the Trust Account to pay tax obligations.

For the year ended December 31, 2020, cash used in operating activities was $2,064,391, consisting of a net loss of $4,128,841, interest earned on marketable securities held in the Trust Account of $1,022,546, partially offset by the increase in the fair value of the warrant liability of $930,700 and changes in operating assets and liabilities of $2,156,296, including the increase in accrued liabilities of $2,153,000 and decreases in prepaid expenses, receivable from related party and other non-current assets of $132,797 and an increase in accounts payable of $52,135 partially offset by decreases in payable to related party and other current liabilities of $181,636.

For the period March 6, 2019 (date of inception) through December 31, 2019, cash used in operating activities was $1,477,400, consisting of interest earned on marketable securities held in the Trust Account of $1,872,701, partially offset by net income of $295,115, the increase in the fair value of the warrant liability of $65,336 and changes in operating assets and liabilities of $34,850.

We intend to use substantially all of the funds held in the Trust Account, including any amounts representing interest earned on the Trust Account (which interest shall be net of taxes payable by us), to acquire a target business or businesses to complete our initial Business Combination and to pay our expenses relating thereto. We may withdraw interest to pay taxes. We estimate our annual franchise tax obligations to be approximately $200,000. Our annual income tax obligations will depend on the amount of interest and other income earned on the amounts held in the Trust Account. To the extent that our capital stock is used in whole or in part as consideration to effect our initial Business Combination, the remaining proceeds held in the Trust Account as well as any other net proceeds not expended will be used as working capital to finance the operations of the target business or businesses. Such working capital funds could be used in a variety of ways including continuing or expanding the target business' operations, for strategic acquisitions and for marketing, research and development of existing or new products. Such funds could also be used to repay any operating expenses or finders' fees which we had incurred prior to the completion of our initial business combination if the funds available to us outside of the Trust Account were insufficient to cover such expenses.

As of December 31, 2020 and 2019 we had cash of $478,737 and $1,576,508, respectively, held outside the Trust Account. In December 2020, we raised additional funds to ensure the proceeds not held in the Trust Account will be sufficient to allow us to operate for at least 24 months from the closing date of the Offering, assuming that a Business Combination is not consummated during that time. Over this time period, we intend to use these funds primarily for identifying and evaluating prospective acquisition candidates, performing business due diligence on prospective target businesses, traveling to and from the offices, plants or similar locations of prospective target businesses, reviewing corporate documents and material agreements of prospective target businesses, selecting the target business to acquire and structuring, negotiating and consummating the Business Combinations.

If our estimates of the costs of undertaking in-depth due diligence and negotiating our initial Business Combination are less than the actual amount necessary to do so, we may have insufficient funds available to operate our business prior to our initial Business Combination. Moreover, we may need to obtain additional financing either to consummate our initial Business Combination or because we become obligated to redeem a significant number of our public shares upon consummation of our initial Business Combination, in which case we may issue additional securities or incur debt in connection with such Business Combination. In order to finance operating and/or transaction costs in connection with a Business Combination, our Sponsor, executive officers, directors, or their affiliates may, but are not obligated to, loan us funds. In the event that our initial Business Combination does not close, we may use a portion of the working capital held outside the Trust Account to repay such loaned amounts but no proceeds from our Trust Account would be used for such repayment. Up to $1,500,000 of such loans may be convertible into units of the post-business combination entity at a price of $10.00 per unit at the option of the lender. The units would be identical to the Private Placement Units.

Following our initial Business Combination, if cash on hand is insufficient, we may need to obtain additional financing in order to meet our obligations.

On November 2, 2020, the Company filed a definitive proxy statement with the SEC, to invite the stockholders of the Company to attend the 2020 annual meeting Annual Meeting to be held on December 3, 2020. At the Annual Meeting, the stockholders voted on Extension Amendment No.1 to extend the date by which the Company must consummate a Business Combination from December 10, 2020 to March 10, 2021 (the date which is 21 months from the closing date of the IPO).

On March 10, 2021, the Company held a special meeting of its stockholders (the “Special Meeting”). At the Special Meeting, the Company’s stockholders approved Extension Amendment No. 2. The certificate of amendment was filed with the Delaware Secretary of State and has an effective date of March 10, 2021.

If the Company is unable to consummate its initial Business Combination by June 10, 2021, the Company shall (i) cease all operations except for the purposes of winding up; (ii) as promptly as reasonably possible, but not more than ten business days thereafter, redeem the public shares of Common Stock for a per share pro rata portion of the Trust Account, including interest, but less taxes payable (less up to $100,000 of such net interest to pay dissolution expenses) and (iii) as promptly as possible following such redemption, dissolve and liquidate the balance of the Company’s net assets to its creditors and remaining stockholders, as part of its plan of dissolution and liquidation. The mandatory liquidation and subsequent dissolution raises substantial doubt about the Company’s ability to continue as a going concern.

Off-Balance Sheet Arrangements

As of December 31, 2020, we have not entered into any off-balance sheet financing arrangements. We do not participate in transactions that create relationships with unconsolidated entities or financial partnerships, often referred to as variable interest entities, which would have been established for the purpose of facilitating off-balance sheet arrangements. We have not entered into any off-balance sheet financing arrangements, established any special purpose entities, guaranteed any debt or commitments of other entities, or purchased any non-financial assets.

Contractual Obligations

As of December 31, 2020 and 2019, we do not have any long-term debt, capital lease obligations, operating lease obligations or long-term liabilities, other than an agreement to pay our Sponsor a monthly fee of $20,000 for office space, administrative services and secretarial support. We began incurring these fees on June 6, 2019 and will continue to incur these fees monthly until the earlier of the completion of the Business Combinations or the liquidation of the Company.

Critical Accounting Policies

The preparation of financial statements and related disclosures in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America (“GAAP”) requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements, and income and expenses during the periods reported. Actual results could materially differ from those estimates. We have identified the following critical accounting policies:

Emerging Growth Company

Section 102(b)(1) of the JOBS Act exempts emerging growth companies from being required to comply with new or revised financial accounting standards until private companies (that is, those that have not had a Securities Act registration statement declared effective or do not have a class of securities registered under the Exchange Act) are required to comply with the new or revised financial accounting standards. The JOBS Act provides that a company can elect to opt out of the extended transition period and comply with the requirements that apply to non-emerging growth companies but any such election to opt out is irrevocable. We have elected not to opt out of such extended transition period which means that when an accounting standard is issued or revised and it has different application dates for public or private companies, we, as an emerging growth company, will adopt the new or revised accounting standard at the time private companies adopt the new or revised standard.

Net Loss Per Common Share

Net loss per share of Common Stock is computed by dividing net loss by the weighted-average number of shares of Common Stock outstanding for the period. We apply the two-class method in calculating the net loss per common share. Shares of Common Stock subject to possible redemption as of December 31, 2020 and 2019 have been excluded from the calculation of the basic net loss per share since such shares, if redeemed, only participate in their pro rata share of the Trust Account earnings. When calculating our diluted net loss per share, we have not considered the effect of (i) the incremental number of shares of Common Stock to settle warrants sold in the Offering and Private Placement, as calculated using the treasury stock method; (ii) the contingently issuable shares associated with the rights sold in the Offering and Private Placement to receive one-twentieth (1/20) of one share of Common Stock upon the consummation of our initial Business Combination, and (iii) the insider shares issued to the former Chief Financial Officer representing 5,000 shares of Common Stock underlying restricted stock awards for the period they were outstanding. Since we were in a net loss position during the periods after deducting net income attributable to Common Stock subject to redemption, diluted net loss per common share is the same as basic net loss per common share for the periods presented as the inclusion of all potential common shares outstanding would have been anti-dilutive.

In accordance with the two-class method, our net income (loss) is adjusted for net income that is attributable to common stock subject to redemption, as these shares only participate in the income of the Trust Account and not our losses. Accordingly, net loss per common share, basic and diluted as restated, is calculated as follows:

	(As Restated)	(As Restated)
Net income (loss)	$(4,128,841)	$ 295,115
Less: net income attributable to common stock subject to redemption . . .	(555,866)	(1,005,550)
Net loss attributable to common stockholders	$(4,684,707)	$ (710,435)
Weighted-average common shares outstanding, basic and diluted	5,304,752	4,847,100
Net loss per share common share, basic and diluted	$ (0.88)	$ (0.15)

Common Stock subject to possible redemption

Common stock subject to mandatory redemption (if any) is classified as a liability instrument and is measured at fair value. Conditionally redeemable common stock (including common stock that features redemption rights that are either within the control of the holder or subject to redemption upon the occurrence of uncertain events not solely within our control) is classified as temporary equity. At all other times, common stock is classified as stockholders' equity. Our Common Stock features certain redemption rights that are considered to be outside of our control and subject to occurrence of uncertain future events. Accordingly, as of December 31, 2020 and 2019, Common Stock subject to possible redemption is presented as temporary equity, outside of the stockholders' equity section of our balance sheets.

Warrant Liability

We account for warrants for shares of our Common Stock that are not indexed to our own stock as liabilities at fair value on the balance sheet. The warrants are subject to remeasurement at each balance sheet date, and any change in fair value is recognized as a component of other income (expense), net on the statements of operations and comprehensive income (loss). We will continue to adjust the liability for changes in fair value until the earlier of the exercise or expiration of the Common Stock warrants. At that time, the portion of the warrant liability related to the Common Stock warrants will be reclassified to additional paid-in capital.

Recent Accounting Pronouncements

We do not believe that any recently issued, but not yet effective, accounting pronouncements, if currently adopted, would have a material effect on our condensed financial statements.

EXECUTIVE COMPENSATION

The Company

The following disclosure concerns the compensation of the Company's officers and directors for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2019.

Compensation of our Executive Officers and Directors

As we are a special purpose acquisition company, formed for the purpose of effecting a business combination, our primary objective with respect to executive and director compensation is to retain the executives and directors to help identify and close a business combination.

Commencing on the date that our securities were first listed on NYSE through the earlier of consummation of our initial business combination and our liquidation, we will pay our Sponsor a total of $20,000 per month, which funds were used to pay for office space, utilities, secretarial and administrative services. This arrangement was agreed to by an affiliate of our Executive Chairman for our benefit and is not intended to provide such affiliate of our Executive Chairman compensation in lieu of a salary. We believed that such fees are at least as favorable as we could have obtained from an unaffiliated third party for such services.

On March 20, 2019, we entered into a Strategic Services Agreement with Tara McDonough, our former Vice President and Chief Financial Officer, which was effective through August 12, 2019, Ms. McDonough's last day providing services for the Company. Ms. McDonough was paid at an hourly rate of $200 per hour. Ms. McDonough was paid a total of $41,950 pursuant to her Strategic Services Agreement. On August 6, 2019, we entered into a Strategic Services Agreement with Brad Weightman, our current Vice President and Chief Financial Officer, pursuant to which Mr. Weightman was paid $10,000 per month. We entered into an Amended and Restated Strategic Services Agreement, effective as of June 30, 2020, with Mr. Weightman, pursuant to which, Mr. Weightman is paid up to $10,000 per month.

Following are the tabular disclosures of our executive officer and director compensation:

- (1) Advisory fees were paid to directors for board committee service and administrative and analytical services, including certain activities on the Company's behalf, such as identifying and investigating possible business targets and business combinations.

Except as set forth above, no compensation was paid to our Sponsor, or management team, or any of their respective affiliates, prior to or in connection with the consummation of our initial business combination. Additionally, these individuals are reimbursed for any out-of-pocket expenses incurred in connection with activities on our behalf such as identifying potential target businesses and performing due diligence on suitable business combinations. Our independent directors review on a quarterly basis all payments that were made to our Sponsor, management team or our or their affiliates.

Members of our management team who remain with us, may be paid consulting, management or other fees from the combined company with any and all amounts being fully disclosed to stockholders, to the extent then known, in the tender offer materials or proxy solicitation materials furnished to our stockholders in connection with a proposed business combination. It is unlikely the amount of such compensation will be known at the time, as it will be up to the directors of the post-combination business to determine executive and director compensation. Any compensation to be paid to our officers will be determined, or recommended, to the Board of Directors for determination, either by a committee constituted solely by independent directors or by a majority of the independent directors on our Board.

We do not intend to take any action to ensure that members of our management team maintain their positions with us after the consummation of our initial business combination, although it is possible that some or all of our officers and directors may negotiate employment or consulting arrangements to remain with us after the initial business combination. The existence or terms of any such employment or consulting arrangements to retain their positions with us may influence our management's motivation in identifying or selecting a target business but we do not believe that the ability of our management to remain with us after the consummation of our initial business combination will be a determining factor in our decision to proceed with any potential business combination. We are not party to any agreements with our officers and directors that provide for benefits upon termination of employment.

After the completion of the Business Combinations, Dr. Katz, Dr. Dinu and Mr. Miotto will serve on the Board of the post-combination company and each shall be entitled to receive compensation for serving on the Board of the post-combination company. The amount of such compensation is not known at the time, as it will be up to the directors of the post-combination company following completion of the Business Combinations to determine executive and director compensation. Any compensation to be paid to the post-combination company's officers will be determined, or recommended, to its board for determination, either by a committee constituted solely by independent directors or by a majority of the independent directors on such board.

It became a subsidiary of UpHealth through a reorganization when UpHealth was formed on October 26, 2020 as a Delaware corporation. UpHealth then entered into a series of transactions to develop its business across four primary platforms, as further discussed below: (i) Integrated Care Management; (ii) Global Telehealth; (iii); Digital Pharmacy and (iv) Tech-Enabled Behavioral Health. The parties are undertaking additional actions under the Glocal SPA to complete the second step and bring UpHealth’s ownership to at least 90% of the outstanding equity of Glocal. These actions are expected to be completed in the near future. The final steps will occur following the Closing of the Business Combinations and UpHealth, as the majority shareholder, will, in conjunction with the remaining Glocal shareholders, take steps to increase UpHealth's ownership in Glocal through the issuance of additional shares, the acquisition of remaining shares and/or any other manner acceptable to UpHealth and permitted under India law.

Business Overview

Our vision is to enable and power healthcare's digital transformation by creating a single, integrated provider of technologies and services essential to personalized, affordable and effective care globally. Our mission is to transform care delivery and support healthier communities through a simplified digital infrastructure that connects evidence-based care, coordinated workflows and health services. The companies that are or will become subsidiaries of UpHealth, as well as Cloudbreak, collectively offer patient-centric digital health technologies and tech-enabled services to manage health and integrate care across four capabilities at the center of population health management and telehealth: Integrated Care Management, Global Telehealth, Digital Pharmacy and Tech-Enabled Behavioral Health. Together, we believe that by integrating the value streams represented across these four capabilities, we will empower health systems, health plans, employers and government ministries to improve outcomes, quality, access and cost of healthcare as well as address critical unmet needs of patients, providers, payors and pharmacies. As of December 31, 2020, Cloudbreak and the companies that are or will become subsidiaries of UpHealth, had approximately 5,000,000 lives served in integrated care management in the United States, 1,900 U.S. healthcare venues and contracts with ten countries and filled an average of 890 prescriptions per day.

We have carefully selected specific competencies, which we believe will allow us to provide a multifaceted approach to blending processes, services and technologies and enable our stakeholders to “practice” digital health.

Following the Closing, we will be organized across four strategic capabilities, each with a diverse set of partners and customers and each representing a large and fast growing market segment:

- Integrated Care Management. Our Integrated Care Management platform is powered by Thrasys’ Syntranet platform. SyntraNet creates virtual care communities across the continuum of care, integrates and organizes information, provides advanced population-based analytics and predictive models, and automates workflows across health plans, health systems, government agencies and community organizations. Clinical and community-based care teams use the platform to coordinate programs to address medical, behavioral health and social factors that affect the health of individuals and populations.
- Global Telehealth. Our Global Telehealth platform will have two divisions—domestic and international. Our domestic division will be powered by Cloudbreak, a provider of unified telemedicine solutions and digital health tools aimed at increasing access to healthcare and resolving health disparities across the care continuum. Cloudbreak has one of the largest installed user bases in the nation, performing more than 100,000 encounters per month on over 14,000 video endpoints at over 1,800 healthcare venues across the US. Through its integrated telehealth and language services, the platform serves as the digital front door to in-hospital care. Cloudbreak provides digital health infrastructure enabling its partners to ensure healthcare equity and implement unique, private-label telehealth strategies customized to their specific needs and markets. Our international division will be powered by Glocal, a platform that delivers comprehensive primary care and specialty consultations at a significantly reduced cost, based upon the typical cost for a Glocal primary care visit compared to the cost generally in India, based on government data. This helps open access to care for individuals in North America, India, Southeast Asia and Africa. Its technologies and services are performing over 50,000 digital health encounters per month with contracts now in place that if fully implemented would increase this number by nearly 10X by 2022.
- Digital Pharmacy. Our Digital Pharmacy will be powered by MedQuest Pharmacy, a full-service retail and compounding pharmacy licensed in all 50 U.S. states and the District of Columbia that dispenses patient-specific medications and ships direct to patients. It is capable of serving as a retail or national fulfillment center. Over the last five years, MedQuest Pharmacy has filled prescriptions for over 5,000 prescribers and over 65,000 different patients. Through the Innovations Group suite of companies, MedQuest Pharmacy also makes available lab services and testing, nutraceuticals, nutritional supplements, education for medical practitioners, and training for individuals and groups.

- Tech-Enabled Behavioral Health. Our Tech-Enabled Behavioral Health capabilities are powered by TTC Healthcare and BHS, which together provide evidence-based and tech-enabled behavioral health and substance abuse services via onsite care delivery and telehealth. The division's physician-led clinical model has a proven approach to networking with a growing panel of providers, which is critically important in the field of mental health.

When successfully integrated, our digital health platform will go beyond one-off point solutions to connect multiple parts of the healthcare demand and service continuum. We intend to curate a system of care enabling personalized, evidence-based clinical decisions through integrated care management that oversees the entire patient experience to enable better outcomes. As we integrate our digital health platform, our goal will be to provide manageable costs, better outcomes, an improved care experience and a reduction in the disparities in access to healthcare that exist today when provided by multiple different providers.

We understand that the patients, providers, and payors we currently and in the future will serve, want and need more comprehensive, integrated solutions, but are at different points on their digital transformation journey. We seek to meet them where they are today to help them reshape healthcare delivery through the use of intelligent technology, workflows and service coordination. The technologies of the companies that will become a part of New UpHealth have been developed by visionary and practical innovators, who formed and founded the companies that will become part of the UpHealth family. We believe this will position us to meet the significant demand for more comprehensive and advanced digital health solutions.

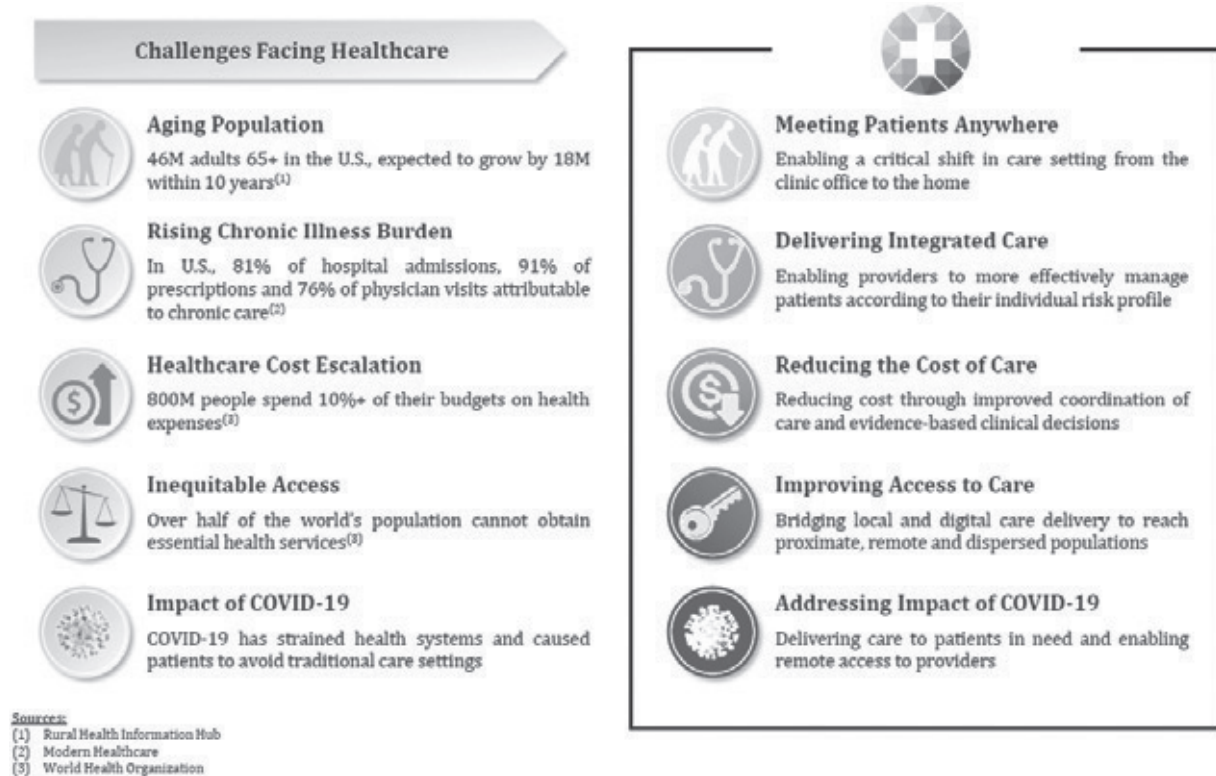

The highly scalable platform and infrastructure of these companies has allowed for the establishment of an expansive footprint both domestically and internationally. Domestically, the partners and customers of these companies span across more than 1,800 healthcare venues across the U.S. MedQuest Pharmacy has pharmacy licenses in all 50 U.S. states and the District of Columbia. Upon closing of the Business Combinations, we will serve the largest public health plan in the nation as well as thousands of physicians and post-acute sites. Internationally, Glocal has signed several country-wide contracts with government ministries across India, Southeast Asia and Africa that dramatically expand its reach, which we believe will make us a market leader in global telehealth, providing digital primary care and specialty consultations.

Market Opportunity

The 2020 World Health Organization Global Report measured the global healthcare market at $8 trillion, including public and private spending and ranging across the spectrum of healthcare services. We believe that this market is broken, fragmented and in great need of change. According to government data from the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services, national health expenditure in the United States alone was $4 trillion in 2018, representing 17.7% of GDP.

The long-standing macro factors that are driving the landscape today and straining the current healthcare system include an increasingly aging population, growing prevalence of chronic illnesses, unsustainable and escalating costs and inequitable access to care. While these are not novel challenges, they are accelerating rapidly and exacerbating fundamental flaws in an inefficient healthcare system ill-equipped to provide the necessary services for all its constituents.

We believe there is a heightened demand for technology solutions that can improve care delivery and management of population health, eventually leading to the “practice” of digital health. We believe these advancements are leading to a convergence of people, information, technology, and connectivity to improve health care and health outcomes. We intend to reshape the landscape of the healthcare industry, positioning UpHealth as an indispensable partner to consumers/patients, providers and payors as they evolve to the practice of digital health.

Our offerings will be at the center of population health management and telehealth in four of the fastest growing digital healthcare markets:

Integrated Care Management. Our Integrated Care Management capability operates within the chronic care management market, a $346 billion global market in 2019 that is expected to grow at a 7.2% CAGR through 2024 according to a 2019 BCC market research report evaluating the global market for chronic disease management. Six out of ten adults in U.S. have a chronic disease and four out of ten have more than one condition, according to data from the Centers for Disease Control (“CDC”). Individuals living with chronic conditions are intensive users of health and social care services, and the associated costs tend to be significantly higher. In the U.S., 81% of hospital admissions, 91% of prescriptions and 76% of physician visits are attributable to managing chronic conditions, according to a report from Modern Healthcare titled “Behavioral Health: Fixing a System in Crisis.” Our Integrated Care Management capability is expected to grow 60% annually to over $45M in annual revenues in 2022 based on current contracts and expansion of scope as well as recently signed new agreements.

Global Telehealth. Supported by deregulation and broad societal shifts and accelerated by the COVID-19 pandemic, demand for and use of telehealth services is expanding rapidly. According to a May 2020 McKinsey article titled, “Telehealth: A quarter-trillion-dollar post-COVID-19 reality?”, up to $250 billion of current U.S. healthcare spend could potentially be virtualized through the acceleration of consumer and provider adoption beyond virtual urgent care. We believe telehealth enables more efficient allocation and utilization of finite clinical resources and appeals to both an aging population that requires more complex and chronic care as well as a younger generation that prefers digital technology to in-person visits. To meet the tremendous disparities in access to healthcare requires going beyond a tele consult. Our digital dispensary/clinic offering provides a full patient encounter complete with physical exam, diagnostic testing, and pharmacy dispensary in addition to a tele consult with the physician. This complete digital health encounter creates access to massive markets outside of the US for complete primary care and specialty consultations. The companies that will make up our Global Telehealth business have $80,000,000 in signed contract agreements to deliver services in 2021.

Digital Pharmacy. According to a 2019 Deloitte article, prescription drug sales are projected to grow at a 6.4% CAGR from 2018 to 2024 and reach $1.2 trillion in 2024. Pre-pandemic, there was a growing demand for mail-order medicines that coincided with increasing penetration of e-commerce and literacy regarding internet resources. Millennials in particular are highly reliant on online procurement for OTC medicines. This growth in adoption was accelerated rapidly in the wake of the COVID-19 pandemic. According to a McKinsey article in April 2020 titled, “How COVID-19 changes the game for biopharma in China,” there was a 10x increase in online prescription volumes in the early part of 2020. With its recent facility expansion, our Digital Pharmacy capability will be poised to capitalize on this growth in demand while also serving as the pharmacy of choice across our broader platform.

Tech-Enabled Behavioral Telehealth. Behavioral health conditions consisting of mental and substance abuse disorders have societal, economic and healthcare system implications, all of which are amplified by the COVID-19 pandemic. Prior to the pandemic, one in two Americans had faced a mental or substance abuse disorder at some point in their lives according to an August 2020 McKinsey article titled, “A holistic approach for the U.S. behavioral health crisis during the COVID-19 pandemic.” Those coping with behavioral health conditions have medical spend that is two to four times higher than the rest of the population, according to recent data from McKinsey. Due to the relatively simplistic conversion from office visits to telepsych, we believe our tech-enabled Behavioral Health capability is well positioned to capture share in this fast-growing segment within telemedicine.

Impact of COVID-19

The promise of telemedicine, telehealth and now digital health have been long discussed as solutions to the pervasive issues challenging the effective delivery of healthcare around the world. However, the COVID-19 pandemic forced patients and providers alike to embrace digital health technologies at a more rapid pace and accelerated the digital transformation of healthcare to bridge local and digital care delivery and engage displaced patient populations. According to the May 2020 McKinsey article, U.S. consumer adoption of telehealth grew from 11% of U.S. consumers using telehealth in 2019 to 46% of consumers now using telehealth to replace cancelled healthcare visits as of May 2020.

Major shifts in the market have enabled this transition, not only in regulations but also in technology, industry orientation, and reallocation of risk across the value chain, which have fundamentally altered the structure of the industry and basis of competition. Advancements in medical science, data and analytics, machine learning, networking technology, internet access, and the shift in consumer expectations driving business-to-consumer (“B2C”) models have all facilitated the transition to digital health technologies.

We believe there is work to be done in order to solidify the long-term shift to the “practice” of digital health and capitalize on the opportunity to virtualize $250 billion of U.S. healthcare spending annually. According to the May 2020 McKinsey article, the adoption of telehealth and extension of telehealth beyond virtual urgent care will require new ways of working with a broad set of providers, step-change improvements in information exchange and broadening access and integration of technology. This is where we intend to position our business and how we aim to power the adoption of digital health solutions well beyond the pandemic.

Products & Services

UpHealth’s plan is to reshape care delivery by offering patient-centric digital health technologies and tech-enabled services across four capabilities at the intersection of population health management and telehealth. These services are designed to integrate well with the needs of our major end-user customers. The union of these solutions within UpHealth will offer stakeholders a marketplace of products and services that they can choose from to best serve their transformation needs.

Integrated Care Management

The Integrated Care Management platform is powered by Thrasys’ SyntraNet technology platform and applications. SyntraNet is a configurable integrated health management platform that enables clinical- and community-based care teams to share information, coordinate care, manage utilization, and improve health outcomes and costs for individuals and populations—especially individuals with complex medical, behavioral health, and social needs.

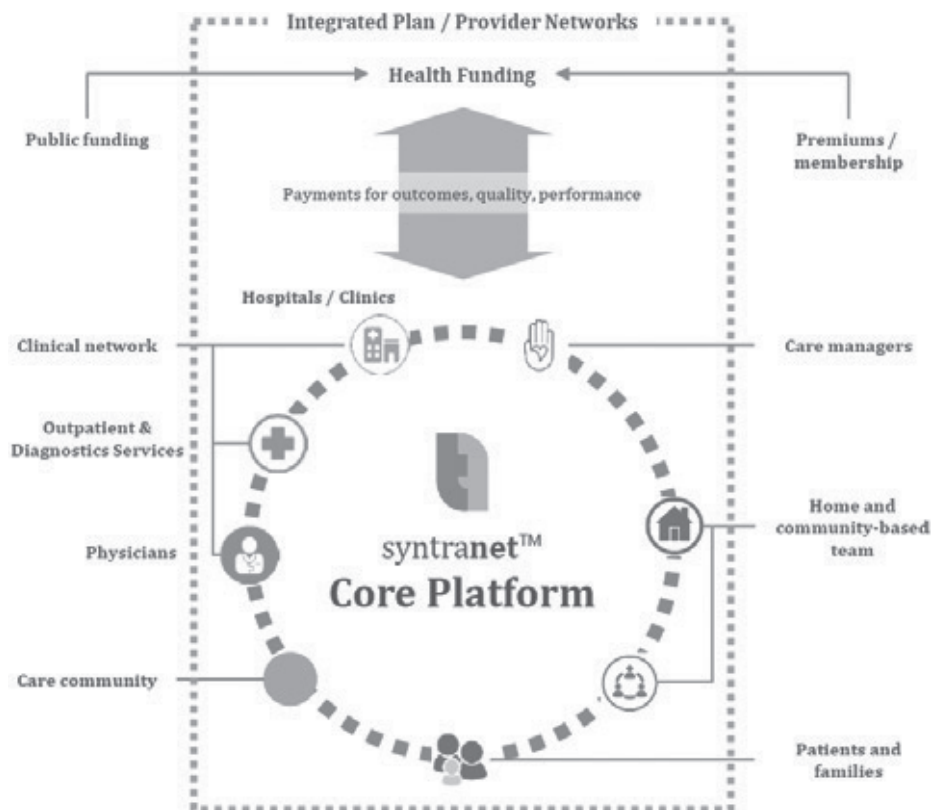

SyntraNet creates virtual “care communities”—logical networks of organizations, care managers and service providers—that function as an integrated care team to deploy programs to improve health, quality, performance, efficiency, and costs.

Core features of the platform include the ability to:

- Create virtual, cross-sector care communities
- Integrate and organize information from a wide range of data sources
- Gain insight into health, risks, and opportunities with advance analytics
- Qualify and enroll groups into programs
- Coordinate care teams across the continuum of care
- Analyze and report on various measures of success.

SyntraNet includes a number of technology innovations: a unique architecture for connected care communities, a configurable software microservices architecture, workflow management with process graphs, expert-system based rules, advanced analytics and intelligence, and state-of-the-art frameworks for user interfaces across desktops and devices.

Thrasys has reinvested roughly $100,000,000 to develop its SyntraNet platform.

Our Integrated Care Management platform provides health plans and provider groups in value-based contracts the ability to manage health with new models of care. Our clients include the largest public health plan in the United States, one of the most extensive “whole person care” initiatives, and one of the fastest growing, value-based pharmacy benefit managers.

Revenue is derived from license fees, recurring subscription fees, and professional services for implementation.

Global Telehealth—U.S.-Based

Our domestic Global Telehealth offering will be delivered by Cloudbreak. Cloudbreak is dedicated to building solutions that address healthcare disparities impacting patients across the U.S. From telehealth visits to extended hospital stays, Cloudbreak's digital solutions help patients and providers connect, build rapport and make healthcare encounters more meaningful. The platform's goal is to enable patients to receive care at any time, any place, on any device, and in any language. For providers, Cloudbreak provides a digital health infrastructure enabling them to deliver care effectively based on their specific needs and markets.

Originally developed as the premier virtual language service, today Cloudbreak is a unified telehealth platform, offering over 50 languages on its approximately 18,000 customer end points on its video interpretation platform and ranking in the top 50 of the 2021 Nimdzi 100 ranking of the largest language service providers in the world. As of December, 31, 2020, Cloudbreak was performing more than 138,000 encounters per month on over 18,000 video endpoints at over 1,900 healthcare venues nationwide. From telepsychiatry, telestroke, tele-ICU, telesitting and other specialties to integrated language services, Cloudbreak's innovative, secure platform overcomes both distance and language barriers to improve care, satisfaction and outcomes. It seamlessly integrates with a multitude of platforms including Zoom, Epic, and AmWell, among others. Cloudbreak has built one of the largest installed bases in the nation, simplifying how providers care for patients, putting a full care continuum at their fingertips 24/7 and enabling local healthcare systems to build their integrated telemedicine strategy.

At its core, Cloudbreak is a modularly configurable software engine that supports video and audio communications. That is coupled with its private and/or public-path networking infrastructure that securely links those in need of service to those offering those services. The Cloudbreak Consult allows providers to answer calls, place calls, care for patients, converse with the care team, and connect with a qualified interpreter – all from one location. Cloudbreak has expanded its operations to include other telemedicine use cases as well including tele-stroke, telepsychiatry, tele-urology, and tele-quarantine, among others, across its network of end points and leveraging the same platform's infrastructure. Cloudbreak has also recently launched a home health virtual visit platform enabling empowering its healthcare system partners to see their patients remotely on any device, at anytime, anywhere the patient may be and in any language they may speak.

- Connect Anywhere—Virtual Visit Platform: Providers and patients can connect with a virtual consultation from anywhere, enabling the exchange of messages between providers and patients, and inviting other health professionals or family members to visit virtually and view medical history and/or care plans. Providers also have the ability to view their schedules and patients have the ability to view educational content and videos while waiting for their visit.
- Martti Interpretation: Cloudbreak's core offering known as Martti (My Accessible Real-Time Trusted Interpreter), is a HIPAA-compliant video remote interpreting solution that puts qualified and certified medical interpreters at the fingertips of clinical care teams nationwide through our proprietary software platform. Cloudbreak pioneered the Video Remote interpreting industry in 2003, and today is a well recognized leader known for its ease of use, quality and customer service. Today, Cloudbreak supports more than 250 languages.
- Telehealth Interoperability: Cloudbreak has built specific integrations that allow hospital staff to initiate Cloudbreak sessions from their video platforms, enabling multi-specialty call capabilities into one video session, shared content and whiteboarding, and integrations with numerous hospital system EMR, PACS and RPM platforms. Cloudbreak has invested significantly in its interoperability capabilities and continues to be a leader in the market in providing access to its Video Medical solution on a rapidly growing platforms. Cloudbreak has not only integrated with EMRs but also with other telemedicine and communication solutions throughout the continuum of care.

Cloudbreak provides a unified telehealth experience that harmonizes disparate use cases, allowing providers to efficiently collaborate and communicate, regardless of end-point device or tech infrastructure. Cloudbreak has designed the platform to integrate the clinical and operational workflows of its partners, ensuring that the technology molds to how the clinical teams work, not the other way around. Platforms like Zoom, Teams and others are “point solution” video platforms with minimal workflow capabilities. Cloudbreak makes these platforms “smart” by embedding them in custom patient and provider experiences based on how a specific health system or medical group practices. By doing this, Cloudbreak’s solutions can be integrated into daily practice patterns with less friction, thus speeding up adoption as well as avoiding commoditization and allowing health systems, clinics and physicians to differentiate themselves in market based on their brand and how they practice.

Cloudbreak offers an expanding suite of telehealth use cases which are delivered upon multi-year recurring revenue contracts that have both a fixed minimum with upside attributable to usage-based fees. Its client base spans the entire healthcare continuum including hospitals and health systems, federally qualified healthcare clinics (FQHCs), urgent care centers, stand-alone clinics and medical practices, as well as, employers and schools.

Global Telehealth—International

UpHealth’s international Global Telehealth offerings are delivered by Glocal, which aims to deliver comprehensive primary care and specialty consultations for a fraction of the cost today. Glocal uses its technology architecture and onsite digital dispensaries and clinics to deliver highly effective care that can serve vulnerable rural and dense urban centers, while also meeting the needs of more affluent communities.

Glocal has used a three-pronged strategy to refine and execute its care delivery. First, it has implemented a lean design approach, thinking through de novo the intervention, process and infrastructure for care and removing non-value add steps that do not directly affect healthcare delivery or outcomes. Second, Glocal has employed evidence-based medicine, including only interventions that have evidence of effectiveness. Third, it has leveraged technology, including IoT and artificial intelligence, to improve diagnosis and management of diseases and to automate standard clinical processes to reduce costs and errors.

The Digital Dispensary/clinic solution has earned the UN Health Innovation Exchange Public Appreciation 2020 Award, the World Economic Forum 2020 Schwab Foundation Social Entrepreneur Award and the Frost & Sullivan Indian Telemedicine Customer Value 2020 Leadership Award.

Glocal’s spectrum of offerings can be grouped into three major components:

1. Its digital primary care offerings, which feature digital health applications combined with physical IoT devices to deliver care. The digital health interface for patients and providers is driven by its HelloLyf App, a virtual on-demand clinic for identifying patients and automated TeleCRM. Glocal has also developed LitmusDx, a clinical decision support system for differential diagnosis, investigation and treatment protocols. LitmusDx is cloud-based, regularly updated and cross-checked to ensure the latest in evidence-based protocols. It is a semantic-based engine for accurate differential diagnosis covering over 960 diseases, 8,000 symptoms, 11,000 signs, 300 risk factors and 450 parameters. Over 440 treatment protocols are referenced, covering most diseases, and it has stored more than 50,000 prescription brands covering over 6,500 formulations. Lastly, it references more than 20,000 drug precautions which cover contraindications, drug interactions, adverse reactions and food & alcohol interactions to reduce medical errors.
2. Glocal’s Digital Dispensaries, HelloLyf CX, are carefully engineered to deliver critical healthcare services in hard to reach locations where access to primary care and complementary services is constrained. It requires only about 250 sq. ft. of rented or owned space. It needs only nurses, while doctors are available virtually. It is a one-stop-shop where almost all tests can be done, all kinds of doctors accessed and medicines are dispensed.

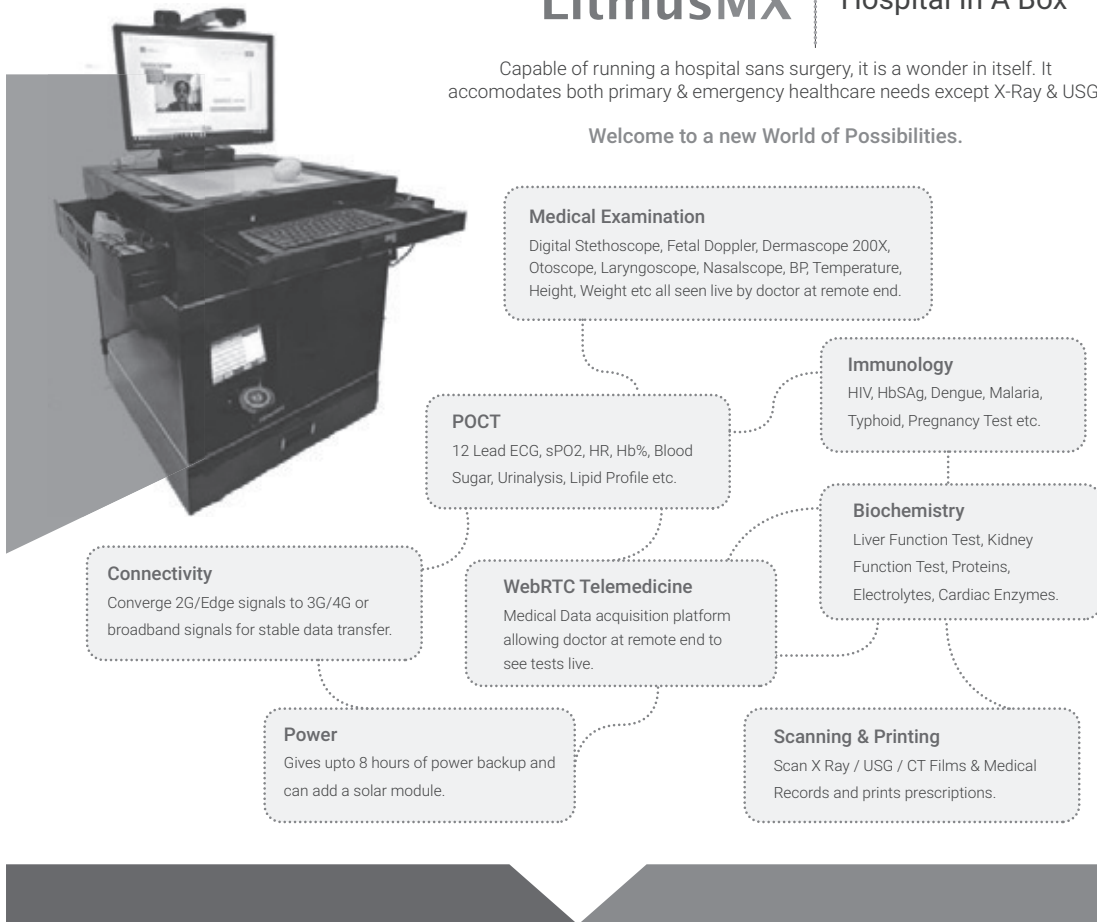

Within each digital dispensary is Glocal's LitmusMx, a primary health terminal with remote examination and instant diagnostics capabilities, and LitmusRx, an automated medicine dispenser that provides access for patients in remote cities and towns. LitmusMx accommodates a wide range of primary and emergency healthcare needs within a remarkably compact device. It facilitates a medical examination via a digital stethoscope, fetal Doppler, dermatoscope, Otoscope, Laryngoscope, and Nasalscope, in addition to taking blood pressure, temperature and other vitals.

LitmusMX

Hospital In A Box

Capable of running a hospital sans surgery, it is a wonder in itself. It accommodates both primary & emergency healthcare needs except X-Ray & USG.

Welcome to a new World of Possibilities.

LitmusRx is a remote controlled dispensing unit that electronically controls drug dispensing, scalable up to 120 SKUs. A prescription generated by the physician is automatically dispensed by the machine, designed to reduce medical errors around branding and dosage. LitmusRx also performs real-time inventory management, removing the need for manual audits and automating supply chain order levels.

3. Glocal's acute care hospitals have been designed and set up as eleven modular hospitals, each with a three-bed ER, twenty-bed ICU, four operating theatres (including one with Laminar Air Flow systems, 4Slice CT Scan, X Ray, Echo, Color Doppler, and Ultrasound), treadmill stress testing, two to four dialysis units, a complete clinical lab, pharmacy, general ward beds, and private rooms. These compact hospitals are compliant with local clinical establishment code norms, infection control systems, medical gas pipeline, national building codes and green building norms. They focus on all acute cases like trauma, neuro trauma, pacemaking, thrombolysis, acute surgeries, medical emergencies and also routine surgeries.

Delivering solutions in India, Southwest Asia, and Africa, Glocal offers virtual and local care spanning the continuum, delivering upon multi-year recurring revenue contracts that have both a fixed subscription component and volume-based revenue. These markets consist of billions of people representing rapid expansion opportunities. End markets include government ministries, payors and stakeholders managing at-risk patient populations where access to care is a challenge.

Digital Pharmacy

The Digital Pharmacy business will be powered by Innovations Group through MedQuest Pharmacy, a full-service retail pharmacy that is licensed in all 50 U.S. states and the District of Columbia. It delivers both compounded and legend drugs, and is capable of either serving as a retail or national fulfillment center, as a personalized medication administration partner with prescribers, and as a lifestyle wellness direct-to-consumer offering. Its proprietary software and operating system, eMedplus, is EPCS Certified by the DEA and provides prescribers with a full-service prescription management system.

Also under the Innovations Group suite of services is Worldlink Medical, Inc., Medical Horizons, Inc., and Pinnacle Labs, Inc. (“MedQuest Testing Services”). Worldlink Medical, Inc. is the educational services arm of Innovations Group, providing CME educational courses accredited as a joint provider through the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME). Medical Horizons, Inc. specializes in customized formulations and contract dietary supplement and nutraceuticals manufacturing as an own label distributor with its brand NUTRAScriptives, as well as other brands. Its turnkey solutions include label design, printing and application; custom packaging; daily packs; a selection of capsule sizes and colors; and convenient auto-reorder services. It features a staff of experts that is committed to excellence and outstanding customer service. MedQuest Testing Services focuses specifically on facilitating diagnostic testing between lab companies, patients, and providers.

MedQuest Pharmacy is accredited and recognized by the Accreditation Commission for Health Care (ACHC) and its Pharmacy Compounding Accreditation Board (PCAB), among other high-quality providers and suppliers. MedQuest Pharmacy has achieved this elite level of quality by exceeding standards set by national accreditation bodies and quality-centered organizations. Having invested approximately $3,800,000 in facility expansion, it is poised for growth with new capital directed to developing new product lines (such as dermatology products) and expanding its testing services with new and existing lab companies and relationships. In addition, eMedplus, MedQuest’s proprietary software and operating system, became Surescripts certified (Superscripts process to validate that the software meets certain industry standards related to sending and receiving electronic messages and that it is providing open choice for medication selection and dispensing location) in January 2020, allowing any user of the Surescripts platform to prescribe medications dispensed by MedQuest Pharmacy. Under an agreement between MedQuest Pharmacy and Surescripts, MedQuest Pharmacy pays Surescripts a nominal fee for certain messages (e.g., new prescriptions or refill requests) sent through the Surescripts system. The majority of MedQuest’s Pharmacy’s prescriptions, however, are dispensed through eMedplus or mailed, verbal, or faxed orders.

MedQuest Pharmacy’s direct pharmacy capabilities offer direct-to-patient shipping of both manufactured and compounded drugs. MedQuest Pharmacy has relationships with both prescribers and patients and filled an average of approximately 850 prescriptions per day in 2020. Over the last five years, MedQuest Pharmacy has filled prescriptions for over 5,000 prescribers and over 65,000 different patients. The business model is driven by cash-pay and prescription volume-based revenue generated by physician electronic prescription order entry, as well as traditional prescriber-patient-pharmacist interactions, mailed, verbal and faxed orders.

Tech-Enabled Behavioral Health

Our Behavioral Health business is anchored by TTC Healthcare and BHS, two high-quality, evidence-based behavioral health and substance abuse providers rapidly innovating in the virtual care space. While TTC Healthcare and BHS today operate largely independently, work is underway to integrate the substance abuse treatment expertise of TTC Healthcare with the adult behavioral health services of BHS to form a comprehensive model of care ready to scale to a national level.

We believe we are positioned to leverage the technology solutions found in the other divisions to reshape how behavioral and substance abuse care is delivered in the future. Examples include the full integration of the telehealth consult solution by Cloudbreak and the personalized medication regimens available through MedQuest Pharmacy. In addition, our physician-led clinical models have proven successful in growing a panel of providers which is critically important in the largely underserved and understaffed field of mental health.

TTC Healthcare's treatment facilities are licensed by the Florida Department of Children and Family Services (DCF) and the Florida Agency for Healthcare Administration (AHCA), and maintain the industry's most widely acknowledged accreditation by the Joint Commission. TTC Healthcare offers a complete continuum of care from our detoxification services, residential care, Partial Hospitalization Programs (PHP), intensive outpatient (IOP) and outpatient programs (OP). During the COVID-19 pandemic, outpatient programs have transitioned to a majority of visits that are virtual.

The Partial Hospitalization Program is a full day of clinical treatment in a structured environment, while the client is living in supportive housing that offers 24-hour supervision, nursing services, and an on-call therapist. PHP is an opportunity for the client to experience more structured clinical care, addressing their primary and secondary issues and diagnoses. Clients are able to attend 12-step or mental health support groups in the evenings as well as enjoy activities and recovery events on the weekends. Much like TTC Healthcare's other treatment programs, each client has an individualized treatment plan that is unique to their needs and recovery goals.

An Intensive Outpatient Program is a transitional level of care where the client begins to reintegrate into normal life with less therapy time, but still with the full support of TTC Healthcare staff. Clients will collaborate with their therapists and peers on the best recovery practices and how to deal with triggers in the real world. How long a client participates in an intensive outpatient program varies depending on the needs of each individual and allows for a treatment schedule to be customized, fitting with the clients' lives outside of treatment.

The Outpatient Program offers limited counseling sessions for clients on a weekly basis. Those who participate in the outpatient program live at home or in some type of sober living housing, which is one of the main differences between outpatient and inpatient care. The services offered are very similar, but the time spent in therapy sessions is less in outpatient care.

Finally, Medication-Assisted Treatment (MAT) involves a pharmacological approach to treating addiction, primarily addiction to opioids, including heroin and prescription narcotics. These medications reduce the difficult physical symptoms surrounding withdrawal and help the individual remain engaged in treatment. MAT programs that combine medication, counseling and therapy are largely considered one of the strongest evidence-based modalities to combat addiction. This type of treatment ultimately complements an abstinence-based program. The recommendation for MAT is based on a thorough and individualized assessment of the person in treatment and their specific needs. Supportive medications can be a highly effective treatment model for opioid use disorders.

BHS is a Missouri-based mental health practice consisting of over fifty psychiatrists, nurse practitioners, psychologists and other mental health providers in four physical locations. BHS providers work in collaboration with multiple area hospital systems (both in leadership and clinical positions) to provide and direct inpatient treatment. BHS offers in-office, virtual, and in-patient treatment to an average of over 7,000 unique patients per month. 95% of outpatient and post-acute care consults are provided in a virtual manner since the COVID-19 outbreak. Common conditions treated by BHS practitioners include depression, bipolar disorder, attention disorders, schizophrenia, substance use disorders, posttraumatic stress disorder, Alzheimer's disease and related disorders as well as personality disorders.

BHS providers are all state-licensed and most of its physicians are board-certified and provide comprehensive psychiatric treatment utilizing psycho-pharmacology, evidenced based psychotherapy as well as somatic treatments like Trans-Cranial Magnetic Stimulation and Electro-Convulsive Therapy. The variety of provider disciplines available within BHS allows for ready collaboration and consultation between practitioners.

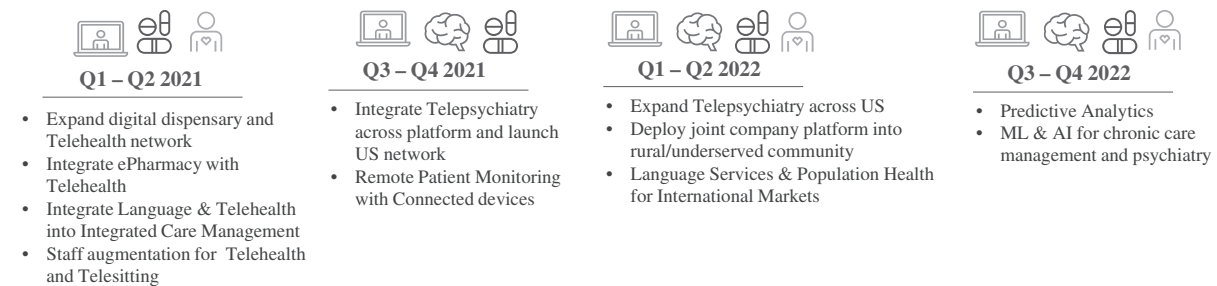

BHS has established its own pharmacy service which specializes in psychiatric medications and the unique needs of these patients from both a clinical and payor perspective. This pharmacy is able to function efficiently from both its physical location as well as a virtual provider. Plans are to further integrate this service with the broader digital Pharmacy capabilities found in MedQuest Pharmacy.

Given the idiosyncratic nature of behavioral health reimbursement and credentialing BHS established its own in-house billing department (Reimbursement Solutions) several years ago. This has allowed for both more efficient payment for BHS clinicians and has also provided a billing service that has been successfully marketed to outside practices. This capability is available to leverage for third-party billing services across the divisions and companies.

The COVID-19 pandemic accelerated BHS's plans to offer virtual visits and at this juncture the vast majority of patient encounters are being performed virtually. While the transition to virtual treatment had long been anticipated the pandemic led to BHS's adoption of this format literally overnight. The flexibility of this new treatment format has been well received by both clinicians and providers. Virtual provision of psychiatric care has allowed an expansion of BHS's patient base both from individuals as well as in long term care settings.

Product Integration Roadmap

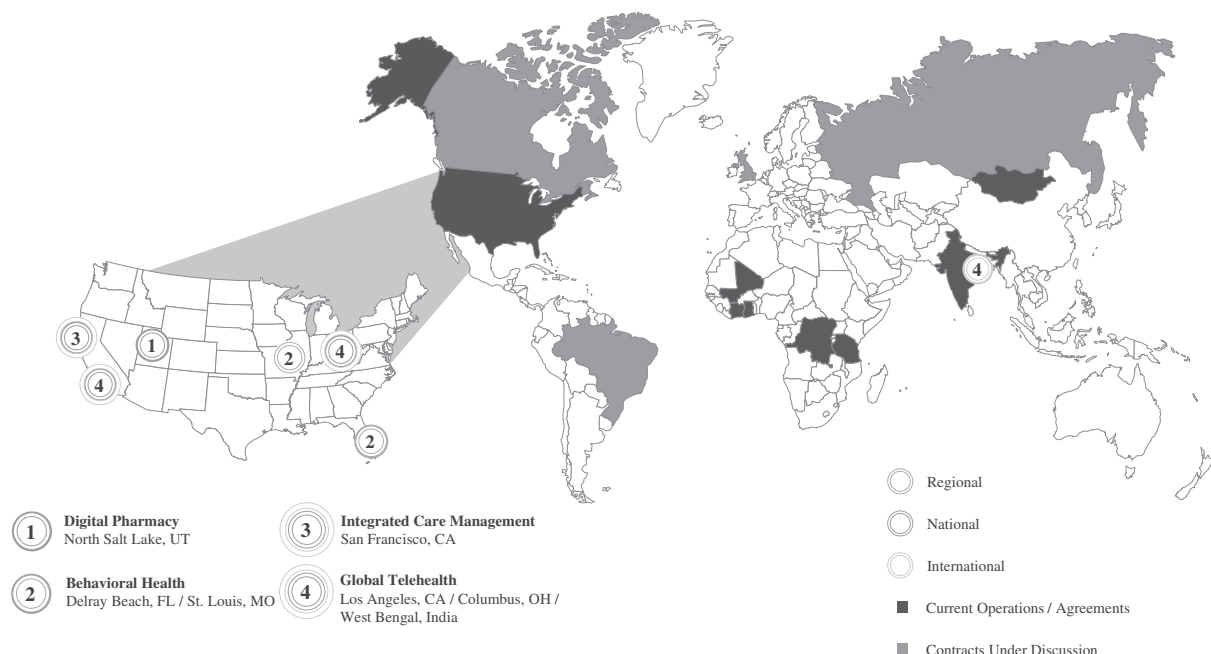

A strategic product roadmap has been developed with the aim of further unifying the various products and services.

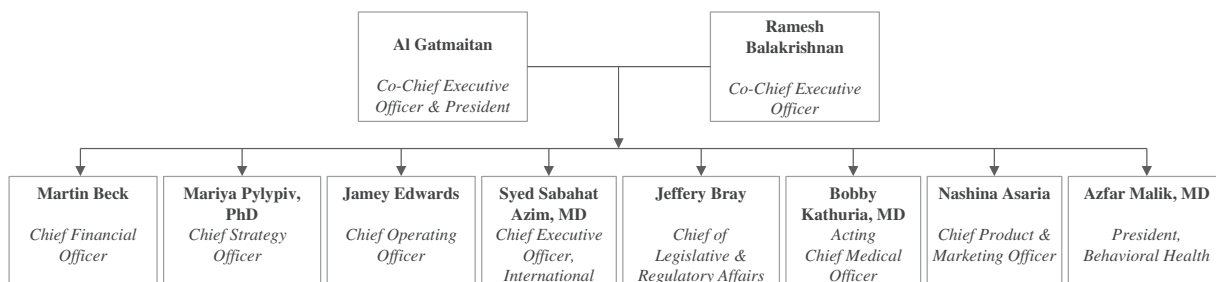

A unique competitive advantage is that customers will be able to access an increasingly unified platform of services and technologies while also focusing in one or more strategic markets such as Integrated Care Management and Digital Pharmacy with best in class solutions.

Operations

Our principal executive offices are located in Delray Beach, Florida. We also have centers of operation in California, Missouri and West Bengal, India, and following the closing of the Business Combinations, in Ohio and Utah. We intend to procure additional space as we add employees and expand geographically. We believe that our facilities are adequate to meet our needs for the immediate future, and that, should it be needed, suitable additional space will be available to accommodate any such expansion.

Our leadership team is comprised of industry experts and innovators with extensive healthcare, technology, and organizational knowledge. Our leaders have decades of experience founding, building and successfully scaling private and public companies. Our Board of Directors will be co-chaired by UpHealth founder and current Executive Chairman, Dr. Chirinjeev Kathuria, who will be joined upon the closing of the Business Combinations by GigCapital Global Executive Chairman and Founding Managing Partner, Dr. Avi Katz. We are led by Co-CEO's Ramesh Balakrishnan and Al Gattaitan. Our Integrated Care Management, Global Telehealth, Digital Pharmacy and Behavioral Health capabilities will continue to be led by the executive officers of the businesses that will comprise them. Key corporate services such as finance, human resources, sales, marketing and research and development will align under our leadership team.

As of December 31, 2020, (a) UpHealth had 279 employees, including 257 full-time employees, and 22 contractors, (b) Cloudbreak had 597 employees, including 170 full-time employees, and 427 contractors, (c) Innovations Group had 112 employees, including 92 full-time employees, and no contractors, and (d) TTC

Healthcare had 189 employees, including 182 full-time employees, and 7 contractors, and (e) Glocal had 1,034 employees, including 254 full-time employees, and 780 contractors.

Key Performance Indicators

As a digital health technology and tech-enabled services company, we will measure several key performance indicators across our platform related to adoption and utilization by users. We believe that the following KPIs will impact our ability to improve the health of patients and help to inform how we manage operations:

- Number of lives

Our mission is to transform care delivery and support healthier individuals and communities. We believe that our digital health technology and tech-enabled services supports this mission by empowering providers to deliver coordinated, personalized, affordable, and effective care globally to improve health outcomes. The number of lives served globally helps to assess our performance managing to that mission as well as our potential impact on the broader healthcare market.

- Number of care venues

We believe that the number of care venues using our platform globally is an indicator of future revenue growth because we derive meaningful revenue from consultation, diagnostic and medication dispensing fees as well as device utilization in the care venues we serve. These venues also provide a base footprint unto which we can provide other products and services across our platform. A care venue represents a distinct physical location of a medical care site, hospital, or health system.

- Number of prescribers and prescriptions filled

MedQuest Pharmacy filled an average of approximately 850 prescriptions per day in 2020. Over the last five years, MedQuest Pharmacy has filled prescriptions for over 5,000 prescribers and over 65,000 different patients. As a valued partner to prescribers, we believe both measures provide good insight into the level of penetration into the prescriber community.

- Number of digital and virtual encounters globally

Because our service and utilization revenue will generally increase with the number of consultations, we believe the number of global (domestic and internationally) consultations provides investors with useful information on period-to-period performance as evaluated by management and comparison with our past financial performance. We define core consultations as encounters as patients and provider utilizing our core services, including digital encounter teleconsults, and onsite consults.

We believe our operational performance will drive our financial results, which will be evaluated at the corporate and divisional level. Our key financial metrics to which we manage include bookings, revenue, EBITDA, and operating margin. As we expand our role as a partner for key stakeholders in the practice of digital health, we anticipate developing a set of shared performance indicators, such as impact on total cost of care, functional health of members and targeted populations and satisfaction level of the care experience by providers, customers, and payors.

Growth Opportunities

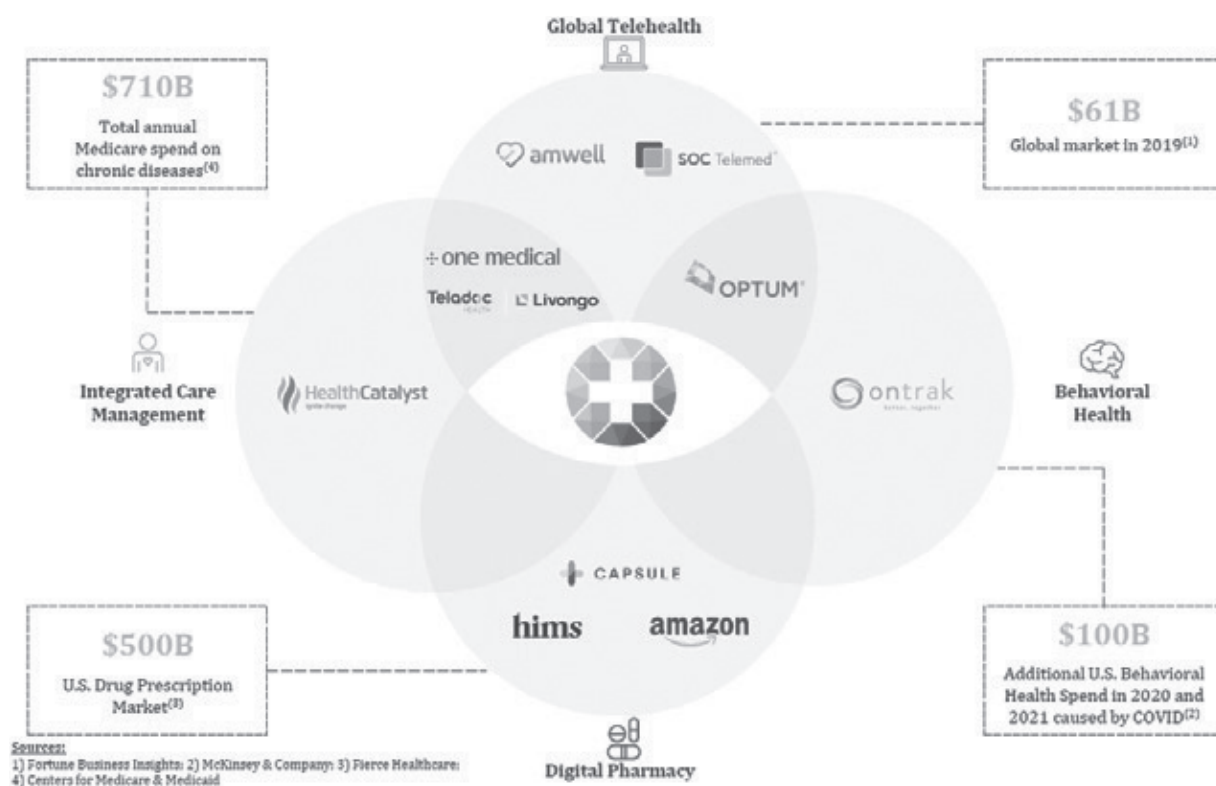

UpHealth has proven solutions with significant revenue and customer momentum, as well as numerous opportunities to achieve synergistic growth. Leading this transformational effort is an executive team, with world class academic and operational pedigrees, confident in their ability to lead change at the forefront of healthcare delivery. In addition to executing on the organic growth initiatives of each of the business lines, there are numerous synergistic opportunities ongoing as well as de novo product launches planned near-term.

Below are the levers through which we believe UpHealth will accelerate growth of the platform:

- Implement Executed/Signed Contracts. The companies that make up the Global Telehealth and Integrated Care Management lines have won meaningful contracts in 2020 that are expected to drive substantial new revenue in 2021 and beyond. Internationally, Glocal won contracts in Mali, Congo, Tanzania, Ghana, Ivory Coast, and Madhya Pradesh (India), which are expected to drive $154,200,000 in new revenue between 2021 and 2022. Domestically, Cloudbreak continued to expand its reach across U.S. health systems, with recent large and yet-to-be implemented wins at Yale New Haven Health, UCSF, and UCLA, resulting in approximately $6,000,000 in annualized bookings. Our Integrated Care Management business, which signs initial multi-year contract terms with sticky recurring revenue and annual renewals, has won and will implement $8,000,000 in new and expansion contracted revenue in 2021.
- Drive New Bookings. The Global Telehealth and Integrated Care Management companies are involved in late-stage negotiations with health systems and government ministries to expand both domestically and internationally. We will continue to pursue these opportunities and leverage the strength and breadth of our combined platform to drive continued bookings growth. Additionally, several of our businesses have historically scaled conservatively and profitably, with minimal investment in sales and marketing. As a combined entity, we expect to meaningfully increase our investment in our go-to-market functions to capitalize on both synergies across the platform as well as take advantage of the accelerated adoption of telehealth and interest of the associated benefits for healthcare organizations.
- Explore Synergistic Opportunities with Existing Clients. UpHealth provides a suite of products across the continuum of care for any entity managing complex patient populations. This allows UpHealth to become a strategic partner for health systems, government entities, and plans, providing services from integrated care management to digital pharmacy capabilities. We are positioned to offer the market a unique, multifaceted and integrated approach to processes, services and technologies spanning the continuum of care, creating a number of synergies across our businesses. As a customer uses UpHealth's available solutions, the platform will be able to further utilize its growing network and dataset to help provide even better care to a greater population. For example, UpHealth's care management, behavioral health and digital pharmacy capabilities now have the opportunity to leverage the 1,800+ U.S. healthcare venues that are currently utilizing the Company's domestic telehealth services.
- Product, Service and Partner Expansion. Innovation leading to new products and services are continuously and intentionally planned. In 2021, MedQuest Pharmacy's full-service compounding and retail Digital Pharmacy plans to add new lines of specialty focus such as dermatology, and Medical Horizons also plans to launch Pure Collectives, an e-commerce platform to allow providers to sell Medical Horizons' nutraceutical supplements line to their patients. Additionally, our Behavioral Health capability plans to roll out Intensive Outpatient (IOP) services nationally. Innovative features of our International telemedicine digital dispensary and AI-guided-evidence-based care solution will be reengineered to enable introduction into U.S. and other developed international markets. Cloudbreak will continue to roll out specific teleconsult applications beyond telepsych and telestroke. Each of these initiatives are expected to provide meaningful revenue opportunities.
- Strategic Acquisition. We plan to supplement our organic growth strategy with select acquisitions to increase market share across our current capabilities, accelerate entry into new capabilities and expand offerings into new end markets. We plan to be strategic with respect to building our existing capabilities within the four core markets and channels. We will continue to evaluate and, where strategically appropriate, pursue acquisition opportunities that are complementary following the consummation of the Business Combinations.

Competition

The markets in which we participate are highly competitive, with increasing competition from new entrants and expansion by existing competitors. We view as our competitors those companies that currently, or in the future will, (i) develop and market digital health technology (devices and systems) or (ii) provide telehealth and expert medical services, such as the delivery of on-demand access to healthcare. Competition for developing and marketing digital health technology and the provision of telehealth focuses on, among other factors, technology, breadth and depth of functionality, range of associated care delivery services, operational experience, customer support, size of customer base, and reputation. As we have indicated, our platform operates across four major markets (Integrated Care Management, Global Telehealth, Digital Pharmacy, and Tech-enabled Behavioral Health) and our key competitors span those markets. Key competitors in the integrated care management sector include Health Catalyst, PointClickCare/Collective Medical, Medecision, ZeOmega, and MedHOK. Key competitors in the provision of telehealth and expert medical services domestically include Teladoc, AmWell, and SOC Telemed. Key competitors in the delivery of telehealth internationally include WeDoctor, Practo, and Doctolib. Key competitors in the Digital Pharmacy sector include Capsule, HIMS, Ro, Amazon, and CVS/Aetna. Key competitors in the Tech-Enabled Behavioral Health sector include Ontrak, Quartet Health, and Lyra Health.

In the health system market, electronic health record (“EHR”) companies could be considered competitors, but many have chosen to partner with the US-based telehealth offering by Cloudbreak and integrate Cloudbreak’s capabilities into their own products. Other companies have chosen to partner with Cloudbreak to embed its telehealth functionality within their EHR. Competition also comes from large communications software companies who offer an entry-level priced and simplified offering for telehealth. Newer competitors include companies who provide asynchronous chat communications. Competition may also increase from large technology companies that may wish to develop their own telehealth solutions, as well as from large retailers that seek to digitize their healthcare integrated offerings. With the emergence of COVID-19, we have also seen increased competition from consumer-grade video solutions. We believe that the breadth of our existing and planned client ecosystem, the depth of our technology platform, and our business-to-business focus on promoting existing healthcare brands and integrating freely with multiple platforms increases the likelihood that stakeholders seeking to develop telehealth solutions, both within and outside of healthcare, will choose instead to collaborate with us.

We expect to face intensifying competition from existing competitors in our particular capabilities, platforms looking to broaden their services offerings, and new entrants that introduce digital health services and software platforms or other technology. We currently face competition from a range of point solutions, including specialized software providers that are continuing to more deeply integrate their technology with care delivery services. In addition, large, well-financed healthcare providers have in some cases developed their own telemedicine services and technologies and may provide these solutions to their patients at discounted prices.

The principal competitive factors upon which we compete include:

- consumer/provider/patient user acceptance, satisfaction and utilization;
- continuous innovation of technologies and services, including an integrated platform that unifies the users' experiences;
- effectively building a brand and reputation;
- building interoperable platforms that can connect with legacy enterprise and integrated care network infrastructures;
- integrating into the workflows and processes of providers, payors and government entities;
- reducing care delivery costs across multiple stakeholders;
- enabling a suite of digital health tools from within existing customer workflows;
- depth of expertise in care delivery of varying acuity, technology, sales and service;
- scalability of our business models; and
- operational execution abilities.

We believe that we are uniquely positioned on the basis of these factors and that the offerings of competitors do not comprehensively address the needs of key stakeholders across our key markets, or fail to do so at scale.

Competitive Advantage

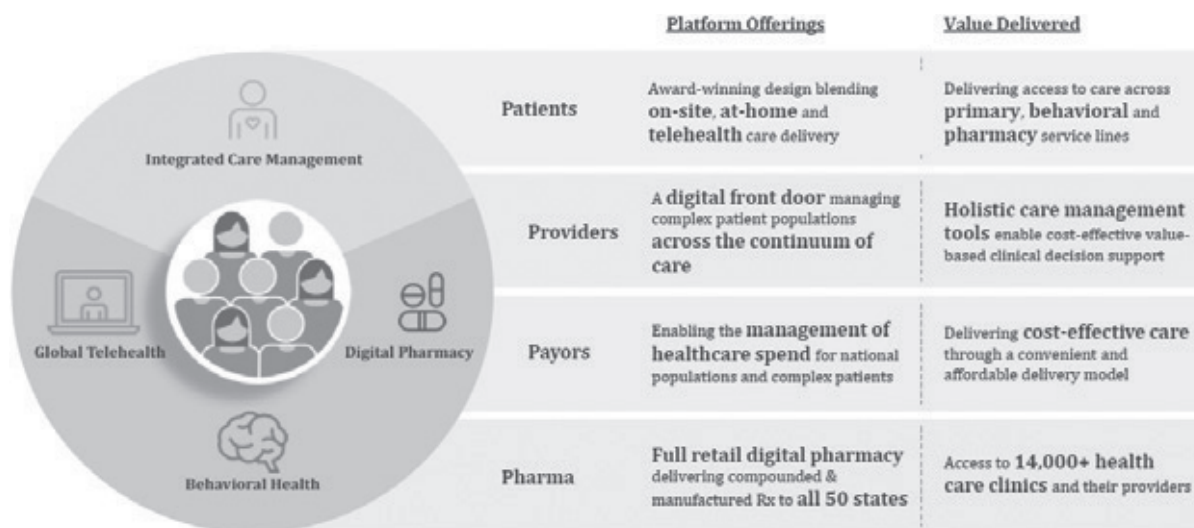

We bring a set of attributes to market that we believe will continue to differentiate us across our major stakeholders and end markets. While there have been a number of recent innovations across one-off point solutions aimed at solving specific pain points, we believe they tend to lack a comprehensive approach to addressing broad challenges across the care continuum, and thus fail to fully solve healthcare disparities for all stakeholders. What is required is a combination of innovative technologies and technology-enabled services that are integrated within the workflows and core operating systems of payors, providers, and patients. We believe that the digital health platforms that thrive long term will be those that enable a hybrid model of care delivery, enhancing onsite care settings with an integrated digital infrastructure that provides virtual care access and engagement while also coordinating and connecting both community and clinical care teams within defined populations.

An Integrated Global Digital Health Platform Addressing Critical Market Needs

We will operate in the healthcare landscape across four large and high growth digital healthcare markets, providing a comprehensive care hub across multiple care settings. We aim to reshape healthcare delivery through integrated offerings that unite the healthcare ecosystem, enabling the “practice” of digital health. Together, these advancements are leading to a convergence of people, information, technology, and connectivity that improve healthcare and health outcomes through a more coordinated, data-driven, and personalized care experience. We seek to deliver on our vision of providing a guided care experience for patients and providers that is frictionless, engaging, and easy to use.

As we work to successfully integrate our platform, we believe our combined set of services and capabilities will address many needs for patients, health systems and payors unmet by point solutions. We believe patients will value a more convenient care experience plus their entire care story in one place, enabling whole-person care. Health systems are presented with the entire picture of care coordination across the system plus the entire ecosystem of post-acute and socially, enabling team-based care. Payors will realize a comprehensive suite of digital services and a bridge platform between their claims processing systems and the broader ecosystem, providing the connectivity and intelligence needed for effective management of members' costs and outcomes.

We will simplify how providers care for patients, putting a full care continuum at their fingertips 24/7, and enabling local healthcare systems to build their integrated digital health strategy from a single point of entry like an iPad or personal phone. Our partners/customers are at different points on the spectrum of digital transformation and we meet them where they are on their transformation journey, paying particular attention to reshaping existing workflows internally and across multiple stakeholders. We believe this experience can only be provided seamlessly via integrated, coordinated care teams that rely on AI data driven analytics and support.

Expansive Reach across Domestic and International Markets

We are a global company, doing business in several geographies. As a result, we are not overexposed to the risks associated with any one country. Our roots are strong in North America, with our international base in India allowing us to target other high-growth areas internationally.

Domestically, we will have an expansive reach across more than 1,800 health care venues spanning the U.S. Our Integrated Care Management capabilities also provide a platform with advanced analytics and data insights for health plans, health systems (such as L.A. Care and Alameda County), government agencies, and community organizations across the U.S. Meanwhile, MedQuest Pharmacy's Digital Pharmacy is licensed to ship to all 50 U.S. states and the District of Columbia and has cultivated considerable relationships with members of U.S. Congress as a leading voice for the compounded pharmaceutical industry. The overall platform has significant domestic reach across many facets of the U.S. healthcare industry.

Internationally, our Global Telemedicine capabilities are spreading rapidly. We saw significant contracts signed in 2020 across Africa, as well as further growth within India. The projected number of digital health encounters and virtual consults are expected to approach 10,000,000 by 2022. Glocal's modular approach to primary care delivery in vulnerable communities in both rural and urban settings has driven strong interest from national health ministries and other organizations delivering care to areas with populations who have historically been subject to inequitable access of healthcare services. Leveraging our global footprint, we can continue to spread knowledge and insights gained in one area to our entire network, enabling more effective care in all parts of the world.

Below illustrates the reach across health systems, health plans and government ministries:

A Diverse Management Team of Industry Leaders

Our management team is made up of entrepreneurs and founders who have dedicated their lives to solving specific healthcare issues in the world today. We believe that this diverse group of leaders is uniquely equipped to lead the movement in reshaping care delivery to the “practice” of digital health which can improve global healthcare delivery. Continuous innovation, effective operations at scale, deep industry and technical knowledge combine to bring to life our vision of healthcare better for all.

Research and Development

Our ability to continue to differentiate and enhance our platform depends, in large part, on our capacity to continue to introduce new services, technologies, features, and functionality. Our founders as well as our executives and various employees have significant involvement in the development of new products. In addition, we utilize certain third-party development services to perform application development. We focus our research and development spend on developing new products and further enhancing the usability, functionality, reliability, performance and flexibility of our existing platform and products.

Facilities

Our principal executive offices, which we lease, are located at 14000 S Military Trail, Delray Beach, Florida 33484. We also have centers of operation in California, Ohio, Missouri, Utah, and West Bengal, India. With the exception of certain properties in India that are owned by Glocal, we lease all of our properties. We intend to procure additional space as we add employees and expand geographically. We believe that our facilities are adequate to meet our needs for the immediate future, and that, should it be needed, suitable additional space will be available to accommodate any such expansion.

U.S. Government Regulation

Our existing and planned operations are subject to comprehensive U.S. federal, state and local and international regulation in the jurisdictions in which we do business. Our ability to operate profitably will depend in part upon our ability, and that of our affiliated providers, to maintain all necessary licenses and to operate in compliance with applicable laws and rules. Those laws and regulations continue to evolve, and we therefore devote significant resources to monitoring developments in healthcare, data privacy and security, and medical practice laws and regulations. As the applicable laws and rules change, we are likely to make conforming modifications in our business processes from time to time. In some jurisdictions where we operate, neither our current nor our anticipated business model has been the subject of formal judicial or administrative interpretation. We cannot be assured that a review of our business by courts or regulatory authorities will not result in determinations that could adversely affect our operations or that the healthcare regulatory environment will not change in a way that impacts our operations.

In response to the COVID-19 pandemic, state and federal regulatory authorities loosened or removed a number of regulatory requirements in order to increase the availability and accessibility of telehealth services. For example, many state governors issued executive orders permitting out-of-state physicians and other health care professionals to practice in their state without any additional licensure or by using a temporary, expedited or abbreviated licensure process so long as they hold a valid license in another state. In addition, changes were made to the Medicare and Medicaid programs (through waivers and other regulatory authority) to increase access to telehealth services by, among other things, expanding coverage for telehealth services, removing geographic restrictions and originating site requirements, permitting the waiver of patient copayment responsibilities that may hinder access, allowing reimbursement for services performed by out-of-state providers, waiving federal responsibilities that may hinder access, waiving federal restrictions on the prescribing of controlled substances via telehealth, and eliminating prior authorization requirements. It is uncertain whether these COVID-19 related regulatory changes will remain in effect beyond the current public health emergency. However, there have been several developments that suggest at least some of the temporary measures may be extended, including an August 2020 executive order issued by President Trump that instructed the Department of Health and Human Services to review the temporary telehealth measures, particularly with respect to patients in rural areas and propose extensions and to review recommendations made by the Taskforce on Telehealth Policy, which, among other things, recommended eliminating unnecessary restrictions on telehealth across state lines, lifting restrictions on originating sites, and allowing telehealth for various types of clinicians and conditions, and the Calendar Year 2021 Physician Fee Schedule Final Rule issued by the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services in December 2020 that added more than 60 services to the Medicare telehealth list that will continue to be covered beyond the end of the current public health emergency (“PHE”) period.

Coverage for telehealth services by commercial payors vary, depending on the individual plan. We believe that a return to the status quo would not have a material negative impact on any commercial agreements we have entered into during 2020. Each of these agreements has a defined term and virtually none allow for immediate termination for convenience by the customer in question. For many health care companies engaging in telehealth, the most significant potential concern about returning to the status quo is reinstatement of certain Medicare rules and restrictions that limit reimbursement for telehealth visits provided to Medicare beneficiaries, such as limitations on the types of services covered and restricting telehealth coverage and reimbursement to only certain patients in rural areas. Significantly, the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid (“CMS”) added certain services to the permanent Medicare telehealth list to be reimbursed beyond the end of the PHE. However, permanent Medicare telehealth reimbursement beyond the PHE is limited to beneficiaries in rural areas located in a medical facility. Though COVID-19 waivers temporarily removed the rural and originating site limitations, CMS does not have statutory authority to pay for telehealth to beneficiaries outside of rural areas or to beneficiaries located in their homes (with some exceptions). Thus, for telehealth reimbursement to expand to non-rural beneficiaries beyond the PHE, legislative intervention would be needed to permanently expand telehealth reimbursement.

Telehealth Provider Licensing, Medical Practice, Certification and Related Laws and Guidelines

The practice of medicine is subject to various federal, state and local certification and licensing laws, regulations, approvals and standards, relating to, among other things, the adequacy of medical care, the practice of medicine (including the provision of remote care), equipment, personnel, mitigating potential conflicts of interests, operating policies and procedures and the prerequisites for the prescription of medication and ordering of tests. The application of some of these laws to telehealth is unclear, evolving and subject to differing interpretation. Many states have specific statutes and regulations addressing provision of medical care via telehealth modalities and requirements that must be met to do so. Generally, the services provided must fall within the scope of practice for the licensed professional per the particular state's board licensing rules and regulations, and the same standard of care needs to be met as required for in-person care, and physicians must obtain informed consent from patients to the care provided and the virtual setting.

Physicians who provide professional medical services to a patient via telehealth must, in most instances, hold a valid license to practice medicine in the state in which the patient is located. We have established systems for ensuring that our affiliated physicians are appropriately licensed under applicable state law and that their provision of telehealth to our clients occurs in each instance in compliance with applicable rules governing state licensing requirements. Failure to comply with these laws and regulations could result in licensure actions against the physicians, our services being found to be non-reimbursable by payors, or prior payments being subject to recoupments and can give rise to civil, criminal or administrative penalties.

Generally, physicians providing services through telehealth must also use HIPAA-compliant technology. During the PHE, the Office of Civil Rights (“OCR”) is using discretion in collecting penalties for good faith use of telehealth, even if the services are not provided through a HIPAA-compliant secure platform. Thus, HIPAA compliance as related to the telehealth platform is less of a concern during the PHE but will be required long-term. Certain types of technology, such as audio-video synchronous technology, may be required for compliance with state laws and reimbursement depending on the type of service and the payor.

Pharmacy Laws and Regulations

MedQuest Pharmacy's pharmacy business is subject to extensive federal, state and local regulation. Pharmacies, pharmacists and pharmacy technicians are subject to a variety of federal and state statutes and regulations governing various aspects of the pharmacy business, including the distribution of drugs; operation of mail order pharmacies; licensure of facilities and professionals, including pharmacists, technicians and other healthcare professionals; packaging, storing, distributing, shipping and tracking of pharmaceuticals; repackaging of drug products; labeling, medication guides, and other consumer disclosures; interactions with prescribing professionals; compounding of prescription medications; counseling of patients; prescription transfers; advertisement of prescription products and pharmacy services; security; controlled substance inventory control and recordkeeping; and reporting to the FDA, state boards of pharmacy, the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission and other state enforcement or regulatory agencies. Many states have laws and regulations requiring out-of-state mail-order pharmacies to register with that state's board of pharmacy. In addition, the FDA inspects facilities in connection with procedures to effect recalls of prescription drugs. The Federal Trade Commission also has requirements for mail-order sellers of goods. The United States Postal Service (the “USPS”) has statutory authority to restrict the transmission of drugs and medicines through the mail to a degree that may have an adverse effect on our mail-order operations. The USPS historically has exercised this statutory authority only with respect to controlled substances. If the USPS restricts our ability to deliver drugs through the mail, alternative means of delivery are available to us. However, alternative means of delivery could be significantly more expensive. The U.S. Department of Transportation has regulatory authority to impose restrictions on drugs inserted into the stream of commerce. These regulations generally do not apply to the USPS and its operations.

Corporate Practice of Medicine Laws in the U.S.; Fee Splitting

The companies that will be part of New UpHealth following the closing of the Business Combination contract with physicians or physician-owned professional associations and professional corporations to provide them and their patients with access to our platform. These contractual relationships are subject to various state laws that prohibit fee splitting or the practice of medicine by lay entities or persons and that are intended to prevent unlicensed persons from interfering with or influencing a physician's professional judgment. Activities other than those directly related to the delivery of healthcare may be considered an element of the practice of medicine in many states. Under the corporate practice of medicine restrictions of certain states, decisions and activities that may be performed by unlicensed individuals or entities and perceived as impacting the clinical decision-making of licensed professionals such as scheduling, policy and procedure development, contracting, setting rates and the hiring and management of clinical personnel may implicate the restrictions on the corporate practice of medicine. Similarly, certain compensation arrangements between licensed professionals and unlicensed individuals and entities can implicate state fee-splitting prohibitions, which prohibit providers from sharing a portion of their professional fees collected with third parties.

State corporate practice of medicine and fee splitting laws and rules vary from state to state and are not always consistent across states. In addition, these requirements are subject to broad interpretation and enforcement by state regulators. Some of these requirements may apply to us even if we do not have a physical presence in the state, based solely on our engagement of a provider licensed in the state or the provision of telehealth to a resident of the state. Thus, regulatory authorities or other parties, including our providers, may assert that, despite these arrangements, we are engaged in the corporate practice of medicine or that our contractual arrangements with affiliated physician groups constitute unlawful fee splitting. In such event, failure to comply could lead to adverse judicial or administrative action against us and/or our affiliated providers, civil, criminal or administrative penalties, receipt of cease and desist orders from state regulators, loss of provider licenses, the need to make changes to the terms of engagement of our providers that interfere with our business, and other materially adverse consequences.

U.S. Federal and State Fraud and Abuse Laws

Federal Stark Law

We are subject to the federal Physician Self-Referral Law, commonly known as the Stark Law. Where applicable, this law prohibits a physician from referring Medicare or Medicaid patients for "designated health services" such as laboratory and radiology services that are furnished at an entity if the physician or a member of such physician's immediate family has a "financial relationship" (including an ownership interest or a compensation arrangement) with the entity, unless an exception applies. The Stark Law also prohibits the entity from billing Medicare or Medicaid for such designated health services. Sanctions for violating the Stark Law include denial of payment, civil monetary penalties of up to $25,820 per claim submitted and exclusion from the federal health care programs. Failure to refund amounts received as a result of a prohibited referral on a timely basis may constitute a false or fraudulent claim and may result in civil penalties and additional penalties under the federal False Claims Act (described below). The statute also provides for a penalty of up to $172,137 for a circumvention scheme. The Stark Law is a strict liability statute, which means proof of specific intent to violate the law is not required. In addition, the government and some courts have taken the position that claims presented in violation of various healthcare fraud and abuse statutes, including the Stark Law, can be considered a violation of the federal False Claims Act (described below) based on the contention that a provider impliedly certifies compliance with all applicable laws, regulations and other rules when submitting claims for reimbursement. A determination of liability under the Stark Law could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Federal Anti-Kickback Statute

We are also subject to the federal Anti-Kickback Statute. The Anti-Kickback Statute is a broadly worded, intent-based federal criminal statute that prohibits the knowing and willful offer, payment, provision, solicitation or receipt of any form of remuneration, directly or indirectly, in cash or in kind, in return for, or to induce, (i) the referral of a person for the furnishing or arranging for the furnishing of items or services reimbursable under Medicare, Medicaid or other federal health care programs or (ii) the purchasing, leasing or ordering or arranging or recommending purchasing, leasing or ordering of any item or service reimbursable under Medicare, Medicaid or other federal health care programs. Certain federal courts have held that the Anti-Kickback Statute can be violated if “one purpose” of a payment is to induce referrals. In addition, a person or entity does not need to have actual knowledge of this statute or specific intent to violate it to have committed a violation, making it easier for the government to prove that a defendant had the requisite state of mind or “scienter” required for a violation. Moreover, the government may assert that a claim including items or services resulting from a violation of the Anti-Kickback Statute constitutes a false or fraudulent claim for purposes of the False Claims Act, as discussed below. Violations of the federal Anti-Kickback Statute may result in civil monetary penalties up to $104,330 for each violation, plus up to three times the remuneration involved. Civil penalties for such conduct can further be assessed under the federal False Claims Act. Violations of the Federal Anti-Kickback Statute can also result in criminal penalties, including criminal fines of more than $100,000 and imprisonment of up to 10 years. Similarly, violations can result in exclusion from participation in the federal health care programs, including Medicare and Medicaid. Imposition of any of these remedies could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations. Although there are a number of statutory exceptions and regulatory safe harbors to the federal Anti-Kickback Statute that protect certain common industry practices from prosecution, the exceptions and safe harbors are narrowly drawn, and arrangements may be subject to scrutiny or penalty if they do not fully satisfy all elements of an available exception or safe harbor. However, the failure of a financial relationship to meet all of the applicable safe harbor criteria does not necessarily mean that the particular arrangement violates the Anti-Kickback Statute.

Although we believe that our arrangements with physicians and other referral sources comply with current law and available interpretative guidance, as a practical matter, it is not always possible to structure our arrangements so as to fall squarely within an available safe harbor. Where that is the case, we cannot guarantee that applicable regulatory authorities will determine these financial arrangements do not violate the Anti-Kickback Statute or other applicable laws, including state anti-kickback laws (described below).

Federal False Claims Act

Both federal and state government agencies have continued civil and criminal enforcement efforts as part of numerous ongoing investigations of healthcare companies and their executives and managers. Although there are a number of civil and criminal statutes that can be applied to healthcare providers, a significant number of these investigations involve the federal False Claims Act, which imposes civil penalties against individuals or entities for, among other things, knowingly presenting, or causing to be presented, false or fraudulent claims for payment to a federal health care program or knowingly making using or causing to be made or used a false statement or record material to payment of a false claim or avoiding, decreasing or concealing an obligation to pay money to the federal government. Federal False Claims Act actions can be initiated not only by the government but also through civil whistleblower or qui tam lawsuits. Penalties for False Claims Act violations include fines ranging from $11,665 to $23,331 for each false claim or statement for penalties assessed after June 19, 2020, with respect to violations occurring after November 2, 2015, plus up to three times the amount of damages sustained by the federal government. A False Claims Act violation may provide the basis for exclusion from federal health care programs. There is also the federal criminal False Claims Act, which is similar to the federal civil False Claims Act and imposes criminal liability on those that make or present a false, fictitious or fraudulent claim to the federal government.

Foreign and State Fraud and Abuse Laws

There are state and foreign law equivalents of the above federal laws, such as the federal Anti-Kickback Statute and the federal False Claims Act. The scope of these laws and the interpretations of them vary by jurisdiction and are enforced by local courts and regulatory authorities, each with broad discretion. Some state fraud and abuse laws apply to items or services reimbursed by any third party payor, including commercial insurers or to any payor, including to funds paid out of pocket by a patient. A determination of liability under such state fraud and abuse laws could result in fines and penalties and restrictions on our ability to operate in these jurisdictions.

Other Healthcare Laws

HIPAA established several separate criminal penalties for making false or fraudulent claims to insurance companies and other non-governmental payors of healthcare services. Under HIPAA, these two additional federal crimes are: “Healthcare Fraud” and “False Statements Relating to Healthcare Matters.” The Healthcare Fraud statute prohibits knowingly and willfully executing, or attempting to execute, a scheme or artifice to defraud any health care benefit program or to obtain, by means of false or fraudulent pretenses, representations, or promises, any of the money or property owned by, or under the custody or control of, any health care benefit program in connection with the delivery of or payment for healthcare benefits, items, or services. A violation of this statute is a felony and may result in fines, imprisonment, or exclusion from federal health care programs. The False Statements Relating to Healthcare Matters statute prohibits knowingly and willfully falsifying, concealing, or covering up a material fact by any trick, scheme or device or making any materially false, fictitious, or fraudulent statement or representations, or making or using any materially false writing or document knowing the same to contain any materially false, fictitious, or fraudulent statement or entry in connection with the delivery of or payment for healthcare benefits, items, or services. A violation of this statute is a felony and may result in fines or imprisonment. This statute could be used by the government to assert criminal liability if a healthcare provider knowingly fails to refund a known overpayment. These provisions are intended to punish some of the same conduct in the submission of claims to private payors as the federal False Claims Act covers in connection with federal health care programs.

In addition, the federal Civil Monetary Penalties Law imposes civil administrative sanctions for, among other violations, inappropriate billing of services to the federal health care programs and employing or contracting with individuals or entities who are excluded from participation in the federal health care programs. Moreover, a person who offers or transfers to a Medicare or Medicaid beneficiary any remuneration, including waivers of copayments and deductible amounts (or any part thereof), that the person knows or should know is likely to influence the beneficiary’s selection of a particular provider, practitioner or supplier of Medicare or Medicaid payable items or services may be liable for civil monetary penalties of up to $20,866 for each wrongful act. Moreover, in certain cases, providers who routinely waive copayments and deductibles for Medicare and Medicaid beneficiaries can also be held liable under the federal Anti-Kickback Statute and civil False Claims Act, which can impose additional penalties associated with the wrongful act. Although this prohibition applies only to federal health care program beneficiaries, the routine waivers of copayments and deductibles offered to patients covered by commercial payors may implicate applicable state laws related to, among other things, unlawful schemes to defraud, excessive fees for services, tortious interference with patient contracts, and statutory or common law fraud.

U.S. State and Federal Health Information Privacy and Security Laws

There are numerous U.S. federal and state laws and regulations related to the privacy and security of PII, including health information. In particular, HIPAA establishes privacy and security standards that limit the use and disclosure of PHI, and require the implementation of administrative, physical, and technical safeguards to ensure the confidentiality, integrity and availability of PHI in electronic form. Our health system clients, and our health plan clients are all regulated as covered entities under HIPAA. We are a business associate of our covered entity clients when we are working on behalf of our covered entity clients including our affiliated medical groups and also when we are providing technology services to those clients via our telehealth platform. As a business associate, we are also directly regulated by HIPAA and are required to provide satisfactory written assurances to our covered entity clients through written business associate agreements that we will provide our services in accordance with HIPAA. Failure to comply with these contractual agreements could lead to loss of clients, contractual liability to our clients, and direct action by HHS, including monetary penalties.

Violations of HIPAA may result in civil and criminal penalties. The civil penalties include civil monetary penalties of up to $59,552 per violation, not to exceed approximately $1,800,000 for violations of the same standard in a single calendar year (as of 2020, and subject to periodic adjustments for inflation), and in certain circumstances, criminal penalties with fines up to $250,000 per violation and/or imprisonment. However, a single breach incident can result in violations of multiple standards. Under the breach notification rule, covered entities must notify affected individuals without unreasonable delay in the case of a breach of unsecured PHI, which may compromise the privacy, security or integrity of the PHI. In addition, notification must be provided to HHS and the local media in cases where a breach affects more than 500 individuals. Breaches affecting fewer than 500 individuals must be reported to HHS on an annual basis. HIPAA also requires a business associate to notify its covered entity clients of breaches by the business associate.

State attorneys general also have the right to prosecute HIPAA violations committed against residents of their states. While HIPAA does not create a private right of action that would allow individuals to sue in civil court for a HIPAA violation, its standards have been used as the basis for the duty of care in state civil suits, such as those for negligence or recklessness in misusing personal information. In addition, HIPAA mandates that HHS conduct periodic compliance audits of HIPAA covered entities and their business associates for compliance. It also tasks HHS with establishing a methodology whereby harmed individuals who were the victims of breaches of unsecured PHI may receive a percentage of the Civil Monetary Penalty fine paid by the violator. In light of the HIPAA Omnibus Final Rule, recent enforcement activity, and statements from HHS, we expect increased federal and state HIPAA privacy and security enforcement efforts.

HIPAA also required HHS to adopt national standards for electronic transactions that all healthcare providers must use when submitting or receiving certain healthcare transactions electronically. On January 16, 2009, HHS released the final rule mandating that everyone covered by HIPAA must implement ICD-10 for medical coding on October 1, 2013, which was subsequently extended to October 1, 2015 and is now in effect.

Many states in which we operate and in which our patients reside also have laws that protect the privacy and security of sensitive and personal information, including health information. These laws may be similar to or even more protective than HIPAA and other federal privacy laws. For example, the laws of the State of California, in which we operate, are more restrictive than HIPAA. Where state laws are more protective than HIPAA, we must comply with the state laws we are subject to, in addition to HIPAA. In certain cases, it may be necessary to modify our planned operations and procedures to comply with these more stringent state laws. Not only may some of these state laws impose fines and penalties upon violators, but, unlike HIPAA, some may afford private rights of action to individuals who believe their personal information has been misused. In addition, state laws are changing rapidly, and there is discussion of a new federal privacy law or federal breach notification law, to which we may be subject.

In addition to HIPAA and state health information privacy laws, we may be subject to other state and federal privacy laws, including laws that prohibit unfair privacy and security acts or practices and deceptive statements about privacy and security and laws that place specific requirements on certain types of activities, such as data security and texting. The FTC and states' attorneys general have brought enforcement actions and prosecuted some data breach cases as unfair and/or deceptive acts or practices under the FTC Act and similar state laws. FTC jurisdiction in data privacy and security cases is concurrent with the Office of Civil Rights' jurisdiction with respect to HIPAA.

In recent years, there have been a number of well publicized data breaches involving the improper use and disclosure of PII and PHI. Many states have responded to these incidents by enacting laws requiring holders of personal information to maintain safeguards and to take certain actions in response to a data breach, such as providing prompt notification of the breach to affected individuals and state officials and provide credit monitoring services and/or other relevant services to impacted individuals. In addition, under HIPAA and pursuant to the related contracts that we enter into with our clients who are covered entities, we must report breaches of unsecured PHI to our clients following discovery of the breach. Notification must also be made in certain circumstances to affected individuals, federal authorities and others.

International Regulation

Our international operations are subject to different, and sometimes more stringent, legal and regulatory requirements, which vary widely by jurisdiction, including anti-corruption laws; economic sanctions laws; various privacy, insurance, tax, tariff and trade laws and regulations; corporate governance, privacy, data protection (including the EU's General Data Protection Regulation which became effective in May 2018 across the EU, which would be applicable if we expand our operations into the EU), data mining, data transfer, labor and employment, intellectual property, consumer protection and investment laws and regulations; discriminatory licensing procedures; required localization of records and funds; and limitations on dividends and repatriation of capital. In addition, the expansion of our operations into foreign countries increases our exposure to the anti-bribery, anti-corruption and anti-money laundering provisions of U.S. law, including the FCPA, and corresponding foreign laws, including the UK Bribery Act.

The FCPA prohibits offering, promising or authorizing others to give anything of value to a foreign government official to obtain or retain business or otherwise secure a business advantage. We also are subject to applicable anti-corruption laws of the jurisdictions in which we operate. Violations of the FCPA and other anti-corruption laws may result in severe criminal and civil sanctions as well as other penalties, and the SEC and the DOJ have increased their enforcement activities with respect to the FCPA. The UK Bribery Act is an anti-corruption law that is broader in scope than the FCPA and applies to all companies with a nexus to the United Kingdom. Disclosures of FCPA violations may be shared with the UK authorities, thus potentially exposing companies to liability and potential penalties in multiple jurisdictions. We have internal control policies and procedures and conduct training and compliance programs for our employees to deter prohibited practices. However, if our employees or agents fail to comply with applicable laws governing our international operations, we may face investigations, prosecutions and other legal proceedings and actions which could result in civil penalties, administrative remedies and criminal sanctions.

We also are subject to regulation by the Office of Foreign Assets Control ("OFAC"). OFAC administers and enforces economic and trade sanctions based on U.S. foreign policy and national security goals against targeted foreign countries and regimes, terrorists, international narcotics traffickers, those engaged in activities related to the proliferation of weapons of mass destruction, and other threats to the national security, foreign policy or economy of the United States. In addition, we may be subject to similar regulations in the non-U.S. jurisdictions in which we operate.

The healthcare industry in India is subject to laws, rules and regulations in the regions where we conduct our business or in which we intend to expand our operations. Given our digital health centers are situated at multiple locations, we are subject to various and extensive local law, rules and regulations relating, among other things, to the setting up and operation of private medical care establishments. Health and safety laws and regulations in India are becoming increasingly stringent in the recent years, and it is possible that they will become significantly more stringent in the future. India is also in the process of and has certain legislation pending regarding increased data privacy.

Intellectual Property

We own and use trademarks and service marks on or in connection with our services, including both unregistered common law marks and issued trademark registrations in several jurisdictions. In addition, we rely on certain intellectual property rights that we license from third parties and on other forms of intellectual property rights and measures, including trade secrets, know-how and other unpatented proprietary processes and nondisclosure agreements, to maintain and protect proprietary aspects of our products and technologies. These licenses are standard licenses for common, easily replaceable commercial infrastructure. We require our employees, consultants and certain of our contractors to execute confidentiality, agreements in connection with their employment or consulting relationships with us. We also require our employees and consultants to disclose and assign to us inventions conceived during the term of their employment or engagement while using our property or which relate to our business.

Glocal currently has a pending patent application in India and may file for additional patents in India in the future. We do not currently consider any of these patents used in our business to be material to our business. No other subsidiaries have any existing or planned patents. We may continue to submit patent applications for new inventions and ideas we develop as well as monitor competitors in an effort to protect our intellectual property.

From time to time, we may become involved in legal proceedings relating to intellectual property arising in the ordinary course of our business, including oppositions to our applications for trademarks or patents, challenges to the validity of our intellectual property rights, and claims of intellectual property infringement. We are not presently a party to any such legal proceedings that, in the opinion of our management, would individually or taken together have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition, results of operations or cash flows.

Legal Proceedings

From time to time, we may become involved in legal proceedings arising in the ordinary course of our business. We are not presently a party to any legal proceedings that, in the opinion of our management, would individually or taken together have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition, results of operations or cash flows. Regardless of outcome, litigation can have an adverse impact on us due to defense and settlement costs, diversion of management resources, negative publicity, reputational harm and other factors.

Overview

UpHealth Services, Inc., a wholly-owned subsidiary of UpHealth, was formed on November 5, 2019. While established on November 5, 2019, operations effectively began January 1, 2020. It was formed for the purpose of effecting a combination of various companies engaged in digital medicine, and commenced negotiations with a number of companies, including those that are discussed below as having been acquired or that are pending acquisition targets of UpHealth. It became a subsidiary of UpHealth through a reorganization when UpHealth was formed on October 26, 2020 as a Delaware corporation. UpHealth then entered into a series of transactions to develop its business across four primary platforms, as further discussed in "Information about New UpHealth": (i) Integrated Care Management; (ii) Global Telehealth; (iii) Digital Pharmacy and (iv) Tech-Enabled Behavioral Health. UpHealth will become a subsidiary of New UpHealth upon closing of the UpHealth Business Combination. Each of these transactions was completed in November 2020 or will be completed prior to the UpHealth Business Combination. See "Information about New UpHealth."

Completed Business Combinations

On November 20, 2020, UpHealth acquired BHS, pursuant to the terms of an Agreement and Plan of Merger between UpHealth and BHS, in exchange for consideration in the form of a promissory note in the amount of $1.1 million and shares of UpHealth. Accordingly, audited financial statements for BHS have been provided for the period from January 1, 2020 to November 20, 2020. The operating results for the period after the acquisition through December 31, 2020 are set forth in the audited financial statements of UpHealth included in this proxy statement/prospectus. BHS is providing certain pro forma financial information for the year ended December 31, 2020 as set forth in "BHS Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations."

On November 20, 2020, UpHealth acquired Thrasys pursuant to the terms of an Amended and Restated Plan of Merger between the parties in exchange for consideration in the form of a promissory note in the amount of $20,000,000 and shares of UpHealth common stock. Accordingly, audited financial statements for Thrasys have been provided for the period from January 1, 2020 to November 20, 2020. The operating results for the period after the acquisition through December 31, 2020 are set forth in the audited financial statements of UpHealth included in this proxy statement/prospectus. As discussed further below, Thrasys is providing certain pro forma financial information for the year ended December 31, 2020 as set forth in "Thrasys Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations."

Operating Results

As of December 31, 2020, UpHealth's operating results consisted solely of accrued salaries for executives of $1,545 thousand, professional fees of $4,246 thousand and the results of operations from November 21, 2020 through December 31, 2020 for Thrasys and BHS, subsequent to the acquisition of those companies, as set forth in the table above. As UpHealth had no operations in 2019 there are no comparable numbers. See "Unaudited Pro Forma Condensed Financial Information" and the subsequent "Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations" for the companies acquired or to be acquired by UpHealth, including Thrasys and BHS, for information on the operating results of these companies.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

As of December 31, 2020, UpHealth had unrestricted cash on hand of $1,839 thousand and restricted cash of $530 thousand. The long-term debt and capital resources available to UpHealth subsidiaries, both existing and following the acquisitions discussed above, and to New UpHealth following the Business Combinations are set forth in the "Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations" for those companies and for the Company and Cloudbreak. Following the acquisitions discussed above, if cash on hand or the capital resources available to UpHealth subsidiaries are insufficient, UpHealth may need to obtain additional financing in order to meet its obligations. Liquidity and capital resource needs for the operating companies will be analyzed by New UpHealth following the Business Combinations.

Cash Flows ($ in thousands)

	Year ended December 31, 2020
Net cash used in operating activities	($1,139)
Net cash provided by investing activities	3,508
Net cash provided (used) by financing activities	—
Net increase/(decrease) in cash	$ 2,369

In the year ended December 31, 2020, cash used by operating activities was $1,139 thousand, primarily consisting of $2,186 thousand net loss, less $222 thousand noncash items, and a decrease in assets of $2,431 thousand (primarily due to $1,955 thousand increase in AR); offset by an increase in liabilities of $3,701 (primarily $3,332 thousand in accounts payable). In the year ended December 31, 2020, cash provided by investing activities was $3,508 thousand related to net cash acquired in the acquisitions of Thrasys and BHS. In the year ended December 31, 2020, cash provided by financing activities was zero. As UpHealth had no operations in 2019 there are no comparable numbers.

Long-Term Debt

Related Party Debt. UpHealth has notes payable to related parties totaling $420,283 at December 31, 2020. The notes bear interest at rates ranging from 0.14% to 3.5% per annum. Notes totaling $381,283 are payable in eight quarterly installments starting from October 1, 2022, or upon a liquidity event, as defined in the note agreement and a note totaling $39,000 is payable in 2021. The accrued interest payable was $9,113 at December 31, 2020.

Certain notes totaling $21,100,000 at December 31, 2020, are due to former shareholders of the subsidiary merger entities and accrue interest at specific rates, per the merger agreements. The interest expense was $133,333 for the year ended December 31, 2020.

Membership Redemptions and Due to Member. In November 2020, BHS entered into two redemption agreements with members for $10,000 and $70,000, respectively. The Company agreed to pay cash of $10,000 to one member and entered into a note payable agreement with the other member. The note is non-interest bearing, is noncollateralized, and due upon demand. The amount due to the member was $70,000 at December 31, 2020.

Paycheck Protection Program Loans. In April 2020, Thrasys and BHS, each obtained a United States government subsidy of $540,500 and $1,004,900, respectively, under the PPP. The PPP is a United States government temporary program created with the intent to provide a subsidy to assist businesses in keeping employees employed during the pandemic. The PPP loan may not need to be repaid if certain requirements are met. Under the CARES Act, as modified, any amounts not forgiven will be required to be repaid over a term having a minimum of five years and a maximum maturity of 10 years from the date on which the borrower applies for forgiveness. The loan carries a 1% interest rate. Thrasys has applied for forgiveness for the entire amount of the loan and is awaiting decision from SBA as of the date of this report, however, there can be no assurance given that any portion of the PPP Loan will be forgiven. BHS has not submitted a request for forgiveness as of the date the financial statements were available to be issued but BHS expects to submit a request for forgiveness for the entire loan balance in 2021. There can be no assurance that any portion of the PPP Loan will be forgiven. Included in BHS's loan are borrowings related to the operations of various related parties aggregating $278,306, which were transferred to the related parties. These amounts have been included as due from related parties at December 31, 2020. The balance is classified as a current liability due to uncertainty regarding BHS's eligibility for the loan.

Provider Relief Funds. In April and July 2020, BHS received proceeds aggregating $228,794 from the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) available as part of a $100 billion appropriation as part of the CARES Act Provider Relief Fund (PRF). The payments will not require repayment as long as BHS complies with certain terms and conditions outlined by HHS. BHS relied upon guidance issued by HHS through March 12, 2021. The terms and conditions first require BHS to identify health care-related expenses attributed to the coronavirus that another source has not reimbursed or is obligated to reimburse. If those expenses do not exceed the funding received, BHS then applies the funds to patient care lost revenue. On January 15, 2021 the HHS released a “Post-Payment Notice of Reporting Requirements Notice” that provides healthcare providers three options to calculate patient care lost revenue.

As of November 20, 2020, BHS has recognized no revenue on the consolidated statements of operations. BHS has $228,794 recorded within current liabilities on the consolidated balance sheet as BHS has asserted it has not yet met all of the terms and conditions and restrictions for the CARES Act relative to these funds as of November 20, 2020. BHS has until June 30, 2021 in which to use amounts remaining toward expenses attributable to coronavirus but not reimbursed by other sources and/or lost patient care revenue. HHS is entitled to recoup PRF amounts received by BHS that are unused as for the purposes disclosed above.

Off-Balance Sheet Arrangements

As of December 31, 2020, UpHealth has not entered into any off-balance sheet financing arrangements. UpHealth does not participate in transactions that create relationships with unconsolidated entities or financial partnerships, often referred to as variable interest entities, which would have been established for the purpose of facilitating off-balance sheet arrangements. We have not entered into any off-balance sheet financing arrangements, established any special purpose entities, guaranteed any debt or commitments of other entities, or purchased any non-financial assets.

Contractual Obligations

The following table summarizes the non-cancelable contractual obligations of UpHealth as of December 31, 2020:

	Payment due by period
	Total	2021	2022-2023	2024-2025
Seller notes	21,000,000	21,000,000	—	—
PPP Loans (1)	1,545,400	1,545,400	—	—
Operating lease obligations	1,053,203	674,833	357,716	20,654
Total	$23,598,603	$23,220,233	$357,716	$20,654

(1) Refer to Paycheck Protection Program discussion above for details on forgiveness.

Critical Accounting Policies

The preparation of financial statements and related disclosures in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America (“GAAP”) requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements, and income and expenses during the periods reported. Actual results could materially differ from those estimates. We have identified the following critical accounting policies:

Accounts Receivable

For medical HIPAA-compliant (Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act) SaaS internet hosting, licenses and subscriptions to healthcare communities services, accounts receivable are carried at original invoice, net of allowances for doubtful accounts, based on a review of all outstanding amounts on a monthly basis. Management determines the allowance for doubtful accounts by regularly evaluating individual customer receivables and considering a customer's financial condition and current economic conditions. Accounts receivable are written off when deemed uncollectible. Recoveries of accounts receivable previously written off are recorded when received. At December 31, 2020, UpHealth determined that no allowance for doubtful accounts was necessary.

For medical services provided through our behavioral services operations, accounts receivable are recorded without collateral from patients, most of whom are local residents and are insured under third-party payor agreements. Accounts receivable are based on gross charges, reduced by explicit price concessions provided to third-party payors and implicit price concessions provided primarily to self-pay patients. Estimates for explicit price concessions are based on provider contracts and historical experience adjusted for economic conditions and other trends affecting UpHealth's ability to collect outstanding amounts. For accounts receivable associated with self-pay patients, UpHealth records implicit price concessions in the period of service on the basis of its past experience, which indicates that many patients are unable or unwilling to pay the portion of their bill for which they are financially responsible.

Revenue Recognition

Contract Assets, Contract Liabilities and Remaining Performance Obligations

UpHealth records a contract asset when revenue recognized on a contract exceeds the billings. The standard billing terms are monthly in advance.

UpHealth records unearned or deferred revenue when billed amounts have been invoiced and received in advance of revenue recognition. It is then recognized as revenue when transfer of control to customers has occurred or services have been provided. The unearned revenue balance does not represent the total contract value of annual or multi-year, non-cancelable subscription agreements. The unearned revenue balance is influenced by several factors, including seasonality, the compounding effects of renewals, invoice duration, invoice timing, dollar size and new business linearity within the quarter.

Transaction price allocated to the remaining performance obligations, referred to by UpHealth as remaining performance obligations, represents contracted revenue that has not yet been recognized, which includes unearned revenue and unbilled amounts that will be recognized as revenue in future periods. Transaction price allocated to the remaining performance obligations are influenced by several factors, including seasonality, the timing of renewals, the timing of delivery of software licenses, average contract terms and foreign currency exchange rates. Unbilled portions of the remaining performance obligations are subject to future economic risks including bankruptcies, regulatory changes, and other market factors.

UpHealth excludes amounts related to performance obligations that are billed and recognized as they are delivered. This primarily consists of professional services contracts that are on a time-and-materials basis.

Services Revenues

We derive our service revenues primarily through the provision of medical and behavioral health services by accredited medical professionals through our BHS subsidiary, and provision of HIPAA-compliant medical information technology services through our Thrasys subsidiary. Information specific to each revenue stream are as follows:

Services – Medical services provided through our behavioral services operations.

Performance obligations for medical and behavioral services for services provided by accredited medical professionals are satisfied over-time as services are provided and revenue is recognized accordingly. Revenue is based on gross charges, reduced by explicit price concessions provided to third-party payors and implicit price concessions provided primarily to self-pay patients. Estimates for explicit price concessions are based on provider contracts and historical experience, adjusted for economic conditions and other trends affecting UpHealth's ability to collect outstanding items. Substantially all of UpHealth's patients are insured under third-party payor agreements.

Generally, patients who are covered by third-party payors are responsible for related deductibles and coinsurance, which may vary in amount. UpHealth also provides services to uninsured patients and may offer those uninsured patients a discount from standard charges. UpHealth estimates the transaction price for patients with deductibles and coinsurance and from those who are uninsured based on historical experience and market conditions.

Estimates of net realizable value are subject to significant judgment and approximation by management. It is possible that actual results could differ from the historical estimates management has used to help determine the net realizable value of revenue. If actual collections either exceed or are less than the net realizable value estimates, UpHealth records a revenue adjustment, either positive or negative, for the difference between the estimate of the receivable and the amount actually collected in the reporting period in which the collection occurred.

Services – Medical HIPAA-compliant (Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act) SaaS internet hosting, licenses, and subscriptions to healthcare communities.

The Software as a Service ("SaaS") offering, known as SyntraNet, provides virtual, connected communities of care where cross-sector teams—physicians, nurses, care managers, community health workers, patients, families—can collaborate to manage health and coordinate the delivery of clinical, behavioral health, social and other services. Care communities can be connected in a distributed hierarchy of nodes to enable scalable province and nation-wide networks of connected care. Software license revenues are recognized based on determining whether or not the license constitutes a distinct performance obligation. If the license can be separated from the rest of the hosting services, it may be fully recognized on the date license rights are granted to the customer and access is granted; otherwise, it is an indistinct performance obligation which is recognized ratably over the contract term with other hosting services beginning on the commencement date of each contract, which is the date license rights are granted to the customer. Subscription revenues to SaaS hosting access and support and maintenance are recognized ratably over the contract terms beginning on the commencement date of each contract, which is the date service is made available to customers.

Services – Discrete information technology services for set-up, configuration, implementation and customization services for healthcare communities

The majority of UpHealth's discrete professional information technology services contracts related to SaaS are on a time and material basis which may also be independently offered by its competitors. When these services are not combined with other SaaS revenues as a distinct performance obligation, revenues are recognized as the services are rendered for time and material contracts, and when the milestones are achieved and accepted by the customer for fixed price contracts. Training revenues, set-up fees and configuration fees are recognized as the services are completed.

Income Taxes

Deferred income taxes are recognized for the tax consequences in future years of differences between the tax basis of assets and liabilities and their financial reporting amounts at each year end, based on enacted tax laws and statutory tax rates applicable to the year in which the differences are expected to affect taxable income. Valuation allowances are established when it is deemed more likely than not that some portion or all of the deferred tax assets will not be realized.

We account for income tax uncertainties in accordance with ASC guidance on income taxes, which clarifies the accounting for uncertainty in income taxes recognized in a company's financial statements and prescribes a recognition threshold and measurement attribute for the financial statement recognition and measurement of a tax position taken or expected to be taken in a tax return. The ASC also provides guidance on derecognition, classification, interest and penalties, accounting in interim periods, disclosure and transition.

Significant Accounting Standard Applicable In A Future Year

In December 2019, the FASB issued ASU 2019-12, Income Taxes (Topic 740): Simplifying the Accounting for Income Taxes. This ASU removes specific exceptions to the general principles in Topic 740 in Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (GAAP). It eliminates the need for an organization to analyze whether the following apply in a given period: Exception to the incremental approach for intraperiod tax allocation; exceptions to accounting for basis differences when there are ownership changes in foreign investments; and exception in interim period income tax accounting for year-to-date losses that exceed anticipated losses. This ASU also improves financial statement preparers' application of income tax-related guidance and simplifies GAAP for: Franchise taxes that are partially based on income; transactions with a government that result in a step up in the tax basis of goodwill; separate financial statements of legal entities that are not subject to tax; and enacted changes in tax laws in interim periods. This ASU will be effective for private companies for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2021, and to interim periods within fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2022, with adoption permitted. We are currently evaluating the effect the adoption of this ASU will have on UpHealth's financial statements.

In February 2016, the FASB issued ASU 2016-02, Leases, (Topic 842), and subsequently issued several supplemental/clarifying ASUs (Collectively, "ASC 842"). Among other things, under this ASU, lessees will be required to recognize, at commencement date, a lease liability representing the lessee's obligation to make lease payments arising from the lease and a right-of-use asset representing the lessee's right to use or control the use of a specified asset for the lease term for leases greater than 12 months. Under the new guidance, lessor accounting is largely unchanged. This ASU will be effective for private companies for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2021, and to interim periods within fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2022 using the modified retrospective approach. We are currently evaluating the effect the adoption of this ASU will have on UpHealth's financial statements.

In June 2016, the FASB issued ASU 2016-13, Financial Instruments—Credit Losses (Topic 326): Measurement of Credit Losses on Financial Instruments, and subsequently issued several supplemental/clarifying ASUs (Collectively, "ASC 326"). This ASU requires entities to estimate a lifetime expected credit loss for most financial assets, including trade and other receivables and other long-term financings including available for sale and held-to-maturity debt securities, and loans. Subsequently, the FASB issued ASU 2018-19, Codification Improvements to Topic 326, Financial Instruments—Credit Losses, which amends the scope of ASC 326 and clarified that receivables arising from operating leases are not within the scope of the standard and should continue to be accounted for in accordance with the leases standard (ASC 842). This ASU will be effective for private companies for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2021, including interim periods within those fiscal years. We are currently evaluating the effect the adoption of this ASU will have on UpHealth's financial statements.

THRASY'S MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS OF FINANCIAL CONDITION AND RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

You should read the following management's discussion and analysis of Thrasys, Inc. ("Thrasys") in conjunction with (i) the audited consolidated financial statements of Thrasys as of and for the periods ending November 20, 2020 and December 31, 2019 and the related notes included elsewhere in this proxy statement/prospectus and (ii) the pro forma consolidated financial information in the section entitled "Unaudited Pro Forma Consolidated Financial Information." The discussion below includes forward-looking statements about Thrasys's business, operations, and industry that are based on current expectations that are subject to uncertainties and unknown or changed circumstances. Thrasys's actual results may differ materially from these expectations as a result of many factors, including those risks and uncertainties described in the sections entitled "Risk Factors" and "Cautionary Note Regarding Forward Looking Statements."

Overview

Thrasys, Inc. provides its customers with an advanced, comprehensive, and extensible technology platform—marketed under the umbrella "SyntraNet"—to manage health, quality of care, and costs—especially for individuals with complex medical, behavioral health, and social needs. Thrasys focuses on both the United States and international markets. Its mission is to deploy innovative software and other technologies to transform the more than $8 trillion global healthcare industry to new models of care.

SyntraNet creates virtual, connected communities of care where cross-sector teams—physicians, nurses, care managers, community health workers, patients, families—from organizations participating in these communities can collaborate to manage health and coordinate the delivery of clinical, behavioral health, social and other services. The care community can be small—a single organization with internal care teams, or large—a county-wide network of multiple stakeholder organizations and agencies. Care communities can be connected in a distributed hierarchy of nodes to enable province and nation-wide networks of connected care.

SyntraNet is offered as a software as a service ("SaaS") platform. Information, analytics, and applications are delivered to care team members on desktops, tablets and phones as needed. An advanced protected health information ("PHI") framework controls access to information based on roles, rights, policies, and scope of consent. The platform includes innovations in a number of areas: application and information models for connected care communities (an extension of multi-tenant architectures), integration and normalization of heterogeneous data sources, configurable software services and open application programming interfaces ("APIs"), advanced analytics and intelligence, scalable workflows and rules, protected health information management, and user interfaces ready for the proliferation of device types and interaction modes.

SyntraNet provides customers the ability to:

- Integrate and normalize information across heterogeneous data sources to create 360-degree view of patients and members;
- Deploy advanced analytics to gain insight into health risks for individuals and populations;
- Qualify individuals and groups for enrollment into care management programs;
- Manage programs with interdisciplinary teams, configurable rules and workflows, embedded intelligence, and guidelines; and
- Monitor and measure critical success factors—outcomes, costs, quality, performance—and compliance with regulatory requirements.

Business Combination with UpHealth.

On November 20, 2020, Thrasys was acquired by UpHealth pursuant to the terms of an Amended and Restated Plan of Merger between the parties in exchange for consideration in the form of a promissory note in the amount of $20,000,000 and shares of UpHealth common stock. Accordingly, audited financial statements for Thrasys have been provided for the period from January 1, 2020 to November 20, 2020 (the “Stub Period”). The operating results for the period after the acquisition through December 31, 2020 are set forth in the audited financial statements of UpHealth included in this proxy statement/prospectus. As discussed further below, Thrasys is providing certain pro forma financial information for the year ended December 31, 2020 (the “Pro Forma Year”).

Key Business Metrics

Revenue

Thrasys derives revenue broadly from the sales of (1) products—with associated license, subscription, and hosting fees and (2) services - largely to implement, configure, and extend the technology, and train and on-board users on the use of the platform and applications.

Licenses Fees. License revenues are typically associated with rights granted to customers to deploy a certain number of care communities of a certain size—usually measured as the total population of patients that can be included within a care community. In some instances, we have sized care communities based on the number of users, providers, and organizations participating in the care community. License revenues are recognized based on the nature of the license provided, either fully on the date license rights are granted to the customer if there are no further performance obligations or ratably over the license term beginning on the effective date of each contract, the date license rights are granted to the customer. License fees are sometimes bundled with maintenance fees. Thrasys also licenses its technology platform and solutions to third-party solution providers to be bundled with other solutions and services.

Subscription Fees. Subscription fees are recurring fees charged for access to the platform and applications. Subscription fees are typically pegged to a measure of use—population size, number of providers, members enrolled in programs, number of members managed by applications, and so on. Subscription fees are anticipated to grow over time as the initiative for which SyntraNet is deployed grows over time. Subscription fees can also grow as customers subscribe to additional application features or launch additional programs. Subscription fees typically include second-level support and hosting of SyntraNet in a secure, HIPAA- compliant cloud environment. In some contracts, Thrasys has specifically identified separate fees for hosting services.

Revenues from subscription fees are recognized ratably over the subscription term. The initial subscription term typically begins on the start of the contract, and is effective an initial term (usually a 36-month period), after which the subscription term renews in 12-month periods unless customers or Thrasys provide a notice of non-renewal in advance.

Services Fees. The majority of Thrasys contracts to provide professional services price these services based on time and materials. In some cases, Thrasys enters into professional services contracts where professional services fees are defined for specific milestones. Services revenues are recognized as services are rendered for contracts based on invoicing for time and materials.

License Conversion. License conversion revenues are associated with an agreement Thrasys entered into with Varian Medical Solutions (“Varian”) to license SyntraNet as the foundation for a new generation of oncology software solutions that Varian was introducing to market, including the product marketed by Varian as “360 Oncology.” The agreement allowed Thrasys to convert a loan from Varian to software licenses upon the completion of certain milestones, and on-going upgrades over a 3-year period after initial conversion of licenses. Thrasys has not entered into any similar contracts since 2014.

Growth Drivers

Thrasys is primarily a technology product company. Thrasys's goal is to continue to grow the percentage of revenue realized from license and subscription revenues. With each new type of customer or health initiative—a health system, a health plan, county agency, community-based organizations—Thrasys creates a reference configuration of SyntraNet for that specific customer or initiative. The first new type of customer or initiative typically requires more professional services work than follow-on customers.

Whole Person Care. In October 2018, Thrasys was awarded a contract after a competitive bid process, by the County of Alameda to deploy SyntraNet as the technology foundation for an ambitious project to coordinate medical, behavioral health, and social services for high-risk Medicaid beneficiaries with “whole person” models of care. The project, now in its second phase, integrates information across clinical, behavioral health, housing, social services, emergency transportation, mortality, and other systems to create a comprehensive community health record (“CHR”) for residents of the County that can be accessed by a wide range of stakeholders engaged in the care of these individuals—hospitals, community health centers, public health plans, housing and homelessness programs, county agencies, and community-based organizations. This program has been a significant contributor to revenue growth in 2019 and 2020. The current contract term extends until the end of March 2022.

Medicare and Medicaid Beneficiaries. The Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (“CMS”) is the single largest payer for healthcare in the United States. Populations receiving healthcare coverage and benefits from CMS represent the fastest growing segment of healthcare, and some of the highest cost and highest risk populations. A critical market for the SyntraNet platform is states, counties, health plans, and health systems that are responsible for costs and outcomes related to the health of Medicare and Medicaid beneficiaries.

In July 2019, Thrasys was awarded a contract by the largest public health plan in the United States (L.A. Care Health Plan), after competitive evaluation of bids by market-leading vendors, to deploy SyntraNet as a next generation core platform to manage health for over 2,400,000 members, including Medicaid and Medicare-Medicaid dual-eligible beneficiaries. This contract has been a driver of growth in 2019 and 2020. The current contract term extends until July 2024.

SyntraNet will also help L.A. Care Health Plan manage members in the Cal MediConnect program—a partnership between California's Medi-Cal program and CMS to coordinate healthcare delivery for Californians dually eligible for both Medicare and Medi-Cal. The ultimate goal is improved care coordination, better health outcomes, and more efficient services delivery for this high-risk group.

The Medicaid program covers a broader range of health and long-term care services than most insurance programs and includes more than 20% of the US population. The Covid-19 pandemic, with its accompanying economic impacts, is accelerating growth of individuals eligible for Medicaid. Accounting for state and federal funds, Medicaid accounts for 26.5% of total state spending.

Self-Insured Employers, Pharmacy Benefits. In early 2019, Thrasys replaced a market-leading vendor as the technology platform for EmpiRx Health, the industry's only value-based pharmacy benefits management company. EmpiRx Health helps self-insured employers manage pharmacy benefits for members using clinical and financial strategies. EmpiRx Health is an example of Thrasys's ability to help another kind of managed care organization—self-insured employers—transition to improved strategies to manage health for members.

Impact to Revenue of Non-Renewal of Subscription Term/Termination.

The value of subscription fees realized from each customer is dependent on growth of specific customer initiatives. Some customer programs grow, and some decline largely due to changes in available funding or sustainability of specific programs. We typically set a floor for subscription fees.

We periodically evaluate the economics of servicing customers where the initial projections on which contract terms were negotiated have changed substantially. The evaluation may lead to renegotiated contract terms, or in some cases, a mutual decision not to renew or terminate the contract. Review of contracts in 2019 and 2020 resulted in certain terminations from customers and decisions by Thrasys to not renew certain contracts.

Operating Expenses

Cost of Sales. Cost of sales for Thrasys include: (a) costs related to hosting SyntraNet in a HIPAA-compliant cloud environment; (b) costs of third-party product licenses embedded with SyntraNet; and (c) costs of a core professional services team. Gross margins for Thrasys solutions remain greater than 85%, although it is anticipated these margins will decline as Thrasys builds additional capacity for professional services ahead of the deployment of large projects. Added compliance requirements for security infrastructure is likely to add some additional costs for hosting services. Thrasys also anticipates added costs for third-party licenses that will be added as the scope and footprint of the technology platform expands.

Hosting Infrastructure. Thrasys's technology and solutions are designed to be agnostic to any particular cloud services provider. Currently customer environments are hosted through contracts with two cloud service providers. Thrasys anticipates capabilities of cloud service providers to grow, and costs to become increasingly competitive and will continue to evaluate offerings in the marketplace to determine the optimum mix of security, reliability, scalability, and performance to meet our customer needs.

Hosting infrastructure costs for Thrasys are related to the number and size of environments deployed for customers and also on the service level agreements ("SLAs") negotiated with customers. As the average size of customers continues to grow, hosting infrastructure costs are expected to grow as a percentage of revenue.

Third-Party Product Licenses. SyntraNet embeds certain third-party technology components to support some of its technology capabilities. There are multiple vendors for these components, and the Company is not dependent on any specific vendor. Embedded third-party technologies include components licensed under certain open source software ("OSS") licenses. Thrasys does not embed any OSS licenses that jeopardize the commercialization of technology, nor require that solutions embedding these licensed technologies in turn be placed under some open source initiative. Third-party components also include technologies licensed by commercial vendors. These components typically provide capabilities available from other vendors, and are not therefore a source of risk for the platform in case a specific commercial vendor is unable to continue to license the specific technology component.

Professional Services Team. Thrasys's professional services team works closely with the product team and is best understood as an "A-team" created to lead showcase implementations. The goal is to keep the professional services team small, to focus it on deploying reference customers, and to facilitate on-boarding and coaching of systems integration partners.

Research and Development (R&D). Thrasys continues to invest in R&D. The core R&D team consists of a small team of very experienced software developers. Beginning in 2019, Thrasys added considerable capacity to a consulting group with whom it has been working for over ten years. The team, based in Chicago, functions much like the Thrasys internal team. The consulting arrangement allows certain flexibility with costs. An allocation of R&D costs across the core and consultant team is shown below. Thrasys anticipates bringing the consultant team in-house by mid-2021.

R&D (Salaries + Benefits + Tax)	$3,363,426	$3,858,651	$2,597,133
R&D Consultants	3,321,553	3,600,440	2,395,006
TOTAL R&D	6,584,979	7,459,091	$4,992,139
% Consultants	50%	48%	48%

Sales and Marketing. Sales and marketing expense has ranged between 1.5%—2.5% of revenue. Sales and marketing has also been constrained by the decision to fund operations organically with customer revenue. Sales and marketing includes an internal team and contracts with business development consultants to generate and qualify leads. With the UpHealth merger, the launch of a coordinated marketing campaign, including press releases with customers, to scale visibility and publicity to our technologies and success is expected.

General and Administrative (G&A). G&A is comprised of compensation and benefits expense, and other administrative costs such as facilities expenses, professional fees, and network and IT services.

Other matters — Impact of Covid-19

On January 30, 2020, the World Health Organization (WHO) announced a global health emergency because of a new strain of coronavirus originating in Wuhan, China (the “COVID-19 outbreak”) and the risks to the international community as the virus spreads globally. On March 11, 2020, the WHO classified the COVID-19 outbreak as a pandemic, and on March 25, 2020, the US government reached a stimulus package deal. The full impact of the COVID-19 outbreak continues to evolve, and likewise, the full impact of the pandemic on Thrasys’s financial condition, liquidity, and future results of operations is uncertain. Management is actively monitoring the global situation and its impact on its financial condition, liquidity, operations, vendors, industry, and workforce. Given the daily evolution of the COVID-19 outbreak and the global responses to curb its spread, Thrasys is not able to estimate the effects of the COVID-19 outbreak on its results of operations, financial condition, of liquidity for fiscal year 2021, or beyond.

In April 2020, Thrasys obtained a United States government loan of $530,500 under the Paycheck Protection Plan (“PPP”). The PPP is a United States government temporary program created under the Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security (CARES) Act with the intent to assist businesses in keeping employees employed during the pandemic. The PPP loan may not need to be repaid if the loan proceeds are spent on qualifying expenses and if staffing level and salary maintenance requirements are met. Thrasys may use the funds on qualifying expenses over a covered period of up to 24 weeks. Any amounts not forgiven will be required to be repaid beginning ten months after the conclusion of the covered period, over a term having a minimum of five years and a maximum maturity of 10 years from the date on which the borrower applies for forgiveness. The loan carries a 1% interest rate. Thrasys has applied for forgiveness for the entire amount of the loan and is awaiting decision from the SBA as of the date of this report, however, there can be no assurance given that any portion of the PPP Loan will be forgiven.

RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

As discussed above, Thrasys was acquired by UpHealth on November 20, 2020. Audited financial statements of Thrasys are provided in this proxy statement/prospectus for the Stub Period and for the year ended December 31, 2019. In order to provide a comparable period to analyze Thrasys's results of operations and liquidity and capital resources for the fiscal years ended December 31, 2020 and 2019, Thrasys is providing certain pro forma financial information for the Pro Forma Year ended December 31, 2020 that does not include purchase accounting adjustments as a result of the acquisition of Thrasys by UpHealth Holdings, Inc. as of November 20, 2020. Management believes that this proforma presentation will allow investors to better understand the operating results of Thrasys. See "UpHealth's Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations" for additional information.

Revenue

In the Stub Period and the Pro Forma Year, revenues decreased $387 thousand and increased $4,521 thousand, respectively, compared to the full year 2019. The difference was due to an increase in license revenues of $2,773 thousand and $6,980 thousand, respectively, primarily as a result of new contracts with a public health plan, a large County in California and a large customer overseas, offset by declines of $2,729 thousand and $2,029 thousand, respectively, in services revenues and $431 thousand and $431 thousand, respectively, in royalty revenues due to ending of royalty payments from Varian, and the completion of the Varian agreement. A large contract was entered into in December 2020, accounting for the difference between the Stub Period and the Pro Forma Year.

Operating Expenses

In the Stub Period and Pro Forma Year, operating expenses increased approximately $3,264 thousand and $4,934 thousand, respectively, compared to the full year 2019. Cost of sales increased $230 thousand and $464 thousand, mainly due to increased revenues. Sales and marketing costs were substantially the same for all periods. Research and Development increased approximately $1,593 thousand and $2,467 thousand, respectively, as a result of accelerating the product roadmap and adding capacity to the core R&D team. General and Administrative expense increased $1,470 thousand and $1,975 thousand, respectively, due to increases in legal, consulting, professional fees, recruiting and network and IT services.

Other Income (Expense)

In both the Stub Period and Pro Forma Year, interest expense decreased $437 thousand from the full year 2019 due to lower loan balances and the adjustment for the derivative liability for the convertible note, discussed below.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

Thrasys had unrestricted cash of $1,953,128 as of November 20, 2020, $1,175,477 as of December 31, 2020 (pro forma), and $1,619,098 as of December 31, 2019. The reduction in unrestricted cash between November 20, 2020 and December 31, 2020 was largely a result of additional prepaid expenses for business development ($500,000) and product licenses ($197,535), and additional one-time expenses for high performance drives for the cloud hosting environment. Thrasys also had $530,500 in restricted cash as of November 20, 2020 and December 31, 2020 which will become available to the Company after the PPP loan is fully forgiven. Thrasys has relationships with two major U.S. commercial banks where it maintains cash accounts. Thrasys does not have any bank accounts overseas. Thrasys believes its cash, cash flows from operations and availability of borrowings will be sufficient to support its planned operations for at least the next 12 months.

Since inception, Thrasys has financed its operations through internally generated cash from operations, equity from investors, issuance of convertible notes and long-term debt. Thrasys's long-term cash needs primarily include working capital requirements and investments to accelerate business growth. There are a number of factors that may negatively impact its available sources of funds in the future including the ability to generate cash from operations and obtain additional equity or debt financing. The amount of cash generated from operations is dependent upon factors such as the successful execution of Thrasys's business strategies and worldwide economic conditions.

Thrasys may opportunistically raise debt capital, subject to market and other conditions, to refinance its existing capital structure at a lower cost of capital and extend the maturity period of certain debt. In the future, this will be managed as part of UpHealth liquidity needs. If additional financing is required from outside sources, Thrasys and UpHealth may not be able to raise it on terms acceptable to it or at all. If Thrasys and UpHealth are unable to raise additional capital when desired, Thrasys's business, operating results and financial condition may be adversely affected.

Long-Term Debt

Related Party Long-Term Debt

Long term loans. Thrasys has notes payable to a stockholder totaling $420,283 at November 20, 2020 ($1,114,000 at December 31, 2019) repayable in eight quarterly installments starting from October 1, 2022. The accrued interest payable was $9,113 at November 20, 2020 and $459,493 at December 31, 2019. The interest rates on the notes are between 0.14% to 3.5% per annum. A payment on the notes of $500,000 was made in January 2020 and another $500,000 was made in October 2020. During 2019, the Company issued warrants to two of the note holders as part of the debt transactions and warrants for 223,874 shares of Common Stock totaling $1,499,551 were exercised by a note holder on November 20, 2020.

Convertible Notes. During previous years, Thrasys issued five convertible notes to a minority stockholder totaling $1,900,000 as of December 31, 2019. The interest rate on the notes was 5% per annum on notes totaling $1,150,000 and 6.25% on notes totaling $750,000. The principal of $1,900,000 and accrued interest of $599,800 on the notes were converted into Thrasys common stock on November 20, 2020 in connection with the change in control at $10 per share and Thrasys issued 249,980 common shares upon conversion. The accrued interest payable was $507,425 at December 31, 2019.

Upon issuance, Thrasys concluded that the conversion option required bifurcation due to the lack of a fixed number of shares into which the debt is convertible. Accordingly, Thrasys completed a valuation of the conversion option and accounted for a derivative liability of $248,000 in 2013 when the first convertible notes were issued and amortized this amount as interest expenses during 2013 and 2014. Thrasys revalued the derivative liability quarterly and the difference is booked as expense or income at each revaluation period. Thrasys booked an interest expense of $85,000 and $341,000 during the period ended November 20, 2020 and year ended December 31, 2019, respectively, as part of the revaluation of this derivative. The derivative liability (a Level 3 fair value measurement) relating to the convertible note was $668,000 as of December 31, 2019 respectively. The derivative liability of $753,000 was transferred to equity on November 20, 2020 when the convertible notes were converted into common stock.

Other Long-term debt.

In April 2020, Thrasys participated in the Paycheck Protection Program ("PPP") and obtained a loan in the amount of $530,500. The proceeds received were used to pay for certain payroll and operating expenses of Thrasys. The note carries an interest rate of 1%, is unsecured, and is required to be repaid in full by April 2022. Under the terms of the PPP, payments are deferred for a period of time and all or a part of the proceeds of the loan may be forgiven under certain conditions, as defined in the term note agreement. Thrasys has applied for forgiveness for the entire amount of the loan and is awaiting a decision from the SBA. An amount of $196,936 (representing the amount that is repayable within 12 months if the loan is not forgiven) is included in current liabilities and the remaining amount of $343,564 is included in long term liabilities in the Balance Sheet as of November 20, 2020.

Cash Flows

The following table summarizes cash flows for the periods indicated:

	Cash Flows

NET INCREASE IN CASH/ CASH EQUIVALENTS	$863,809	$(776,930)	$ 86,879

In the Stub Period, cash provided by operating activities was $415,192 and consisted primarily of net income of $1,244,270, adjusted for $118,134 of one non-cash item (depreciation and amortization expense and change in fair value of derivative liability related to convertible debt) and remaining cumulative changes in current assets and liabilities. In the Pro Forma Year, cash used by operating activities was $361,491 and consisted primarily of net income of $4,485,109, adjusted for $121,647 of one non-cash item (depreciation and amortization expense) and remaining cumulative changes in current assets and liabilities. In the year ended December 31, 2019, cash provided by operating activities was $2,355,813.

The period-over-period change between the Stub Period ended on November 20, 2020 and the year ended December 31, 2019 was due to a decrease in net income in the Stub Period (primarily due to increased expenses on similar revenues), offset by working capital changes, including decreased prepaid expenses due to license costs in 2019 and decreased payables and deferred revenue due to timing of payments at the end of 2019 and timing of revenues at the end of 2020. The year-over-year change between the Pro Forma Year and the year ended December 31, 2019 was primarily due to working capital changes, including a significant increase in accounts receivable due to a large contract entered into in December 2020 offset by decreased prepaid expenses and payables as discussed above.

In the Stub Period and the Pro Forma Year, cash used by investing activities was $50,250 and consisted of $50,250 purchase of property and equipment.

In the Stub Period, cash used in financing activities was $498,867 and consisted primarily of $540,500 increase in debt, $1,075,000 repayment of debt, $733 loan to a minority shareholder and $1,034,100 received towards exercise of stock options and warrants. In the Pro Forma Year, cash used in financing activities was $498,620 and consisted primarily of $540,500 increase in debt, $1,075,000 repayment of debt, $980 loan to a minority shareholder and $1,034,100 received towards exercise of stock options and warrants.

Contractual Obligations and Other Commitments

The following table summarizes the non-cancelable contractual obligations of Thrasys as of November 20, 2020:

($ in millions)

(1) Thrasys has applied for forgiveness of the PPP loan.

Off-Balance Sheet Arrangements

During the periods presented, Thrasys did not have any relationships with any entities or financial partnerships, such as structure finance or special purposes entities established for the purpose of facilitating off-balance sheet arrangements or other purposes.

Seasonality

Thrasys's results are affected by the business cycles of its customer base, which generally results in stronger revenue in the fourth quarter of the financial year. Thrasys believes this variability is largely due to the market's demand for its customers' and/or business partners' services due to higher levels of purchasing activity in the holiday season. As a result of its historically higher portion of sales in the fourth quarter of each year, its cost of revenue increases during such period relative to any increase in revenue. The increase in cost of revenue and other impacts of seasonality may affect profitability in a given quarter.

Taxes

Thrasys elected as of January 1, 2009, to be treated as an S-Corporation for federal and California income tax purposes. No provision has been made for federal income taxes since these taxes are the responsibility of the stockholders. The state of California imposes a 1.5% tax on the taxable income of S-Corporations.

As of November 20, 2020, Thrasys ceased to be an S-Corporation. Thrasys will be taxed as an S-Corporation for the Stub Period, and as a C-Corporation beginning November 21, 2020.

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are recorded for future tax consequences attributable to temporary differences between financial statement carrying amounts of assets and liabilities and their respective tax bases, including methods of accounting for revenue recognition, accrued expenses, depreciation, and net operating losses.

Thrasys has adopted Financial Accounting Standards Board guidance on uncertainty in income taxes. Management evaluated Thrasys's tax positions and concluded that Thrasys had taken no uncertain tax positions that require adjustment to the financial statements to comply with the provisions of this guidance. With few exceptions, Thrasys is no longer subject to income tax examinations by the U.S. federal, state or local tax authorities for years before 2016. The provision for income taxes consists of California franchise taxes.

The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) audited the Thrasys 2008 and 2009 tax returns for the proper year of inclusion of a $15 million long-term capital gain on the sale of certain intellectual property rights to Siemens Medical Solutions, Inc. Thrasys had originally reported the gain on its 2010 S Corporation tax return matching the year of inclusion for financial accounting purposes. The corporate level tax was paid to California, and passed the gain through to its shareholders. The IRS has asserted that Thrasys owes C Corporation tax of $5 million for 2008 or in the alternative owes C Corporation tax of $5 million for 2009 as a Built in Gain.

The matter is currently pending before the US Tax Court Docket 11565-15. There are related cases for some of the shareholders for additional income taxes due if the gain is shifted to 2009. In 2018 the IRS filed a motion for Summary Judgment and in Thrasys, Inc. v. Commissioner (T.C. Memo 2018-199) filed December 4, 2018, Thrasys prevailed and the motion was denied.

In January 2020, Thrasys filed a Motion for Summary judgment arguing that either the gain was properly reported in 2010 and all taxes have been paid or in the alternative it should have been taxable in 2009 with no Built in Gains tax. In either alternative there would be no additional income tax due for 2008 or 2009. The Internal Revenue Service filed an objection to the motion. On March 3, 2021, the US Tax Court, without consideration of the merits of the case issued a very brief Court Order dismissing the Thrasys motion. Had the motion been granted the need for a trial would have been obviated. Counsel for the IRS has contacted counsel for Thrasys and has offered to join Thrasys in a motion to have the case decided without trial. This and other alternatives are now under consideration. It is not likely this case will be resolved before the end of 2021.

All attorney fees have been accrued through November 20, 2020. If additional income taxes are imposed there will be interest charged at approximately 4% per year since either 2009 or 2010. The IRS has not asked that penalties be imposed.

See Note 7 to the Notes to the Thrasys, Inc. Financial Statements for the period from January 1, 2020 to November 20, 2020 and the Year Ended December 31, 2019 for additional information.

Critical Accounting Policies and Estimates

The consolidated financial statements are prepared in accordance with U.S. GAAP applicable for an "emerging growth company" as defined in the JOBS Act. The JOBS Act provides that an emerging growth company can take advantage of an extended transition period for complying with new or revised accounting standards. In particular, an emerging growth company can delay the adoption of certain accounting standards until those standards would apply to private companies. Thrasys availed itself of an extended transition period for complying with new or revised accounting standards and, as a result, did not adopt new or revised accounting standards on the relevant dates on which adoption of such standards is required for public companies.

Preparation of these financial statements requires Thrasys to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets, liabilities, revenue, costs and expenses and related disclosures. Thrasys bases the estimates on historical experience and on various other assumptions that it believes to be reasonable. In many instances, Thrasys could have reasonably used different accounting estimates and in other instances changes in the accounting estimates are reasonably likely to occur from period to period. Actual results could differ significantly from the estimates. To the extent that there are material differences between these estimates and actual results, the future financial statement presentation, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows will be affected. Thrasys believes that the accounting policies discussed below are critical to understanding the historical and future performance, as these policies relate to the more significant areas involving the judgments and estimates.

Revenue Recognition

Thrasys derives its revenues mainly from subscription revenues, which are comprised of subscription fees from customers accessing Thrasys's cloud computing services; services revenues; royalty income; support and maintenance and sale of intellectual property assets. Thrasys commences revenue recognition when (1) there is persuasive evidence of an arrangement; (2) the service has been or is being provided to the customer; (3) the collection of the fees is reasonably assured; and (4) the amount of fees to be paid by the customer is fixed or determinable.

Multiple Deliverable Arrangements—Thrasys enters into arrangements with multiple deliverables that generally include subscription, set up, and professional services. If the deliverables have standalone value upon delivery, Thrasys accounts for each deliverable separately. Multiple-deliverables included in an arrangement are separated into different units of accounting and the arrangement consideration is allocated to the identified separate units based on a relative selling price hierarchy. Thrasys determines the relative selling price for a deliverable based on its vendor-specific objective evidence of selling price ("VSOE"), if available, or its best estimate of selling price ("BESP"), if VSOE is not available. Thrasys has determined that third-party evidence of selling price ("TPE") is not a practical alternative due to differences in its service offerings compared to other parties and the availability of relevant third-party pricing information. The amount of revenue allocated to delivered items is limited by contingent revenue, if any.

Thrasys determined BESP by considering its overall pricing objectives and market conditions. Significant pricing practices considered include discounting practices, the size and volume of transactions, the customer demographic, the geographic area where services are sold, price lists, its go-to-market strategy, historical standalone sales, and contract prices. The determination of BESP is made through consultation with and approval by Thrasys management, taking into consideration the go-to-market strategy. As market strategies evolve, Thrasys may modify its pricing practices in the future, which could result in changes in relative selling prices, including both VSOE and BESP.

Deferred Revenue—Deferred revenue primarily consists of billings in advance of revenue recognition from subscription services described above and is recognized as the revenue recognition criteria are met. The deferred revenue balance does not represent the total contract value of annual or multi-year, non-cancelable subscription agreements. Thrasys generally invoices customers in annual or quarterly installments.

Stock-Based Compensation

Thrasys has a stock-based compensation plan and grants stock options and restricted stock awards to employees. Thrasys's stock-based compensation is estimated at the grant date based on the fair value of the award and is recognized as expense ratably over the requisite service period of the award. To date, the fair value of the options and restricted stock awards used have not been significant and, accordingly, not recorded. Determining the appropriate fair value and calculating the fair value of stock-based awards requires judgment, including estimating stock price volatility, forfeiture rates, expected dividends, and expected life.

Thrasys calculates the fair value of each option award on the date of grant under the Black-Scholes option pricing model using certain assumptions. For non-employee consultants, Thrasys revalues the unvested options at each vesting period.

Thrasys terminated its Stock Option Plan as of November 20, 2020 upon consummation of merger with UpHealth. All the outstanding and vested stock options were exercised by the employees as of this date.

Recent Accounting Pronouncements

In February 2016, the FASB issued ASU No. 2016-02, Leases, which supersedes ASC Topic 840, Leases, and creates a new topic, ASC Topic 842, Leases. This update requires lessees to recognize a lease liability and a lease asset for all leases, including operating leases, with a term greater than 12 months on its balance sheet. The update also expands the required quantitative and qualitative disclosures surrounding leases. This update is effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2021, with earlier adoption permitted. This update will be applied using a modified retrospective transition approach for leases existing at, or entered into after, the beginning of the earliest comparative period presented in the financial statements. Thrasys is currently evaluating the effect of this update on its consolidated financial statements.

In June 2016, the FASB issued ASU No. 2016-13, Credit Losses, which provides financial statement users with information about expected credit losses on financial instruments and other commitments to extend credit held by a reporting entity at each reporting date. To achieve this objective, the amendments in this update replace the incurred loss impairment methodology with a methodology that reflects expected credit losses and requires consideration of a broader range of reasonable and supportable information to inform credit loss estimates. The update is effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2021, with earlier adoption permitted. This update will be applied using a cumulative-effect adjustment to retained earnings as of the beginning of the first reporting period in which the guidance is effective (a modified-retrospective approach). Thrasys is currently evaluating the effect of this update on its consolidated financial statements.

In June 2018, the FASB issued ASU 2018-07, Compensation—Stock Compensation (Topic 718). This update expands the scope of Topic 718 to include share-based payment transactions for acquiring goods and services from nonemployees. This update is effective for all periods beginning after December 15, 2019. Thrasys is currently evaluating the effect of this update on its consolidated financial statements.

In May 2014, the FASB issued ASU 2014-09, Revenue from Contracts with Customers (Accounting Standards Codification or ASC 606). ASC 606 supersedes the revenue recognition requirements in ASC 605, Revenue Recognition (ASC 605), and requires the recognition of revenue as promised goods or services are transferred to customers in an amount that reflects the consideration which the entity expects to be entitled to in exchange for those goods or services. ASC 606 also includes Subtopic 340-40, Other Assets and Deferred Costs—Contracts with Customers, which requires the deferral of incremental costs of obtaining a contract with a customer. Collectively, we refer to ASC 606 and Subtopic 340-40 as the “new standard.” Thrasys adopted the new standard as of January 1, 2020, utilizing the modified retrospective method of adoption by applying the new standard to the periods impacted post-adoption. The guidance was applied to contracts that are not substantially complete as of the date of initial application in accordance with practical expedient ASC 606-10-65-1(h).

Qualitative and Quantitative Disclosures About Market Risk

Interest Rate Risk

Interest rates are highly sensitive to many factors include international economic and political considerations, as well as other factors beyond Thrasys’s control. Interest rate risk is the exposure to loss resulting from changes in the level of interest rates and the spread between different interest rates. Thrasys does not believe there is material exposure to market risk from changes in interest rates on its long-term debt.

Foreign Currency Risk

Thrasys’s consolidated financial statements are presented in U.S. dollars while the functional currency of Thrasys is also U.S. dollars. Thrasys does not have any direct foreign currency risks as it does not have assets in foreign currencies and does not have any receivables in foreign currency. It has one contract in which it acquires licenses prices in Euros. Obligations against this contract will be completed as of the end of June 2021.

Overview

Glocal is a technology and process-based healthcare platform providing its customer comprehensive primary care and specialty consultations for a fraction of the cost through telemedicine, digital dispensaries and technology-based hospital centers. It has pioneered the development of Semantic Algorithm and AI based Clinical Decision Support System called LitmusDX that helps deliver healthcare through telemedicine on its platform HelloIyf, Digital Dispensaries through a telemedicine terminal called LitmusMX and the Litmus RX an automated medicine dispenser, and smart Glocal hospitals. Glocal started its operation from India but has successfully spread internationally and is now in 10 countries.

Glocal was organized in 2010 and seeks to bring state of art healthcare to the rural population in India through an integrated model of block level comprehensive primary and secondary care hospitals, digital dispensaries and technology. Glocal has significantly reduced the cost of healthcare service delivery to patients. The hospitals have adopted a collaborative approach with the local healthcare ecosystem in each new location, establishing a strong presence. Glocal has 11 operating hospitals in India and 141 digital dispensaries as of December 31, 2020 and 550 new clinics are under implementation. The technology-based solution has also attracted the international market and has extended its presence to more than 10 countries through signed contracts and MoUs.

Glocal's vision is to make quality healthcare accessible to everyone, especially primary healthcare, using a technology & process-based platform. There are three billion people in South Asia, East Asia and Africa that have patchy access to doctors, laboratories and medicines or the access is too expensive. Besides these areas, rural areas and remote regions across the world even in the developed world face the same problem. Even the most advanced areas with good facilities face delays in accessing healthcare and have high overheads. By integrating telemedicine with IoT based remote examination and instant investigation using Point of Care Technologies, Glocal has created one of the most advanced digital primary care systems in the world.

Glocal's model has been tested at a run rate of over half a million patients a year and, if existing contracts are fully implemented, can serve over 10,000,000 patients per year. It has been awarded by the UN's Innovation Exchange (HIEx2020) with the Public Appreciation Award 2020 as a cutting-edge technology to meet the Sustainable Development Goals of the UN. Glocal has more than 1,650,000 customers and business partners worldwide across with no single customer representing more than 10% of revenues. Glocal's customers are located in regions in India, Southwest Asia and Africa. Glocal primarily generates revenue of 85% from India and the remainder from Africa and East Asia.

For the nine months ended December 31, 2020, 85% of revenues came from hospitals and 15% have come from Digital Dispensaries. Although Glocal continues to expand by introducing new solutions, the breadth and stability of its existing customers provide it with a solid base of revenue upon which it can continue to innovate and make investment to strengthen its product portfolio, expand its global presence, and in particular in India, Asia and Africa.

Glocal services are aimed towards three major end points of healthcare which are essential for Universal Healthcare Coverage.

AFFORDABILITY: The total cost of healthcare must be brought down to $60 per capita or whatever is the average cost, which is the recommended norm for low income countries. This includes what is called primary, secondary & tertiary healthcare.

ACCESS: Primary & Acute care must be available within 5 and 50 Km of every person's residence and access must be 24 Hrs.

ACCOUNTABILITY: Health outcomes must be measurable and show steady improvement. A major problem is fragmentation of healthcare whereby a patient has to go to three different units for simple primary healthcare alone—doctor, Laboratory & pharmacy. There is also lack of care continuum between primary and higher order healthcare interventions.

Glocal's HelloLyf CX Digital Dispensary was selected by United Nations AID ("UNAID") as a cutting-edge technology solution to reach UN Sustainable Development Goals. Unlike other telemedicine centers seen today, Glocal Digital Dispensary is an innovative hybrid brick and mortar center, which provides complete primary and emergency healthcare solutions such as consultation, confirmatory tests, and medicines from a single point through the use of two path-breaking technological solutions, Litmus MX and Litmus RX.

Litmus MX is used for recording vitals of the patient, consultation with a Doctor over video conferencing from miles away and for routine card-based point-of-care tests and also contains a fully automatic Biochemistry Analyser analysing 25 Blood parameters in 12 minutes. The software may also suggest investigations. If the doctor agrees he/she can order further rapid tests such as for dengue or malaria for which kits are available. When the doctor selects a prescription, the machine talks to the dispenser which shells out the required dosages of the medicines. Theoretically, the algorithm can be fine-tuned to arrive at a final diagnosis and prescription on its own.

Litmus RX is an automated medicine dispensing unit which dispenses the medicine prescribed by the Doctor, while the prescription is being printed. In addition to these solutions is one of the world's top ten end-to-end Clinical Decision Support System ("CDSS"), named Litmus DX, along with a web interface, named HelloLyf, which integrates practice management with diagnostic algorithms, investigation interpretation, treatment protocols, drug safety checks and electronic medical records.

Its web-based Telemedicine platform (HelloLyf.com) provides world-class telemedicine solutions which allows patients anywhere to consult with any doctor safely. The relay and IP addressing is done through STUN and TURN servers.

During the COVID-19 pandemic, Glocal's innovative solution HelloLyf CX has successfully used Ultra Violet C light disinfection, acrylic separation and positive air pressure to create the first line of defense of health workers and patients against all forms of infectious and contagious diseases including covid-19.

Glocal Telemedicine/Digital Dispensaries have been functional in India mainly through the government and are primarily housed in the government facilities providing services which are free to the beneficiaries. After successful implementation of projects in the Indian states of Rajasthan, Odisha West Bengal, Glocal now has won an order to set-up 550+ digital Dispensaries in the Indian State of Madhya Pradesh, with a total of government placed 750+ nodes across India.

Glocal has 78% and 99.9% of revenue from India and 22% and 0.1% of revenue through exports in the 12 months ending March 31, 2020 and nine months ending December 31, 2020, respectively. The decrease in revenue from exports was due to Covid-19 lockdowns and political disruptions in Mali which delayed shipments of Digital Dispensaries. For revenue in India, Glocal is exposed to fluctuations of the currencies in which its transactions are denominated. Specifically, a material portion of Glocal revenues are denominated in INR.

FACTORS AFFECTING THE INDUSTRY AND COMPARABILITY OF RESULTS

COVID-19

Glocal's revenues dipped during COVID-19, especially during the April to June quarter due to physical touch points and the impact of lockdowns. However, those have stabilized. There has been a delay in shipping orders due to logistics slowdown. While the contracts are covered by force majeure clauses, the risk of cancellation of contracts has not risen but revenue growth has been delayed. Glocal's order book has seen a significant increase which Glocal believes will continue. Between April and December 2020, five of Glocal's hospitals were requisitioned temporarily by the respective state government for Covid-19 response. The relevant governments are required to compensate Glocal for this period and the impact to revenues, costs and expenses was not material. Currently Glocal does not anticipate these or any future requisitions to have a material impact. The impact of Covid-19 remains fluid and order fulfillment may be impacted by logistics bottlenecks.

Other matters

Glocal has moved to a revenue sharing model where it partners in certain places to run and operate hospitals. Glocal is operating four hospitals itself and five hospitals under revenue sharing arrangements. Glocal is also focusing now on the B2B models where the Hellolyf/HelloYfCX /digital dispensaries are sold to B2B partners/customers, who operate them with a revenue share to Glocal. This also results in lower revenues but higher margins.

See "Information about New UpHealth" for a discussion of the acquisition by UpHealth of equity interests in Glocal.

Revenue

In the nine months ended December 31, 2020, revenue increased by $925 thousand, compared to the nine months ended December 31, 2019. Of this total revenue increase, $450 thousand was attributable to an increase in revenue from inpatient and output related treatment services at Glocal Hospitals and $474 thousand was attributable to an increase in Software services and no sales return in December 31, 2020 compared to high sales return in December 31, 2019. The balance represents other revenues. The increases in inpatient and outpatient-related treatment services revenue and in software services revenues were primarily attributable to the effects of increased utilization of hospitals beds stemming from Swasthya Saathi and ABNHM (Government Social Health Insurance Schemes) demand. Increased revenues from Digital Health Software revenues were due to new contracts in the year.

Cost of Revenue and Gross Profit

In the nine months ended December 31, 2020, cost of revenue decreased by $187 thousand, compared to the same period ending December 31, 2019. The decrease in cost of revenue was primarily a result of a decrease in professional fees paid to doctors and a reduction in expenses at five hospitals that are now under revenue sharing arrangements.

In the nine months ended December 31, 2020, gross profit increased by $1,112 thousand, compared to the same period ending December 31, 2019. The increase in gross profit was primarily a result of an increase in revenue. Gross profit as a percentage of revenue, or gross margin, increased from 50.04% for the nine months ended December 31, 2019 to 61.31% for the nine months ended December 31, 2020. The increase in gross margin was primarily a result of increase in the profitability margin of software services and hospitals now under revenue sharing arrangements.

Operating Expenses

In the nine months ended December 31, 2020, selling and marketing expenses decreased by $146 thousand, compared to the nine months ended December 31, 2019, and general and administrative expenses decreased by $320 thousand compared to the nine months ending December 31, 2019. The decrease was primarily attributable to the shift from self-operating to revenue sharing arrangements in the hospitals, reducing these expenses and also due to outsourcing of certain manpower costs in digital dispensaries to operating partners on a per transaction model.

In the nine months ended December 31, 2020, depreciation expenses decreased by $89 thousand compared to the nine months ended December 31, 2019 due to lower addition of capital related purchases. As Glocal is shifting to more and more B2B business, it is becoming less capital intensive. Future growth is likely to come from its digital side and therefore is likely to be more capital efficient.

Other Income (Expense)

In the nine months ended December 31, 2020 interest expense increased by $93 thousand compared to the nine months ended December 31, 2019 due to higher loan balances. Other income in the nine months ended December 31, 2020 increased by $2,814 thousand compared to the nine months ended December 31, 2019 due to NCDs issued to Essential Capital Consortium BV Netherlands being waived through grants given by USAID as a consequence of Glocal's good COVID response. The debentures waiver has been shown as other income.

Income tax benefit (charge)

In the nine months ended December 31 2020, income tax benefit was $819 thousand compared to $967 thousand in the nine months ended December 31, 2019. The reduction was mainly due to the creation of deferred tax assets due to disallowances of certain expenses under the Indian Income Tax Act 1961.

Revenue

In the year ended March 31, 2020, revenue increased by $1,836 thousand, compared to the prior year. Of this total revenue increase, $ 2,170 thousand was attributable to increase in software services sales, offset by a decrease of $374 thousand attributable to inpatient and outpatient revenues, due to the shift of certain self-operated hospitals to revenue sharing arrangements. Increased revenues from digital health software revenues were due to new contracts entered during the year.

Cost of Revenue and Gross Profit

In the year ended March 31, 2020, cost of revenue decreased by $1,287 thousand, compared to the same period ending March 31, 2019. The decrease in cost of revenue was primarily a result of decrease in professional fees paid to doctors, lower costs for digital dispensary sales and lower expenses for hospitals now under revenue sharing arrangements.

In the year ended March 31, 2020, gross profit increased by $3,123 thousand, compared to the same period ending March 31, 2019. The increase in gross profit was primarily a result of increase in revenue. Gross profit as a percentage of revenue, or gross margin, increased from 41.2% for the year ended March 31, 2019 to 67.4% for the year ended March 31, 2020. The increase in gross margin was primarily a result of an increase in revenue and high profitability margins of the digital dispensary business.

Operating Expenses

In the year ended March 31, 2020, selling and marketing expenses decreased by $190 thousand, compared to the prior year and general and administrative expenses decreased by $ 2,530 thousand compared to the prior year. The decrease was primarily attributable to the shift from self-operating to revenue sharing arrangement in the hospitals reducing these expenses and also due to outsourcing of manpower costs in digital dispensaries to operating partners on a per transaction model.

In the year ended March 31, 2020, depreciation expenses increased by $126 thousand compared to the prior year due to capital related purchases.

Other Income (Expense)

In the year ended March 31, 2020, interest expense decreased by $625 thousand compared to the prior year due to lower loan balances. Other income in the year ending March 31, 2020 increased by $ 2,079 thousand compared to the prior year due to written off liabilities.

Income Tax Benefit (charge)

In the year ended March 31, 2020, Glocal has utilized brought forward losses of $ 4,926 thousand from earlier years resulting in reversal of deferred tax asset and income tax charge of $ 1,468 thousand.

LIQUIDITY AND CAPITAL RESOURCES

Glocal funds its short- and long-term liquidity needs through a combination of cash on hand, cash flows generated from operations, and borrowings under credit facilities. Glocal's management regularly monitors certain liquidity measures to monitor performance. Glocal believes its cash, cash flows from operations and availability of borrowings will be sufficient to support its planned operations for at least the next 12 months.

Since inception, Glocal has financed its operations through internally generated cash from operations, equity from investors, and long-term debt. Glocal's long-term cash needs primarily include working capital requirements and investments to accelerate business growth. There are a number of factors that may negatively impact its available sources of funds in the future including the ability to generate cash from operations and obtain additional financing. The amount of cash generated from operations is dependent upon factors such as the successful execution of Glocal's business strategies and worldwide economic conditions.

Glocal is currently in a dispute with Allahabad Bank with respect to the timing of payments and deductions made by the bank on certain term loans in the amount of $12,641,978. Glocal believes these payment requirements were in error due to the completion stage of the various projects related to the loans. Glocal and the bank are in discussions to restructure the timing of these payments and have received verbal approval from the bank on the Glocal proposal. Finalization of the documents has been delayed due to the bank's pending merger with another entity. Glocal anticipates approval in the near future. However, if not approved, the bank could continue to require current payments on these loans which could have a material impact on Glocal's liquidity. Currently these loans have been classified as current liabilities and will be classified as long-term upon approval by the bank.

Glocal may opportunistically raise debt capital, subject to market and other conditions, to refinance its existing capital structure at a lower cost of capital and extend the maturity period of certain debt. In the future, after completion of the acquisition by UpHealth, this will be managed as part of UpHealth liquidity needs. If additional financing is required from outside sources, Glocal and UpHealth may not be able to raise it on terms acceptable to it or at all. If Glocal and UpHealth are unable to raise additional capital when desired, Glocal's business, operating results and financial condition may be adversely affected.

Cash Flows

Comparison of the nine months ended December 31, 2020 and 2019

The following table summarizes cash flows for the periods indicated ($ in thousands):

	Nine Months ended December 31,
	2020	2019
Net cash provided by operating activities	2,053	3,455
Net cash used in investing activities	(167)	(853)
Net cash used in financing activities	(1,638)	(3,146)
Net increase/(decrease) in cash	248	(544)

In the nine months ended December 31, 2020, net cash provided by operating activities, including operating income and changes in working capital was $2,053 thousand, down from $3,455 thousand for the nine months ended December 31, 2019. Operating profits before working capital increased from $605 thousand in December 2019 to $2,181 thousand in December 2020 primarily as a result of increased profitability in the Company's digital dispensary business and hospital business on revenue sharing. The increase in operating profit was offset by an increase in working capital. Working capital changes included an increase in trade receivables of ($584 thousand) in the nine months ended December 31, 2020 up from $2002 thousand at December 31, 2019 and cash generated by trade payables amounting to $538 thousand in December 31, 2020 down from $840 thousand at December 31, 2019. The increase in trade receivables resulted from longer collection times during the COVID period while the change in payables stemmed from a write down of third-party payables

In the nine months ended December 31, 2020, cash used in investing activities was $167 thousand, primarily consisting of the purchase of property, plant and equipment and intangible assets of $159 thousand and the investment of bank deposits with maturity more than three months of $7 thousand. In the nine months ended December 31, 2019, cash used in investing activities was $859 thousand, primarily consisting of the purchase of

Comparison of the twelve months ended March 31, 2020 and 2019

In the twelve months ended March 31, 2020, net cash provided by operating activities was $1,373 thousand, down from $1,829 thousand for the twelve months ended March 31, 2019, primarily as a result of an increase in operating profits offset by changes in working capital from ($559) thousand in March 31 2019 to $3,854 thousand in March 31 2020. Operating profits increased as a result of growth and margin expansion in the Company's digital dispensary business. Working capital changes include net cash used by trade receivables amounting to $2,818 thousand in March 31, 2020 up from $847 thousand generated in March 31, 2019 and cash generated by trade payables amounting to $332 thousand in March 31, 2020 down from $1,600 thousand in March 31, 2019. The increase in trade receivables was due to a major part of revenue being generated at the end of financial year and increased credit period of collection from hospitals now on revenue sharing arrangements while the decrease in trade payables resulted from write-offs of payables at year-end after reviewing liabilities.

In the twelve months ended March 31, 2020, cash used in investing activities was $1,005 thousand, primarily consisting of the purchase of property, plant and equipment and intangible assets of $985 thousand, investments in bank deposits with maturity more than three months of $9 thousand. Off-Balance Sheet Arrangements

During the periods presented, Glocal did not have any relationships with any entities or financial partnerships, such as structure finance or special purposes entities established for the purpose of facilitating off-balance sheet arrangements or other purposes.

Seasonality

Glocal's results are affected by the season demand for health services which generally results in stronger revenue in the fourth quarter of the financial year. Glocal believes this variability is largely due to its customers' increased demand for healthcare services following the holiday season. As a result of Glocal's historically higher portion of sales in the fourth quarter of each year, its cost of revenue increases during such period relative to any increase in revenue. The increase in cost of revenue and other impacts of seasonality may affect profitability in a given quarter.

Critical Accounting Policies and Estimates

Preparation of these financial statements requires Glocal to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets, liabilities, revenue, costs and expenses and related disclosures. The estimates are based on historical experience and on various other assumptions that it believes to be reasonable. In many instances, Glocal could have reasonably used different accounting estimates and in other instances changes in the accounting estimates are reasonably likely to occur from period to period. Actual results could differ significantly from the estimates. To the extent that there are material differences between these estimates and actual results, the future financial statement presentation, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows will be affected. Glocal believes that the accounting policies discussed below are critical to understanding the historical and future performance, as these policies relate to the more significant areas involving the judgments and estimates.

Revenue Recognition

Glocal derives its revenue primarily from rendering medical and healthcare services. Income from medical and healthcare services comprise income from hospital services and sale of pharma products.

Revenue from hospital and digital consultancy services to patients is recognized as revenue when the related services are rendered unless significant future uncertainties exist. Revenue is also recognized in relation to the services rendered to the patients who are undergoing treatment/observation on the Statement of Financial Position date to the extent of services rendered.

Revenue from sale of medicine and medical consumables within hospital premises is recognized on sale of medicines and similar products to the buyer. The amount of revenue recognized is net of sales returns and trade discounts.

Revenue from digital dispensary is recognized when risk and reward of ownership have been transferred to the customer and accepted by the customer, the sale price is fixed or determinable and collectability is reasonably assured.

Unbilled revenue represents value of medical and healthcare services rendered to the patients but not invoiced as at the Statement of Financial Position date.

Liabilities written back

Glocal assesses its payment of its liabilities at reporting date and write back liabilities that are no longer required and record as other income.

Research and Development Expenses

Glocal capitalizes the internal and external cost incurred after technological feasibility for application development. Other costs including research phase are expensed as incurred.

Employee Benefit

The costs of the defined benefit plans granted to employees charged to the income statement are determined by actuarial calculation.

Preference Shares

Series A preference shares are classified as Mezzanine debt as they are redeemable at the option of the holder in absence of an IPO event/strategic sale not under the control of Glocal. Subsequent to the balance sheet date, the investor has waived the redemption rights.

Other preference shares are classified as equity as there is no contractual obligation to deliver cash or any other financial asset and will or may be settled in its own equity instruments.

Business Combination

In accordance with ASC Topic 805, “Business combination”, Glocal uses the acquisition method of accounting for all business combinations. The acquisition method of accounting requires, among other things, that the assets acquired and liabilities assumed in a business combination be measured at their fair values as of the closing date of the acquisition. Glocal measures the fair values of the acquired assets and liabilities assumed on the closing date which is the date on which Glocal transfers the purchase consideration or definitive control agreement is signed and achieves the control of the acquiree. Intangible assets acquired in a business combination are recognized and reported apart from goodwill if they meet the criteria specified in ASC Topic 805.

Acquisition-related costs are recognized as period costs, as incurred, except the costs to issue debt or equity securities which are reduced from the fair value of instruments issued.

Transactions that results in increase or decrease in a group’s/parent’s ownership interest in a subsidiary without the loss of control are accounted as equity transaction.

Income Taxes

Glocal accounts for income taxes in accordance with the asset and liability approach. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are recognized for future tax consequences attributable to temporary differences between the financial statement carrying amounts of existing assets and liabilities and their respective tax bases, as well as for net operating loss and tax credit carryforwards. Deferred tax amounts are determined by using the enacted tax rates expected to be in effect when the temporary differences are expected to be recovered or settled. The effect on deferred tax assets and liabilities of a change in tax rates is recognized in income in the period that includes the enactment date. A valuation allowance reduces the deferred tax assets to the amount that is more likely than not to be realized.

Glocal recognizes the effect of uncertain income tax positions only if those positions are more likely than not of being sustained. Recognized income tax positions are measured at the largest amount that is greater than 50% likely of being realized. Changes in recognition or measurement are reflected in the period in which the change in judgment occurs. Glocal records interest and penalties related to uncertain tax positions in the provision for income taxes in the consolidated statements of operations.

Foreign Currency Translation

The functional currency of Glocal is the INR.

Accordingly, the subsidiaries remeasure monetary assets and liabilities at period-end exchange rates, while non-monetary items are remeasured at historical rates. Revenue and expense accounts are remeasured at the average exchange rate in effect during the year. Remeasurement adjustments are recognized in the consolidated statements of operations as other income or expense in the year of occurrence. Foreign currency transaction gains and losses were insignificant for all periods presented.

For subsidiaries where the functional currency is a foreign currency, adjustments resulting from translating the financial statements into INR are recorded as a component of accumulated other comprehensive income (loss) in stockholders’ equity. Monetary assets and liabilities denominated in a foreign currency are translated into INR at the exchange rate on the balance sheet date.

Revenue and expenses are translated at the weighted average exchange rates during the period. Equity transactions are translated using historical exchange rates. Foreign currency transaction gains and losses are included in other income (expense), net in the consolidated statements of operations.

Accounts Receivable and Allowance for Doubtful

Accounts receivable are recorded net of the allowance for doubtful accounts. The allowance for doubtful accounts is estimated based on Glocal's assessment of its ability to collect on customer accounts receivable. Glocal regularly reviews the allowance by considering certain factors such as historical experience, credit quality, age of accounts receivable balances and other known conditions that may affect a customer's ability to pay. In cases where Glocal is aware of circumstances that may impair a specific customer's ability to meet their financial obligations, a specific allowance is recorded against amounts due from the customer which reduces the net recognized receivable to the amount Glocal reasonably believe will be collected. Glocal writes-off accounts receivable against the allowance when a determination is made that the balance is uncollectable and collection of the receivable is no longer being actively pursued.

Impairment or disposal of long-lived assets

Glocal accounts for impairment losses on long-lived asset in accordance with ASC 360-“Property, plant and equipment”. Glocal reviews long-lived asset for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying value of an asset may not be recoverable. Glocal measures recoverability of assets to be held and used by a comparison of the carrying value of an asset to undiscounted future net cash flows the assets are expected to generate. If such assets are considered to be impaired, the impairment to be recognized is measured by the amount by which the carrying amount of the assets exceeds the estimated fair value of the assets. Fair value of long-lived assets, including identifiable intangible assets, is determined either by using the discounted cash flow method or for assets to be disposed of at their net realizable value which includes an estimate for any potential costs to dispose.

Fair Value of Financial Instruments

Glocal applies fair value accounting for all financial instruments on a recurring basis. Glocal's financial instruments, which include cash, cash equivalents, accounts receivable and accounts payable are recorded at their carrying amounts, which approximate their fair values due to their short-term nature. Restricted cash is long-term in nature and consists of cash in a savings account, hence its carrying amount approximates its fair value. All marketable securities are considered to be available-for-sale and recorded at their estimated fair values. Unrealized gains and losses for available-for-sale securities are recorded in other comprehensive income (loss). In valuing these items, Glocal uses inputs and assumptions that market participants would use to determine their fair value, utilizing valuation techniques that maximize the use of observable inputs and minimize the use of unobservable inputs.

Impairments are considered to be other than temporary if they are related to deterioration in credit risk or if it is likely that the security will be sold before the recovery of its cost basis. Realized gains and losses and declines in value deemed to be other than temporary are determined based on the specific identification method and are reported in other income (expense), net.

Recent Accounting Pronouncements Not Yet Adopted

The FASB issued ASU 2014-09, Revenue from Contracts with Customers, (Topic 606) (ASU 2014-09), in May 2014. ASU 2014-09 sets forth a new five-step revenue recognition model that will require the use of more estimates and judgment. ASU 2014-09 will replace current revenue recognition requirements in Topic 605, Revenue Recognition, in its entirety. The standard also requires more detailed disclosures and provides additional guidance for transactions that were not addressed completely in prior accounting guidance. ASU 2014-09 is effective for annual financial statements of private companies issued for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2019, and should be applied retrospectively in the year the ASU is first applied using one of two allowable application methods.

ASU 2014-09 is effective for Glocal's December 31, 2020 financial statements and thereafter. Management is currently evaluating the effect that ASU 2014-09 will have on Glocal's financial statements. Glocal anticipates the implementation of ASU 2014-09 to have no significant impact on Glocal's consolidated financial statements. Glocal anticipates the implementation of ASU 2014-09 to have no significant impact on Glocal's consolidated financial statements.

The FASB issued ASU 2016-02, Leases, (Topic 842) (ASU 2016-02), in February 2016. Under ASU 2016-02, lessees will be required to recognize, at commencement date, a lease liability representing the lessee's obligation to make payments arising from the lease and a right-of-use asset representing the lessee's right to use or control the use of a specific asset for the lease term. Under the new guidance, lessor accounting is largely unchanged. ASU 2016-02 was effective for annual financial statements of private companies issued for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2019 and will be applied using a modified retrospective approach.

In November 2019, the FASB issued ASU 2019-10, Financial Instruments—Credit Losses (Topic 325), Derivatives and Hedging (Topic 815), and Leases (Topic 842): Effective Dates (ASU 2019-10). ASU 2019-10 finalizes various effective date delays for private companies applying the credit losses, leases and hedging standards. As a result of ASU 2019-10, Glocal's effective date of ASU 2016-02 is deferred. ASU 2016-02 is now effective for Glocal's December 31, 2021 consolidated financial statements. Management is currently evaluating the effect that ASU 2016-02 will have on Glocal's consolidated financial statements. Glocal expects to record total right-of-use assets and related operating lease obligations based on the present value of future payments upon adoption, with no material impact to the consolidated statement of operations.

Qualitative and Quantitative Disclosures About Market Risk

Interest Rate Risk

Interest rates are highly sensitive to many factors include international economic and political considerations, as well as other factors beyond Glocal's control. Interest rate risk is the exposure to loss resulting from changes in the level of interest rates and the spread between different interest rates. Glocal's interest rates on the bank borrowings through banks and financial institution is at fixed rate except for loan from SIDBI which is based on Prime Lending Rate, plus an applicable margin 1.50. Glocal does not believe there is material exposure to market risk from changes in interest rates on debt.

Overview

TTC Healthcare provides inpatient and outpatient substance abuse and mental health treatment services for individuals with drug and alcohol addiction and other behavioral health issues. TTC Healthcare offers a complete continuum of care from its detoxification services, residential care, Partial Hospitalization Programs (PHP), intensive outpatient (IOP) and outpatient programs (OP). During the COVID-19 pandemic, outpatient programs have transitioned to a majority of visits that are virtual.

In March 2020, TTC Healthcare formed Transformations Mending Fences, LLC to provide mental health and substance abuse disorder treatment, including equine therapy, to patients. TTC Healthcare has an 80% controlling interest in the entity with the remaining 20% interest owned by an unrelated party. Operations began in December 2020, with the admission of the first patient occurring in January 2021.

In addition to inpatient and outpatient substance abuse treatment services, TTC Healthcare performs screenings, urinalysis, diagnostic laboratory services, and provides physician services to clients. TTC Healthcare operates three (3) subsidiaries located in Delray Beach, Florida and one (1) facility in Morriston, Florida. These facilities provide inpatient substance abuse treatment facilities, standalone outpatient centers and sober living facilities focused on delivering effective clinical care and treatment solutions.

Impact of Covid-19. The direct and indirect impacts of the current COVID-19 outbreak on TTC Healthcare customers, vendors, operations, and financing arrangements are currently unknown, as is the duration and severity of any impacts it may experience. There has been a reduction in patients partially due to certain states imposing travel bans and quarantines. Management is currently unable to quantify the effects that this situation will have on its operations and financial position; however, they may be significant.

In the following table, revenue is disaggregated by significant service provided, all of which are recognized over time, for years ended December 31, 2020 and 2019.

On September 5, 2019, the Successor entered into an Equity Purchase Agreement (“Purchase Agreement”) to acquire 100% of the outstanding shares of Transformations Treatment Center, Inc.; Integrity Way, Inc.; Pinnacle Testing, Inc.; Summit Detox, Inc.; Freedom Now, Inc.; and Supportive Healthcare, Inc. (Predecessor). TTC Healthcare also formed a new wholly-owned subsidiary, Wrigley Healthcare Services, Inc during the fourth quarter of 2019. The Successor had no operations prior to the acquisition. Key Business Metrics

Revenue

TTC Healthcare generates revenue primarily through services provided to clients in both inpatient and outpatient treatment settings. TTC Healthcare bills third-party payors weekly for the services provided in the prior week. Client related services, such as inpatient and outpatient programs, are generally recognized over time as the performance obligation is satisfied at the estimated net realizable value amount from clients, third-party payors and others for services provided. TTC Healthcare receives the majority of payments from commercial payors at out-of-network rates. Client service revenue is recorded at established billing rates less adjustments to estimate net realizable value. Provisions for estimated third party payor reimbursements are provided in the period related services are rendered and adjusted in future periods when actual reimbursements are received. A significant or sustained decrease in reimbursement rates could have a material adverse effect on operating results.

TTC Healthcare provides diagnostic laboratory testing services for its clients which are recognized over time as the performance obligation is satisfied at the estimated net realizable value amount from clients, third-party payors and others for services provided. Diagnostic laboratory service revenue is recorded at established billing rates less adjustments to estimate net realizable value. Provisions for estimated third party payor reimbursements are provided in the period related services are rendered and adjusted in future periods when actual reimbursements are received.

Prior to admission, insurance coverage, as applicable, is verified and the client self-pay amount is determined. TTC Healthcare accounts for any client self-pay on a cash basis as collectability cannot or could not be reasonably assured. Revenue is/was recognized when collection is made. In some instances, clients will make a deposit for the services to be rendered. These prepaid payments are included in accrued liabilities in the accompanying consolidated balance sheets and revenue related to these payments is deferred and recognized over the period services are provided. TTC Healthcare does not recognize revenue for any amounts not collected from the client.

For the period ended December 31, 2020, TTC Healthcare had two significant third-party payors who accounted for approximately 63% of total net revenues for the period. For the period ended December 31, 2019, TTC Healthcare had two significant third-party payors who accounted for approximately 52% of total net revenues.

Therefore, no liability or provision for federal income taxes has been included in these consolidated financial statements. The Predecessor was subject to certain state taxes in jurisdictions where taxes were assessed. TTC Healthcare files taxes in the United States and the State of Florida.

Revenue

In the year ended December 31, 2020, revenue decreased by $5,306 thousand, compared to the same period last year. This decrease was primarily attributable to a decline in referrals from the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs' Community Care Network in connection with the assignment of TPA responsibilities from TriWest to Optum and to a reduction in partial hospitalization reimbursement rates from a number of payors, including Tricare.

Cost of Service

In the year ended December 31, 2020, cost of service decreased by $206 thousand, compared to the same period last year. This decrease was primarily attributable to the reduction in revenues and the related variable expenses such as contract labor and client service-related expenditures.

Operating Expenses

In the year ended December 31, 2020, selling, general, and administrative expenses decreased by $439 thousand, compared to the same period last year. The decrease was primarily attributable to the reduction in headcount relating to positions that were not rehired during Covid-19 and related decrease in operating rent expenses.

TTC Healthcare is not capital intensive based upon the nature of operations. In the year ended December 31, 2020, depreciation expenses decreased by $41 thousand compared to the same period last year.

In 2019, TTC Healthcare incurred transaction costs associated with the September 5, 2019 business combination. There were no such costs in 2020.

Other Income (Expense)

In the year ended December 31, 2020, interest expense increased by $656 thousand compared to the same period last year. Prior to September 5, 2019, TTC Healthcare had no long-term debt. The interest is attributable to a line of credit and a term note that were issued as part of the business combination noted above. In 2020, other income relates to a gain on extinguishment of three of the five Paycheck Protection Program loans described.

Income Tax Expense (Benefit)

In the year ended December 31, 2020, income tax expense increased $405 thousand compared to a benefit of $106 thousand for the year ended December 31, 2019. As TTC Healthcare was previously an S Corporation and is now taxed as a C Corporation (effective September 5, 2019), TTC Healthcare has entity level taxes reported (both current and deferred). TTC Healthcare had filed its December 31, 2019 income tax return on a cash basis. In 2020, TTC Healthcare will be electing a tax change in accounting method to be taxed on an accrual basis. As a result, the deferred differences between cash basis and accrual basis will be considered taxable income over a four-year period beginning in 2020.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

As of December 31, 2020, TTC Healthcare had $3.8 million of cash. TTC Healthcare believes its cash, cash flows from operations and availability of borrowings will be sufficient to support its planned operations for at least the next 12 months.

TTC Healthcare finances its operations through a combination of internally generated cash from operations and from borrowings under TTC Healthcare bank facility. TTC Healthcare's long-term cash needs primarily include meeting debt service requirements, working capital requirements and capital expenditures. There are a number of factors that may negatively impact its available sources of funds in the future including the ability to generate cash from operations, obtain additional financing or refinance existing short-term debt obligations. The amount of cash generated from operations is dependent upon factors such as the successful execution of TTC Healthcare's business strategies and worldwide economic conditions. The amount of debt available under future financings is dependent on TTC Healthcare's ability to maintain adequate cash flow for debt service and sufficient collateral, and general financial conditions in TTC Healthcare's market.

TTC Healthcare may opportunistically raise debt capital, subject to market and other conditions, to refinance its existing capital structure at a lower cost of capital and extend the maturity period of certain debt. Additionally, TTC Healthcare may also raise debt capital for strategic opportunities which may include acquisitions of additional companies, and general corporate purpose. In the future, this will be managed as a part of UpHealth liquidity needs. If additional financing is required from outside sources, TTC Healthcare and UpHealth may not be able to raise it on terms acceptable to it or at all. If TTC Healthcare are unable to raise additional capital when desired, TTC Healthcare's business, operating results and financial condition may be adversely affected.

Long-term Debt

During September 2019, TTC Healthcare entered into a loan and security agreement (the "Agreement") with a bank that allowed for maximum borrowings of $1,750,000 on a revolving line of credit and a $10,800,000 term loan. The revolving line of credit expires in September 2022, with the option to extend for a total of two years by two separate one year extensions. The revolving line of credit and term loan are subject to certain restrictive covenants and are collateralized by substantially all the assets of the Successor, as defined in the Agreement. At December 31, 2020, TTC Healthcare was not in compliance with the restrictive covenants. On November 23, 2020, TTC Healthcare entered into a forbearance agreement with the bank. Under the terms of the agreement, the bank agrees to forbear from the exercise of the bank's remedies of existing events of default, upon certain conditions being met. The forbearance period is effective until July 31, 2021.

In April 2020, TTC Healthcare received proceeds from term notes from the United States Small Business Administration ("SBA") under the Paycheck Protection Program ("PPP") available as part of the Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Securities Act ("CARES Act"). The proceeds received by the Company were $1,944 thousand which will be used to pay for certain payroll and operating expenses of the Company. The notes carry an interest rate of 1%, are unsecured, and are required to be repaid in full by April 2022. Payments on the note are deferred until February 2021. Under the terms of the PPP, all or a part of the proceeds of the loan may be forgiven under certain conditions, as defined in the term note agreement. The Company has applied for forgiveness for each of the loans. During the year ended December 31, 2020, three of the loans, totaling $661 thousand, were forgiven in full by the SBA and the Company was legally released from repaying these loans. The full forgiveness of those loans has been included as "gain on extinguishment of debt - paycheck protection program loans" on the consolidated statement of income for the year ended December 31, 2020. Subsequent to year-end, The Company received forgiveness from the SBA for an additional $936 thousand in loans and the Company was legally released from repaying this loan. The Company has not yet received a decision from the SBA on the remaining $346 thousand in loans. The Company does not anticipate making any principal payments, but in the event that the lender and the SBA do not forgive the final loan or determine that all or a portion of the PPP loans are not forgivable, the Company will be required to remit payments of $850 thousand in 2021 and $433 thousand in 2022.

See Note F to the TTC Healthcare Notes to Consolidate Financial Statements for additional information on long-term debt.

The transaction was financed with capital contributions and a term note, as listed above. The term note is secured by substantially all assets.

Accounts receivable decreased approximately $1,610 thousand primarily due to stronger collection efforts and the mix of third-party payors.

Subsequent to year-end, an additional $936 thousand in loans was forgiven by the SBA and TTC Healthcare was legally released from repaying the loan. TTC Healthcare has not yet received a decision from the SBA on the remaining $348 thousand of loans. TTC Healthcare does not anticipate making any principal payments, but in the event that the lender and the SBA determine that all or a portion of the PPP loans are not forgivable, TTC Healthcare will be required to remit payments of $850 thousand in 2021 and $433 thousand in 2022. See the discussion above for additional information.

Off-Balance Sheet Arrangements

During the periods presented, TTC Healthcare did not have any relationships with any entities or financial partnerships, such as structure finance or special purposes entities established for the purpose of facilitating off-balance sheet arrangements or other purposes.

Related Party Transaction

TTC Healthcare has a management agreement with a related party. Management fee expenses paid were approximately $200 thousand and $275 thousand for the year ended December 31, 2020, and period ending September 5, 2019 through December 31, 2019, respectively. At December 31, 2020 and December 31, 2019, there were unpaid management fees of $188 thousand and 0, respectively. There were no management fees for the period from January 1, 2019 through September 4, 2019.

Advances from a related party were $1,393 thousand and $25 thousand at December 31, 2020 and December 31, 2019. The advances are noninterest-bearing and are not expected to be repaid within the next year.

Seasonality

TTC Healthcare's results are affected by the season demand for substance use disorder and other mental health services which generally results in stronger revenue in the second quarter of the financial year. TTC Healthcare believes this variability is largely due to its customers' increased demand for healthcare services following the holiday season. As a result of TTC Healthcare's historically higher portion of sales in the second quarter of each year, its cost of revenue increases during such period relative to any increase in revenue. The increase in cost of revenue and other impacts of seasonality may affect profitability in a given quarter.

Critical Accounting Policies and Estimates

Preparation of these financial statements requires TTC Healthcare to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets, liabilities, revenue, costs and expenses and related disclosures. TTC Healthcare bases the estimates on historical experience and on various other assumptions that it believes to be reasonable. In many instances, TTC Healthcare could have reasonably used different accounting estimates and in other instances changes in the accounting estimates are reasonably likely to occur from period to period. Actual results could differ significantly from the estimates. To the extent that there are material differences between these estimates and actual results, the future financial statement presentation, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows will be affected. TTC Healthcare believes that the accounting policies discussed below are critical to understanding the historical and future performance, as these policies relate to the more significant areas involving the judgments and estimates.

Significant Judgment—Determination of Transaction Price

TTC Healthcare recognizes revenue from third-party payors over time as services are provided based on our estimate of the amount that third-party payors will pay for the services performed. TTC Healthcare estimates the net realizable value of revenue by adjusting gross client charges using an expected realization and applying that discount to gross client charges. A significant or sustained decrease in collection rates could have a material adverse effect on TTC Healthcare's operating results. There is no assurance that TTC Healthcare will be able to maintain or improve historical collection rates in future reporting periods.

Estimates of net realizable value are subject to significant judgment and approximation by management. It is possible that actual results could differ from the historical estimates management has used to help determine the net realizable value of revenue. If actual collections either exceed or are less than the net realizable value estimates, the records a revenue adjustment, either positive or negative, for the difference between the estimate of the receivable and the amount actually collected in the reporting period in which the collection occurred.

Impairment of Long-Lived Assets

TTC Healthcare evaluates long-lived assets, including property and equipment and intangible assets, for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount of an asset may not be recoverable. Recoverability of assets held and used is measured by a comparison of the carrying amount of an asset or an asset group to estimated undiscounted future net cash flows expected to be generated by the asset or asset group. If such evaluation indicates that the carrying amount of the asset or the asset group is not recoverable, any impairment loss would be equal to the amount the carrying value exceeds the fair value. There was no impairment for the years ended December 31, 2020 or 2019.

Recent Accounting Pronouncements Not Yet Adopted

The FASB issued ASU 2014-09, Revenue from Contracts with Customers, (Topic 606) (ASU 2014-09), in May 2014. ASU 2014-09 sets forth a new five-step revenue recognition model that will require the use of more estimates and judgment. ASU 2014-09 will replace current revenue recognition requirements in Topic 605, Revenue Recognition, in its entirety. The standard also requires more detailed disclosures and provides additional guidance for transactions that were not addressed completely in prior accounting guidance. ASU 2014-09 is effective for annual financial statements of private companies issued for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2019, and should be applied retrospectively in the year the ASU is first applied using one of two allowable application methods.

ASU 2014-09 is effective for TTC Healthcare's December 31, 2020 financial statements and thereafter. Management is currently evaluating the effect that ASU 2014-09 will have on TTC Healthcare's financial statements. TTC Healthcare anticipates the implementation of ASU 2014-09 to have no significant impact on the consolidated financial statements. TTC Healthcare anticipates the implementation of ASU 2014-09 to have no significant impact on the consolidated financial statements.

The FASB issued ASU 2016-02, Leases, (Topic 842) (ASU 2016-02), in February 2016. Under ASU 2016-02, lessees will be required to recognize, at commencement date, a lease liability representing the lessee's obligation to make payments arising from the lease and a right-of-use asset representing the lessee's right to use or control the use of a specific asset for the lease term. Under the new guidance, lessor accounting is largely unchanged. ASU 2016-02 was effective for annual financial statements of private companies issued for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2019 and will be applied using a modified retrospective approach.

In November 2019, the FASB issued ASU 2019-10, Financial Instruments—Credit Losses (Topic 325), Derivatives and Hedging (Topic 815), and Leases (Topic 842): Effective Dates (ASU 2019-10). ASU 2019-10 finalizes various effective date delays for private companies applying the credit losses, leases and hedging standards. As a result of ASU 2019-10, TTC Healthcare's effective date of ASU 2016-02 is deferred. ASU 2016-02 is now effective for TTC Healthcare's December 31, 2021 consolidated financial statements. Management is currently evaluating the effect that ASU 2016-02 will have on TTC Healthcare's consolidated financial statements. TTC Healthcare expects to record total right-of-use assets and related operating lease obligations based on the present value of future payments as disclosed in Note J of the consolidated financial statements on the consolidated balance sheet upon adoption, with no material impact to the consolidated statement of operations.

Qualitative and Quantitative Disclosures About Market Risk

Interest Rate Risk

Interest rates are highly sensitive to many factors include international economic and political considerations, as well as other factors beyond TTC Healthcare's control. Interest rate risk is the exposure to loss resulting from changes in the level of interest rates and the spread between different interest rates. TTC Healthcare's interest rates on the bank borrowings held by a commercial bank is at the London Interbank Offered Rate (LIBOR), plus an applicable margin between 3.50-4.00%. TTC Healthcare does not believe there is material exposure to market risk from changes in interest rates on debt.

INNOVATIONS GROUP, INC.'S MANAGEMENT'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS OF FINANCIAL CONDITION AND RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

You should read the following management's discussion and analysis in conjunction with (i) the audited consolidated financial statements of Innovations Group, Inc. as of December 31, 2020 and 2019 and for the years then ended and the related notes and (ii) "Unaudited Pro Forma Condensed Combined Financial Information." The discussion below includes forward-looking statements about Innovations Group, Inc.'s business, operations and industry that are based on current expectations that are subject to uncertainties and unknown or changed circumstances. Innovations Group, Inc.'s actual results may differ materially from these expectations as a result of many factors, including those risks and uncertainties described in the sections entitled "Risk Factors" and "Cautionary Note Regarding Forward Looking Statements."

OVERVIEW

Innovations Group, Inc. ("Innovations Group") is the parent company of the following wholly-owned operating subsidiaries: MedQuest Pharmacy, Inc. ("MedQuest Pharmacy"), WorldLink Medical, Inc. ("WorldLink Medical"), Medical Horizons, Inc. ("Medical Horizons"), and Pinnacle Labs, Inc. (doing business as MedQuest Testing Services ("MTS")).

MedQuest Pharmacy is a full-service retail and compounding pharmacy licensed in 50 states and the District of Columbia that dispenses patient-specific medications and ships directly to patients. It delivers both compounded and legend (also referred to as manufactured) drugs and is capable of serving as a retail or national fulfillment center, as a personalized medication administration partner with prescribers, and as a lifestyle wellness direct-to-consumer offering. Its proprietary software and operating system, eMedplus, is EPCS Certified by the DEA and provides prescribers with a full-service prescription management system. In January 2020, eMedplus became Surescripts certified (Surescripts process to validate that the software meets certain industry standards related to sending and receiving electronic messages and that it is providing open choice for medication selection and dispensing location), allowing any user of the Surescripts platform to prescribe medications dispensed by MedQuest Pharmacy.

Also under the Innovations Group suite of services is Worldlink Medical, Medical Horizons, and MedQuest Testing Services. Worldlink Medical is the educational services arm of Innovations Group, providing CME educational courses accredited as a joint provider through the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME). Medical Horizons specializes in customized formulations and contract dietary supplement and nutraceuticals manufacturing as an own label distributor with its brand NUTRAscriptives, as well as other brands. Its turnkey solutions include label design, printing and application; custom packaging; daily packs; a selection of capsule sizes and colors; and convenient auto-reorder services. It features a staff of experts that is committed to excellence and outstanding customer service. MedQuest Testing Services focuses specifically on facilitating diagnostic testing between lab companies, such as LabCorp and Quest Diagnostics, patients, and providers.

MedQuest Pharmacy is accredited and recognized by the Accreditation Commission for Health Care (ACHC) and its Pharmacy Compounding Accreditation Board (PCAB), among other high-quality providers and suppliers. MedQuest Pharmacy has achieved this elite level of quality by exceeding standards set by national accreditation bodies and quality-centered organizations.

Innovations Group's operations are run from a 43,000 square foot facility in North Salt Lake, Utah and it has the ability to expand another 40,000 to 80,000 square feet (depending on if parking is underground) at the same location. In 2019, MedQuest Pharmacy invested approximately $3,800,000 in a facility expansion to construct a new lab of approximately 4,500 square feet, add over 5,300 square feet of additional space on its second floor for its fulfillment operations, and complete related facility upgrades. The expansion significantly increased MedQuest Pharmacy's production capacity. The new lab is fully operational, and MedQuest Pharmacy has the ability to also use its original lab to increase production to support its planned growth.

In addition, to expanding its prescriber base through the Superscripts platform and testing services with new and existing lab companies and relationships, MedQuest Pharmacy plans to add new lines of specialty focus, including dermatology products in 2021, allowing it to offer its new product lines to existing customers while also expanding its customer base to include the dermatology ecosystem. Medical Horizons also plans to launch Pure Collectives, an e-commerce platform to allow providers to sell Medical Horizons' nutraceutical supplements line to their patients. Patients will have the ability to order Medical Horizons' nutraceutical supplements line directly from their provider through Pure Collectives. The order will be sent to Medical Horizons and Medical Horizons will ship it directly to the patient, with the patient paying the provider and Medical Horizons billing the provider directly for the products provided.

MedQuest Pharmacy's direct pharmacy capabilities offer direct-to-patient shipping of both manufactured and compounded drugs. MedQuest Pharmacy has relationships with both prescribers and patients and filled an average of approximately 850 prescriptions per day in 2020. Over the last five years, MedQuest Pharmacy has filled prescriptions for over 5,000 prescribers and over 65,000 different patients. The business model is driven by cash-pay and prescription volume-based revenue generated by physician electronic prescription order entry, as well as traditional prescriber-patient-pharmacist interactions, mailed, verbal and faxed orders.

The table below shows the revenue generated by each subsidiary (with sales of compounded versus manufactured drugs broken out for MedQuest Pharmacy) during the twelve months ended December 31, 2020 and 2019.

See the "Factors Affecting Comparability of Results" section for additional information regarding B-17 Partners, LLC.

Impact of COVID-19

Innovations Group's operations have not been significantly impacted by the current COVID-19 outbreak, but management continues to monitor the situation. Certain additional costs have been incurred to procure personal protective equipment and enhance sanitation of its facility. No impairments were recorded as of the consolidated balance sheet dates presented; however, due to significant uncertainty surrounding the situation, management's judgment regarding this could change in the future. In addition, Innovation Group's results of operations, cash flows, and financial condition could be negatively impacted in the future. The extent, if any, of the impact cannot be reasonably estimated at this time.

KEY BUSINESS METRICS

Revenue

Innovations Group's revenue is generated primarily from the sale of prescription medications directly to patients and through the sale of products and services to providers. The majority of the customer revenue is billed and collected before the medications and products are shipped from the facility. See above for a summary of revenue generated by each subsidiary of Innovations Group during the twelve months ended December 31, 2020 and 2019. MedQuest Pharmacy is Innovation Group's largest subsidiary in terms of revenue and generates approximately 60% of its revenue from sales of compounded medications and approximately 40% of its revenue from sales of manufactured medications.

Cost of Sales and Gross Profit

Cost of sales consists primarily of costs of raw ingredients and materials to compound various drugs and supplements, and the cost of manufactured product purchased directly from the distributors for resale. MedQuest Pharmacy purchases these items through a large industry distributor with many suppliers and also sources supplies directly with manufacturers. MedQuest Pharmacy is also able to leverage the size of its operations to purchase larger quantities of certain ingredients and materials at lower prices.

Gross profit is equal to the revenue less cost of sales associated with dispensing of the medications, products and services to Innovations Group's customers. Overall, the gross profit margin on sales of compounded medications is two to three times the gross profit margin on its sales of manufactured drugs. There are, however, additional labor costs included in operating expenses related to compounded drugs.

Operating Expenses

Innovations Group's operating expenses include:

Selling Expenses—All sales-related expenses (primarily related to compensation and benefits of sales personnel and related expenses).

General and Administrative Expenses—Comprised of compensation and benefits of the pharmacy and administrative personnel as well as other administrative costs such as facilities expenses, including rental expenses, professional fees, credit card fees, travel expenses, and communication expenses.

Depreciation Expense—related to the facility improvements, lab equipment, office equipment and furniture and fixtures.

FACTORS AFFECTING COMPARABILITY OF RESULTS

B-17 Partners, LLC

The consolidated financial statements include the results of Innovations Group, its four wholly-owned subsidiaries discussed above, and a variable interest real estate entity, B-17 Partners, LLC ("B-17"), in which Innovations Group has a controlling financial interest. Innovation Group's major shareholder owns B-17. Innovations Group is the primary beneficiary of B-17. This determination was based on the fact that Innovations Group absorbs a majority of B-17's expected losses and receives a majority of its expected residual returns. B-17 was formed for the purpose of acquiring and holding real estate. It owns the building leased by Innovations Group for its corporate headquarters. In accordance with Accounting Standard Update 2015-02, Consolidation (Topic 810) Amendments to the Consolidation Analysis, B-17 is considered a variable interest entity. All material intercompany transactions and balances have been eliminated in consolidation. B-17 will no longer be a variable interest entity following UpHealth's acquisition of Innovations Group.

The assets, liabilities, and expenses of B-17 have been included in Innovation Group's consolidated financial statements. As of December 31, 2020 and 2019, respectively, approximate amounts included in consolidated assets were cash ($453,000 and $88,000), property and equipment ($4,341,000 and $4,484,000) and other assets ($23,000 and $15,000). Consolidated liabilities included notes payable (approximately $4,113,000 and $3,307,000). Consolidated expenses included primarily interest and depreciation (approximately $316,000 and $236,000). Revenues of approximately $419,000 in 2020 and $364,000 in 2019 were eliminated in consolidation. Innovations Group guarantees the notes payable of B-17. Apart from that amount, creditors and beneficial holders of B-17 have no recourse to the assets or general credit of the Innovations Group.

Income Tax Expense

Innovations Group and its subsidiaries are treated as S-Corporations under the Internal Revenue Code and thus all tax expense is incurred at the shareholder level. As a result, there are no accruals for income taxes or related income tax expense. Innovations Group and its subsidiaries will no longer be S-Corporations following UpHealth's acquisition of Innovations Group.

Business Combination with UpHealth

Innovations Group and UpHealth entered into an Agreement and Plan of Merger on November 2, 2020, under which UpHealth acquired all of the issued and outstanding shares of Innovations Group in exchange for consideration in the form of a promissory note in the amount of $30,000,000 and shares of UpHealth. This transaction closed on April 27, 2021.

Revenue

In the twelve months ended December 31, 2020, revenue decreased by $494,436, compared to the same period ending December 31, 2019. This decrease was primarily related to the brief disruption related to adjustments in response to the COVID-19 pandemic and shifts in product mix (primarily shift away from higher cost manufactured drugs. With the completion of its new lab and facility expansion, coupled with growth into new product lines and Pure Collectives discussed above, Innovations Group expects increased volumes in the second half of 2021.

Cost of Sales and Gross Profit

In the twelve months ended December 31, 2020, cost of sales decreased by $1,071,444, compared to the same period ending December 31, 2019. The decrease in cost of sales was primarily attributable to purchasing chemicals and other materials in higher quantities leading to lower per unit and overall costs of chemicals and materials used in the MedQuest Pharmacy's compounding operations. Cost of sales also decreased year-over-year due to the mix of sales of various drugs and supplements in 2020 versus 2019. This will vary from period to period.

In addition to MedQuest Pharmacy's principal business activities, it provides shipping of final product to customers. Shipping and handling costs are recorded in cost of sales as they are incurred. Total shipping and handling costs were approximately $2,015,000 and $1,962,000 for the twelve months ended December 31, 2020 and 2019, respectively.

In the twelve months ended December 31, 2020, gross profit increased by $577,008, compared to the same period ending December 31, 2019. Gross profit as a percentage of revenue, or gross margin, increased from 50.41% for the twelve months ended December 31, 2019 to 53.32% for the twelve months ended December 31, 2020. The increase in gross profit and gross margin was primarily attributable to the reduction in cost of sales as indicated above.

Operating Expenses

In the twelve months ended December 31, 2020, operating expenses increased by $1,292,097, compared to the same period ending December 31, 2019. The increase in operating expenses was attributable primarily in three areas. The first was the increase of expenses (such as depreciation and ongoing maintenance expenses) related to the new lab constructed during 2019 and the related facility upgrades and equipment to operate the new lab. Second, payroll and related payroll costs increased due to both the hiring of additional employees as MedQuest Pharmacy continues to expand its management and pharmacy teams and increased salaries for existing employees. Third, additional legal and accounting costs were incurred related to the preparation for the acquisition of Innovations Group by UpHealth.

Nonoperating Expenses

In the twelve months ended December 31, 2020, nonoperating expenses increased by $21,449, compared to the same period ending December 31, 2019. The increase in non-operating expenses was primarily attributable to the increase in interest expense associated with the financing of the expansion of the facility.

Net Income

In the twelve months ended December 31, 2021, net income attributable to Innovations Group decreased by $736,538, compared to the same time period last year, due to the increased operating and nonoperating expenses discussed above.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

As of December 31, 2020, Innovations Group had $3,319,074 in cash, compared to $2,199,018 as of December 31, 2019.

Innovations Group's sales are almost exclusively cash sales resulting in positive cash flow from operations. This has allowed Innovations Group to operate without financing or debt for several years up through most of 2019. In connection with the construction of its new lab, purchases of equipment, and related improvements and systems, Innovations Group entered into a $1,500,000 equipment credit line in 2019 and then converted that loan into a term loan in March 2020 ($1,342,000 principal balance at the time of conversion). Innovations Group also entered into an operating credit line at the same time providing $500,000 in additional funds as needed. During the twelve months ended December 31, 2020, Innovations Group did not use the operating credit line.

On May 9, 2020 Innovations Group received a Paycheck Protection Program term note through a bank totaling $1,174,000, the terms of which are summarized in note (3) in the table below.

Innovations Group may opportunistically raise debt capital, subject to market and other conditions, to fund its growth plans, as discussed above. In the future, this will be managed as a part of UpHealth's liquidity needs. If additional financing is required from outside sources, Innovations Group and UpHealth may not be able to raise it on terms acceptable to it or at all. If Innovations Group and UpHealth are unable to raise additional capital when desired, Innovations Group's business, operating results, and financial condition may be adversely affected.

Long-term financial obligations, excluding obligations due under purchase agreements, consisted of the following:

Loan	Outstanding Balance		Maturity
	As of December 31, 2020	As of December 31, 2019
Equipment Line of Credit / Term Loan(1)	$ 644,376	$1,379,418	February 2027
Operating Line of Credit(2)	—	—	March 2022
Paycheck Protection Loan(3)	1,174,000	—	(3)
Total carrying value of long-term debt	$1,818,376	$1,379,418

- (1) In March 2019, Innovations Group entered into a $1,500,000 equipment line of credit with a financial institution. Interest was payable monthly at a fixed rate of 5.00%. In March 2020, the entire balance outstanding on the line of credit converted to a seven-year fixed rate note. The note was secured by specific equipment and payable in monthly installments of $19,478 including interest at 4.09% through maturity in February 2027. However, on March 15, 2021, Innovations Group prepaid the note in full.
- (2) In March 2019, Innovations Group also entered a $500,000 operating line of credit with a financial institution. The line of credit requires interest payments monthly at a rate of 5.00% and is secured by substantially all assets of Innovations Group. The line expired in March 2021 and was renewed with substantially the same terms through March 2022.
- (3) On May 9, 2020 Innovations Group received a Paycheck Protection Program term note through a bank totaling $1,174,000. The note was pursuant to the Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security (CARES) Act's Paycheck Protection Program. On March 11, 2021, the U.S. Small Business Association approved the PPP loan for forgiveness in full, including all accrued interest. The forgiveness will result in cancellation of debt income in 2021.

In addition to the long-term financial obligations of Innovations Group described above, Innovations Group guarantees two notes payable of B-17. In March 2019, B-17 entered into a fifteen-year, 5.12% real estate loan. The loan proceeds of $3,432,000 were used to purchase the building used for Innovation Group's headquarters. Monthly principal and interest payments are $20,344 plus an estimated lump sum payment $1,926,000 due at maturity. In March 2020, B-17 entered into a ten-year, 3.091% real estate loan secured by a second trust deed on the real estate. The loan proceeds of $900,000 were used for the purpose of financing the additions to the building during 2019. Monthly payments of principal and interest are $5,053 plus an estimated lump sum payment of $525,000 at maturity.

The following statements summarize the cash flows for the period indicated:

	Twelve Months ended December 31,
	2020	2019
Net cash provided by operating activities	$2,025,876	$ 3,882,025
Net cash provided by (used in) investing activities	(409,526)	(3,809,455)
Net cash provided by (used in) financing activities	(496,294)	(386,244)
Net increase/(decrease) in cash	$1,120,056	($ 313,674)

In the twelve months ended December 31, 2020, cash provided by operating activities was $2,025,876, a decrease of $1,856,149 compared to the prior year period. The year-over-year decrease was primarily due to a $765,922 decline in net income (as discussed above) and working capital changes, including an increase in inventory (in part due to MedQuest Pharmacy investing in purchasing larger quantities of certain raw materials, allowing for lower per unit prices) and an increase in prepaid expenses and other current assets and a decrease in accounts payable due to timing, partially offset by increased accrued expenses largely driven by expenses incurred in connection with the Innovations Group-UpHealth transaction.

In the twelve months ended December 31, 2020, cash used in investing activities was $409,526, compared to cash used in investing activities of $3,809,455 during the same period in the prior year due to purchases of property, equipment, and other fixed assets related to Innovations Group's 2019 expansion of its existing facility, as discussed above.

In the twelve months ended December 31, 2020, cash used in financing activities was $496,294, compared to cash used in financing activities of $386,244 during the same period in the prior year. The year-over-year increase was primarily due to a lump sum principal prepayment of approximately half of the equipment loan and increased distributions to stockholders for their final payment on taxes for the prior year earnings as well as the current year earnings, partially offset by increased borrowings (PPP Loan and the additional real estate loan through B-17 to pay for the additions to the building, both as discussed above).

Off-Balance Sheet Arrangements

During 2020 and 2019, Innovations Group did not have any relationships with any entities or financial partnerships, such as structure finance or special purposes entities established for the purpose of facilitating off-balance sheet arrangements or other purposes.

Seasonality

Innovations Group's operations are not materially impacted by seasonality.

Critical Accounting Policies and Estimates

Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Use of Estimates

Innovations Group prepares the financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, which requires management to use its judgment to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and related disclosures at the date of the consolidated financial statements and the reported amounts of expenses during the reported period. These assumptions and estimates could have a material effect on the financial statements. Actual results may differ materially from those estimates. Innovations Group's management periodically reviews estimates on an ongoing basis based on information currently available, and changes in facts and circumstances may cause Innovations Group to revise these estimates.

Inventory

Inventory is measured at the lower of cost or net realizable value; where net realizable value is considered to be the estimated selling price in the ordinary course of business, less reasonably predictable cost of completion, disposal and shipping. For inventory, cost is determined on a standard cost basis that approximates the first-in, first-out (FIFO) method. Appropriate consideration is given to obsolescence, excessive levels, deterioration, and other factors (such as expiration dates) in evaluating net realizable value.

Revenue Recognition

Revenue from the sale of prescriptions and supplements is recognized at the time of shipment to, or pick-up by, the customer and when all obligations under the contract have been fulfilled, risk of ownership has been transferred and collectability is reasonably assured. Customers prepayments, primarily for seminars and webinars, are recorded as unearned revenue until the event has occurred and the services are provided.

Innovations Group charges and collects sales tax, when applicable, and records the sales tax as an accrued liability due to the taxing authority.

Upcoming Accounting Pronouncements

Revenue Recognition

Innovations Group adopted the provisions of the Financial Accounting Standards Board's (FASB) Accounting Standards Update (ASU) No. 2014-09, Revenue from Contracts with Customers (Topic 606), effective on January 1, 2020. This new accounting standard outlines a single comprehensive model used in accounting for revenue arising from contracts with customers. This standard supersedes existing revenue recognition requirements and eliminates most industry-specific guidance from GAAP. The core principle of the new accounting standard is to recognize revenue to depict the transfer of promised products or services to customers in an amount that reflects the consideration to which the entity expects to be entitled in exchange for those products or services. In addition, the adoption of this new accounting standard resulted in increased disclosure relating to the nature, amount, timing, and uncertainty of revenue and cash flows arising from contracts with customers. Innovations Group used the modified retrospective approach in adopting this new guidance. Results for the reporting period beginning on January 1, 2020 are presented under the new guidance, while prior period amounts are not adjusted. The new guidance did not materially change the Innovations Group's revenue recognition patterns. See Note 2 to the Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements of Innovations Group for additional information.

Leases

In the normal course of operations, Innovations Group leases equipment under long-term, non-cancelable operating lease agreements. In February 2016, the Financial Accounting Standards Board ("FASB") issued Accounting Standards Update ("ASU") 2016-02, Leases ("Topic 842") ("ASU 2016-02"). The new standard is intended to provide enhanced transparency and comparability by requiring lessees to record right-of-use assets and corresponding lease liabilities on the balance sheet, except for leases with a term of 12 months or less, which permits a lessee to make an accounting policy election by class of underlying asset not to recognize lease assets and liabilities.

At inception, lessees must classify leases as either finance or operating based on five criteria. Balance sheet recognition of finance and operating leases is similar, but the pattern of expense recognition in the income statement, as well as the effect on the classification of cash flows within the statement of cash flows, differs depending on the lease classification. Also, certain qualitative and quantitative disclosures are required to enable users of financial statements to assess the amount, timing and uncertainty of cash flows arising from leases. Topic 842 is effective for annual reporting periods beginning after December 15, 2021.

Originally, Topic 842 required all entities to use a modified retrospective transition approach that is intended to maximize comparability and be less complex than a full retrospective approach. Under the modified retrospective approach, Topic 842 is effectively implemented as of the beginning of the earliest comparative period presented in an entity's financial statements. ASU 2018-11 amended Topic 842 so that entities may elect not to recast their comparative periods in transition and allows entities to change their date of initial application to the beginning of the period of adoption. In doing so, the entity would (1) apply Topic 840 in the comparative periods; (2) provide the disclosures required by Topic 840 for all periods that continue to be presented in accordance with Topic 840; and (3) recognize the effects of applying Topic 842 as a cumulative-effect adjustment to retained earnings as of January 1, 2022. Subsequent ASU's were issued that provided additional clarification and guidance on the application of Topic 842.

Innovations Group expects to use the package of practical expedients that will allow it to not reassess: (1) whether any expired or existing contracts are or contain leases; (2) lease classification for any expired or existing leases and (3) initial direct costs for any expired or existing leases. Innovations Group also will use the practical expedient as described above to reflect the adoption of Topic 842 as of January 1, 2022, without recasting prior periods. Innovations Group does not expect to recognize a material adjustment to retained earnings upon adoption. The new lease standard is expected to have a significant effect on Innovations Group financial statements as a result of Innovation Group's operating leases, as disclosed in Note 6 to Innovations Group's consolidated financial statements included elsewhere in this document , that will be reported on the balance sheet at adoption. Upon adoption, Innovations Group will recognize a lease liability and corresponding right-to-use asset based on the present value of the minimum lease payments. The effects on the results of operations are not expected to be significant, as recognition and measurement of expenses and cash flows for leases will be substantially the same under the new standard.

BEHAVIORAL HEALTH SERVICES, LLC AND SUBSIDIARIES' MANAGEMENT'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS OF FINANCIAL CONDITION AND RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

The accompanying consolidated financial statements include the accounts of Behavioral Health Services, LLC and its subsidiaries: Psych Care Consultants, LLC.; BHS Pharmacy, LLC; and Reimbursement Solutions, LLC. which are 100% wholly-owned (collectively, hereafter referred to as the "BHS").

You should read the following management's discussion and analysis in conjunction with (i) the audited condensed consolidated financial statements of BHS as of and for the periods ending November 20, 2020 and December 31, 2019 and the related notes included elsewhere in this proxy statement/prospectus and (ii) the pro forma consolidated financial information in the section entitled "Unaudited Pro Forma Consolidated Financial Information." The discussion below includes forward-looking statements about BHS' business, operations and industry that are based on current expectations that are subject to uncertainties and unknown or changed circumstances. BHS' actual results may differ materially from these expectations as a result of many factors, including those risks and uncertainties described in the sections entitled "Risk Factors" and "Cautionary Note Regarding Forward Looking Statements."

Business Combination with UpHealth Holdings, Inc.

On November 20, 2020, BHS was acquired by UpHealth Holdings, Inc. ("UpHealth"), pursuant to the terms of an Agreement and Plan of Merger between UpHealth and BHS, in exchange for consideration in the form of a promissory note in the amount of $1.10 million and 142,900 shares of UpHealth, which will be exchanged for 1,569,481 shares of New UpHealth with a value of $15.72 million. Accordingly, audited financial statements for BHS have been provided for the period from January 1, 2020 to November 20, 2020 (the "Stub Period"). The operating results for the period after the acquisition through December 31, 2020 are set forth in the audited financial statements of UpHealth included in this proxy statement/prospectus. As discussed further below, BHS is providing certain pro forma financial information for the year ended December 31, 2020 (the "Pro Forma Year").

BHS is a result of providers recognizing the increasing need for quality behavioral and neurological health services. BHS provides its patients and providers with a reliable platform where a provider can address their patients' needs efficiently with an infrastructure built to support the providers and address patient needs. This infrastructure consists of medical offices placed strategically for the convenience of providers and patients and trained staff to assist providers and patients in delivery of quality health services that is timely and efficient, provide prescription dispensing for patients that is convenient to maintain compliance, and assist providers with billing and collection services through Reimbursement Solutions, LLC.

BHS' vision is to be the behavioral and neurological health provider which best aligns with its patients' behavioral and neurological health requirements and a trusted provider. This requires a combination of security, compliance and integration capabilities that protects the integrity and privacy of BHS' patients' and providers' transactions and includes other key features such as ease of provisioning, quality of service, high availability for scaling, embedded regulatory compliance, monitoring and reporting. To set itself apart from its competition, BHS focuses on creating a reliable platform that can efficiently address patient needs with quality service through an infrastructure that supports the needs of its individual providers.

BHS has over fifty providers, consisting of eighteen medical doctors, thirteen nurse practitioners two psychologists, and twenty therapists in four physical locations. BHS providers work in collaboration with multiple area hospital systems (both in leadership and clinical positions) to provide and direct inpatient treatment. BHS' business is generated by various referral sources developed over the years by BHS providers and their presence in the market for over twenty-five years. BHS offers in-office, virtual, and in-patient treatment to an average of over 7,000 unique patients per month. 95% of outpatient and post-acute care consults are provided in a virtual manner since the COVID-19 outbreak. Common conditions treated by BHS practitioners include depression, bipolar disorder, attention disorders, schizophrenia, substance use disorders, posttraumatic stress disorder, Alzheimer's disease and related disorders as well as personality disorders.

BHS providers are all state-licensed and physicians are mostly board-certified and provide comprehensive psychiatric treatment utilizing psycho-pharmacology, evidenced-based psychotherapy as well as somatic treatments like Trans-Cranial Magnetic Stimulation and Electro-Convulsive Therapy. The variety of provider disciplines available within BHS allows for ready collaboration and consultation between practitioners.

In addition, BHS is supported by over fifty office staff professionals across its four offices. BHS Pharmacy, LLC operates out of one of the offices, with one pharmacist and one pharmacy technician. Reimbursement Solutions, LLC employs over fifteen billing and collection professionals.

BHS plans to leverage the telehealth infrastructure it has established, which was in part accelerated as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic, to expand the reach of its services to patients in rural areas as well as replicate its model in other metropolitan areas.

Impact of COVID-19.

The full direct and indirect impacts of the current COVID-19 outbreak on BHS' customers, vendors, operations, and financing arrangements are currently unknown, as is the duration and severity of any impacts that it may experience. Management does not believe that the effects of the pandemic have had a significant negative impact BHS' operations, but is currently unable to quantify the effects that this situation could have on its operations and financial position.

The COVID-19 pandemic accelerated BHS' plans to offer virtual visits and at this juncture the vast majority of patient encounters are being performed virtually. The flexibility of this new treatment format has been well received by both clinicians and providers. Virtual provision of psychiatric care has allowed an expansion of BHS' patient base both from individuals as well as in long-term care settings. Certain additional costs have been incurred to procure personal protective equipment and to enhance sanitation of facilities.

The tables below show the approximate mix of clients and third-party payor net revenues for the Stub Period ended November 20, 2020, the Pro Forma Year ended December 31, 2020, and the year ended December 31, 2019 and net receivables as of November 20, 2020, December 31, 2020, and December 31, 2019. The majority of BHS' net revenues are generated from commercial and other third-party payors. BHS does not have any significant concentration of revenue or accounts receivables generated from any commercial or third-party payor. The patient's insurance company pays a specified amount per outpatient visit based on payment classification codes. As it relates to pharmaceutical services, BHS Pharmacy, LLC generates revenue by the sale of prescribed pharmaceutical medication to its patients. Reimbursement Solutions, LLC provides billing services which include billings, collections, verification of benefits, authorization, and credentialing.

Cost of Goods Sold and Gross Profit

Cost of goods sold consists of pharmaceutical medications sold to patients. BHS primarily purchases pharmaceutical medications through a large industry distributor with many suppliers, but also purchases some directly from other suppliers.

Gross profit is equal to the revenue less the cost of goods sold associated with delivering the pharmaceutical medications to BHS' customers.

Operating Expenses

BHS' operating expenses include provider compensation, selling, general and administrative expense, and depreciation.

Provider Compensation Expense—Provider compensation expenses include guaranteed payments to BHS' healthcare providers, including medical doctors in psychiatry, psychologists, nurse practitioners, and clinical social workers. BHS has adopted an incentive-based compensation plan with provider agreements that compensate the providers based upon a percentage of revenue generated and ultimately collected for services provided.

Selling, General, and Administrative Expense—Selling costs include expenses related to advertising, marketing programs and events. General and administrative expense is comprised of compensation and benefits of administrative personnel, including variable incentive pay, and other administrative costs such as facilities expenses, including rental expenses, professional fees, and travel expenses.

Depreciation Expense—BHS’ operations are not capital intensive. Depreciation expense relates to the annual depreciation of office equipment, office furniture, medical equipment, and purchased software.

RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

As discussed above, BHS was acquired by UpHealth on November 20, 2020. Audited financial statements of BHS are provided in this proxy statement/prospectus for the Stub Period and for the year ended December 31, 2019. In order to provide a comparable period to analyze BHS’ results of operations and liquidity and capital resources for the fiscal years ended December 31, 2020 and 2019, BHS is providing certain pro forma financial information for the Pro Forma Year ended December 31, 2020 that does not include purchase accounting adjustments as a result of the acquisition of BHS by UpHealth Holdings, Inc. as of November 20, 2020. Management believes that this proforma presentation will allow investors to better understand the operating results of BHS. See “UpHealth’s Management’s Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations” for additional information.

Revenue

BHS generates revenue by providing psychiatric and mental health services, retail pharmacy services, and billing services. For the Stub Period, revenues decreased $686 thousand compared to the full year 2019 due to the Stub Period only including approximately 11 and a half months versus a full year of results. For the Pro Forma Year, revenues increased $707 thousand compared to the full year 2019. The increase was primarily attributable to organic growth in operations, primarily as a result of volume growth (both as a result of an increase its total providers as well as an increase in patients seen by existing providers) as well as reimbursement rate increases.

Cost of Goods Sold and Gross Profit

Cost of goods sold solely relates to pharmaceuticals sold. For the Stub Period, cost of goods sold decreased $233 thousand compared to the full year 2019 due to the Stub Period only including approximately 11 and a half months versus a full year of results. For the Pro Forma Year, cost of goods sold increased $164 thousand compared to the full year 2019. The increase was primarily due to additional sales due to organic growth.

For the Stub Period, gross profit decreased $454 thousand compared to the full year 2019 due to the Stub Period only including approximately 11 and a half months versus a full year of results. For the Pro Forma Year, gross profit increased $542 thousand compared to the full year 2019, primarily due to additional sales due to organic growth. Gross profit as a percentage of revenue, or gross margin, increased slightly from 73.0% for the full year 2019 to 73.4% for the Stub Period and 73.2% for the Pro Form Year.

Operating Expenses

In the Stub Period, provider compensation expense decreased $176 thousand and selling, general and administrative expenses decreased $267 thousand compared to the full year 2019 due to the Stub Period only including approximately 11 and a half months versus a full year of results. In the Pro Forma Year, compensation expense increased $365 thousand compared to the full year 2019, primarily due to the increase in net revenues. As provider compensation is related to psychological services, it will typically change with revenues. In the Pro Forma Year, selling, general and administrative expenses increased $483 thousand compared to the full year 2019, mainly as a result of expenses incurred in connection with the BHS-UpHealth transaction as well as increased variable expenses compared to previous period due to organic growth. Due to these increased operating expenses, BHS had a net loss of $105 thousand for the Pro Forma Year, compared to net income of $203 thousand for the full year 2019.

BHS is not capital intensive based upon the nature of operations. In the Stub Period and the Pro Forma Year, depreciation expenses remain consistent at $18 thousand and increased $2 thousand, respectively, compared to the full year 2019.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

BHS had cash of $1,024 thousand as of November 20, 2020, $671 thousand as of December 31, 2020 (pro forma), and $111 thousand as of December 31, 2019. The increased cash balances compared to December 31, 2019 were primarily a result of the proceeds from BHS' Paycheck Protection Program ("PPP") loan and proceeds received from the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services ("HHS") available as part of the CARES Act Provider Relief Fund ("PRF"), both of which are discussed below.

BHS finances its operations through internally generated cash from operations. BHS' long-term cash needs primarily include meeting working capital requirements and capital expenditures. There are a number of factors that may negatively impact its available sources of funds in the future including the ability to generate cash from operations and obtain additional financing. The amount of cash generated from operations is dependent upon factors such as the successful execution of BHS' business strategies and economic conditions in healthcare industry in the United States.

BHS may opportunistically raise debt capital, subject to market and other conditions, to fund its growth plans, which include leveraging the telehealth infrastructure it has established to expand the reach of its services to patients in rural areas as well as replicating its model in other metropolitan areas, as discussed above. In the future, this will be managed as a part of UpHealth's liquidity needs. If additional financing is required from outside sources, BHS and UpHealth may not be able to raise it on terms acceptable to it or at all. If BHS and UpHealth are unable to raise additional capital when desired, BHS' business, operating results, and financial condition may be adversely affected.

In April 2020, BHS received proceeds from a term note from the United States Small Business Administration ("SBA") under the PPP available as part of the Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Securities Act ("CARES Act"). The proceeds received by BHS of $1,005 thousand were used to pay for certain payroll and operating expenses of BHS and related entities. The note carries an interest rate of 1%, is unsecured, and is required to be repaid in full by April 2022. Under the terms of the PPP, payments are deferred for a period of time and all or a part of the proceeds of the loan may be forgiven under certain conditions, as defined in the term note agreement. BHS has not yet submitted its forgiveness application, but BHS expects to submit a request for forgiveness for the entire loan balance in 2021. No assurance is provided that BHS will obtain forgiveness of the PPP loan in whole or in part.

In April and July 2020, BHS received proceeds aggregating $229 thousand from HHS available as part of the CARES Act PRF. BHS will be subject to reporting requirements, and the proceeds can only be used for certain purposes. Specifically, the proceeds are first required to be used to fund healthcare-related expenses attributable to the coronavirus that another source has not reimbursed or is not obligated to reimburse. If these expenses do not exceed the funding received, the proceeds can then be applied to patient care lost revenue. As of March 16, 2021, BHS has not recognized any revenue on its consolidated statements of operations related to the PRF funds. BHS has recorded a $229 thousand current liability on its consolidated balance sheet as it has not yet met all of the terms and conditions and restrictions for the use of the PRF funds. BHS has until June 30, 2021 to apply these funds toward eligible expenses and/or lost patient care revenue. HHS is entitled to recoup PRF amounts received by BHS that are not used for these purposes.

The PPP Loan and PRF funds are summarized below ($ in thousands):

Loan	Outstanding Balance		Maturity	Contractual Interest Rate	Nominal Interest Rate
	As of November 30, 2020	As of December 31, 2019			As of November 30, 2020	As of December 31, 2019

Comparison of the Stub Period ended November 20, 2020, Pro Forma Year ended December 31, 2020, and year ended December 31, 2019

The following table summarizes cash flows for the periods indicated ($ in thousands):

The following table reconciles the cash flows for the Stub Period ended November 20, 2020 to the Proforma Year ended December 31, 2020:

	Stub Period ended November 20, 2020	Period from November 21, 2020 through December 31, 2020 (unaudited)	Pro Forma Year ended December 31, 2020 (unaudited)

Net cash provided by financing activities	1,035	—	1,035
Net increase/(decrease) in cash	$ 913	$(362)	$ 551

In the Stub Period cash provided by operating activities was $186 thousand and in the Pro Forma Year cash used in operating activities was $176 thousand, compared to cash used in operating activities of $25 thousand for the year ended December 31, 2019. The year-over-year change between the Stub Period ended on November 20, 2020 and the year ended December 31, 2019 was due to working capital changes, including increased accrued payroll and related liabilities due to the timing of payroll and guaranteed payments and the classification of the $229 thousand of PRF proceeds as a current liability, partially offset by an increase in patient receivables due to timing and BHS' organic growth and a decrease in accounts payable due to timing as well as lower net income year-over-year. The year-over-year change between the Pro Forma Year and the year ended December 31, 2019 was primarily due to a net loss of $105 thousand for the Pro Forma Year versus net income of $203 thousand for the year ended December 31, 2019 and working capital changes, including an increase in patient receivables due to timing and BHS' organic growth and a decrease in accounts payable due to timing, partially offset by an increase in accrued expenses incurred in connection with the BHS-UpHealth transaction.

In the Stub Period and the Pro Forma Year, cash used in investing activities was $308 thousand, consisting of cash paid to acquire property and equipment of $9 thousand and advances to related parties of $299 thousand. The advances to related parties in the Stub Period and the Pro Forma Year were transfers of PPP loan funds to related entities as one PPP loan was obtained for all affiliates. In the year ended December 31, 2019, cash used in investing activities was $26 thousand, consisting of $3 thousand for cash paid to acquire property and equipment and $23 thousand of advances made to related parties.

In the Stub Period and the Pro Forma Year, cash provided by financing activities was $1,035 thousand, consisting of $1,005 thousand of net proceeds from the PPP loan discussed above and $40 thousand of capital contributions from new limited liability company members, decreased by member redemptions of $10 thousand. In year ended December 31, 2019, there were no financing activities.

Contractual Obligations and Other Commitments

The following table summarizes the non-cancelable contractual obligations as of November 20, 2020 as derived from the consolidated financial statements of BHS as of such date. The table should be read in connection with the footnotes describing certain events occurring after November 30, 2020 ($ in thousands).

As of November 20, 2020

	Total	Payment due by period
		2020	2021	2022-2023	2024-2025	Thereafter
PPP Loan and Provider Relief Funds (1)	$1,234	$—	$1,234	$—	$—	$—
Operating lease obligations	348	22	266	40	20	—
Total	$1,582	$ 22	$1,500	$ 40	$ 20	$—

- (1) Under the terms of the PPP, all or part of the PPP loan may be forgiven under certain circumstances. BHS is subject to reporting requirements and may be required to repay a portion of the PRF funds received, if certain conditions are not met, as defined by the terms and conditions of the PRF.

Off-Balance Sheet Arrangements

During the periods presented, BHS did not have any relationships with any entities or financial partnerships, such as structure finance or special purposes entities established for the purpose of facilitating off-balance sheet arrangements or other purposes.

Related Party Transactions

BHS has made advances to related parties. The advances are unsecured, due on demand, and noninterest-bearing. Amounts due from related parties aggregated $327,061 and $27,936 at November 20, 2020 and December 31, 2019, respectively.

In November 2020, BHS entered into two redemption agreements with members for $10,000 and $70,000, respectively. BHS agreed to pay cash of $10,000 to one member as discussed above in the cash flow section, and entered into a note payable agreement with the other member. The note is non-interest bearing, is noncollateralized, and due upon demand.

BHS leases various facilities with related parties in accordance with the terms of operating lease agreements that expired at various dates during 2020. Certain of the leases were renewed for another one-year term (with multiple leases expiring now on December 31, 2021) and others are now on a month-to-month basis. These leases require monthly payments ranging from $3,234 to $13,362. Total rent expense under related party agreements was approximately $282 thousand for the Stub Period, approximately $308 thousand for the Pro Forma Year, and approximately $305 thousand for the year ended December 31, 2019. See Note H to the BHS Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements for additional information on the leases.

BHS makes guaranteed payments to related parties. Guaranteed payments aggregated $5,261 thousand in the Stub Period ended November 20, 2020, $5,802 thousand in the Pro Forma Year ended December 31, 2020, and $5,437 thousand for the year period ended December 31, 2019. There were $289 thousand of unpaid guaranteed payments at November 20, 2020. There were no unpaid guaranteed payments at December 31, 2020, or December 31, 2019.

Seasonality

BHS is generally not exposed to seasonal business fluctuations except for some decreased activity during the holiday seasons in November and December, and those are not material in the volume of patient encounters and provider availability.

Critical Accounting Policies and Estimates

The consolidated financial statements are prepared in accordance with U.S. GAAP. The most significant accounting policies are located in Note A to the BHS Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements. Preparation of these financial statements requires BHS to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets, liabilities, revenue, costs and expenses and related disclosures. BHS bases the estimates on historical experience and on various other assumptions that it believes to be reasonable. In many instances, BHS could have reasonably used different accounting estimates and in other instances changes in the accounting estimates are reasonably likely to occur from period to period. Actual results could differ significantly from the estimates. To the extent that there are material differences between these estimates and actual results, the future financial statement presentation, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows will be affected. BHS believes that the accounting policies discussed below are critical to understanding the historical and future performance, as these policies relate to the more significant areas involving the judgments and estimates.

Revenue Recognition

Revenue is reported at the amount that reflects the consideration to which BHS expects to be entitled in exchange for providing services. BHS' revenue includes psychiatric and mental health services, retail pharmacy services, and billing services. A significant amount of BHS' patients are insured under third-party payor agreements. Patient psychiatric and mental health services and retail pharmacy services are generally recognized when services are provided. Revenue is based on gross charges, reduced by explicit price concessions provided to third-party payors and implicit price concessions provided primarily to self-pay patients. Estimates for explicit price concessions are based on provider contracts and historical experience, adjusted for economic conditions and other trends affecting BHS' ability to collect outstanding items. Billing service revenues are recognized monthly based upon the services provided.

Information on subsidiaries is as follows:

- Psych Care Consultants, LLC: The performance obligations related to psychiatric and mental health services are satisfied over-time as services are provided and revenue is recognized accordingly. BHS generally bills its patients immediately upon providing services as the performance obligations are deemed complete. Revenues are generally collected within 30 to 180 days subsequent to providing services.

- BHS Pharmacy, LLC: The performance obligations related to retail pharmacy services are satisfied at a point-in-time as patients assume control of the medications. BHS generally bills its patients immediately upon providing services as the performance obligations are deemed complete. Revenues are generally collected within 30 days subsequent to providing services.
- Reimbursement Solutions, LLC: The performance obligations related to billing services are recognized over-time as contracted billing services are provided. Billing services are generally billed monthly. Revenues are generally collected within 30 to 60 days subsequent to providing services.

Significant Judgment - Determination of Transaction Price

BHS determines the transaction price based on gross charges, reduced by explicit price concessions provided to third-party payors and implicit price concessions provided primarily to self-pay patients. Substantially all of BHS' patients are insured under third-party payor agreements. For billing services, the transaction price is based upon a contractual amount for services provided. Discounts and other concessions are not provided on these services.

Generally, patients who are covered by third-party payors are responsible for related deductibles and coinsurance, which may vary in amount. BHS also provides services to uninsured patients and may offer those uninsured patients a discount from standard charges. BHS estimates the transaction price for patients with deductibles and coinsurance and from those who are uninsured based on historical experience and market conditions. BHS has determined that the nature, amount, timing, and uncertainty of revenue and cash flows are affected by payors having different reimbursement and payment methodologies, length of the patient's service, and method of reimbursement.

Estimates of net realizable value are subject to significant judgment and approximation by management. It is possible that actual results could differ from the historical estimates management has used to help determine the net realizable value of revenue. If actual collections either exceed or are less than the net realizable value estimates, BHS records a revenue adjustment, either positive or negative, for the difference between the estimate of the receivable and the amount actually collected in the reporting period in which the collection occurred.

Recently Adopted Accounting Pronouncement

The FASB issued Accounting Standards Update (ASU) 2014-09, Revenue from Contracts with Customers (Topic 606), in May 2014. Topic 606 sets forth a new five-step revenue recognition model that will require the use of more estimates and judgment. Topic 606 replaced current revenue recognition requirements in Topic 605, Revenue Recognition, in its entirety. The standard also requires more detailed disclosures and provides additional guidance for transactions that were not addressed completely in prior accounting guidance. Topic 606 is effective for annual financial statements of private companies issued for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2019, and should be applied retrospectively in the year Topic 606 is first applied using one of two allowable application methods with early adoption permitted. BHS adopted Topic 606 as of January 1, 2020, using a modified retrospective approach and did not record a cumulative catch-up adjustment as the timing and measurement of revenue for BHS' customers is similar to its prior revenue recognition model.

At December 31, 2019, BHS recorded approximately $884 thousand as a direct reduction of accounts receivable that would have been reflected as an allowance for doubtful accounts prior to the adoption of ASU 2014-09. The adoption of ASU 2014-09 also resulted in changes to BHS' presentation and disclosure of customer contract assets and liabilities and the assessment of variable consideration under customer contracts.

Recent Accounting Pronouncements Not Yet Adopted

The Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) issued Accounting Standards Update (ASU) 2016-02, Leases, (Topic 842), in February 2016. Under ASU 2016-02, lessees will be required to recognize, at commencement date, a lease liability representing the lessee's obligation to make payments arising from the lease and a right-of-use asset representing the lessee's right to use or control the use of a specific asset for the lease term. Under this new guidance, lessor accounting is largely unchanged. ASU 2016-02 was to be effective for annual financial statements of private companies issued for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2019, however the implementation date has been deferred. The new guidance is now effective for annual financial statements of private companies issued for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2021. Management is currently evaluating the effect that ASU 2016-02 will have on BHS' consolidated financial statements. BHS expects to record total right-of-use assets and related operating lease obligations based on the present value of future payments as disclosed in Note H on the consolidated balance sheet upon adoption, with no material impact to the consolidated statements of operations.

Cloudbreak accounts for unit-based awards under ASC Topic 718-10, Stock-Based Compensation, and requires the recognition of compensation expense, using a fair-value based method, for costs related to all unit-based payments including member unit options. ASC Topic 718-10 requires companies to estimate the fair value of unit-based payment awards on the date of grant using an option-pricing model. Cloudbreak accounts for equity instruments issued to nonemployees in accordance with the provisions of ASC Topic 505-50, Accounting for Equity Instruments That Are Issued to Other Than Employees for Acquiring, or in Conjunction with Selling, Goods or Services.

Key Business Metrics

Cloudbreak's revenue is generated primarily from subscription and usage-based fees earned from the provision of language services and telemedicine software to large healthcare enterprises, as well as small and medium-sized customers. Revenue can be billed in advance or in arrears depending on the term of the agreement; for the majority of customers revenue is invoiced on a monthly basis in advance and then adjusted for actual usage in the following month. Revenue is recognized when all of the following criteria are met: (i) persuasive evidence of an arrangement exists, (ii) the fee is fixed or determinable, (iii) collection is reasonably assured, and (iv) delivery has occurred or services have been rendered. Cloudbreak's primary source of revenue is the sale of subscription based minute packages of medical interpretation services. Cloudbreak also records ancillary revenue from the sale of its MARTTI devices and Information Technology services that include installation and training on the MARTTI's. Cloudbreak's subscription arrangements provide customers the right to access its hosted software applications. Customers do not have the right to take possession of Cloudbreak's software during the hosting arrangement. Cloudbreak recognizes revenue in accordance with Accounting Standards Codification (ASC) 606, Revenue Recognition. Contracts for customers generally have a term of three years and the first year is non-cancellable. These contracts generally provide the customer with a monthly level of usage, and provide the rate at which the customer must pay for usage above the monthly subscription amount.

For these services, Cloudbreak recognizes the monthly fee as revenue each month. Should a customer's usage of Cloudbreak's services exceed the monthly allowance level, revenue is recognized for such excess in the period of usage. The monthly volume subscription and support and usage fees are recognized as revenue during the period in which the services are rendered. Cloudbreak periodically enters into multiple-element service arrangements that include providing hardware, connectivity, installation and training, occasionally at no cost.

Cost of Revenue and Gross Profit

Cost of revenue primarily consists of costs related to supporting and hosting Cloudbreak's product offerings and delivering services. These costs include salaries, benefits, incentive compensation and stock-based compensation. Costs of revenue include the cost of maintaining Cloudbreak's data centers, customer support team and Cloudbreak's professional services staff, in addition to third-party service provider costs such as data center and networking expenses, allocated overhead, amortization of capitalized internal-use software development costs and intangible assets and depreciation expense. In addition to the costs associated with delivering services, costs of revenue also include the cost of purchased equipment inventory sold to customers.

Gross profit is equal to the revenue less cost of revenue associated with delivering the language and telemedicine services to Cloudbreak's customers.

Operating Expenses

Cloudbreak's operating expenses include sales and marketing expense, payroll and insurance expenses for corporate employees, general and administrative expense, technology support and subscription costs and depreciation and amortization.

Salaries and Wages

Sales and marketing expense is comprised of compensation and benefits of administrative personnel, including variable incentive pay and stock-based compensation.

General and Administrative Expense

General and administrative expense is comprised of administrative costs such as facilities expenses, professional fees, sales and marketing expenses, technology expenses, and insurance related expenses. Sales and marketing expense is comprised primarily of sales related compensation, variable incentive compensation, travel expenses, and other expenses related to advertising, marketing programs and events. Technology expenses consist primarily of subscription support and maintenance expenses.

Depreciation and Amortization Expense

Depreciation and amortization expense is comprised primarily of the amortization of Cloudbreak's investment in its platform used to provide telehealth services including video language services.

Income Taxes

Cloudbreak has been established as a limited liability company. All income or losses of Cloudbreak and income tax consequences related thereto are passed through its members. Accordingly, Cloudbreak does not record any provision for income taxes or deferred income taxes in its financial statements.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

Revolving Line Of Credit

In November 2018, the Company entered into a line of credit agreement with a financial institution to borrow up to $15,000,000 (the "LOC"). The LOC is available to be drawn down on until November 21, 2021. As of December 31, 2020 and 2019, the LOC had an outstanding balance of $7,253,325 and $9,699,505, respectively. The LOC accrues interest at a rate equal to the greater of 5.25% or the Prime Referenced Rate (4.75% and 5.50% as of December 31, 2020 and 2019, respectively) plus the applicable margin. The applicable margin is 1.25% per annum. As of December 31, 2020 and 2019, the applicable interest rate is 6.50% and 6.75%, respectively. The LOC is secured by all real, personal, and intellectual property of the Company and guaranteed by all outstanding equity interest in the Company. The LOC contains certain financial covenants of which the Company was not in compliance at December 31, 2020 and 2019; however, the Company obtained an agreement from the bank which waived the event of default.

In January 2020, Cloudbreak modified the New LOC credit agreement. The modification waived an event of default based on Cloudbreak's non-compliance with certain financial and non-financial covenants. The modification also amended the existing financial and non-financial covenants.

Convertible Notes Payable To Related Party

In June 2017, Cloudbreak entered into a convertible note payable agreement with the preferred unit investor in the amount of $5,000,000. The note accrues interest at a rate of 8.0% per annum and is due on February 15, 2023. The note is collateralized by a security interest in all personal property assets of Cloudbreak. Such security interest is junior in priority to the security interest granted to the lender under the New LOC and to the security interest granted to the lender under the Term Credit Facility. The note is also subordinated in payment to the obligations owing under the New LOC and the Term Credit Facility.

The note was issued with a warrant agreement to purchase 526,312 shares of common units of Cloudbreak at a price of $0.01 per share. The warrant is exercisable from the date of issuance and there is no expiry. As of December 31, 2020 and December 31, 2019, this warrant has not been exercised and remains outstanding. If the entire note is converted, the warrant is automatically cancelled. The warrant includes certain anti-dilution provisions to adjust the number of warrant units to protect the purchase rights granted under the warrant, as well as price protection provisions to adjust the exercise price for certain equity issuances. A debt discount related to this note in the amount of $1,939,552 was recognized upon grant. The discount is amortized over the life of the note. Amortization expense related to the debt discount on this note was $303,275 and $643,579 for the year ended December 31, 2020 and 2019, respectively, and was included in interest expense on the unaudited consolidated statements of operations.

Cloudbreak incurred debt issuance costs of $198,091 during the year ended December 31, 2017 related to this note; of which $30,263 and $49,523 was amortized during the year ended December 31, 2020 and 2019, respectively.

In April 2019, Cloudbreak entered into another convertible note payable agreement with the preferred unit investor in the amount of $5,000,000. $2,000,000 of this note was borrowed at initial closing in April 2019 and $3,000,000 was subsequently borrowed in September 2019. The note accrues interest at a rate of 8.0% per annum and is due on February 15, 2023. The note is collateralized by a security interest in all personal property assets of Cloudbreak. Such security interest is junior in priority to the security interest granted to the lender under the New LOC and to the security interest granted to the lender under the Term Credit Facility. The note is also subordinated in payment to the obligations owing under the New LOC and the Term Credit Facility. This note also includes a mandatory fee upon repayment as described: on any date of any full or partial repayment of the Note(s), in addition to the repayment of the then outstanding principal and accrued interest, Cloudbreak will also pay: (i) on or before the date that is 90 days after the Closing Date, defined as the date after purchase and sale of the initial note is closed, (the "First Period"), a repayment fee in an amount equal to the product of: (y) .25 multiplied by (z) the then outstanding principal balance of the Notes, (ii) after the First Period but on or before December 31, 2019 (the "Second Period"), a repayment fee in an amount equal to the product of: (y) .50 multiplied by (z) the then outstanding principal balance of the Notes, and (iii) at any time after the Second Period, a repayment fee in an amount equal to the product of: (y) 1.00 multiplied by (z) the then outstanding principal balance of the Notes. As a result of this provision, the Company recorded $2,500,000 and $2,500,000 of additional interest expense for the year ended December 31, 2020 and 2019, respectively.

Both convertible notes contain an optional conversion feature upon a "Qualified Financing", which is defined as the closing of the sale of equity securities of Cloudbreak in which Cloudbreak receives aggregate gross sale proceeds of not less than $5,000,000. Upon the closing of a Qualified Financing, provided that such closing date occurs prior to (i) such note's maturity date and (ii) the prepayment in full of the outstanding balance under such note pursuant to Section 3 of the applicable note, the noteholder may, in its sole discretion (the "Conversion Option"), convert all or any portion of the outstanding balance of such note, including the principal amount then outstanding and all accrued but unpaid interest thereon (the “Convertible Balance”), into the number of Conversion Securities, defined as new securities issued in the Qualified Financing (and which must be senior to or pari passu with its then existing securities with respect to rights, preferences and privileges), obtained by dividing (i) the amount of the Convertible Balance which the Noteholder has elected to convert pursuant to the Conversion Option by (ii) the product of (a) the price per share paid by the purchasers of the New Securities, defined as the series or class of securities issued in connection with a Qualified Financing, sold in such Qualified Financing and (b) eighty percent (80%). Cloudbreak determined that these contingent conversion features were not considered derivative liabilities and did not require bifurcation. As the related contingency had not occurred as of September 30, 2020 and 2019, Cloudbreak has not calculated the intrinsic value for these convertible features as of those dates.

Debt

In January 2020, Cloudbreak entered into a credit agreement with a third party lender for a term credit facility in the amount of $10,000,000 (“Term Credit Facility”). The obligations under the Term Credit Facility accrue interest at a rate ranging from 12.00%—13.25% dependent on Cloudbreak’s eligibility in any given quarter. Interest is either payable in cash quarterly with all unpaid interest and principal due upon any of the following dates: (i) maturity date in January 2023; (ii) a Liquidity Event, defined as a change of control or an initial public offering; (iii) the date of any prepayment; or (iv) such other time when amount becomes due and payable based on the agreement, or payable in kind, whereby the interest shall automatically be added to the principal balance of the loan and the sum will continue to accrue interest at the specified interest rate. During the year ended December 31, 2020, Cloudbreak has incurred $994,425 of paid-in-kind interest.

The note is collateralized by a security interest in all personal property assets of Cloudbreak. Such security interest is junior in priority to the security interest granted to the lender under the New LOC but senior in priority to the security interest granted to the noteholders under the convertible notes. The obligations under the Term Credit Facility are also subordinated in payment to the obligations owing under the New LOC.

In connection with the funding of the Term Credit Facility, a warrant was issued entitling the lender to purchase 2% of all issued and outstanding units of Cloudbreak’s common units on a fully diluted basis at the date of issuance (214,823 shares), all fully vested, at an exercise price of $0.01 per share. The warrant is exercisable from the date of issuance and there is no expiry. The warrant also allows the Lender to purchase 2% of any units issued in connection with the conversion of the notes to the preferred unit investor.

As of December 31, 2020, this warrant has not been exercised and remains outstanding. A debt discount related to the Term Credit Facility in the amount of $1,304,013 was recognized upon grant based on the relative fair value of the warrant. The discount is amortized over the life of the note. Amortization expense related to the debt discount on this note was $406,909 for the year ended December 31, 2020 and was included in interest expense on the consolidated statements of operations. Cloudbreak also incurred debt issuance costs of $241,130 related to this note; of which approximately $50,000 was amortized during the year ended December 31, 2020.

The Term Credit Facility contains certain financial covenants, of which the Cloudbreak was not in compliance as of December 31, 2020. Accordingly, it was classified as current on the accompanying audited consolidated balance sheets. There were no penalties incurred as a result of this event of non-compliance.

In May 2020, Cloudbreak was granted a loan in the aggregate amount of approximately $2,900,000, pursuant to the Paycheck Protection Program (the “PPP”) under Division A, Title I of the CARES Act, which was enacted March 27, 2020. The loan accrues interest at a rate of 1% per annum. Equal principal and interest payments are due monthly beginning seven months from disbursement until maturity in May 2022. As these funds will be mainly utilized for payroll within the established limits, Cloudbreak expects a significant portion, if not all, of the loan to be forgiven, but there can be no assurance with respect to this matter.

In August 2017, Cloudbreak entered into a convertible note purchase agreement in the amount of $200,000. The note is payable on the earlier of the 5th anniversary of issue date (August 30, 2022) or occurrence of Event of Default, as defined in the agreement. The note contains two contingent conversion features.

The first conversion feature is a mandatory conversion upon Qualified Financing, which is defined as the closing of the sale of equity securities of Cloudbreak in which Cloudbreak receives aggregate gross sale proceeds of not less than $500,000. If there is a Qualified Financing prior to the Maturity Date, the entire Principal Amount of Note hereunder shall be automatically converted, effective as of the date of closing of the Qualified Financing, into membership units issued in the Qualified Financing (the “Qualified Financing Units”) at a conversion price in an amount equal to eighty percent (80%) of the price per Unit of the Qualified Financing Units sold by Cloudbreak in the Qualified Financing.

The second conversion feature is an optional conversion upon (i) the Maturity Date, (ii) any Event of Default or (iii) a Liquidity Event before the Maturity Date and prior to a Qualified Financing. If not previously repaid or converted, the entire outstanding Principal Amount, at the option of the Holder, can be converted into Common Units at a price per unit equal to the lowest cash price per unit for which such Capital Stock has been issued. The number of shares of Capital Stock to be issued upon such conversion shall be equal to the quotient obtained by dividing (i) the entire Principal Amount of this Note by (ii) the lowest cash price per share for which such Capital Stock has been issued.

Due to the adjustable nature of the conversion feature, Cloudbreak recorded this as a derivative liability. However, Cloudbreak determined the fair value of the conversion feature on the issuance date, and each subsequent reporting date, was $0, so there was no discount or derivative liability recorded.

Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Basis of Presentation

The accompanying consolidated financial statements have been prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America (“GAAP”). The consolidated financial statements are presented on the accrual basis of accounting. The summary of significant accounting policies presented below is designed to assist in understanding Cloudbreak’s financial statements. Such financial statements and accompanying notes are the representations of Cloudbreak’s management, who is responsible for their integrity and objectivity.

Principles of Consolidation

The consolidated financial statements include the accounts of Cloudbreak Health LLC and its wholly-owned subsidiaries, Language Access Network, LLC and Carenection, LLC. All significant intercompany transactions and balances have been eliminated.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of consolidated financial statements in conformity with GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the consolidated financial statements and the reported amounts of expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

On an ongoing basis, management evaluates its estimates, including those related to the collectability of customer accounts receivable, revenue recognition, the estimated useful lives of long-lived assets, when technological feasibility is achieved for our products, unit-based compensation, warrant discount and conversion features associated with convertible notes. These estimates are based on historical data and experience, as well as various other factors that management believes to be reasonable under the circumstances, the results of which form the basis for making judgments about the carrying value of assets and liabilities that are not readily apparent from other sources.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents include cash in banks and cash equivalents with original maturities of 90 days or less. All cash equivalents are carried at cost, which approximates fair value. At times, such amounts may be in excess of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (“FDIC”) insurance limit.

Accounts Receivable

Accounts receivable is stated at the amount management expects to collect from outstanding balances after discounts, bad debts, and sales allowance taking into account credit worthiness of customers and history of collection. Management provides for probable uncollectible amounts through a charge to earnings and an increase to a valuation allowance based on its assessment of the current status of individual accounts. Balances that are still outstanding after management has used reasonable collection efforts are written off through a charge to the valuation allowance and a reduction of trade accounts receivable. The allowance for doubtful accounts was $673,088 and $534,477 at December 31, 2020 and 2019, respectively.

Inventory

Inventory is stated at the lower of cost or net realizable value. Cost is determined using the first-in, first-out (FIFO) method. As of December 31, 2020 and 2019, inventory consists of MARTTI devices, additional batteries, and carts for the MARTTI’s. For units in inventory, the MARTTI’s are purchased from two vendors and shipped to Cloudbreak in Columbus, Ohio, where the units are imaged, then shipped to end users. MARTTI's are only purchased when ordered by customers, typically at the inception of a new interpretation service contract. Provisions for slow moving or obsolete inventory are charged to other expense and are permanent reductions to the carrying value of inventory.

Property and Equipment

Property and equipment are stated at historical cost, less accumulated depreciation. Depreciation is computed using the straight-line method over the estimated useful lives of the assets, which are five years for computer and related equipment, and seven years for furniture and fixtures. Expenditures for major renewals and betterments are capitalized, while minor replacements, maintenance and repairs, which do not extend the asset lives, are charged to operations as incurred. Upon retirement or sale, the cost of assets disposed of and the related accumulated depreciation are removed from the accounts and any resulting gain or loss is credited or charged to income.

Software and Website Development Costs

In accordance with Accounting Standards Codification ("ASC") 985, Software, software development costs related to software to be sold, leased, or marketed as part of a product or process are capitalized subsequent to the establishment of technological feasibility, which is demonstrated by the completion of a detailed program design or working model, if no program design is completed. The useful life of software development costs related to Cloudbreak's current software was determined to be five years from the date the software was placed in service. Costs associated with maintenance and minor enhancements to the features and functionality of Cloudbreak's software are expensed as incurred. GAAP requires that annual amortization expense of the capitalized software development costs be the greater of the amounts computed using the ratio of gross revenue to a product's total current and anticipated revenues, or the straight-line method over the product's estimated economic life.

In accordance with ASC 350, Intangibles—Goodwill and Other, Cloudbreak also capitalizes eligible website development costs incurred during the application development stage. Costs associated with maintenance and minor enhancements to the features and functionality of Cloudbreak's website are expensed as incurred. The useful life of website development costs was determined to be three years from the date the website was placed in service.

Impairment of Long-Lived Assets

Cloudbreak reviews its long-lived assets, primarily consisting of property and equipment, and software and website development costs, for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount of an asset may not be recoverable. Recoverability of these assets is determined by comparing the forecasted undiscounted cash flows attributable to such assets including any cash flows upon their eventual disposition to their carrying value. If the carrying value of the assets exceeds the forecasted undiscounted cash flows, then the assets are written down to their fair value. For the years ended December 31, 2020 and 2019, there has been no such impairment.

Net Loss per Common Unit

Cloudbreak reports basic loss per unit in accordance with Financial Accounting Standards Board ("FASB") ASC 260, Earnings Per Share. Basic loss per unit is computed using the weighted average number of common units outstanding during the reporting period. Diluted earnings per unit is computed using the weighted average number of common units outstanding plus the effect of dilutive securities during the reporting period. Any potentially dilutive securities that have an anti-dilutive impact on the per unit calculation are excluded. During periods in which Cloudbreak reports a net loss, diluted weighted average units outstanding are equal to basic weighted average units outstanding because the effect of the inclusion of all potentially dilutive securities would be anti-dilutive. As of December 31, 2020 and 2019, there were no potentially dilutive securities excluded from the calculation of diluted loss per common unit due to a loss for those periods. The table below reflects potentially dilutive securities for the years ended December 31, 2020 and 2019:

	2020	2019
Unit options outstanding	1,933,303	1,941,150
Warrants	741,135	526,312
Total	2,674,438	2,467,462

Fair Value of Financial Instruments

Cloudbreak follows the guidance of FASB ASC 820-10, with respect to financial assets and liabilities that are measured at fair value. ASC 820-10 establishes a three-tier fair value hierarchy which prioritizes the inputs used in measuring fair value as follows:

- Level 1 inputs: Level 1 inputs are quoted market prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities that are accessible at the measurement date.
- Level 2 inputs: Level 2 inputs are from other than quoted market prices included in Level 1 that are observable for the asset or liability, either directly or indirectly.
- Level 3 inputs: Level 3 inputs are unobservable and should be used to measure fair value to the extent that observable inputs are not available.

A financial instrument's categorization within the valuation hierarchy is based upon the lowest level of input that is significant to the fair value measurement. Valuation techniques used to measure fair value must maximize the use of observable inputs and minimize the use of unobservable inputs.

Trade accounts receivable, prepaid expenses and other current assets, accounts payable, and accrued expenses are reported on the balance sheet at carrying value, which approximates fair value due to the short-term maturities of these instruments. Management believes that the carrying value of debt instruments, other than related party notes payable and loans to officers, also approximates fair value based on current market indicators, such as prevailing market rates and short-term maturities of certain financial instruments.

Management believes it is not practical to estimate the fair value of related party notes payable and loans to officers because the transactions cannot be assumed to have been consummated at arm's length, the terms are not deemed to be market terms, there are no quoted values available for these instruments, and an independent valuation would not be practical due to the lack of data regarding similar instruments, if any, and the associated potential costs.

The common unit warrant issued with a convertible note was valued using the Black Scholes valuation model (see Note 13). The conversion feature in convertible notes payable which required bifurcation as a derivative liability was valued using the Monte Carlo valuation model and had a fair value of $0 on the issuance date and each subsequent reporting date (see Note 14). Management believes these models are the best available techniques for valuing these instruments. Aside from the conversion feature in convertible notes payable, Cloudbreak had no other recurring or nonrecurring fair value measurements for assets and liabilities at December 31, 2020 and 2019.

Convertible Notes Payable and Derivative Instruments

Cloudbreak has adopted the provisions of Accounting Standards Update ("ASU") 2017-11 to account for the down round features of warrants issued with private placements effective as of January 1, 2018. In doing so, warrants with a down round feature previously treated as derivative liabilities in the consolidated balance sheet and measured at fair value are henceforth treated as equity, with no adjustment for changes in fair value at each reporting period.

Cloudbreak accounts for conversion options embedded in convertible notes in accordance with ASC 815, which generally requires companies to bifurcate conversion options embedded in convertible notes from their host instruments and to account for them as free-standing derivative financial instruments. Derivative financial instruments, as defined in the FASB ASC 815, consist of financial instruments or other contracts that contain a notional amount and one or more underlying (e.g. interest rate, security price or other variable), require no initial net investment and permit net settlement. ASC 815 provides for an exception to this rule when convertible notes, as host instruments, are deemed to be conventional, as defined by ASC 815-40.

Cloudbreak accounts for conversion options embedded in non-conventional convertible notes, which qualify as equity under ASC 815, in accordance with the provisions of ASC 470-20, which provides guidance on accounting for convertible securities with beneficial conversion features. Accordingly, Cloudbreak records, as a discount to convertible notes, the intrinsic value of such conversion options based upon the differences between the fair value of the underlying common stock at the commitment date of the note transaction and the effective conversion price embedded in the note. Debt discounts under these arrangements are amortized over the term of the related debt.

Derivative financial instruments may be free-standing or embedded in other financial instruments. Based on this guidance, Cloudbreak determined that the convertible feature in its note payable disclosed in Note 14 did not meet the criteria for classification as equity. Accordingly, Cloudbreak bifurcated the conversion feature and recorded it in liabilities at its estimated fair value. Derivative financial instruments, such as the conversion feature, are initially, and subsequently, measured at fair value and recorded as liabilities or, in rare instances, assets, with any change in fair value recognized as a component of other income (expense), net in the statements of operations. Cloudbreak did not record a derivative liability for the optional convertible feature in convertible notes payable as the fair value was $0 on the issuance date and each subsequent reporting date (see Note 14). Cloudbreak estimated the fair value of the conversion feature upon grant, at December 31, 2020 and 2019 using the Monte Carlo valuation model.

Concentration of Credit Risk

Financial instruments, which potentially subject Cloudbreak to concentrations of credit risk, consist principally of cash and cash equivalents and accounts receivable.

Cloudbreak performs ongoing credit evaluations of its customers' financial performance and generally requires no collateral from customers. No individual customer accounted for more than 10% of Cloudbreak's accounts receivable balance as of the years ended December 31, 2020 and 2019. No individual customer accounted for more than 10% of Cloudbreak's gross revenues for the years ended December 31, 2020 and 2019.

Cloudbreak purchases its products on credit terms from vendors across the United States. For the years ended December 31, 2020 and 2019, there were no significant supplier concentrations.

Revenue Recognition

Cloudbreak derives the majority of its revenues from the sale of subscription-based fixed monthly minute and variable rate per unit of service medical language interpretation services. Cloudbreak also records ancillary revenue from the sale or lease of MARTTI devices and from the provision of information technology services that include connectivity and ongoing support of the MARTTI software platform. Cloudbreak accounts for revenue from contracts with customers, which comprises 100% of its revenue, through the following steps:

1. Identification of the contract with a customer
2. Identification of the performance obligations in the contract
3. Determination of the transaction price

4. Allocation of the transaction price to the performance obligations in the contract
5. Recognition of revenue when, or as, Cloudbreak satisfies a performance obligation

Generally, Cloudbreak's medical language interpretation and information technology services are invoiced monthly. Fixed monthly minute medical language interpretation subscription and information technology services fees are invoiced in advance in the period preceding the service. Variable rate per unit medical language interpretation and information technology services fees (including overage fees related to minutes used by the customer in excess of the fixed monthly minute subscription) are invoiced monthly in arrears. Sale of MARTTI devices are generally invoiced at contract execution (50%) and upon the delivery of the devices to the customer (50%). MARTTI device leases are invoiced monthly in advance in the period preceding the usage. Invoiced amounts are typically due within 30 days of the invoice date.

Cloudbreak has selected the Output Method for recognizing revenues related to fixed medical language interpretation and information technology services fees. Due to the stand-ready nature of the services provided, Cloudbreak recognizes these fees monthly on a straight-line basis over the term of the contract.

Variable consideration received for medical language interpretation services, information technology services and for the lease of MARTTI devices is based on a fixed per item charge applied to a variable quantity. Variable consideration for Cloudbreak's services is recognized over time in accordance with the "right to invoice" practical expedient and therefore is not subject to revenue constraint evaluation.

Revenue related to the sale of MARTTI devices is recognized at a point in time upon delivery of the devices to the customer.

Cloudbreak may enter into multiple component services arrangements that bundle the pricing for the lease of MARTTI devices with information technology services. Often, the pricing bundle may also include medical language interpretation services. When an equipment lease is bundled with services, allocation of the transaction price consideration between the lease and nonlease components of the lease is required. Cloudbreak has determined that the consideration allocated to the lease components in its bundled multiple component services arrangements is not material to the financial statements.

Revenue is measured as the amount of consideration Cloudbreak expects to receive in exchange for transferring products or providing services. Revenue is recognized when Cloudbreak satisfies its performance obligations under the contract by transferring the promised product or service to its customer. Cloudbreak's contracts generally do not include any significant financing components.

Cloudbreak typically satisfies its performance obligations when the products are transferred and services are provided to its customers. The majority of Cloudbreak's performance obligations are satisfied over time. Cloudbreak typically satisfies its performance obligations as the customer receives and consumes the benefits of the medical language interpretation services, information technology services and the use of the MARTTI devices. Performance obligations for the sale of the MARTTI devices are satisfied when control of the devices is transferred to Cloudbreak's customers.

Cloudbreak has established a contract liability for billings or payments received in advance of when revenue recognition criteria are met. This contract liability is classified as deferred revenue in the consolidated balance sheets. Additions to deferred revenue, amortization of deferred revenue and prior year deferred revenue recognized in the current year were not significant for the years ended December 31, 2020 and 2019.

Neither the type of service sold nor the location of sale significantly impacts the nature, amount, timing, or uncertainty of revenue and cash flows.

Cost of Revenue

Cost of revenue primarily consists of costs related to supporting and hosting Cloudbreak's product offerings and delivering services. These costs include salaries, benefits, incentive compensation and unit-based compensation. Costs of revenue include the cost of maintaining Cloudbreak's data centers, customer support team and Cloudbreak's professional services staff, in addition to third-party service provider costs such as data center and networking expenses, allocated overhead, amortization of capitalized internal-use software development costs and intangible assets and depreciation expense. In addition to the costs associated with delivering services, costs of revenue also include the cost of purchased equipment inventory sold to customers.

Advertising and Marketing Expense

Advertising and marketing expenses are included in general and administrative expenses within the consolidated statements of operations and are expensed when incurred. Costs associated with advertising and marketing expense were $169,021 and $138,524 for the years ended December 31, 2020 and 2019, respectively, and is included in general and administrative expenses on the consolidated statements of operations.

Unit-Based Compensation

Cloudbreak maintains performance incentive plans under which incentive and nonqualified member unit options are granted primarily to employees and nonemployee consultants. Cloudbreak accounts for unit-based awards to both employees and nonemployees under ASC Topic 718, Stock-Based Compensation, and requires the recognition of compensation expense, using a fair-value based method, for costs related to all unit-based payments including member unit options. ASC Topic 718 requires companies to estimate the fair value of unit-based payment awards on the date of grant using an option-pricing model.

Segment Reporting

Operating segments are identified as components of an enterprise about which separate discrete financial information is available for evaluation by the chief operating decision maker, or decision-making group, in making decisions on how to allocate resources and assess performance. Cloudbreak's chief operating decision maker is the chief executive officer. Cloudbreak and the chief executive officer view Cloudbreak's operations and manage its business as one reportable segment with different operating segments.

Recently Issued Accounting Standards

In June 2016, the FASB issued ASU 2016-13, Financial Instruments-Credit Losses (Topic 326), which requires the measurement and recognition of expected credit losses for financial assets held at amortized cost, including trade receivables. ASU 2016-13 replaces the existing incurred loss impairment model with an expected loss model that requires the use of forward-looking information to calculate credit loss estimates. It also eliminates the concept of other-than-temporary impairment and requires credit losses related to available-for-sale debt securities to be recorded through an allowance for credit losses rather than as a reduction in the amortized cost basis of the securities. These changes may result in more timely recognition of credit losses. ASU 2019-10 amended the effective date for ASU 2016-13 for smaller reporting companies to be annual reporting periods beginning after December 15, 2021. The Company is currently evaluating the impact of adopting this guidance.

In August 2020, the FASB issued ASU 2020-06, Accounting for Convertible Instruments and Contracts in an Entity's Own Equity, which simplifies the accounting for convertible instruments. ASU 2020-06 eliminates certain models that require separate accounting for embedded conversion features, in certain cases. Additionally, among other changes, the guidance eliminates certain of the conditions for equity classification for contracts in an entity's own equity. The guidance also requires entities to use the if-converted method for all convertible instruments in the diluted earnings per share calculation and include the effect of share settlement for instruments that may be settled in cash or shares, except for certain liability-classified share-based payment awards. This guidance is effective for Cloudbreak beginning in the first quarter of 2022 and must be applied using either a modified or full retrospective approach. Early adoption is permitted, but no earlier than annual periods beginning after December 15, 2020. The Company is currently evaluating the impact of adopting this guidance.

Qualitative and Quantitative Disclosures About Market Risk

We are exposed to a variety of market and other risks, including the effects of changes in interest rates, and inflation, as well as risks to the availability of funding sources, hazard events, and specific asset risks.

Interest Rate Risk

The market risk inherent in our financial instruments and our financial position represents the potential loss arising from adverse changes in interest rates. As of December 31, 2020, and December 31, 2019, we have interest bearing debt of $30,945,850 and $19,699,505, respectively. Our LOC is a variable rate loan that accrues interest at a variable rate of interest based on the Prime Referenced Rate, plus the applicable margin. As of December 31, 2020, the applicable interest rate is 6.5%.

A one percent (1%) increase in interest rates in our variable rate indebtedness would result in approximately $309,459 in additional annual interest expense.

Inflation Risk

We do not believe that inflation has had, or currently has, a material effect on its business.

Foreign Currency Risk

There was no material foreign currency risk for the years ended December 31, 2020 and 2019. Our activities to date have been limited to and were conducted in the United States.

Compensation Philosophy and Objectives Following the Business Combinations

Following the Closing of the Business Combinations, the post-combination company intends to develop an executive compensation program that is consistent with UpHealth’s and Cloudbreak’s, as applicable, existing compensation policies and philosophies, which are designed to align compensation with the post-combination company’s business objectives and the creation of stockholder value, while enabling the post-combination company to attract, motivate and retain individuals who contribute to the long-term success of the post-combination company.

Decisions on the executive compensation program will be made by the compensation committee of the Board, which will be established at the Closing of the Business Combinations. The following discussion is based on the present expectations as to the executive compensation program to be adopted by the compensation committee. The executive compensation program actually adopted will depend on the judgment of the members of the compensation committee and may differ from that set forth in the following discussion.

The Company anticipates that decisions regarding executive compensation will reflect a belief that the executive compensation program must be competitive in order to attract and retain our executive officers. The Company anticipates that the compensation committee will seek to implement the compensation policies and philosophies by linking a significant portion of the post-combination company’s executive officers’ cash compensation to performance objectives and by providing a portion of their compensation as long-term incentive compensation in the form of equity awards.

The Company anticipates that compensation for the post-combination company’s executive officers will have three primary components: base salary, an annual cash incentive bonus and long-term equity-based incentive compensation.

Employment Agreements

It is expected that the post-combination company will enter into new employment agreements with the named executive officers identified under the subsection above entitled “Post-Combination Company Executive Compensation,” subject to the terms of any existing employment agreements or severance agreements with UpHealth and Cloudbreak, and that these employment agreements will be reviewed annually by the compensation committee to the extent recommended upon advice and counsel of its advisors.

Annual Bonuses

The post-combination company intends to use annual cash incentive bonuses for the named executive officers to tie a portion of their compensation to financial and operational objectives achievable within the applicable fiscal year. The post-combination company expects that, near the beginning of each year, the compensation committee will select the performance targets, target amounts, target award opportunities and other term and conditions of annual cash bonuses for the named executive officers. Following the end of each year, it is expected that the compensation committee will determine the extent to which the performance targets were achieved and the amount of the award that is payable to the named executive officers. For 2022, it is expected that the post-combination company will establish an annual cash bonus plan that links the payment of cash bonus awards to the achievement of targeted financial performance goals. See “Proposal No. 6—The Incentive Plan Proposal.”

Equity-Based Awards

If the Incentive Plan Proposal is approved, the post-combination company intends to use equity-based awards to reward long-term performance of the named executive officers. The post-combination company believes that providing a meaningful portion of the total compensation package in the form of equity-based awards will align the incentives of its named executive officers with the interests of its stockholders and serve to motivate and retain the individual named executive officers. Any awards would be made in accordance with the executive compensation program discussed in the section entitled “Management After the Business Combinations—Post-Combination Company Executive Compensation—Compensation Philosophy and Objectives Following the Business Combinations”, including the recommendations of management relating thereto. See “Proposal No. 6—The Incentive Plan Proposal.”

Other Compensation

The post-combination company expects to continue to maintain various employee benefit plans, including medical, dental, life insurance and 401(k) plans, in which the named executive officers will participate. The post-combination company also expects to continue to provide certain perquisites to its named executive officers, subject to the compensation committee’s ongoing review.

Deductibility of Executive Compensation

Section 162(m) of the Code denies a federal income tax deduction for certain compensation in excess of $1,000,000 per year paid to the chief executive officer, the chief financial officer, the three other most highly paid executive officers of a publicly traded corporation, and anyone previously subject to Section 162(m). The Company expects the policy of the post-combination company will be to consider the tax impact of its compensation arrangements as one factor, among others, in evaluating and determining the structure, implementation, and amount of awards paid to its executive officers. However, to retain highly skilled executives and remain competitive with other employers, the compensation committee may authorize compensation that would not be deductible under Section 162(m) or otherwise if it determines that such compensation is in the best interests of the post-combination company and its stockholders, and maintaining tax deductibility will not be the sole consideration taken into account in determining what compensation arrangements are in our and our stockholders’ best interests. The right to grant compensation that is not deductible is expressly reserved, and the post-combination company may do so.

Director Compensation Following this Business Combinations

Following the completion of the Business Combinations, the post-combination company’s compensation committee will determine the annual compensation to be paid to the members of our Board.

DESCRIPTION OF SECURITIES

The following summary of the material terms of the post-combination company's securities following the Business Combinations is not intended to be a complete summary of the rights and preferences of such securities. The full text of the proposed Second Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation is attached as Annex C to this proxy statement/prospectus. We urge you to read our Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation in its entirety for a complete description of the rights and preferences of the post-combination company's securities following the Business Combinations.

General

The proposed Second Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation authorizes the issuance of 300,000,000 shares of Common Stock, $0.0001 par value per share and 1,000,000 shares of preferred stock, par value $0.0001 per share. The outstanding shares of our Common Stock are, and the shares of Common Stock issuable (i) both (a) in connection with the Business Combinations pursuant to the Business Combination Agreements and (b) the PIPE Investment and (ii) upon conversion of the Convertible Notes will be, duly authorized, validly issued, fully paid and non-assessable. As of the record date for the Special Meeting, there were 19,812,315 shares of Common Stock outstanding, held of record by approximately 5 holders of Common Stock or of Units, no shares of preferred stock outstanding and 17,817,500 warrants outstanding held of record by approximately 5 holders of warrants or of Units. Such numbers do not include DTC participants or beneficial owners holding shares through nominee names.

Common Stock

Common stockholders of record are entitled to one vote for each share held on all matters to be voted on by stockholders. Unless specified in the proposed Second Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation, or as required by applicable provisions of the DGCL or applicable stock exchange rules, the affirmative vote of a majority of our shares of Common Stock that are voted is required to approve any such matter voted on by our stockholders. Our stockholders are entitled to receive ratable dividends when, as and if declared by the Board out of funds legally available therefor.

Our Board is currently elected each year at our annual meeting of stockholders. We held our annual meeting of stockholders for the 2020 fiscal year on December 8, 2020, at which time we elected our current directors. If our stockholders approve the Second Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation at the Special Meeting, our Board will be divided into three classes, each of which will generally serve for a term of three years with only one class of directors being elected in each year. There is no cumulative voting with respect to the election of directors, with the result that the holders of more than 50% of the shares eligible to vote for the election of directors can elect all of the directors.

In the event of a liquidation, dissolution or winding up of the Company after the Business Combinations, our stockholders are entitled to share ratably in all assets remaining available for distribution to them after payment of liabilities and after provision is made for each class of stock, if any, having preference over the Common Stock. Our stockholders have no preemptive or other subscription rights. There are no sinking fund provisions applicable to the Common Stock, except that we will provide our public stockholders with the opportunity to redeem their public shares for cash equal to their pro rata share of the aggregate amount then on deposit in the trust account, including interest (which interest shall be net of taxes payable by us) upon the completion of the Business Combinations, subject to the limitations described in this proxy statement/prospectus.

Our stockholders have no conversion, preemptive or other subscription rights. Public stockholders who sell or convert their stock into their share of the Trust Account still have the right to convert the rights and exercise the warrants that they may hold.

Preferred Stock

There are no shares of preferred stock outstanding. Our proposed Second Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation authorizes the issuance of 1,000,000 shares of preferred stock with such designation, rights and preferences as may be determined from time to time by our Board. No shares of preferred stock are being issued or registered in connection with the Business Combinations. Accordingly, our Board is empowered, without stockholder approval, to issue preferred stock with dividend, liquidation, conversion, voting or other rights which could adversely affect the voting power or other rights of the holders of Common Stock. However, the underwriting agreement for the Company's IPO prohibits the Company, prior to the Business Combinations, from issuing preferred stock which participates in any manner in the proceeds of the Trust Account, or which votes as a class with the Common Stock on the Business Combinations. The Company is permitted under the terms of our current amended and restated certificate of incorporation to issue some or all of the preferred stock to effect the Business Combinations, however, the Business Combination Agreements do not contemplate any such issuance of preferred stock. In addition, the preferred stock could be utilized as a method of discouraging, delaying or preventing a change in control of us. Although the Company does not currently intend to issue any shares of preferred stock, the Company cannot assure you that the Company will not do so in the future.

Rights

Each holder of a right will receive one-twentieth (1/20) of one share of Common Stock upon consummation of the Business Combinations, even if the holder of such right redeemed all shares of Common Stock held by it in connection with our initial business combination. As a result, there will be no rights following the consummation of the Business Combinations. No additional consideration will be required to be paid by a holder of rights in order to receive its additional shares upon consummation of the Business Combinations, as the consideration related thereto has been included in the unit purchase price paid for by investors in this offering.

As soon as practicable upon the consummation of the Business Combinations, we will direct registered holders of the rights to return their rights to our rights agent. Upon receipt of the rights, the rights agent will issue to the registered holder of such rights the number of full shares of Common Stock to which it is entitled. We will notify registered holders of the rights to deliver their rights to the rights agent promptly upon consummation of the Business Combinations and have been informed by the rights agent that the process of exchanging their rights for shares of Common Stock should take no more than a matter of days. The foregoing exchange of rights is solely ministerial in nature and is not intended to provide us with any means of avoiding our obligation to issue the shares underlying the rights upon consummation of the Business Combinations. Other than confirming that the rights delivered by a registered holder are valid, we will have no ability to avoid delivery of the shares underlying the rights. Nevertheless, there are no contractual penalties for failure to deliver shares of Common Stock to the holders of the rights upon consummation of the Business Combinations (however, as the rights are securities, a failure to comply with the terms of the rights could be considered a violation of federal securities laws resulting in penalties). Additionally, in no event will we be required to net cash settle the rights. Furthermore, the rights may expire worthless.

The shares issuable upon exchange of the rights will be freely tradable (except to the extent held by affiliates of ours). We will not issue fractional shares upon exchange of the rights. If, upon exchange of the rights, a holder would be entitled to receive a fractional interest in a share, we will, upon exchange, either round up to the nearest whole number the number of shares to be issued to the right holder or otherwise comply with Section 155 of the DGCL (which provides that Delaware companies shall either (1) arrange for the disposition of fractional interests by those entitled thereto, (2) pay in cash the fair value of fractions of a share as of the time when those entitled to receive such fractions are determined or (3) issue scrip or warrants in registered form (either represented by a certificate or uncertificated) or in bearer form (represented by a certificate) which shall entitle the holder to receive a full share upon the surrender of such scrip or warrants aggregating a full share). We will make the determination of how we are treating fractional shares at the time of the Business Combinations and will include such determination in the materials we send to stockholders for their consideration of the Business Combinations.

Warrants

There are 17,817,500 warrants outstanding, of which 17,250,000 are public warrants and 567,500 are Private Placement Warrants. Each whole warrant entitles the registered holder to purchase one share of Common Stock at a price of $11.50 per share, subject to adjustment as discussed below, at any time after the completion of the Business Combinations. Only whole warrants are exercisable. The public warrants will expire at 5:00 p.m., New York City time, on the fifth anniversary of our completion of the Business Combinations, or earlier upon redemption.

No public warrants will be exercisable for cash unless the Company has an effective and current registration statement covering the shares of Common Stock issuable upon exercise of the warrants and a current prospectus relating to such shares of Common Stock. Notwithstanding the foregoing, if a registration statement covering the issuance of the shares of Common Stock issuable upon exercise of the public warrants is not effective within 90 days from the closing of the Business Combinations, warrant holders may, until such time as there is an effective registration statement and during any period when the Company shall have failed to maintain an effective registration statement, exercise warrants on a cashless basis pursuant to an available exemption from registration under the Securities Act. If an exemption from registration is not available, holders will not be able to exercise their warrants on a cashless basis.

The Private Placement Warrants are identical to the public warrants except that such Private Placement Warrants will be exercisable for cash (even if a registration statement covering the issuance of the warrant shares issuable upon exercise of such warrants is not effective) or on a cashless basis, at the holder's option, and will not be redeemable by us, in each case so long as they are still held by the Founders or their affiliates.

Once the warrants become exercisable, the Company may redeem the outstanding warrants (excluding the Private Placement Warrants):

- in whole and not in part;
- at a price of $0.01 per warrant;
- upon a minimum of 30 days' prior written notice of redemption, which the Company refers to as the 30-day redemption period; and
- if, and only if, the last reported sale price of the Common Stock equals or exceeds $18.00 per share (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, reorganizations, recapitalizations and the like) for any 20 trading days within a 30 trading day period ending on the third trading day prior to the date on which the Company sends the notice of redemption to the warrant holders.

The Company will not redeem the warrants unless a registration statement under the Securities Act covering the issuance of the warrant shares underlying the warrants to be so redeemed is then effective and a current prospectus relating to those warrant shares is available throughout the 30-day redemption period, except if the warrants may be exercised on a cashless basis and such cashless exercise is exempt from registration under the Securities Act. If and when the warrants become redeemable by the Company, it may exercise our redemption right even if it is unable to register or qualify the underlying securities for sale under all applicable state securities laws.

If the foregoing conditions are satisfied and the Company issues a notice of redemption, each warrant holder may exercise his, her or its warrants prior to the scheduled redemption date. However, the price of the shares of Common Stock may fall below the $18.00 trigger price (as adjusted) as well as the $11.50 exercise price (as adjusted) after the redemption notice is issued.

The redemption criteria for our warrants have been established at a price which is intended to provide warrant holders a reasonable premium to the initial exercise price and provide a sufficient differential between the then-prevailing share price and the exercise price so that if the share price declines as a result of our redemption call, the redemption will not cause the share price to drop below the exercise price of the warrants.

If the Company calls the warrants for redemption as described above, our management will have the option to require all holders that wish to exercise warrants to do so on a “cashless basis.” In making such determination, our management will consider, among other factors, our cash position, the number of warrants that are outstanding and the dilutive effect on our stockholders of issuing the maximum number of warrant shares issuable upon exercise of outstanding warrants. In such event, the holder would pay the exercise price by surrendering the warrants for that number of shares of Common Stock equal to the quotient obtained by dividing (x) the product of the number of shares of Common Stock underlying the warrants to be so exercised, and the difference between the exercise price of the warrants and the fair market value by (y) the fair market value.

A holder of a warrant may notify the Company in writing in the event it elects to be subject to a requirement that such holder will not have the right to exercise such warrant, to the extent that after giving effect to such exercise, such person (together with such person’s affiliates), to the warrant agent’s actual knowledge, would beneficially own in excess of 9.8% (or such other amount as a holder may specify) of the shares of Common Stock outstanding immediately after giving effect to such exercise.

If the number of outstanding shares of Common Stock is increased by a stock dividend payable in shares of Common Stock, or by a split-up of shares of Common Stock or other similar event, then, on the effective date of such stock dividend, split-up or similar event, the number of shares of Common Stock issuable on exercise of each warrant will be increased in proportion to such increase in the outstanding shares of Common Stock. A rights offering to holders of Common Stock entitling holders to purchase shares of Common Stock at a price less than the fair market value will be deemed a stock dividend of a number of shares of Common Stock equal to the product of (i) the number of shares of Common Stock actually sold in such rights offering (or issuable under any other equity securities sold in such rights offering that are convertible into or exercisable for Common Stock) multiplied by (ii) one (1) minus the quotient of (x) the price per share of Common Stock paid in such rights offering divided by (y) the fair market value of such share. For these purposes (i) if the rights offering is for securities convertible into or exercisable for Common Stock, in determining the price payable for Common Stock, there will be taken into account any consideration received for such rights, as well as any additional amount payable upon exercise or conversion and (ii) fair market value means the volume weighted average price of Common Stock as reported during the 10 trading day period ending on the trading day prior to the first date on which the shares of Common Stock trade on the applicable exchange or in the applicable market, regular way, without the right to receive such rights.

In addition, if the Company, at any time while the warrants are outstanding and unexpired, pays a dividend or make a distribution in cash, securities or other assets to the holders of Common Stock on account of such shares of Common Stock (or other shares of our capital stock into which the warrants are convertible), other than (a) as described above, (b) certain ordinary cash dividends, (c) to satisfy the redemption rights of the holders of Common Stock in connection with the Business Combinations, (d) as a result of the repurchase of shares of Company Stock if the Business Combinations are presented to the stockholders of the Company for approval, or (e) in connection with the redemption of our public shares upon our failure to complete the Business Combinations, then the warrant exercise price will be decreased, effective immediately after the effective date of such event, by the amount of cash and/or the fair market value of any securities or other assets paid on each share of Common Stock in respect of such event.

If the number of outstanding shares of Common Stock is decreased by a consolidation, combination, reverse stock split or reclassification of shares of Common Stock or other similar event, then, on the effective date of such consolidation, combination, reverse stock split, reclassification or similar event, the number of shares of Common Stock issuable on exercise of each warrant will be decreased in proportion to such decrease in outstanding shares of Common Stock.

Whenever the number of shares of Common Stock purchasable upon the exercise of the warrants is adjusted, as described above, the warrant exercise price will be adjusted by multiplying the warrant exercise price immediately prior to such adjustment by a fraction (x) the numerator of which will be the number of shares of Common Stock purchasable upon the exercise of the warrants immediately prior to such adjustment, and (y) the denominator of which will be the number of shares of Common Stock so purchasable immediately thereafter.

In case of any reclassification or reorganization of the outstanding shares of Common Stock (other than those described above or that solely affects the par value of such shares of Common Stock), or in the case of any merger or consolidation of us with or into another corporation (other than a consolidation or merger in which the Company is the continuing corporation and that does not result in any reclassification or reorganization of our outstanding shares of Common Stock), or in the case of any sale or conveyance to another corporation or entity of the assets or other property of us as an entirety or substantially as an entirety in connection with which the Company is dissolved, the holders of the warrants will thereafter have the right to purchase and receive, upon the basis and upon the terms and conditions specified in the warrants and in lieu of the shares of Common Stock immediately theretofore purchasable and receivable upon the exercise of the rights represented thereby, the kind and amount of shares of stock or other securities or property (including cash) receivable upon such reclassification, reorganization, merger or consolidation, or upon a dissolution following any such sale or transfer, that the holder of the warrants would have received if such holder had exercised their warrants immediately prior to such event. However, if such holders were entitled to exercise a right of election as to the kind or amount of securities, cash or other assets receivable upon such consolidation or merger, then the kind and amount of securities, cash or other assets for which each warrant will become exercisable will be deemed to be the weighted average of the kind and amount received per share by such holders in such consolidation or merger that affirmatively make such election, and if a tender, exchange or redemption offer has been made to and accepted by such holders (other than a tender, exchange or redemption offer made by the Company in connection with redemption rights held by Company stockholders as provided for in the proposed Second Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation or as a result of the repurchase of shares of Common Stock by us if the Business Combinations are presented to the stockholders of the Company for approval) under circumstances in which, upon completion of such tender or exchange offer, the maker thereof, together with members of any group (within the meaning of Rule 13d-5(b)(1) under the Exchange Act) of which such maker is a part, and together with any affiliate or associate of such maker (within the meaning of Rule 12b-2 under the Exchange Act) and any members of any such group of which any such affiliate or associate is a part, own beneficially (within the meaning of Rule 13d-3 under the Exchange Act) more than 50% of the outstanding shares of Common Stock, the holder of a warrant will be entitled to receive the highest amount of cash, securities or other property to which such holder would actually have been entitled as a stockholder if such warrant holder had exercised the warrant prior to the expiration of such tender or exchange offer, accepted such offer and all of the Common Stock held by such holder had been purchased pursuant to such tender or exchange offer, subject to adjustments (from and after the consummation of such tender or exchange offer) as nearly equivalent as possible to the adjustments provided for in the warrant agreement. Additionally, if less than 70% of the consideration receivable by the holders of Common Stock in such a transaction is payable in the form of Common Stock in the successor entity that is listed for trading on a national securities exchange or is quoted in an established over-the-counter market, or is to be so listed for trading or quoted immediately following such event, and if the registered holder of the warrant properly exercises the warrant within 30 days following public disclosure of such transaction, the warrant exercise price will be reduced as specified in the warrant agreement based on the per share consideration minus Black-Scholes Warrant Value (as defined in the warrant agreement) of the warrant in order to determine and realize the option value component of the warrant. This formula is to compensate the warrant holder for the loss of the option value portion of the warrant due to the requirement that the warrant holder exercise the warrant within 30 days of the event. The Black-Scholes model is an accepted pricing model for estimating fair market value where no quoted market price for an instrument is available.

The warrants were issued in registered form under a warrant agreement between Continental Stock Transfer & Trust Company, as warrant agent, and us. The warrant agreement provides that the terms of the warrants may be amended without the consent of any holder to cure any ambiguity or correct any defective provision, but requires the approval by the holders of at least 65% of the then outstanding public warrants to make any change that adversely affects the interests of the registered holders of public warrants.

Dividends

The Company has not paid any cash dividends on our Common Stock to date and does not intend to pay cash dividends prior to the completion of our Business Combinations. The payment of cash dividends in the future will be dependent upon our revenues and earnings, if any, capital requirements and general financial condition subsequent to completion of our Business Combinations. The payment of any cash dividends subsequent to our Business Combinations will be within the discretion of our New UpHealth Board at such time. In addition, our Board is not currently contemplating and does not anticipate declaring any stock dividends in the foreseeable future. Further, if the Company incurs any indebtedness, our ability to declare dividends may be limited by restrictive covenants the Company may agree to in connection therewith.

Election of Directors

The New UpHealth Board will remain divided into three classes, Class I, Class II and Class III, with only one class of directors being elected in each year and each class serving a three-year term, except with respect to the election of directors at the special meeting pursuant to Proposal No. 7—The Election of Directors Proposal, Class I directors will be elected to an initial one-year term (and three-year terms subsequently), the Class II directors will be elected to an initial two-year term (and three-year terms subsequently) and the Class III directors will be elected to an initial three-year term (and three-year terms subsequently). There is no cumulative voting with respect to the election of directors, with the result that the holders of more than 50% of the shares voted for the election of directors can elect all of the directors.

Our Transfer Agent, Rights Agent and Warrant Agent

The Transfer Agent for our Common Stock, rights agent for our rights and warrant agent for our warrants is Continental Stock Transfer & Trust Company. The Company has agreed to indemnify Continental Stock Transfer & Trust Company in its roles as transfer agent, rights agent and warrant agent, its agents and each of its stockholders, directors, officers and employees against all liabilities, including judgments, costs and reasonable counsel fees that may arise out of acts performed or omitted for its activities in that capacity, except for any liability due to any gross negligence, willful misconduct or bad faith of the indemnified person or entity.

Certain Anti-Takeover Provisions of Delaware Law, the Company's Certificate of Incorporation and Bylaws

Our current amended and restated certificate of incorporation contains certain requirements and restrictions that will apply to the Company until the completion of the Company's initial business combination, which would be the Business Combinations if consummated. Prior to the consummation of the initial business combination, these provisions cannot be amended without the approval of the holders of at least 65% of the Common Stock then outstanding. The approval of the Charter Amendment Proposals only require the approval by the holders of a majority of the Common Stock as this amendment would occur concurrent with the completion of the initial business combination. Our Initial Stockholders, who collectively beneficially own 23% of the issued and outstanding Common Stock, will participate in any vote to amend our current amended and restated certificate of incorporation and will have the discretion to vote in any manner they choose. Specifically, our current amended and restated certificate of incorporation provides, among other things, that:

- our public stockholders have the opportunity to redeem, if such holders elect to do so, all or a portion of their public shares upon the completion of our initial business combination, which would be the Business Combinations if consummated, at a per-share price which is payable in cash and, in the event the public shares are redeemed are in connection with a stockholder vote on the proposed initial business combination, such as the Business Combinations, is equal to the quotient obtained by dividing (a) the aggregate amount on deposit in the Trust Account as of two (2) business days prior to the consummation of the initial business combination, including interest not previously released to the Company to pay its taxes, by (b) the total number of then outstanding public shares.

- unlike many blank check companies that hold stockholder votes and conduct proxy solicitations in conjunction with their initial business combinations and provide for related redemptions of public shares for cash upon completion of such initial business combinations even when a vote is not required by law, if a stockholder vote is not required by law and the Company does not decide to hold a stockholder vote for business or other legal reasons, the Company will, pursuant to our current amended and restated certificate of incorporation and subject to lawfully available funds therefor, conduct the redemptions pursuant to the tender offer rules of the SEC, and file tender offer documents with the SEC prior to completing our initial business combination, which would be the Business Combinations if consummated. Our current amended and restated certificate of incorporation requires these tender offer documents to contain substantially the same financial and other information about such initial business combination and the redemption rights as is required under the SEC's proxy rules. If, however, a stockholder approval of the transaction is required by law, or the Company decides to obtain stockholder approval for business or other legal reasons, it will, like many blank check companies, offer to redeem shares in conjunction with a proxy solicitation pursuant to the proxy rules and not pursuant to the tender offer rules.
- if the Company seeks stockholder approval, we will complete our initial business combination, which would be the Business Combinations if consummated, only if a majority of the shares of Common Stock voting at a stockholder meeting are voted in favor of the business combination. However, the participation of our Founders, officers, directors, advisors or their affiliates in privately-negotiated transactions (as described in this proxy statement/prospectus), if any, could result in the approval of our business combination even if a majority of our public stockholders vote, or indicate their intention to vote, against such business combination.
- if the Company seeks stockholder approval of our initial business combination and it does not conduct redemptions in connection with the Business Combinations pursuant to the tender offer rules, our current amended and restated certificate of incorporation provides that a public stockholder, together with any affiliate of such stockholder or any other person with whom such stockholder is acting in concert or as a "group" (as defined under Section 13 of the Exchange Act), will be restricted from seeking redemption rights with respect to more than an aggregate of 15% of the shares sold in the Company's IPO. However, the Company would not be restricting our stockholders' ability to vote all of their shares for or against the Business Combinations.

If our stockholders approve the Charter Proposals, our proposed Second Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation will provide that the New UpHealth Board will be classified into three classes of directors of approximately equal size. As a result, in most circumstances, a person can gain control of the board only by successfully engaging in a proxy contest at three or more annual meetings. Furthermore, because the New UpHealth Board will be classified, directors may be removed only with cause by a majority of our outstanding shares.

In addition, the proposed Second Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation does not provide for cumulative voting in the election of directors. Our authorized but unissued Common Stock and preferred stock are available for future issuances without stockholder approval and could be utilized for a variety of corporate purposes, including future offerings to raise additional capital, acquisitions and employee benefit plans. The existence of authorized but unissued and unreserved Common Stock and preferred stock could render more difficult or discourage an attempt to obtain control of us by means of a proxy contest, tender offer, merger or otherwise.

Special Meeting of Stockholders

The proposed Second Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation provide that special meetings of our stockholders may be called only by the Chairman of the Board, our Chief Executive Officer or the New UpHealth Board pursuant to a resolution adopted by a majority of the New UpHealth Board. Stockholders of New UpHealth will not be eligible and will have no right to call a special meeting.

Advance Notice Requirements for Stockholder Proposals and Director Nominations

Our Bylaws provide that stockholders seeking to bring business before our annual meeting of stockholders, or to nominate candidates for election as directors at our annual meeting of stockholders, must provide timely notice of their intent in writing. To be timely, a stockholder's notice will need to be received by the Company's Secretary at our principal executive offices not later than the close of business on the 90th day nor earlier than the open of business on the 120th day prior to the anniversary date of the immediately preceding annual meeting of stockholders. Pursuant to Rule 14a-8 of the Exchange Act, proposals seeking inclusion in our annual proxy statement must comply with the notice periods contained in the annual proxy statement. The proposed Second Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation specifies certain requirements as to the form and content of a stockholders' meeting. These provisions may preclude our stockholders from bringing matters before our annual meeting of stockholders or from making nominations for directors at our annual meeting of stockholders. Our Bylaws also specify certain requirements as to the form and content of a stockholder's notice for an annual meeting. Specifically, a stockholder's notice must include: (i) a brief description of the business desired to be brought before the annual meeting, the text of the proposal or business (including the text of any resolutions proposed for consideration and in the event such business includes a proposal to amend the bylaws, the language of the proposed amendment) and the reasons for conducting such business at the annual meeting, (ii) the name and record address of such stockholder and the name and address of the beneficial owner, if any, on whose behalf the proposal is made, (iii) the class or series and number of shares of our capital stock that are owned beneficially and of record by such stockholder and by the beneficial owner, if any, on whose behalf the proposal is made, (iv) a description of all arrangements or understandings between such stockholder and the beneficial owner, if any, on whose behalf the proposal is made and any other person or persons (including their names) in connection with the proposal of such business by such stockholder, (v) any material interest of such stockholder and the beneficial owner, if any, on whose behalf the proposal is made in such business and (vi) a representation that such stockholder (or a qualified representative of such stockholder) intends to appear in person or by proxy at the annual meeting to bring such business before the meeting. These notice requirements will be deemed satisfied by a stockholder as to any proposal (other than nominations) if the stockholder has notified the Company of such stockholder's intention to present such proposal at an annual meeting in compliance with Rule 14a-8 (or any successor thereof) of the Exchange Act, and such stockholder has complied with the requirements of such rule for inclusion of such proposal in a proxy statement prepared by us to solicit proxies for such annual meeting. The foregoing provisions may limit our stockholders' ability to bring matters before our annual meeting of stockholders or from making nominations for directors at our annual meeting of stockholders.

Securities Eligible for Future Sale

The Company has 19,812,315 shares of Common Stock outstanding as of the date hereof. Of these shares, 14,817,315 public shares are freely tradable without restriction or further registration under the Securities Act, except for any shares purchased by one of our affiliates within the meaning of Rule 144 under the Securities Act ("Rule 144"). All of the remaining 4,995,000 outstanding shares (including all 567,500 Private Placement Units and their component shares) are, and any shares of Common Stock issued to the PIPE Investors or upon conversion of the Convertible Notes will be, restricted securities under Rule 144, in that they were issued in private transactions not involving a public offering.

Rule 144

Pursuant to Rule 144, a person who has beneficially owned restricted shares of our Common Stock or warrants for at least six months would be entitled to sell their securities provided that (i) such person is not deemed to have been one of our affiliates at the time of, or at any time during the three months preceding, a sale and (ii) the Company is subject to the Exchange Act periodic reporting requirements for at least three months before the sale and have filed all required reports under Section 13 or 15(d) of the Exchange Act during the 12 months (or such shorter period as the Company was required to file reports) preceding the sale.

Persons who have beneficially owned restricted shares of our Common Stock or warrants for at least six months but who are our affiliates at the time of, or at any time during the three months preceding, a sale, would be subject to additional restrictions, by which such person would be entitled to sell within any three-month period only a number of securities that does not exceed the greater of:

- 1% of the total number of shares of Common Stock then outstanding; or
- the average weekly reported trading volume of the Common Stock during the four calendar weeks preceding the filing of a notice on Form 144 with respect to the sale.

Sales by our affiliates under Rule 144 are also limited by manner of sale provisions and notice requirements and to the availability of current public information about us.

Restrictions on the Use of Rule 144 by Shell Companies or Former Shell Companies

Rule 144 is not available for the resale of securities initially issued by shell companies (other than business combination related shell companies) or issuers that have been at any time previously a shell company. However, Rule 144 also includes an important exception to this prohibition if the following conditions are met:

- the issuer of the securities that was formerly a shell company has ceased to be a shell company;
- the issuer of the securities is subject to the reporting requirements of Section 13 or 15(d) of the Exchange Act;
- the issuer of the securities has filed all Exchange Act reports and material required to be filed, as applicable, during the preceding 12 months (or such shorter period that the issuer was required to file such reports and materials), other than Form 8-K reports; and
- at least one year has elapsed from the time that the issuer filed current Form 10 type information with the SEC reflecting its status as an entity that is not a shell company.

As a result, our Initial Stockholders will be able to sell their Founder Shares and Private Placement Warrants, as applicable, pursuant to Rule 144 without registration one year after the Company has completed the Business Combinations.

Registration Rights Agreement

On June 5, 2019, the Company entered into a Registration Rights Agreement with the Sponsor, the Underwriters and Insiders. These holders will be entitled to make up to three demands, excluding short form registration demands, that the Company register such securities for sale under the Securities Act. In addition, these holders will have “piggy-back” registration rights to include their securities in other registration statements filed by the Company. The Company will bear the expenses incurred in connection with the filing of any such registration statements. There will be no penalties associated with delays in registering the securities under the Registration Rights Agreement.

PIPE Subscription Agreement

Under the terms of the PIPE Subscription Agreements, the Company agreed to file the PIPE Resale Registration Statement registering for resale under the Securities Act all of the PIPE Shares acquired by the Subscribers by the PIPE Resale Registration Filing Deadline, and the Company shall use its commercially reasonable efforts to have the PIPE Resale Registration Statement declared effective as soon as practicable after the filing thereof, but no later than the 60th calendar day (or 90th calendar day if the SEC notifies the Company that it will “review” the PIPE Resale Registration Statement) following the PIPE Resale Registration Filing Deadline. The Company will use its commercially reasonable efforts to maintain the continuous effectiveness of the PIPE Resale Registration Statement, and to be supplemented and amended to the extent necessary to ensure that such PIPE Resale Registration Statement is available or, if not available, that another registration statement is available for the resale of the Subscribed Shares, until the earliest of (i) the date on which the PIPE Shares may be resold without volume or manner of sale limitations pursuant to Rule , (ii) the date on which such PIPE Shares have actually been sold and (iii) the date which is two years after the Closing.

Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in the PIPE Subscription Agreement, the Company shall be entitled to delay or postpone the effectiveness of the PIPE Resale Registration Statement, and from time to time to require the PIPE Investor not to sell under the PIPE Resale Registration Statement or to suspend the effectiveness thereof, if the negotiation or consummation of a transaction by the Company or its subsidiaries is pending or an event has occurred, which negotiation, consummation or event, the New UpHealth Board reasonably believes, upon the advice of legal counsel, would require additional disclosure by the Company in the PIPE Resale Registration Statement of material information that the Company has a bona fide business purpose for keeping confidential and the non-disclosure of which in the PIPE Resale Registration Statement would be expected, in the reasonable determination of the New UpHealth Board, upon the advice of legal counsel, to cause the PIPE Resale Registration Statement to fail to comply with applicable disclosure requirements; provided, however, that the Company may not delay or suspend the PIPE Resale Registration Statement on more than two occasions or for more than sixty consecutive calendar days, or more than ninety total calendar days, in each case during any twelve-month period.

Convertible Note Subscription Agreements

The Company shall be obligated to register the shares issuable upon conversion of the Convertible Notes. The Company agreed that, by the Convertible Note Resale Registration Filing Deadline, the Company will file with the SEC the Convertible Note Resale Registration Statement registering the resale of the shares of Common Stock issuable upon conversion of the Convertible Notes, and the Company shall use its commercially reasonable efforts to have the Convertible Note Resale Registration Statement declared effective as soon as practicable after the filing thereof, but no later than the 60th calendar day (or 90th calendar day if the Commission notifies the Company that it will “review” the Convertible Note Resale Registration Statement) following the Convertible Note Resale Registration Filing Deadline. The Company will use its commercially reasonable efforts to maintain the continuous effectiveness of the Convertible Note Resale Registration Statement, and to be supplemented and amended to the extent necessary to ensure that such Convertible Note Resale Registration Statement is available or, if not available, that another registration statement is available for the resale of the Convertible Note Registrable Securities, until the earliest of (i) the date on which the Convertible Note Registrable Securities may be resold without volume or manner of sale limitations pursuant to Rule 144 promulgated under the Securities Act, (ii) the date on which such Convertible Note Registrable Securities have actually been sold and (iii) the date which is three years after the Closing.

Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in the Convertible Note Subscription Agreements, the Company shall be entitled to delay or postpone the effectiveness of the Convertible Note Resale Registration Statement, and from time to time to require any Note Investor not to sell under the Convertible Note Resale Registration Statement or to suspend the effectiveness thereof, if the negotiation or consummation of a transaction by the Company or its subsidiaries is pending or an event has occurred, which negotiation, consummation or event, the

New UpHealth Board reasonably believes, upon the advice of legal counsel, would require additional disclosure by the Company in the Convertible Note Resale Registration Statement of material information that the Company has a bona fide business purpose for keeping confidential and the non-disclosure of which in the Convertible Note Resale Registration Statement would be expected, in the reasonable determination of the New UpHealth Board, upon the advice of legal counsel, to cause the Convertible Note Resale Registration Statement to fail to comply with applicable disclosure requirements.

Section 203 of the DGCL

New UpHealth will be subject to the provisions of Section 203 of the DGCL regulating corporate takeovers. This statute prevents certain Delaware corporations, under certain circumstances, from engaging in a “business combination” with:

- a stockholder who owns 15% or more of our outstanding voting stock (otherwise known as an “interested stockholder”);
- an affiliate of an interested stockholder; or
- an associate of an interested stockholder, for three years following the date that the stockholder became an interested stockholder.

A “business combination” includes a merger or sale of more than 10% of our assets. However, the above provisions of Section 203 do not apply if:

- the New UpHealth Board approves the transaction that made the stockholder an “interested stockholder,” prior to the date of the transaction;
- after the completion of the transaction that resulted in the stockholder becoming an interested stockholder, that stockholder owned at least 85% of our voting stock outstanding at the time the transaction commenced, other than statutorily excluded shares of Common Stock; or
- on or subsequent to the date of the transaction, the business combination is approved by the New UpHealth Board and authorized at a meeting of our stockholders, and not by written consent, by an affirmative vote of at least two-thirds of the outstanding voting stock not owned by the interested stockholder.

Listing of Securities

The Company intends to apply to continue the listing of our Common Stock and warrants on NYSE under the symbols “UPH” and “UPH WS” respectively, upon the Closing. Our units, which currently are traded on NYSE under the symbol “GIX.U” will cease to be traded upon Closing and, instead, such units will be separated into the public shares and public warrants, which will trade as independent securities as described above.

BENEFICIAL OWNERSHIP OF SECURITIES

The following table sets forth information known to the Company regarding (i) the actual beneficial ownership of our Common Stock as of April 26, 2021, the record date (pre-Business Combinations) and (ii) the expected beneficial ownership of our Common Stock immediately following consummation of the Business Combinations (post-Business Combinations), assuming that no additional public shares of the Company are redeemed, and alternatively that the maximum number of shares of the Company are redeemed, by:

- each person who is, or is expected to be, the beneficial owner of more than 5% of the outstanding shares of our Common Stock;
- each of our current officers and directors;
- each person who will become a named executive officer or director of the post-Business Combinations company; and
- all current executive officers and directors of the Company, as a group, and of the post-Business Combinations company, as a group.

Beneficial ownership is determined according to the rules of the SEC, which generally provide that a person has beneficial ownership of a security if he, she or it possesses sole or shared voting or investment power over that security, including securities underlying options and warrants that are currently exercisable or exercisable within 60 days.

The beneficial ownership of our Common Stock pre-Business Combinations is based on 19,812,315 shares of Common Stock (including Founder Shares) issued and outstanding as of April 26, 2021.

The expected beneficial ownership of shares of our Common Stock post-Business Combinations assuming none of the public shares are redeemed has been determined based upon the following: (i) that no public stockholders exercise their redemption rights (no redemptions scenario), (ii) that none of the investors set forth in the table below has purchased or purchases shares of Common Stock (pre- or post-Business Combinations), (iii) that 94,200,198 shares of Common Stock are issued to the former UpHealth equity holders, (iv) that 9,021,209 shares of Common Stock are issued to the former Cloudbreak equity holders, (v) that 3,000,000 shares of Common Stock are issued to PIPE Investors, and (vi) there will be an aggregate of 126,927,022 shares of the post-combination company's Common Stock issued and outstanding at Closing.

The expected beneficial ownership of shares of our Common Stock post-Business Combinations assuming the maximum number of public shares have been redeemed has been determined based on the following: (i) that holders of 9,866,819 public shares exercise their redemption rights (maximum redemption scenario), (ii) that none of the investors set forth in the table below has purchased or purchases shares of Common Stock (pre- or post-Business Combinations), (iii) that 94,200,198 shares of Common Stock are issued to the former UpHealth equity holders, (iv) that 9,021,209 shares of Common Stock are issued to the former Cloudbreak equity holders, (v) that 3,000,000 shares of Common Stock are issued to PIPE Investors, and (vi) there will be an aggregate of 117,060,203 shares of the post-combination company's Common Stock issued and outstanding at Closing.

Unless otherwise indicated, we believe that all persons named in the table below have sole voting and investment power with respect to all shares of Common Stock or warrants beneficially owned by them.

CERTAIN RELATIONSHIPS AND RELATED TRANSACTIONS

The Company's Related Party Transactions

Founder Shares

During the period from March 6, 2019 (date of inception) to March 12, 2019, the Sponsor and Northland Investment purchased 2,500,000 shares of Common Stock (the "Founder Shares") for an aggregate purchase price of $25,000, or $0.01 per share. In April 2019, the Company effected a stock dividend of 0.493 shares of Common Stock for each outstanding share of Common Stock, resulting in the Sponsor and Northland Investment holding an aggregate of 3,732,500 shares of its Common Stock. Subsequently, the Sponsor and Northland Investment sold 68,041 shares and 31,959 shares, respectively, to EarlyBird and the EarlyBird Group collectively for an aggregate purchase price of $670, or $0.0067 per share. In June 2019, the Company effected a stock dividend of 0.1541 shares of Common Stock for each outstanding share of Common Stock, resulting in the Sponsor, Northland Investment, EarlyBird and the EarlyBird Group holding an aggregate of 4,307,500 shares of its Common Stock as of December 31, 2019. The Founder Shares are identical to the Common Stock included in the Units sold in the IPO except that the Founder Shares are subject to certain transfer restrictions, as described in more detail below.

Private Placement

The Founders purchased from the Company an aggregate of 492,500 Private Placement Units at a price of $10.00 per unit in a private placement that occurred simultaneously with the completion of the initial closing of the IPO. The Founders also purchased from the Company an aggregate of 75,000 Private Placement Units at a price of $10.00 per unit in a private placement that occurred simultaneously with the completion of the second closing of the IPO with the exercise of the over-allotment option. Among the Private Placement Units, 481,250 units were purchased by the Sponsor, 29,900 units were purchased by EarlyBird, and 56,350 units were purchased by Northland Investment. Each Private Placement Unit consists of one share of the Company's Common Stock, $0.0001 par value, one Warrant, and one right to receive one-twentieth (1/20) of one share of Common Stock upon the consummation of the Company's initial Business Combination. Warrants will be exercisable for $11.50 per share, and the exercise price of the Warrants may be adjusted in certain circumstances.

One of the Company's underwriters, Northland, purchased 100,000 Private Underwriter Shares, at a purchase price of $10.00 per share in a private placement that occurred simultaneously with the completion of the initial closing of the IPO. Northland also purchased from the Company an aggregate of 20,000 Private Underwriter Shares at a price of $10.00 per share in a private placement that occurred simultaneously with the completion of the second closing of the IPO with the exercise of the over-allotment option. The Private Underwriter Shares are identical to the shares of Common Stock included in the Private Placement Units.

The Company's Founders and underwriters have agreed not to transfer, assign or sell any of their Founder Shares, Private Placement Units, shares or other securities underlying such Private Placement Units, or Private Underwriter Shares until the earlier of (i) twelve months after the completion of the Company's initial Business Combination, or earlier if, subsequent to the Company's initial Business Combination, the last sale price of the Company's Common Stock equals or exceeds $12.50 per share (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, reorganizations, recapitalizations and the like) for any 20 trading days within any 30-trading day period commencing at least 90 days after the Company's initial business combination or (ii) the date on which the Company completes a liquidation, merger, stock exchange or other similar transaction after the initial business combination that results in all of the Company's stockholders having the right to exchange their shares of Common Stock for cash, securities or other property.

Unlike the Warrants included in the Units sold in the IPO, if held by the original holder or its permitted transferees, the warrants included in the Private Placement Units are not redeemable by the Company and subject to certain limited exceptions, will be subject to transfer restrictions until one year following the consummation of the Business Combinations. If the warrants included in the Private Placement Units are held by holders other than the initial holders or their permitted transferees, the warrants included in the Private Placement Units will be redeemable by the Company and exercisable by holders on the same basis as the Warrants included in the IPO.

If the Company does not complete a Business Combination, then a portion of the proceeds from the sale of the Private Placement Units and all of the proceeds from the sale of the Private Underwriter Shares will be part of the liquidating distribution to the public stockholders.

Sponsor Promissory Note

The Company entered into a promissory note agreement with the Sponsor under which $99,937 was loaned to the Company for the payment of expenses related to the IPO. The promissory note was non-interest bearing, unsecured and was repaid in full on June 20, 2019.

Lock-up Agreements

Subject to certain limited exceptions, our Founders and each of our management team have agreed not to transfer, assign or sell any of Founder Shares, Private Placement Units or any securities underlying the Private Placement Units (including the Private Placement Shares) until the date that is one year after the date of the consummation of our initial business combination. Notwithstanding the foregoing, (1) if the last sale price of our Common Stock equals or exceeds $12.50 per share (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, reorganizations, recapitalizations and the like) for any 20 trading days within any 30-trading day period commencing at least 90 days after our initial business combination, or (2) if we consummate a liquidation, merger, stock exchange or other similar transaction after our initial business combination which results in all of our stockholders having the right to exchange their shares of Common Stock for cash, securities or other property, then the private shares will be released from the lock-up. Notwithstanding the foregoing, during the lockup period, the Founders and our management team may transfer, assign or sell any of the aforementioned securities (1) amongst the Founders and their affiliates, to our management team, or to any affiliate or family member of any of our management team, (2) in the case of an entity, as a distribution to its partners, stockholders or members upon its liquidation, (3) in the case of an individual, (i) by bona fide gift to such person's immediate family or to a trust, the beneficiary of which is a member of such person's immediate family, an affiliate of such person or to a charitable organization, (ii) by virtue of the laws of descent and distribution upon death of such person, or (iii) pursuant to a qualified domestic relations order, (4) by certain pledges to secure obligations incurred in connection with purchases of the Company's securities, (5) through private sales or transfers made in connection with the consummation of our initial business combination at prices no greater than the price at which such securities were originally purchased or (6) to us for no value for cancellation in connection with the consummation of our initial business combination; provided, that, in each such case (except clause (6), these transferees (the "Permitted Transferees") would be subject to the same restrictions and other agreements of our initial stockholders with respect to any such securities.

Working Capital Loans

In order to meet our working capital needs, the Founders, executive officers and directors, or their affiliates may, but are not obligated to, loan the Company funds, from time to time or at any time, in whatever amount they deem reasonable in their sole discretion. Each loan would be evidenced by a promissory note. Up to $1,500,000 of such loans may be convertible into additional units of the post-business combination entity at a price of $10.00 per unit at the option of the lender. The units would be identical to the Private Placement Units.

On December 19, 2020, we issued a convertible unsecured promissory note (the "Working Capital Note") in the aggregate principal amount of $300,000 to our Sponsor. We issued the Working Capital Note in consideration for a loan from the Sponsor to fund our working capital requirements between now and June 10, 2021. The Working Capital Note was issued to provide us with additional working capital and will not be deposited into our trust account. The Working Capital Note is convertible at the Sponsor's election upon the consummation of the Business Combinations. Upon such election, the Working Capital Note will convert, at a price of $10.00 per unit into units identical to the private placement units issued in connection with our IPO. The Working Capital Note bears no interest and is repayable in full upon the consummation of our Business Combinations.

Registration Rights Agreement

On June 5, 2019, the Company entered into a Registration Rights Agreement with its Founders, Northland and Ms. McDonough. These holders will be entitled to make up to three demands, excluding short form registration demands, that the Company register such securities for sale under the Securities Act. In addition, these holders will have "piggy-back" registration rights to include their securities in other registration statements filed by the Company. The Company will bear the expenses incurred in connection with the filing of any such registration statements. There will be no penalties associated with delays in registering the securities under the Registration Rights Agreement. Upon cancellation of Ms. McDonough's insider shares following her resignation, effective as of August 12, 2019, she was no longer subject to the terms and conditions set forth in the Registration Rights Agreement.

Services Agreement

The Company agreed to pay $20,000 a month for office space, administrative services and secretarial support to an affiliate of the Sponsor, GigFounders, LLC. Services commence on June 6, 2019, the date the securities were first listed on the New York Stock Exchange and will terminate upon the earlier of the consummation by the Company of an initial business combination or the liquidation of the Company. Effective February 1, 2021, GigFounders, LLC assigned all of its rights, title and interest under the Administrative Services Agreements with GigCapital2 to GigManagement, LLC, another affiliate of the Sponsor, including the monthly payment of $20,000. Pursuant to this assignment agreement, GigFounders, LLC delegated to GigManagement, LLC all of its obligations, duties, responsibilities and right to receive payment under the Administrative Services Agreement.

Strategic Services Agreements

On March 20, 2019 we entered into a Strategic Services Agreement with Tara McDonough, our former Vice President and Chief Financial Officer, which was effective through August 12, 2019, Ms. McDonough's last day providing services for the Company. Ms. McDonough was paid at an hourly rate of $200 per hour. Ms. McDonough was paid a total of $41,950 pursuant to her Strategic Services Agreement. On August 6, 2019, we entered into a Strategic Services Agreement with Brad Weightman, our current Vice President and Chief Financial Officer. Mr. Weightman is paid $10,000 per month.

Dr. Avi S. Katz, our Executive Chairman of the Board of Directors, is the manager of our Sponsor, and is also the managing member of GigFounders, LLC. In addition, he and Mr. Miotto, one of our independent directors, are the members of GigFounders, LLC, of which 90% is owned by Dr. Katz and the remaining 10% is owned by Mr. Miotto, and that partnership has a financial and voting interest in our Sponsor that entitles this partnership to participate in any economic return that the Sponsor receives for its investment in GigCapital2 in accordance with terms negotiated with the other holders of financial and voting interests in our Sponsor. Mr. Miotto's minority interest in GigFounders, LLC is passive as he does not participate in the governance of GigFounders, LLC. In addition, Mr. Mikulsky and Frostig, our other two independent directors, each have a financial and voting interest in our Sponsor that entitles each of them to participate in any economic return that the Sponsor receives for its investment in GigCapital2 in accordance with terms negotiated with the other holders of financial and voting interests in our Sponsor. Accordingly, they will benefit from the transaction to the extent of their interest in our Sponsor. The arrangement that we have with GigFounders, LLC is solely for our benefit and is not intended to provide our officers or directors compensation in lieu of a salary. We believe, based on rents and fees for similar services in the San Francisco Bay Area, that the fee charged by our Sponsor is at least as favorable as we could have obtained from an unaffiliated person.

Our IPO prospectus and charter provided that we had until December 10, 2020 (the date which was 18 months after the consummation of the IPO) to complete a Business Combination; however, our stockholders voted to extend this date to March 10, 2021. On February 2, 2021, we filed a preliminary proxy statement to request that our stockholders approve Extension Amendment No. 2 to our certificate of incorporation to extend the date that we have to consummate an initial business combination from March 10, 2021 to June 10, 2021.

Other than the foregoing, and advisory fees paid to directors for board committee service and administrative and analytical services, including certain activities on our behalf, such as identifying and investigating possible business targets and business combinations, no compensation or fees of any kind, including finder's, consulting fees and other similar fees, will be paid to the Sponsor, members of our management team or their respective affiliates, for services rendered prior to or in connection with the consummation of a Business Combination (regardless of the type of transaction that it is). However, such individuals will receive the repayment of any loans from the Sponsor, executive officers and directors for working capital purposes and reimbursement for any out-of-pocket expenses incurred by them in connection with activities on our behalf, such as identifying potential target businesses, performing business due diligence on suitable target businesses and business combinations as well as traveling to and from the offices, plants or similar locations of prospective target businesses to examine their operations. There is no limit on the amount of out-of-pocket expenses reimbursable by us.

After a Business Combination, members of our management team who remain with the combined company may be paid consulting, management or other fees from the combined company with any and all amounts being fully disclosed to stockholders, to the extent then known, in the proxy solicitation materials furnished to our stockholders. It is unlikely the amount of such compensation will be known at the time of a stockholder meeting held to consider a Business Combination, as it will be up to the directors of the post-combination business to determine executive and director compensation. In this event, such compensation will be publicly disclosed at the time of its determination in a Current Report on Form 8-K, as required by the SEC.

All ongoing and future transactions between us and any of our executive officers and directors or their respective affiliates will be on terms believed by us to be no less favorable to us than are available from unaffiliated third parties. Such transactions will require prior approval by a majority of our uninterested "independent" directors or the members of our board who do not have an interest in the transaction, in either case who had access, at our expense, to our attorneys or independent legal counsel. We will not enter into any such transaction unless our disinterested "independent" directors determine that the terms of such transaction are no less favorable to us than those that would be available to us with respect to such a transaction from unaffiliated third parties.

Report of Independent Registered Public Accounting Firm

To the Board of Directors and Stockholders of GigCapital2, Inc.

Opinion on the Financial Statements

We have audited the accompanying balance sheets of GigCapital2, Inc. (a Delaware corporation) (the “Company”) as of December 31, 2020 and 2019, and the related statements of operations and comprehensive income (loss), stockholders’ equity, and cash flows for the year ended December 31, 2020 and the period from March 6, 2019 (date of inception) through December 31, 2019, and the related notes (collectively referred to as the “financial statements”). In our opinion, the financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Company as of December 31, 2020 and 2019, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the year ended December 31, 2020 and the period from March 6, 2019 (date of inception) through December 31, 2019, in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Going Concern Uncertainty

The accompanying financial statements have been prepared assuming that GigCapital2, Inc. will continue as a going concern. As discussed in Note 1 to the financial statements, the Company has no present revenue, its business plan is dependent on the completion of a financing and the Company’s cash and working capital are not sufficient to complete its planned activities for the upcoming year. These conditions raise substantial doubt about the Company’s ability to continue as a going concern. Management’s plans regarding these matters are also described in Note 1. The financial statements do not include any adjustments that might result from the outcome of this uncertainty.

Restatement of the 2020 and 2019 Financial Statements

As discussed in Note 11 to the financial statements, the accompanying 2020 and 2019 financial statements have been restated to correct misstatements.

Basis for Opinion

These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company’s management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit. We are a public accounting firm registered with the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States) (“PCAOB”) and are required to be independent with respect to the Company in accordance with the U.S. federal securities laws and the applicable rules and regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission and the PCAOB.

We conducted our audit in accordance with the standards of the PCAOB. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement, whether due to error or fraud. The Company is not required to have, nor were we engaged to perform, an audit of its internal control over financial reporting. As part of our audit, we are required to obtain an understanding of internal control over financial reporting, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company’s internal control over financial reporting. Accordingly, we express no such opinion.

Our audit included performing procedures to assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to error or fraud, and performing procedures that respond to those risks. Such procedures included examining, on a test basis, evidence regarding the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. Our audit also included evaluating the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

/s/ BPM LLP

We have served as the Company’s auditor since 2019.

GIGCAPITAL2, INC.
Notes to Financial Statements

1. DESCRIPTION OF ORGANIZATION AND BUSINESS OPERATIONS

Organization and General

GigCapital2, Inc. (the “Company” or “GigCapital2”) was incorporated in Delaware on March 6, 2019. The Company was formed for the purpose of effecting a merger, capital stock exchange, asset acquisition, stock purchase, reorganization or similar business combination with one or more businesses (the “Business Combination”). The Company is an “emerging growth company,” as defined in Section 2(a) of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended (the “Securities Act”), as modified by the Jumpstart Our Business Startups Act of 2012 (the “JOBS Act”).

As of December 31, 2020, the Company had not commenced any operations. All activity for the period from March 6, 2019 (date of inception) through December 31, 2020 relates to the Company’s formation and the initial public offering (the “Offering”), as described in Note 4, and identifying a target Business Combination, as described below. The Company will not generate any operating revenues until after completion of its initial Business Combination, at the earliest. The Company will generate non-operating income in the form of interest income on cash from the proceeds derived from the Offering that is held as investments in the Trust Account. The Company has selected December 31 as its fiscal year end.

The Company’s sponsor, GigAcquisitions2, LLC, a Delaware limited liability company (the “Sponsor”), together with one of the underwriters, EarlyBirdCapital, Inc. (“EarlyBird”) and certain affiliates and employees of EarlyBird (the “EarlyBird Group”), and Northland Gig 2 Investment LLC, a Delaware limited liability company (“Northland Investment”) collectively make up the founders of the Company (the “Founders”).

On June 5, 2019, the initial registration statement on Form S-1, as amended, filed in connection with the Offering, and the subsequent registration statement on Form S-1 filed by the Company pursuant to Section 462(b) of the Securities Act to register additional securities, also in connection with the Offering, were declared effective. The Company concurrently entered into an underwriting agreement on June 5, 2019 to conduct the Offering, the initial closing of which was consummated on June 10, 2019 with the delivery of 15,000,000 units (the “Units”). The Units sold in the Offering consisted of the securities described in Note 4. The Offering generated gross proceeds of $150,000,000.

Simultaneously with the initial closing of the Offering, the Company consummated the initial closing of a private placement sale (the “Private Placement”) of 492,500 units (the “Private Placement Units”), at a price of $10.00 per unit, to its Founders, and 100,000 shares of its common stock (the “Private Underwriter Shares”), at a price of $10.00 per share, to Northland Securities, Inc. (“Northland”), an affiliate of Northland Investment. The Private Placement Units consisted of the securities described in Note 5. The initial closing of the Private Placement generated gross proceeds of $5,925,000.

Following the initial closing of the Offering, net proceeds in the amount of $147,000,000 from the sale of the Units and proceeds in the amount of $3,000,000 from the sale of Private Placement Units, for a total of $150,000,000, were placed in a trust account (“Trust Account”) which is described further below.

On June 13, 2019, in connection with the underwriters’ exercise in full of their option to purchase an additional 2,250,000 Units solely to cover over-allotments, if any (the “over-allotment option”), the Company consummated the sale of an additional 2,250,000 Units at $10.00 per unit. Simultaneously with the closing of the sale of the additional Units, the Company consummated a second closing of the Private Placement, resulting in the sale of an additional 75,000 Private Placement Units at $10.00 per unit to the Founders, and an additional 20,000 Private Underwriter Shares at $10.00 per share to Northland. Following the closings, an additional $22,500,000 of net proceeds were placed in the Trust Account.

Transaction costs amounted to $4,332,430, consisting of $3,450,000 of underwriting fees and $882,430 of offering costs. The Company's remaining cash after payment of the offering costs will be held outside of the Trust Account for working capital purposes.

First Extension

The Company's initial public offering prospectus and Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation provided that the Company initial had until December 10, 2020 (the date which was 18 months after the consummation of the Offering) to complete the Business Combination. On December 8, 2020, the Company held its 2020 Annual Stockholders' Meeting (the "Annual Meeting") and the Company's stockholders approved an amendment to the Company's Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation that extends the date by which the Company must consummate a Business Combination transaction from December 10, 2020 to March 10, 2021. The Company's stockholders elected to redeem 579,881 shares of the Company's common stock, par value $0.0001 per share ("Common Stock"), which represented approximately 3.4% of the shares that were part of the Units that were sold in the Company's initial public offering.

Second Extension

On March 10, 2021, the Company held a special meeting of its stockholders (the "Special Meeting"). At the Special Meeting, the Company's stockholders approved an amendment to the Company's Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation that extends the date by which the Company must consummate a Business Combination transaction from March 10, 2021 to June 10, 2021. The certificate of amendment was filed with the Delaware Secretary of State and has effective date of March 10, 2021. The Company's stockholders elected to redeem 1,852,804 shares of the Company's Common Stock, which represented approximately 10.7% of the shares that were part of the Units that were sold in the Company's initial public offering.

Working Capital Note

On December 19, 2020, the Company issued a convertible unsecured promissory note (the "Working Capital Note") in the aggregate principal amount of $300,000 to the Sponsor. The Company issued the Working Capital Note in consideration for a loan from the Sponsor to fund the Company's working capital requirements between now and March 10, 2021, which is the period of time that the Company has available to complete its initial Business Combination following the December 8, 2020 amendment to its certificate of incorporation. Subsequently, the Company further extended the date which it must complete the Business Combination from March 10, 2021 to June 10, 2021 as described under Second Extension above. The Working Capital Note was issued to provide the Company with additional working capital and will not be deposited into the Company's Trust Account. The Working Capital Note is convertible at the Sponsor's election upon the consummation of the proposed business combinations (the "Business Combinations") described in Note 2. Business Combinations and Related Agreements.

Upon such election, the Working Capital Note will convert, at a price of $10.00 per Unit, into Units identical to the Private Placement Units issued in connection with the Company's initial public offering. The issuance of the Working Capital Note resulted in a contingent beneficial conversion feature which was determined to be insignificant and will be recorded when the Business Combinations close.

The Working Capital Note bears no interest and is repayable in full upon the consummation of the Company's Business Combination.

The Trust Account

The funds in the Trust Account have been invested only in U.S. government treasury bills with a maturity of one hundred and eighty-five (185) days or less or in money market funds meeting certain conditions under Rule 2a-7 under the Investment Company Act of 1940 which invest only in direct U.S. government obligations. Funds will remain in the Trust Account until the earlier of (i) the consummation of the Business Combination or (ii) the distribution of the Trust Account as described below. The remaining proceeds from the Offering outside the Trust Account may be used to pay for business, legal and accounting due diligence expenses on acquisition targets and continuing general and administrative expenses.

The Company's Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation provides that, other than the withdrawal of interest to pay taxes, none of the funds held in the Trust Account will be released until the earlier of: (i) the completion of the Business Combination; (ii) the redemption of 100% of the shares of common stock included in the units sold in the Offering (the "public shares") if the Company is unable to complete a Business Combination within 24 months from the closing of the Offering on June 10, 2019; or (iii) the redemption of the public shares in connection with a stockholder vote to amend the Company's amended and restated certificate of incorporation to modify the substance or timing of the Company's obligation to redeem 100% of its public shares if it does not complete its initial Business Combination within 24 months from the closing of the Offering on June 10, 2019.

Business Combination

The Company will have 24 months from June 10, 2019, the closing date of the Offering, to complete its initial Business Combination. If the Company does not complete a Business Combination within this period of time, it shall (i) cease all operations except for the purposes of winding up; (ii) as promptly as reasonably possible, but not more than ten business days thereafter, redeem the public shares of common stock for a per share pro rata portion of the Trust Account, including interest, but less taxes payable (less up to $100,000 of such net interest to pay dissolution expenses) and (iii) as promptly as possible following such redemption, dissolve and liquidate the balance of the Company's net assets to its creditors and remaining stockholders, as part of its plan of dissolution and liquidation. The Founders, Northland and the Company's former Chief Financial Officer, Ms. McDonough, who received 5,000 shares of common stock (the "insider shares"), have entered into letter agreements with the Company, pursuant to which they have waived their rights to participate in any redemption with respect to their initial shares; however, if the Founders, Northland or Ms. McDonough or any of the Company's officers, directors or affiliates acquired shares of common stock after the Offering, they will be entitled to a pro rata share of the Trust Account upon the Company's redemption or liquidation in the event the Company does not complete a Business Combination within the required time period. As a result of Ms. McDonough's resignation effective as of August 12, 2019, Ms. McDonough forfeited her insider shares.

In the event of such distribution, it is possible that the per share value of the residual assets remaining available for distribution (including Trust Account assets) will be less than the initial public offering price per unit.

Going Concern Consideration

As of December 31, 2020, the Company had $478,737 in cash and a working capital deficit of $2,012,409. Further, the Company has no present revenue, its business plan is dependent on the completion of a financing and it expects to continue to incur significant costs in pursuit of its financing and acquisition plans. These conditions raise substantial doubt about the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. There is no assurance that the Company's plans to raise capital or to consummate a Business Combination will be successful or successful within the target business acquisition period. The financial statements do not include any adjustments that might result from the outcome of this uncertainty.

Restatement of Previously Issued Financial Statements

The Company has restated its financial statements as of December 31, 2020 and 2019, for the year ended December 31, 2020 and the period from March 6, 2019 (Date of Inception) through December 31, 2019, as well as the unaudited condensed financial statements for the three month period ended March 31, 2020, the three and six month periods ended June 30, 2020 and 2019 and the three and nine month periods ended September 30, 2020 and 2019, to correct misstatements in those prior periods primarily related to misstatements identified in improperly applying accounting guidance on certain warrants, recognizing them as equity instead of a warrant liability, under the guidance of Accounting Standards Codification (“ASC”) 815-40, Contracts in Entity’s Own Equity.

See Note 11, Restatement of Previously Issued Financial Statements for additional information regarding the errors identified and the restatement adjustments made to the financial statements.

2. Business Combinations and Related Agreements

Business Combinations

On November 23, 2020, the Company executed a business combination agreement, dated as of November 20, 2020, with UpHealth Holdings, Inc. (“UpHealth”), and UpHealth Merger Sub, Inc., (“UpHealth Merger Sub”) (such business combination agreement, the “UpHealth BCA”, and such business combination, the “UpHealth Combination”). In addition, on November 23, 2020, the Company executed a business combination agreement, dated as of November 20, 2020, with Cloudbreak Health, LLC (“Cloudbreak”), Cloudbreak Merger Sub, LLC (“Cloudbreak Merger Sub”), Chirinjeev Kathuria and Mariya Pylypiv (collectively, the “UpHealth Significant Stockholders”) and UpHealth, and Shareholder Representative Services LLC, solely in its capacity as the representative, agent and attorney-in-fact of the Cloudbreak members (such business combination agreement, the “Cloudbreak BCA”, and such business combination, the “Cloudbreak Combination”).

The UpHealth BCA

Pursuant to the terms of the UpHealth BCA, GigCapital2 will acquire UpHealth through the statutory merger of UpHealth Merger Sub with and into UpHealth, with UpHealth surviving the merger as a wholly owned subsidiary of GigCapital2 (the “UpHealth Merger”). At the effective time of the UpHealth Merger, each share of UpHealth common stock will be canceled and converted into the right to receive a number of shares of common stock, par value $0.0001 per share, of GigCapital2 (the “GigCapital2 Common Stock”) equal to the Exchange Ratio. The Exchange Ratio will be equal to the Aggregate Merger Consideration divided by the sum of the aggregate number of shares of UpHealth common stock issued and outstanding immediately prior to the effective time of the UpHealth Merger. The Aggregate Merger Consideration shall not exceed 99,000,000 shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock, subject to certain adjustments, less the Thrasys Incentive Amount (as defined below). UpHealth has previously entered into a share purchase agreement providing for the purchase of 90% or more of the equity interests of Glocal Healthcare Systems Private Limited, a company incorporated under the laws of India (“Glocal”), and UpHealth as of the date of entry into the UpHealth BCA owns approximately 43% of the equity interests of Glocal.

The Aggregate Merger Consideration shall be reduced by approximately 99,000 shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock for each 1.0% interest of Glocal that is below 90% and that is not yet acquired by UpHealth upon the UpHealth Closing. Adjustments to the Aggregate Merger Consideration will further be made to the extent that the indebtedness at the Closing of UpHealth and the Company Subsidiaries less the cash and cash equivalents of UpHealth and the Company Subsidiaries as of immediately before such time is greater than $33,850,000 (excluding any Acquisition Promissory Notes). The Acquisition Promissory Notes are promissory notes previously issued by UpHealth for its acquisitions of Thrasys, Inc. (“Thrasys”), Behavioral Health Services, LLC (“Behavioral Health Services”), TTC Healthcare, Innovations Group, Inc., a Utah corporation (“Innovations Group”) and the interests in Glocal, with a maximum aggregate principal amount of $86,200,000.

Two individuals who are officers of UpHealth, and were shareholders of Thrasys prior to its merger with UpHealth, will following the UpHealth Closing, if he or she is a service provider to GigCapital2, the Surviving Corporation or any of the Company Subsidiaries as of the date of grant, be awarded restricted stock units of GigCapital2 in the amount of the Thrasys Incentive Amount.

Following the amendment of the UpHealth Business Combination Agreement on March 23, 2021, the Thrasys Incentive Amount that shall be eligible to be granted shall be (a) 32.016% multiplied by (b) 15.136% multiplied by (c) the Adjusted Aggregate Merger/Incentive Amount. The Adjusted Aggregate Merger/Incentive Amount shall be (a) $990,000,000, subject to certain adjustments, divided by (b) $10.00. In the event that either individual ceases to be a service provider to GigCapital2, the Surviving Corporation or any of the Company Subsidiaries as of the date of grant, the portion of the Thrasys Incentive Amount allocated to such individual will not be reallocated to the other individual. Such restricted stock units shall vest into shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock at the earlier of (i) the date that is one year after the UpHealth Closing, (ii) the date on which the last sale price of GigCapital2 Common Stock equals or exceeds $12.50 per share (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, reorganizations, recapitalizations and the like) for any 20 trading days within any 30-trading day period commencing at least 90 days after the UpHealth Closing, or (iii) the date on which GigCapital2 completes a liquidation, merger, stock exchange or other similar transaction that results in all of the GigCapital2's stockholders having the right to exchange their shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock for cash, securities or other property. If either of these individuals ceases to be a service provider to GigCapital2, the Surviving Corporation or any of the Company Subsidiaries prior to any vesting date, the unvested portion of the restricted stock units shall be cancelled and surrendered to GigCapital2.

The Cloudbreak BCA

Pursuant to the terms of the Cloudbreak BCA, GigCapital2 will acquire Cloudbreak through the statutory merger of Cloudbreak Merger Sub with and into Cloudbreak, with Cloudbreak surviving the merger as a wholly owned subsidiary of GigCapital2 (the "Cloudbreak Merger"). At the effective time of the Cloudbreak Merger (the "Cloudbreak Effective Time"): (i) each Common Unit (and the membership interests represented thereby) issued and outstanding immediately prior to the Cloudbreak Effective Time shall be converted into the right to receive a number of shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock equal to the Common Unit Exchange Ratio (together with any Business Combination Share Adjustment to which each Common Unit is entitled, the "Common Unit Merger Consideration"); (ii) each Series A Preferred Unit (and the membership interests represented thereby) issued and outstanding immediately prior to the Cloudbreak Effective Time shall be converted into the right to receive a number of shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock equal to the Preferred Unit Exchange Ratio (in addition to any Business Combination Share Adjustment to which each Series A Preferred Unit is entitled); and (iii) each Option that is outstanding and unexercised immediately prior to the Cloudbreak Effective Time, whether vested or unvested, shall be assumed by GigCapital2 and converted into an option to purchase a number of shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock in an amount set forth on the Allocation Schedule, which amount shall be equal to the product of (i) the number of Common Units subject to such Option, multiplied by (ii) the Common Unit Exchange Ratio (each such converted option, an "Exchanged Option"). Each holder of Exchanged Options shall also be entitled to any Business Combination Share Adjustment made pursuant to the Cloudbreak BCA. Additionally, immediately prior to the Cloudbreak Effective Time, each Common Warrant shall convert into Common Units in accordance with their terms. The aggregate number of shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock issuable at the closing of the Cloudbreak Merger, and upon the exercise of all Exchanged Options on a net exercise basis, shall equal 11,000,000 shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock.

Furthermore, in connection with the closing of the Cloudbreak Combination (the "Cloudbreak Closing"), (i) GigCapital2 has agreed to repay or cause to be repaid on behalf of Cloudbreak certain debt obligations of Cloudbreak and (ii) the Significant UpHealth Stockholders have agreed to subject 5,500,000 of their shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock (as adjusted for stock splits, combinations, reorganizations and the like) that they would receive upon the closing of the UpHealth Combination (the "UpHealth Closing") to potential forfeiture and transfer (such transfer, the "Business Combination Share Adjustment") to the Members in connection with a Valuation Shortfall on the 540th day from the Closing Date (or if such day is not a Business Day, the following Business Day) (the “Measurement Date”) as provided in the Cloudbreak BCA.

A Valuation Shortfall shall occur if the dollar volume-weighted average price for the GigCapital2 Common Stock on the New York Stock Exchange during the period beginning at 9:30 a.m., New York time, and ending at 4:00 p.m., New York time, as reported by Bloomberg through its “HP” function (set to weighted average) or if not available on Bloomberg, as reported by Morningstar (the “VWAP”) for the ten trading days preceding the Measurement Date (the “Reference VWAP”) is less than $13.64, and the amount of such Valuation Shortfall is the difference between $13.64 and the Reference VWAP. In the event that a Valuation Shortfall occurs, the amount of shares of GigCapital2 Common Stock that the Significant UpHealth Stockholders shall forfeit to the Members will be the lesser of (i) the Adjustment Amount and (ii) 5,500,000 (or, if the Adjustment Amount equals 5,500,000, the Adjustment Amount). The Adjustment Amount means the quotient (rounded up to the nearest whole number) of (A) the Aggregate Valuation Shortfall, divided by (B) the Reference VWAP. The Aggregate Valuation Shortfall means the product of (A) the amount of the Valuation Shortfall, multiplied by (B) 11,000,000. Upon the closing of the transactions, the combined company will be named UpHealth, Inc. and will continue to be listed on the NYSE under the new ticker symbol “UPH”.

Termination

The UpHealth BCA and the Cloudbreak BCA each allow the parties to terminate such agreements if certain conditions described therein are satisfied. Additionally, under the Cloudbreak BCA, Cloudbreak is allowed to terminate the Cloudbreak BCA if there is less than $125,000,000 of cash and cash equivalents in the Trust Account at any time prior to the Cloudbreak Closing.

3. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Basis of Presentation

The financial statements of the Company have been prepared in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America (“GAAP”).

Emerging Growth Company

Section 102(b)(1) of the JOBS Act exempts emerging growth companies from being required to comply with new or revised financial accounting standards until private companies (that is, those that have not had a Securities Act registration statement declared effective or do not have a class of securities registered under the Exchange Act) are required to comply with the new or revised financial accounting standards. The JOBS Act provides that a company can elect to opt out of the extended transition period and comply with the requirements that apply to non-emerging growth companies but any such election to opt out is irrevocable. The Company has elected not to opt out of such extended transition period which means that when an accounting standard is issued or revised and it has different application dates for public or private companies, the Company, as an emerging growth company, can adopt the new or revised accounting standard at the time private companies adopt the new or revised standard.

Net Loss Per Share of Common Stock

Net loss per share of common stock is computed by dividing net loss by the weighted-average number of shares of common stock outstanding for the period. The Company applies the two-class method in calculating the net loss per common share. Shares of common stock subject to possible redemption as of December 31, 2020 and 2019 have been excluded from the calculation of the basic net loss per share since such shares, if redeemed, only participate in their pro rata share of the Trust Account earnings. When calculating its diluted net loss per share, the Company has not considered the effect of (i) the incremental number of shares of common stock to settle warrants sold in the Offering and Private Placement, as calculated using the treasury stock method; (ii) the contingently issuable shares associated with the rights sold in the Offering and Private Placement to receive one-twentieth of one share of common stock upon the consummation of the Company's initial Business Combination; and (iii) the insider shares issued to the former Chief Financial Officer representing 5,000 shares of common stock underlying restricted stock awards for the period they were outstanding. Since the Company was in a net loss position during the year ended December 31, 2020 and the period from March 6, 2019 (inception) through December 31, 2019 after deducting net income attributable to common stock subject to redemption, diluted net loss per common share is the same as basic net loss per common share for the periods presented.

Reconciliation of Net Loss Per Common Share

In accordance with the two-class method, the Company's net income (loss) is adjusted for net income that is attributable to common stock subject to redemption, as these shares only participate in the income of the Trust Account and not the losses of the Company. Accordingly, net loss per common share, basic and diluted, is calculated as follows:

	Year ended December 31, 2020	Period from March 6, 2019 (Date of Inception) through December 31, 2019
	As Restated	As Restated
Net income (loss)	$(4,128,841)	$ 295,115
Less: net income attributable to common stock subject to redemption	(555,866)	(1,005,550)
Net loss attributable to common stockholders	$(4,684,707)	$ (710,435)
Weighted-average common shares outstanding, basic and diluted	5,304,752	4,847,100
Net loss per share common share, basic and diluted	$ (0.88)	$ (0.15)

Cash and Cash Equivalents

The Company considers all short-term investments with a maturity of three months or less when purchased to be cash equivalents. The Company maintains cash balances that at times may be uninsured or in deposit accounts that exceed Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation limits. The Company maintains its cash deposits with major financial institutions.

Cash and Marketable Securities Held in Trust Account

As of December 31, 2020, the assets held in the Trust Account consisted of money market funds and cash.

Concentration of Credit Risk

Financial instruments that potentially subject the Company to concentrations of credit risk consist of a cash account in a financial institution, which at times, may exceed federally insured limits. The Company has not experienced losses on these accounts and management believes the Company is not exposed to significant risks on such accounts.

Financial Instruments

The fair value of the Company's assets and liabilities approximates the carrying amounts represented in the balance sheets primarily due to their short-term nature.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with GAAP requires the Company's management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Offering Costs

Offering costs in the amount of $4,332,430 consist of legal, accounting, underwriting fees and other costs incurred since inception that are directly related to the Offering. Offering costs were charged to stockholders' equity and recorded in additional paid-in capital as a reduction to the gross proceeds received upon completion of the Offering.

Common Stock Subject to Possible Redemption

Common stock subject to mandatory redemption (if any) is classified as a liability instrument and is measured at fair value. Conditionally redeemable common stock (including common stock that features redemption rights that are either within the control of the holder or subject to redemption upon the occurrence of uncertain events not solely within the Company's control) is classified as temporary equity. At all other times, common stock is classified as stockholders' equity. The Company's common stock features certain redemption rights that are considered to be outside of the Company's control and subject to occurrence of uncertain future events. Accordingly, as of December 31, 2020 and 2019, common stock subject to possible redemption is presented as temporary equity, outside of the stockholders' equity section of the Company's balance sheets.

Stock-based Compensation

Stock-based compensation related to restricted stock awards are based on fair value of common stock on the grant date. The shares underlying the Company's restricted stock awards are subject to forfeiture if these individuals resign or are terminated for cause prior to the completion of the Business Combination. Therefore, the related stock-based compensation will be recognized upon the completion of a Business Combination, unless the related shares are forfeited prior to a Business Combination occurring.

Income Taxes

The Company follows the asset and liability method of accounting for income taxes. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are recognized for the estimated future tax consequences attributable to differences between the financial statement carrying amounts of existing assets and liabilities and their respective tax bases. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are measured using enacted tax rates expected to apply to taxable income in the years in which those temporary differences are expected to be recovered or settled. The effect on deferred tax assets and liabilities of a change in tax rates is recognized in income in the period that included the enactment date. Valuation allowances are established, when necessary, to reduce deferred tax assets to the amount expected to be realized.

The Company prescribes a recognition threshold and a measurement attribute for the financial statement recognition and measurement of tax positions taken or expected to be taken in a tax return. For those benefits to be recognized, a tax position must be more-likely-than-not to be sustained upon examination by taxing authorities. There were no unrecognized tax benefits as of. The Company recognizes accrued interest and penalties related to unrecognized tax benefits as income tax expense. The amount paid for interest and penalties during the year ended December 31, 2020 was $724, which was related to 2019 income taxes. No amounts were paid for interest and penalties during the period from March 6, 2019 (inception) through December 31, 2019. The Company is currently not aware of any issues under review that could result in significant payments, accruals or material deviation from its position. The Company is subject to income tax examinations by major taxing authorities since inception.

Warrant Liability

The Company accounts for warrants for shares of the Company's common stock that are not indexed to its own stock as liabilities at fair value on the balance sheet. The warrants are subject to remeasurement at each balance sheet date and any change in fair value is recognized as a component of other income (expense), net on the statements of operations and comprehensive income (loss). The Company will continue to adjust the liability for changes in fair value until the earlier of the exercise or expiration of the common stock warrants. At that time, the portion of the warrant liability related to the common stock warrants will be reclassified to additional paid-in capital.

Recent Accounting Pronouncements

The Company does not believe that any recently issued, but not yet effective, accounting pronouncements, if currently adopted, would have a material effect on the Company's financial statements.

4. OFFERING

On June 10, 2019, the Company completed the initial closing of the Offering whereby the Company sold 15,000,000 Units at a price of $10.00 per Unit. On June 13, 2019, the Company completed the second closing of the Offering with the exercise of the over-allotment option with the consummation of the sale of an additional 2,250,000 Units at a price of $10.00 per Unit. Each Unit consists of one share of the Company's common stock, $0.0001 par value, one warrant to purchase one share of common stock (the "Warrants"), and one right to receive one-twentieth (1/20) of one share of common stock upon consummation of the initial Business Combination (the "Rights"). Warrants will be exercisable for $11.50 per share, and the exercise price of the Warrants may be adjusted in certain circumstances as discussed in Note 7.

On June 26, 2019, the Company announced that the holders of the Company's Units may elect to separately trade the securities underlying such Units which commenced on July 1, 2019. Any Units not separated will continue to trade on the New York Stock Exchange under the symbol "GIX.U". Any underlying shares of common stock, warrants and rights that are separated will trade on the New York Stock Exchange under the symbols "GIX," "GIX.WS" and "GIX.RT," respectively.

5. RELATED PARTY TRANSACTIONS

Founder Shares

During the period from March 6, 2019 (date of inception) to March 12, 2019, the Sponsor and Northland Investment purchased 2,500,000 shares of common stock (the "Founder Shares") for an aggregate purchase price of $25,000, or $0.01 per share. In April 2019, the Company effected a stock dividend of 0.493 shares of common stock for each outstanding share of common stock, resulting in the Sponsor and Northland Investment holding an aggregate of 3,732,500 shares of its common stock. Subsequently, the Sponsor and Northland Investment sold 68,041 shares and 31,959 shares, respectively, to EarlyBird and the EarlyBird Group collectively for an aggregate purchase price of $670, or $0.0067 per share. In June 2019, the Company effected a stock dividend of 0.1541 shares of common stock for each outstanding share of common stock, resulting in the Sponsor, Northland Investment, EarlyBird and the EarlyBird Group holding an aggregate of 4,307,500 shares of its common stock as of December 31, 2020 and 2019. The Founder Shares are identical to the common stock included in the Units sold in the Offering except that the Founder Shares are subject to certain transfer restrictions, as described in more detail below.

Private Placement

The Founders purchased from the Company an aggregate of 492,500 Private Placement Units at a price of $10.00 per unit in a private placement that occurred simultaneously with the completion of the initial closing of the Offering. The Founders also purchased from the Company an aggregate of 75,000 Private Placement Units at a price of $10.00 per unit in a private placement that occurred simultaneously with the completion of the second closing of the Offering with the exercise of the over-allotment option. Among the Private Placement Units, 481,250 units were purchased by the Sponsor, 29,900 units were purchased by EarlyBird, and 56,350 units were purchased by Northland Investment. Each Private Placement Unit consists of one share of the Company's common stock, $0.0001 par value, one Warrant, and one right to receive one-twentieth of a share of common stock upon the consummation of the Company's initial Business Combination. Warrants will be exercisable for $11.50 per share, and the exercise price of the Warrants may be adjusted in certain circumstances as described in Note 7.

One of the Company's underwriters, Northland, purchased 100,000 Private Underwriter Shares, at a purchase price of $10.00 per share in a private placement that occurred simultaneously with the completion of the initial closing of the Offering. Northland also purchased from the Company an aggregate of 20,000 Private Underwriter Shares at a price of $10.00 per share in a private placement that occurred simultaneously with the completion of the second closing of the Offering with the exercise of the over-allotment option. The Private Underwriter Shares are identical to the shares of common stock included in the Private Placement Units.

The Company's Founders and underwriters have agreed not to transfer, assign or sell any of their Founder Shares, Private Placement Units, shares or other securities underlying such Private Placement Units, or Private Underwriter Shares until the earlier of (i) twelve months after the completion of the Company's initial Business Combination, or earlier if, subsequent to the Company's initial Business Combination, the last sale price of the Company's common stock equals or exceeds $12.50 per share (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, reorganizations, recapitalizations and the like) for any 20 trading days within any 30-trading day period commencing at least 90 days after the Company's initial Business Combination or (ii) the date on which the Company completes a liquidation, merger, stock exchange or other similar transaction after the initial Business Combination that results in all of the Company's stockholders having the right to exchange their shares of common stock for cash, securities or other property.

Unlike the Warrants included in the Units sold in the Offering, if held by the original holder or its permitted transferees, the warrants included in the Private Placement Units are not redeemable by the Company and subject to certain limited exceptions, will be subject to transfer restrictions until one year following the consummation of the Business Combination. If the warrants included in the Private Placement Units are held by holders other than the initial holders or their permitted transferees, the warrants included in the Private Placement Units will be redeemable by the Company and exercisable by holders on the same basis as the Warrants included in the Offering.

If the Company does not complete a Business Combination, then a portion of the proceeds from the sale of the Private Placement Units and all of the proceeds from the sale of the Private Underwriter Shares will be part of the liquidating distribution to the public stockholders.

Registration Rights

On June 5, 2019, the Company entered into a Registration Rights Agreement with its Founders, Northland and Ms. McDonough. These holders will be entitled to make up to three demands, excluding short form registration demands, that the Company register such securities for sale under the Securities Act. In addition, these holders will have “piggy-back” registration rights to include their securities in other registration statements filed by the Company. The Company will bear the expenses incurred in connection with the filing of any such registration statements. There will be no penalties associated with delays in registering the securities under the Registration Rights Agreement. Upon cancellation of Ms. McDonough’s insider shares following her resignation, effective as of August 12, 2019, she was no longer subject to the terms and conditions set forth in the Registration Rights Agreement.

Underwriters Agreement

The Company granted the underwriters a 45-day option to purchase up to 2,250,000 additional Units to cover any over-allotments, at the Offering price less deferred underwriting discounts and commissions. On June 13, 2019, the underwriters elected to fully exercise their over-allotment option to purchase 2,250,000 Units at a purchase price of $10.00 per unit.

The Company paid an underwriting discount of $0.20 per Unit to the underwriters.

Administrative Services Agreement and Other Agreements

The Company agreed to pay $20,000 a month for office space, administrative services and secretarial support to an affiliate of the Sponsor, GigFounders, LLC. Services commenced on June 6, 2019, the date the securities were first listed on the New York Stock Exchange and will terminate upon the earlier of the consummation by the Company of an initial Business Combination or the liquidation of the Company.

Related Party Loan

The Company entered into a promissory note agreement with the Sponsor under which $99,937 was loaned to the Company for the payment of expenses related to the Offering. The promissory note was non-interest bearing, unsecured and was repaid in full on June 20, 2019.

On December 19, 2020, the Company issued the Working Capital Note in the aggregate principal amount of $300,000 to the Sponsor. The Company issued the Working Capital Note in consideration for a loan from the Sponsor to fund the Company’s working capital requirements between now and June 10, 2021, which is the period of time that the Company has available to complete its initial business combination following the December 8, 2020 amendment to its certificate of incorporation. The Working Capital Note was issued to provide the Company with additional working capital and will not be deposited into the Company’s Trust Account. The Working Capital Note is convertible at the Sponsor’s election upon the consummation of the proposed Business Combinations described in Note 2.

Upon such election, the Working Capital Note will convert, at a price of $10.00 per Unit, into Units identical to the Private Placement Units issued in connection with the Company’s initial public offering. The issuance of the Working Capital Note resulted in a contingent beneficial conversion feature which was determined to be insignificant and will be recorded when the Business Combinations close.

The Working Capital Note bears no interest and is repayable in full upon the consummation of the Company’s Business Combinations.

6. COMMITMENTS AND CONTINGENCIES

Business Combination Marketing Agreement

The Company engaged its underwriters as advisors to assist it in holding meetings with its stockholders to discuss the potential Business Combination and the Target Business’s attributes, introduce it to potential investors that are interested in purchasing its securities in connection with the potential Business Combination, assist it in obtaining stockholder approval for the Business Combination and assist it with its press releases and public filings in connection with the Business Combination. Pursuant to that agreement, the Company will pay the underwriters a cash fee for such services upon the consummation of its initial Business Combination in an amount equal to, in the aggregate, 3.5% of the gross proceeds of the Offering, including any proceeds from the exercise of the over-allotment options.

7. STOCKHOLDERS' EQUITY

Common Stock

The authorized common stock of the Company includes up to 100,000,000 shares. Holders of the Company's common stock are entitled to one vote for each share of common stock. As of December 31, 2020 and 2019, there were 5,639,096 and 5,220,358 shares of common stock issued and outstanding and not subject to possible redemption (of which there are 16,026,023 and 17,024,642 such shares outstanding, respectively).

In connection with the First Extension as described in Note 1, to amend the Company's Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation to extend the date by which the Company must consummate a business combination transaction from December 10, 2020 to March 10, 2021, stockholders elected to redeem 579,881 shares of the Company's Common Stock, which represents approximately 3.4% of the shares that were part of the Units that were sold in the Company's initial public offering. As such in December 2020, the Company paid $5,857,340 to redeem the 579,881 shares of common stock. Following such redemptions, $168,384,949 remained in the Trust Account and 21,665,119 shares of common stock remained issued and outstanding as of December 31, 2020.

Preferred Stock

The Company is authorized to issue 1,000,000 shares of preferred stock with such designations, voting and other rights and preferences as may be determined from time to time by the Board of Directors. As of December 31, 2020 and 2019, there were no shares of preferred stock issued and outstanding.

Warrants

Warrants will be exercisable for $11.50 per share, and the exercise price and number of Warrant shares issuable on exercise of the Warrants may be adjusted in certain circumstances including in the event of a stock dividend, extraordinary dividend or recapitalization, reorganization, merger or consolidation of the Company. In addition, if (x) the Company issues additional shares of common stock or equity-linked securities for capital raising purposes in connection with the closing of its initial Business Combination at an issue price or effective issue price of less than $9.50 per share of common stock (with such issue price or effective issue price to be determined in good faith by the Company's board of directors, and in the case of any such issuance to the Company's Founders or their affiliates, without taking into account any Founder Shares held by them prior to such issuance), (y) the aggregate gross proceeds from such issuances represent more than 60% of the total equity proceeds, and interest thereon, available for the funding of the Company's initial Business Combination on the date of the consummation of its initial Business Combination (net of redemptions), and (z) the volume weighted average trading price of the Company's common stock during the 20 trading-day period starting on the trading day prior to the day on which the Company consummates its initial Business Combination (such price, the "Market Value") is below $9.50 per share, the exercise price of the Warrants will be adjusted (to the nearest cent) to be equal to 115% of the greater of (i) the Market Value or (ii) the price at which the Company issues the additional shares of common stock or equity-linked securities.

Each Warrant will become exercisable on the later of 30 days after the completion of the Company's initial Business Combination or 12 months from the closing of the Offering and will expire five years after the completion of the Company's initial Business Combination or earlier upon redemption or liquidation. However, if the Company does not complete its initial Business Combination on or prior to the 24-month period allotted to complete the Business Combination, the Warrants will expire at the end of such period. If the Company is unable to deliver registered shares of common stock to the holder upon exercise of the Warrants during the exercise period, there will be no net cash settlement of these Warrants and the Warrants will expire worthless, unless they may be exercised on a cashless basis in the circumstances described in the Warrant agreement. Once the Warrants become exercisable, the Company may redeem the outstanding Warrants in whole and not in part at a price of $0.01 per Warrant upon a minimum of 30 days' prior written notice of redemption, only in the event that the last sale price of the Company's shares of common stock equals or exceeds $18.00 per share for any 20 trading days within the 30-trading day period ending on the third trading day before the Company sends the notice of redemption to the Warrant holders.

Under the terms of the Warrant agreement, the Company has agreed to use its best efforts to file a new registration statement under the Securities Act, following the completion of the Company's initial Business Combination, for the registration of the shares of common stock issuable upon exercise of the Warrants included in the Units.

As of December 31, 2020 and 2019, there were 17,817,500 warrants outstanding.

Rights

Each holder of a right will receive one-twentieth (1/20) of one share of common stock upon consummation of an initial Business Combination, even if the holder of such right redeemed all shares of common stock held by it in connection with an initial Business Combination. No additional consideration will be required to be paid by a holder of rights in order to receive its additional shares upon consummation of an initial Business Combination, as the consideration related thereto has been included in the unit purchase price paid for by investors in the Offering. If the Company enters into a definitive agreement for a Business Combination in which the Company will not be the surviving entity, the definitive agreement therefore will provide for the holders of rights to receive the same per share consideration the holders of the common stock will receive in the transaction on an as-converted into common stock basis, and each holder of a right will be required to affirmatively convert its rights in order to receive the 1/20 share underlying each right (without paying any additional consideration) upon consummation of a Business Combination. More specifically, the right holder will be required to indicate its election to convert the rights into underlying shares as well as to return the original rights certificates to the Company.

If the Company is unable to complete an initial Business Combination within 24 months from the closing date of the Offering and the Company liquidates the funds held in the Trust Account, holders of rights will not receive any such funds with respect to their rights, nor will they receive any distribution from the Company's assets held outside of the Trust Account with respect to such rights, and the rights will expire worthless. Further, there are no contractual penalties for failure to deliver shares of common stock to the holders of the rights upon consummation of an initial Business Combination. Additionally, in no event will the Company be required to net cash settle the rights.

As of December 31, 2020 and 2019, there were 17,817,500 rights outstanding.

Stock-based Compensation

The 5,000 shares issued to Ms. McDonough, the Company's former Chief Financial Officer, were forfeited upon her resignation in August 2019. Since an initial Business Combination did not occur prior to the forfeiture of these shares, no stock-based compensation expense was recorded in the Company's statements of operations and comprehensive income (loss).

8. FAIR VALUE MEASUREMENTS

The fair value of the Company's financial assets and liabilities reflects management's estimate of amounts that the Company would have received in connection with the sale of the assets or paid in connection with the transfer of the liabilities in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. In connection with measuring the fair value of its assets and liabilities, the Company seeks to maximize the use of observable inputs (market data obtained from independent sources) and to minimize the use of unobservable inputs (internal assumptions about how market participants would price assets and liabilities). The following fair value hierarchy is used to classify assets and liabilities based on the observable inputs and unobservable inputs used in order to value the assets and liabilities:

- Level 1: Quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities. An active market for an asset or liability is a market in which transactions for the asset or liability occur with sufficient frequency and volume to provide pricing information on an ongoing basis.
- Level 2: Observable inputs other than Level 1 inputs. Examples of Level 2 inputs include quoted prices in active markets for similar assets or liabilities and quoted prices for identical assets or liabilities in markets that are not active.
- Level 3: Unobservable inputs which are supported by little or no market activity and which are significant to the fair value of the assets or liabilities.

The Company has determined that the Warrants issued as part of the Private Placement Units are subject to treatment as a liability. As the transfer of these Warrants to anyone other than the purchasers or their permitted transferees, would result in these Warrants having substantially the same terms as the Warrants issued in the Offering, the Company has determined that the fair value of each Warrant issued as part of the Private Placement Units is the same as that of a Warrant issued in the Offering, with an insignificant adjustment for short-term marketability restrictions. Accordingly, the Warrants issued as part of the Private Placement Units are classified as Level 2 financial instruments.

The following table presents information about the Company's assets and liabilities that are measured at fair value on a recurring basis as of December 31, 2020 and 2019, and indicates the fair value hierarchy of the valuation inputs the Company utilized to determine such fair value:

Description:	Level	December 31, 2020	December 31, 2019

9. INCOME TAX

The sources of income (loss) before provision for income taxes are as follows for the year ended December 31, 2020 and the period from March 6, 2019 (date of inception) through December 31, 2019:

	Year ended December 31, 2020	Period from March 6, 2019 (Date of Inception) through December 31, 2019
	As Restated	As Restated
Domestic	$(3,857,754)	$853,929
Foreign	—	—
Total	$(3,857,754)	$853,929

The provision for income taxes was comprised of the following for the year ended December 31, 2020 and the period from March 6, 2019 (date of inception) through December 31, 2019:

	Year ended December 31, 2020	Period from March 6, 2019 (Date of Inception) through December 31, 2019
	As Restated	As Restated
Current:
Federal	$180,694	$393,267
State and local	90,393	165,547
Foreign	—	—
Total Current	271,087	558,814
Deferred:

State and local	—	—
Foreign	—	—
Total deferred income tax expense	—	—
Total provision for income taxes	$271,087	$558,814

Reconciliation of the federal statutory income tax rate to the effective income tax rate is as follows:

	Year ended December 31, 2020	Period from March 6, 2019 (Date of Inception) through December 31, 2019
	As Restated	As Restated
Statutory income tax expense (benefit)	$ (810,128)	$179,325
State income tax expense (benefit), net of federal	(268,438)	59,420
Other permanent items	263,152	23,835
Valuation allowance on start-up costs	1,086,501	296,234
Provision for income taxes	$ 271,087	$558,814

For the year ended December 31, 2020 and the period from March 6, 2019 (date of inception) through December 31, 2020, the effective tax rate differs from the U.S. statutory rate primarily due to the valuation allowance on the Start-up Costs and tax expense associated with nondeductible permanent adjustments.

The tax effects of temporary differences that gave rise to significant portions of the deferred tax assets and liabilities as of December 31, 2020 and 2019 were as follows:

	December 31, 2020	December 31, 2019
	As Restated	As Restated
Deferred Tax Assets:
Start-up costs	$ 1,382,735	$ 296,234
Valuation allowance	(1,382,735)	(296,234)
Net deferred tax assets (liabilities)	$ —	$ —

As of December 31, 2020 and 2019, the Company has recorded a valuation allowance of $1,382,735 and $296,234, respectively, to offset deferred tax assets related to its start-up costs. As of December 31, 2020 and 2019, the Company has no unrecognized tax benefits for which a liability should be recorded. The Company records interest and penalties associated with unrecognized tax benefits as a component of tax expense. As of December 31, 2020 and 2019, the Company has not accrued interest or penalties on unrecognized tax benefits, as there is no position recorded as of 2020 or 2019. No changes to the uncertain tax position balance are anticipated within the next 12 months and are not expected to materially impact the financial statements.

10. SUBSEQUENT EVENTS

PIPE Subscription Agreement

On January 20, 2021, GigCapital2 entered into subscription agreements (the “PIPE Subscription Agreements”), each dated January 20, 2021, with certain institutional investors (the “PIPE Investors”), including Oppenheimer & Co. Inc., the placement agent for the private placements under the PIPE Subscription Agreements, pursuant to which, among other things, GigCapital2 agreed to issue and sell, in private placements to close immediately prior to the closing of the Business Combinations, an aggregate of 3,000,000 shares (the “PIPE Shares”) of GigCapital2’s common stock (the “Common Stock”) to the PIPE Investors at $10.00 per share.

The obligations to consummate the subscriptions are conditioned upon, among other things, all conditions precedent to the closing of the transactions contemplated by the Note Subscription Agreements (as defined below) having been satisfied or waived, and the closing of the transaction contemplated by the PIPE Subscription Agreements occurring concurrently with the closing of the transactions contemplated by the Note Subscription Agreements.

Pursuant to the PIPE Subscription Agreements, GigCapital2 agreed that, prior to the closing of the Business Combinations, GigCapital2 will file with the Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”) (at GigCapital2’s sole cost and expense) a registration statement registering the resale of the PIPE Shares (the “Resale Registration Statement”), and GigCapital2 will use its commercially reasonable efforts to have the Resale Registration Statement declared effective upon the closing of the Business Combinations, but no later than 60 calendar days (or 90 calendar days if the SEC notifies GigCapital2 that it will not review the Resale Registration Statement) after the closing of the Business Combinations, subject to customary conditions and covenants.

On February 16, 2021, the Company filed a registration statement on Form S-1 with the SEC. This registration statement registers the resale of the PIPE Shares, par value $0.0001 per share of the Common Stock of the Company, by the selling stockholders named in the prospectus (or their permitted transferees) who are to be issued the PIPE Shares in a private placement immediately prior to the closing of the Business Combination.

The PIPE Shares were not issued and outstanding at the time of the Special Meeting of GigCapital2's stockholders held to approve the Business Combinations that was held on March 10, 2021. Further, the holders of the PIPE Shares will not receive any proceeds from the Trust Account established in connection with GigCapital2's initial public offering in the event GigCapital2 does not consummate an initial Business Combination by the June 10, 2021 deadline in its current Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation. In the event the Business Combination are not approved by GigCapital2 stockholders or the other conditions precedent to the consummation of the Business Combination are not met, then the PIPE Shares will not be issued and GigCapital2 will seek to withdraw the registration statement prior to its effectiveness.

Notes Subscription Agreements and Indenture

On January 20, 2021, GigCapital2 also entered into convertible note subscription agreements (the "Note Subscription Agreements"), each dated January 20, 2021, with certain institutional investors (the "Note Investors"), pursuant to which GigCapital2 agreed to issue and sell, in a private placement to close immediately prior to the closing of the Business Combinations, $255,000,000 aggregate principal amount of unsecured convertible notes (the "Notes").

The Notes are to be issued under an indenture to be entered into in connection with the closing of the Business Combinations, between UpHealth, Inc. (formerly GigCapital2) ("New UpHealth") and Wilmington Trust, National Association, a national banking association, in its capacity as trustee thereunder (the "Indenture").

The Notes will bear interest at a rate of 6.25% per annum, payable semi-annually, and be convertible into shares of Common Stock at a conversion price of $11.50 per share of Common Stock in accordance with the terms of the Indenture, and will mature five years after their issuance.

New UpHealth may, at its election, force conversion of the Notes after the first anniversary of the issuance of the Notes, subject to a holder's prior right to convert, if the last reported sale price of the Common Stock exceeds 130% of the conversion price for at least 20 trading days during the period of 30 consecutive trading days ending on, and including, the last trading day of the immediately preceding calendar quarter, and the 30-day average daily trading volume of the Common Stock ending on, and including, the last trading day of the applicable exercise period is greater than or equal to $2,000,000. Following certain corporate events that occur prior to the maturity date or if New UpHealth forces a mandatory conversion, New UpHealth will, in certain circumstances, increase the conversion rate for a holder who elects to convert its notes in connection with such a corporate event or has its notes mandatorily converted, as the case may be. In addition, in the event that a holder of the Notes elects to convert its Notes prior to the second anniversary of the issuance of the Notes, New UpHealth will be obligated to pay an amount equal to twelve months of interest, or if on or after such second anniversary of the issuance of the Notes, any remaining amounts that would be owed to, but excluding, the third anniversary of the issuance of the Notes (the "Interest Make-Whole Payment"). The Interest Make-Whole Payment will be payable in cash or shares of the Common Stock as set forth in the Indenture.

New UpHealth will be obligated to register the shares issuable upon conversion of the Notes. GigCapital2 agreed that, within 45 days after the consummation of the Business Combinations (the "Convertible Note Resale Registration Filing Deadline"), New UpHealth will file with the SEC a registration statement (the "Convertible Note Resale Registration Statement") registering the resale of the shares of Common Stock issuable upon conversion of the Notes (the "Convertible Note Registrable Securities"), and New UpHealth will use its commercially reasonable efforts to have the Convertible Note Resale Registration Statement declared effective as soon as practicable after the filing thereof, but no later than the 60th calendar day (or 90th calendar day if the SEC notifies New UpHealth that it will "review" the Convertible Note Resale Registration Statement) following the Convertible Note Resale Registration Filing Deadline.

The obligations of the Note Investors to consummate the subscriptions provided for in the Note Subscription Agreements are conditioned upon, among other things, New UpHealth (i) having received cash and cash equivalents from the issuance and sale of the Notes of an aggregate amount not less than $150,000,000 and from the issuance and sale of the Common Stock of an aggregate amount not less than $30,000,000 and (ii) having at least $50,000,000 in the trust account after giving effect to any redemptions, and all conditions precedent to the closing of the transactions contemplated by the PIPE Subscription Agreements having been satisfied or waived, and the closing under the Note Subscription Agreements occurring concurrently with the investment by the PIPE Investors.

Common Stock Subject to Possible Redemption

In connection with the Second Extension, as described in Note 1, to amend the Company's Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation to extend the date by which the Company must consummate a business combination transaction from March 10, 2021 to June 10, 2021, stockholders elected to redeem 1,852,804 shares of the Company's Common Stock, which represents approximately 10.7% of the shares that were part of the Units that were sold in the Company's initial public offering. As such in March 2021, the Company paid $18,715,459 to redeem the 1,852,804 shares of Common Stock.

Amendments to the UpHealth BCA

On January 29, 2021, the Company executed a First Amendment to the UpHealth BCA with the parties to the UpHealth BCA, solely to amend Schedule 7.06(C) of the UpHealth BCA (the "UpHealth BCA Amendment No. 1") for the purpose of revising the formula used to calculate the Thrasys Incentive Amount as such term is used in the UpHealth BCA Amendment No. 1. The terms of the Cloudbreak BCA were not modified in connection with the UpHealth BCA Amendment No. 1.

On March 23, 2021, the Company executed a Second Amendment to the UpHealth BCA with the parties to the UpHealth BCA, solely to amend Schedule 7.06(C) of the UpHealth BCA (the "UpHealth BCA Amendment No. 2") for the purpose of further revising the formula used to calculate the Thrasys Incentive Amount as such term is used in the UpHealth BCA Amendment No. 2. The foregoing description of the UpHealth BCA Amendment No. 2 is not complete and is subject to, and qualified in its entirety by reference to, the terms and conditions of such agreement. The terms of the Cloudbreak BCA were not modified in connection with the UpHealth BCA Amendment No. 2.

11. Restatement of Previously Issued Audited and Unaudited Financial Statements

As discussed in Note 1, the Company has restated previously issued financial statements after considering newly released guidance by the SEC staff regarding the accounting and reporting for warrants.

The errors that caused the Company to conclude that its financial statements should be restated are the result of a misapplication of the guidance on accounting for certain of its issued warrants, which came to light when the staff of the SEC issued a Staff Statement on Accounting and Reporting Considerations for Warrants Issued by Special Purpose Acquisition Companies ("SPACs") dated April 12, 2021 (the "SEC Staff Statement"). The SEC Staff Statement addresses certain accounting and reporting considerations related to warrants of a kind similar to those issued by the Company at the time of its initial public offering in June 2019. Based on ASC 815-40, Contracts in Entity's Own Equity, warrant instruments that do not meet the criteria to be considered indexed to an entity's own stock shall be initially classified as liabilities at their estimated fair values. In periods subsequent to issuance, changes in the estimated fair value of the derivative instruments should be reported in the statements of operations and comprehensive income (loss).

On June 10, 2019 and June 13, 2019, in addition to other securities, the Company issued Warrants as part of the Private Placement Units to purchase 567,500 shares of Common Stock. The Company determined that the financial statements should be restated to reflect these Warrants as a liability, with subsequent changes in their estimated fair value recorded as non-cash income or expense in the statements of operations and comprehensive income (loss) for all periods since issuance.

The following presents the restated financial statements as of December 31, 2020 and 2019, for the year ended December 31, 2020 and the period from March 6, 2019 (Date of Inception) through December 31, 2019, as well as the unaudited condensed financial statements for the three month period ended March 31, 2020, the three and six month periods ended June 30, 2020 and 2019 and the three and nine month periods ended September 30, 2020 and 2019.

The following presents a reconciliation of the balance sheets, statements of operations and comprehensive income (loss) and cash flows from the prior periods as previously reported to the restated amounts as of December 31, 2020 and 2019, for the year ended December 31, 2020 and for the period from March 6, 2019 (Date of Inception) through December 31, 2019. The statements of stockholders' equity for the year ended December 31, 2020 and for the period from March 6, 2019 (Date of Inception) through December 31, 2019 have been restated respectively, for the restatement impact to net income (loss) and common stock subject to possible redemption. See the statements of operations and comprehensive income (loss) reconciliation tables below for additional information on the restatement and impact to net income (loss).

A – The Restatement Adjustments reflect the entries to record the initial warrant liability from the Warrants issued as part of the Private Placement Units and to revalue the warrant liability to the then fair value at the end of each period presented. The initial fair value of the Warrants issued as part of the Private Placement Units of $116,264 was recorded in June 2019 as a warrant liability with an offset to additional paid-in capital. Each subsequent quarter end, starting with June 30, 2019, the warrant liability was adjusted to fair value and the difference is reflected in other income (expense) in the statements of operations and comprehensive income (loss). In addition, each period presented has an adjustment to the common stock subject to possible redemption to ensure that the Company maintains the required net tangible assets of at least $5,000,001.

UPHEALTH HOLDINGS, INC., AND SUBSIDIARIES
NOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

As of December 31, 2020

1. Organization and Business

UpHealth Holdings, Inc., and Subsidiaries (the “Company,” “UpHealth Holdings”, “we,” “our,” or “us”) is a Delaware corporation formed on October 26, 2020 and established to raise capital and pursue opportunities for investment and acquisition in various healthcare entities, primarily those that bring technology and services to efficiently and profitably manage chronic and complex care, including behavioral health and substance abuse, while also serving the demands for easy access to personalized primary care. The Company merged with UpHealth Services, Inc. (“UpHealth Services”) on October 26, 2020 and was the surviving corporation of the merger. UpHealth Services’ pre-merger financial statements are now the pre-merger financial statements for UpHealth Holdings.

UpHealth Services, Inc. was established on November 5, 2019; operations effectively began January 1, 2020 and continued through the merger with UpHealth Holdings.

On November 20, 2020, we completed the acquisition of Thrasys, Inc. (“Thrasys”), a provider of an advanced, comprehensive, and extensible technology platform—marketed under the umbrella “SyntraNet™”—to manage health, quality of care, and costs—especially for individuals with complex medical, behavioral health, and social needs.

On November 20, 2020, we also completed the acquisition of Behavioral Health Services, LLC and subsidiaries (“BHS”), a provider of medical, retail pharmacy and billing services.

On November 20, 2020, we completed the acquisition of 43.46% of Glocal Healthcare Systems Private Limited (“Glocal”), an India based healthcare company. We have presented this as an equity method investment. Concurrent with the merger with GigCapital2, Inc. (“Gig2”), expected to be consummated in the second quarter of 2021, the Company expects to acquire approximately an additional 53% of Glocal. As of the acquisition date, Glocal had assets of $42,135,215, liabilities of $30,141,201, and net income of $312,034 for the period after acquisition through December 31, 2020.

See Note 3, “Business Combinations”, for more information.

2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Basis of Presentation

The accompanying consolidated financial statements have been prepared in accordance with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles (“GAAP”). In the opinion of management, the accompanying consolidated financial statements contain all adjustments and eliminations, consisting only of normal recurring adjustments necessary for a fair presentation in conformity with GAAP.

Principles of Consolidation

The consolidated financial statements include the accounts of the Company and its consolidated subsidiaries. All intercompany balances and transactions have been eliminated in consolidation.

Segments

The Company’s Chief Executive Officers are the chief operating decision makers who review the Company’s financial information presented on a consolidated basis for purposes of allocating resources and evaluating the Company's financial performance. Due to the business combinations completed in 2021 (See Note 17) and the pending business combination with Gig2, the Company does not consider a segment analysis relevant for the year ended December 31, 2020.

Fiscal Year

The Company's fiscal year ends on December 31. References to fiscal 2020, for example, refer to the fiscal year ended December 31, 2020.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of the consolidated financial statements in conformity with GAAP requires us to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts in the consolidated financial statements and accompanying notes thereto.

Significant estimates and assumptions made by management include the determination of:

- the fair value of assets acquired and liabilities assumed for business combinations;
- the standalone selling price ("SSP") of performance obligations for revenue contracts with multiple performance obligations;
- the recognition, measurement and valuation of current and deferred income taxes and uncertain tax positions;
- the identification and estimated economic lives of intangible assets; and
- the fair value of stock awards issued.

Actual results could differ materially from those estimates. The Company bases its estimates on historical experience and on various other assumptions that are believed to be reasonable, the result of which forms the basis for making judgments about the carrying values of assets and liabilities.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

We consider all cash on deposit, money market funds and short-term investments with original maturities of three months or less to be cash and cash equivalents. Cash and cash equivalents consist of amounts the Company has on deposit with major commercial financial institutions.

Restricted Cash

Under terms of the merger agreement with UpHealth Holdings as discussed in Note 3 and in accordance with the Small Business Administration ("SBA") Procedural Notice effective October 2, 2020, Thrasy's has agreed to maintain the balance of the Paycheck Protection Program ("PPP") loan in an escrow account until forgiveness has been determined by the SBA.

Accounts Receivable

For medical HIPAA-compliant (Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act) SaaS internet hosting, licenses and subscriptions to healthcare communities services, accounts receivable are carried at original invoice, net of allowances for doubtful accounts, based on a review of all outstanding amounts on a monthly basis. Management determines the allowance for doubtful accounts by regularly evaluating individual customer receivables and considering a customer's financial condition and current economic conditions. Accounts receivable are written off when deemed uncollectible. Recoveries of accounts receivable previously written off are recorded when received. At December 31, 2020, the Company determined that no allowance for doubtful accounts was necessary.

For medical services provided through our behavioral services operations, accounts receivable are recorded without collateral from patients, most of whom are local residents and are insured under third-party payor agreements. Accounts receivable are based on gross charges, reduced by explicit price concessions provided to third-party payors and implicit price concessions provided primarily to self-pay patients. Estimates for explicit price concessions are based on provider contracts and historical experience adjusted for economic conditions and other trends affecting the Company's ability to collect outstanding amounts. At December 31, 2020, the allowance for contractual adjustments was equal to $968,471.

For accounts receivable associated with self-pay patients, the Company records implicit price concessions in the period of service on the basis of its past experience, which indicates that many patients are unable or unwilling to pay the portion of their bill for which they are financially responsible.

For the period ended December 31, 2020, one customer accounted for approximately 58% of total revenues. At December 31, 2020, two customers accounted for 73% of total accounts receivable. Concentration are due the shortened period of activity between the Company's acquisitions of Thrasys and BHS and its fiscal year end and are not expected to continue in 2021.

Inventories

Inventories consist of pharmaceuticals and are stated at the lower of cost or net realizable value. Net realizable value is defined as estimated selling prices in the ordinary course of business less reasonably predictable costs of completion, disposal, and transportation. Any adjustments to reduce the cost of inventories to their net realizable value are recognized in earnings in the current period.

Equity Method Investment

The Company holds interests in privately-held equity securities in which the Company does not have a controlling interest but does have significant influence.

Based on the terms of these privately held securities, if the Company determines that it exercises significant influence on the entity to which these securities relate, the Company applies the equity method of accounting for such investments, which it has, and the investment is presented in equity method investments in the consolidated balance sheet. Any and all gains and losses on privately held equity securities, realized and unrealized, are recorded through gains on other income (expense). Income recognized in its equity method investments is reduced by the expected amortization from intangible assets recognized through the fair value step-up, unless and until the Company acquires a controlling financial interest and consolidates.

Valuations of privately held securities in which the Company does not have a controlling financial interest are inherently complex due to the lack of readily available market data and require the Company's use of judgment. The carrying value is not adjusted for the Company's privately held equity securities if there are no observable price changes in a similar security from the same issuer or if there are no identified events or changes in circumstances that may indicate impairment. The Company's impairment analysis encompasses an assessment of both qualitative and quantitative factors including the investee's financial metrics, market acceptance of the investee's product or technology and the rate at which the investee is using its cash. If the investment is considered impaired, the Company recognizes an impairment through the consolidated statement of operations and establishes a new carrying value for the investment.

Property and Equipment

Property and equipment are recorded at cost. Depreciation is calculated using the straight-line method over the estimated useful lives of the assets, which range from three years for information technology equipment, five to seven years for office equipment and vehicles, and seven years for furniture and medical equipment.

When assets are retired or disposed of, the asset costs and related accumulated depreciation or amortization are removed from the respective accounts and any related gain or loss is recognized. Maintenance and repairs are charged to expense as incurred. Significant expenditures, which extend the useful lives of assets, are capitalized.

Intangible Assets

Acquired intangible assets subject to amortization are stated at fair value and are amortized using the straight-line method over the estimated useful lives of the assets. Intangible assets that are subject to amortization are reviewed for potential impairment when events or circumstances indicate that carrying amounts may not be recoverable. No impairment charge was recognized in 2020.

Goodwill

Our goodwill represents the excess of the purchase price of business combinations over the fair value of the net assets acquired. We assess goodwill for impairment on an annual basis as of the first day of our fourth quarter, or sooner if events indicate such a review is necessary through a triggering event. An impairment exists if the fair value of a reporting unit to which goodwill has been allocated is less than their respective carrying values. The impairment for goodwill is limited to the total amount of goodwill allocated to the reporting unit. Future changes in the estimates used to conduct the impairment review, including revenue projections, market values and changes in the discount rate used could cause the analysis to indicate that our goodwill is impaired in subsequent periods and result in a write-down of a portion or all of goodwill. The discount rate used is based on independently calculated risks, our capital mix, and an estimated market premium. No impairment charge was recognized in 2020.

Fair Value Measurements

Fair value is measured in accordance with ASC guidance on fair value measurements, which defines fair value, establishes a framework for measuring fair value and enhances disclosures about fair value measures required under other accounting pronouncements, but does not change existing guidance as to whether or not an instrument is carried at fair value. We measure fair value for financial instruments on an ongoing basis. We measure fair value for non-financial assets when a valuation is necessary, such as for impairment of long-lived and indefinite-lived assets when indicators of impairment exist.

Revenue Recognition

Revenue is reported at the amount that reflects the consideration to which the Company expects to be entitled in exchange for providing goods and services.

Contract Assets, Contract Liabilities and Remaining Performance Obligations

The Company records a contract asset when revenue recognized on a contract exceeds the billings. Thrasys generally invoices customers in monthly, quarterly, or installments. BHS generally invoices its patients upon providing services as the performance obligations are deemed complete. Contract assets are included in prepaid expenses and other current assets on the consolidated balance sheet.

The Company records unearned or deferred revenue when billed amounts have been invoiced and received in advance of revenue recognition. It is then recognized as revenue when transfer of control to customers has occurred or services have been provided. The unearned revenue balance does not represent the total contract value of annual or multi-year, non-cancelable subscription agreements. The unearned revenue balance is influenced by several factors, including seasonality, the compounding effects of renewals, invoice duration, invoice timing, dollar size and new business linearity within the quarter.

Transaction price allocated to the remaining performance obligations, referred to by the Company as remaining performance obligations, represents contracted revenue that has not yet been recognized, which includes unearned revenue and unbilled amounts that will be recognized as revenue in future periods. Transaction price allocated to the remaining performance obligations are influenced by several factors, including seasonality, the timing of renewals, the timing of delivery of software licenses, average contract terms and foreign currency exchange rates. Unbilled portions of the remaining performance obligations are subject to future economic risks including bankruptcies, regulatory changes, and other market factors.

The Company excludes amounts related to performance obligations that are billed and recognized as they are delivered. This primarily consists of professional services contracts that are on a time-and-materials basis.

Services Revenues

We derive our service revenues primarily through the provision of medical and behavioral health services by accredited medical professionals through our BHS subsidiary, and provision of HIPAA-compliant medical information technology services through our Thrasys subsidiary. Information specific to each revenue stream are as follows:

- Services – Medical services provided through our behavioral services operations.

Performance obligations for medical and behavioral services for services provided by accredited medical professionals are satisfied over-time as services are provided and revenue is recognized accordingly. Revenue is based on gross charges, reduced by explicit price concessions provided to third-party payors and implicit price concessions provided primarily to self-pay patients. Estimates for explicit price concessions are based on provider contracts and historical experience, adjusted for economic conditions and other trends affecting the Company's ability to collect outstanding items. Substantially all of the Company's patients are insured under third-party payor agreements.

Generally, patients who are covered by third-party payors are responsible for related deductibles and coinsurance, which may vary in amount. The Company also provides services to uninsured patients and may offer those uninsured patients a discount from standard charges. The Company estimates the transaction price for patients with deductibles and coinsurance and from those who are uninsured based on historical experience and market conditions. The Company has determined that the nature, amount, timing, and uncertainty of revenue and cash flows are affected by payors having different reimbursement and payment methodologies, length of the patient's service, and method of reimbursement.

Estimates of net realizable value are subject to significant judgment and approximation by management. It is possible that actual results could differ from the historical estimates management has used to help determine the net realizable value of revenue. If actual collections either exceed or are less than the net realizable value estimates, the Company records a revenue adjustment, either positive or negative, for the difference between the estimate of the receivable and the amount actually collected in the reporting period in which the collection occurred. No significant adjustments were recorded for the year ending December 31, 2020.

- Services – Medical HIPAA-compliant (Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act) SaaS internet hosting, licenses, and subscriptions to healthcare communities.

The Company's Software as a Service ("SaaS") offering, known as SyntraNet™, provides virtual, connected communities of care where cross-sector teams—physicians, nurses, care managers, community health workers, patients, families—can collaborate to manage health and coordinate the delivery of clinical, behavioral health, social and other services. Care communities can be connected in a distributed hierarchy of nodes to enable scalable province and nation-wide networks of connected care.

Information, analytics, and applications from this SaaS are delivered to care team members on both mobile and fixed internet-enabled devices. An advanced protected health information (“PHI”) framework controls access to information based on roles, rights, policies, and scope of consent.

Software license revenues are recognized based on determining whether or not the license constitutes a distinct performance obligation. If the license can be separated from the rest of the hosting services, it may be fully recognized on the date license rights are granted to the customer and access is granted; otherwise, it is an indistinct performance obligation which is recognized ratably over the contract term with other hosting services beginning on the commencement date of each contract, which is the date license rights are granted to the customer.

Subscription revenues to SaaS hosting access and support and maintenance are recognized ratably over the contract terms beginning on the commencement date of each contract, which is the date the Company’s service is made available to customers. Amounts that have been invoiced are recorded in accounts receivable and in deferred revenue or revenue, depending on whether the revenue recognition criteria have been met and whether payments have been made ahead of the hosting services provided. The Company’s subscription service arrangements are non-cancelable and do not contain refund-type provisions.

- Services – Discrete information technology services for set-up, configuration, implementation and customization services for healthcare communities

The majority of the Company’s discrete professional information technology services contracts related to SaaS are on a time and material basis which may also be independently offered by its competitors. When these services are not combined with other SaaS revenues as a distinct performance obligation, revenues are recognized as the services are rendered for time and material contracts, and when the milestones are achieved and accepted by the customer for fixed price contracts. Training revenues, set-up fees and configuration fees are recognized as the services are completed.

Product Revenues

We derive our product sales from sales of products through our BHS subsidiary pharmacy operations. Our product sales are primarily a function of the price per unit for pharmaceutical products acquired and the number of prescriptions provided to customers.

The Company recognizes revenue at the time the client effectively takes possession and control of the merchandise.

Contracts with Multiple Performance Obligations and transaction prices

From time to time, we may enter into contracts that contain multiple performance obligations, particularly in medical information HIPAA-compliant technology internet hosting and services.

For these arrangements, we allocate the transaction price to each performance obligation identified in the contract based on relative standalone selling prices, or estimates of such prices, and recognize the related revenue as control of each individual product or service is transferred to the customer, in satisfaction of the corresponding performance obligations.

A significant portion of the Company’s contracts with customers have fixed transaction prices. For some contracts, the amount of consideration to which the Company will be entitled is variable. The Company includes variable consideration in a contract’s transaction price only to the extent that the Company has a relatively high level of confidence that the amounts will not be subject to significant reversals. In determining amounts of variable consideration to include in a contract’s transaction price, the Company relies on its experience and other evidence that supports its qualitative assessment of whether revenue would be subject to significant reversal.

Cost of Goods and Services Sold (“COGS” or “COS”)

Cost of goods sold is the accumulated total of all costs used to create a product which has been sold to generate revenues. These costs include direct materials (resale products, raw and externally sourced materials for internally manufactured products), direct labor, and an appropriately allocated portion of indirect production costs (indirect overhead). Indirect overhead costs include allocable costs, excluding depreciation and amortization, and ancillary costs such as freight, delivery, non-sales and non-income taxes, and insurance, and general overhead, such as allocable supervision and related costs. Direct labor is the direct provision of activities to manufacture or provide a good or service.

The cost of services sold for discrete information technology services includes the cost of direct labor, payroll taxes, and direct benefits of those individuals who provide direct services and/or generate billable hours.

The cost of services sold for SaaS includes all the accumulated costs of providing a hybrid-cloud based hosting arrangement.

The cost of pharmaceutical product sales provided for clients is derived from point-of-sale scanning information for the pharmacy products and is adjusted based on periodic inventories. In addition to product costs, cost of sales includes purchasing costs, freight costs, cash discounts, and ancillary costs.

Taxes Collected from Customers and Remitted to Governmental Authorities.

We exclude from our measurement of transaction prices all taxes assessed by governmental authorities that are both (i) imposed on and concurrent with a specific revenue-producing transaction and (ii) collected from customers. Accordingly, such tax amounts are not included as a component of net sales or cost of sales.

We typically invoice our customers for information technology services, both SaaS and services, on a monthly or quarterly basis.

Research and Development Costs

Research and development costs are expensed as incurred and were $874,112 for the year ended December 31, 2020.

Software Development Costs

The Company capitalizes its ongoing costs of developing internal use software for hosting, which consists primarily of personnel costs. Internal and external costs incurred to develop internal-use computer software during the application development stage are capitalized.

Costs incurred internally in researching and developing a computer software product are charged to expense until technological feasibility has been established for the product. Once technological feasibility is established, software costs are capitalized until the product is available for general release to customers.

Stock-based Compensation

We account for stock-based compensation expense in accordance with ASC Topic 718, Compensation-Stock Compensation. Our stock-based payments are composed of equity awards granted to certain employees. These awards contain performance conditions that have contingent vesting, including both continuous employment through the date of consummation of a change of control event for the special purpose acquisition company. We recognize share-based compensation expense over the requisite service period, which is generally the vesting period of each award. Accordingly, the related stock compensation expenses are until such time as the performance conditions are both satisfied.

Advertising, Marketing and Promotion Expenses

Advertising, marketing and promotion is expensed as incurred. Advertising expense was $17,310 for fiscal 2020. These are contained within Selling, General and Administrative costs.

Income Taxes

Deferred income taxes are recognized for the tax consequences in future years of differences between the tax basis of assets and liabilities and their financial reporting amounts at each year end, based on enacted tax laws and statutory tax rates applicable to the year in which the differences are expected to affect taxable income. Valuation allowances are established when it is deemed more likely than not that some portion or all of the deferred tax assets will not be realized.

We account for income tax uncertainties in accordance with ASC guidance on income taxes, which clarifies the accounting for uncertainty in income taxes recognized in a company's financial statements and prescribes a recognition threshold and measurement attribute for the financial statement recognition and measurement of a tax position taken or expected to be taken in a tax return. The ASC also provides guidance on derecognition, classification, interest and penalties, accounting in interim periods, disclosure and transition.

New Accounting Pronouncements Not Yet Adopted

In December 2019, the Financial Accounting Standards Board ("FASB") issued Accounting Standards Update ("ASU") 2019-12, Income Taxes (Topic 740): Simplifying the Accounting for Income Taxes. This ASU removes specific exceptions to the general principles in Topic 740 in Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (GAAP). It eliminates the need for an organization to analyze whether the following apply in a given period: Exception to the incremental approach for intraperiod tax allocation; exceptions to accounting for basis differences when there are ownership changes in foreign investments; and exception in interim period income tax accounting for year-to-date losses that exceed anticipated losses. This ASU also improves financial statement preparers' application of income tax-related guidance and simplifies GAAP for: Franchise taxes that are partially based on income; transactions with a government that result in a step up in the tax basis of goodwill; separate financial statements of legal entities that are not subject to tax; and enacted changes in tax laws in interim periods. This ASU will be effective for private companies for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2021, and to interim periods within fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2022, with adoption permitted. We are currently evaluating the effect the adoption of this ASU will have on the Company's financial statements.

In February 2016, the FASB issued ASU 2016-02, Leases, (Topic 842), and subsequently issued several supplemental/clarifying ASUs (Collectively, "ASC 842"). Among other things, under this ASU, lessees will be required to recognize, at commencement date, a lease liability representing the lessee's obligation to make lease payments arising from the lease and a right-of-use asset representing the lessee's right to use or control the use of a specified asset for the lease term for leases greater than 12 months. Under the new guidance, lessor accounting is largely unchanged. This ASU will be effective for private companies for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2021, and to interim periods within fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2022 using the modified retrospective approach. We are currently evaluating the effect the adoption of this ASU will have on the Company's financial statements.

In June 2016, the FASB issued ASU 2016-13, Financial Instruments - Credit Losses (Topic 326): Measurement of Credit Losses on Financial Instruments, and subsequently issued several supplemental/clarifying ASUs (Collectively, "ASC 326"). This ASU requires entities to estimate a lifetime expected credit loss for most financial assets, including trade and other receivables and other long-term financings including available for sale and held-to-maturity debt securities, and loans. Subsequently, the FASB issued ASU 2018-19, Codification Improvements to Topic 326, Financial Instruments-Credit Losses, which amends the scope of ASC 326 and clarified that receivables arising from operating leases are not within the scope of the standard and should continue to be accounted for in accordance with the lease standard (ASC 842). This ASU will be effective for private companies for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2021, including interim periods within those fiscal years. We are currently evaluating the effect the adoption of this ASU will have on the Company's financial statements.

3. Business Combinations

Goodwill

Goodwill represents the excess of the purchase price over the fair value of the underlying net assets acquired.

Trade Names

A trade name is a legally protected trade or similar mark. Acquired trade names are valued using an income method approach, generally the relief-from-royalty valuation method. The method uses a royalty rate based on comparable marketplace royalty agreements for similar types of trade names and applies it to the after-tax discounted free cash flow attributed to the trade name. The discount rate used is based on an estimated weighted average cost of capital and the anticipated risk for intangible assets.

Developed Technology

Developed Technology is the Intellectual Property of the Company. Intellectual property and technology ("IP") is a design, work or invention that is the result of creativity to which one has ownership rights that may be protected through a patent, copyright, trademark or service mark. IP is valued using the relief from royalty valuation method. The method uses a royalty rate based on comparable market-place royalty agreements for similar types of IP and applies it to the after-tax discounted free cash flow attributed to the IP. The discount rate used is based on an estimated weighted average cost of capital and the anticipated risk for intangible assets.

The developed technology is amortized following the pattern in which the expected benefits will be consumed or otherwise used up over each component's useful life, based on our plans and expectations for the IP going forward, which is generally the underlying IP's legal expiration dates.

Customer Relationships

Customer relationships are intangible assets that consist of historical and factual information about customers and contacts collected from repeat transactions with customers, with or without any underlying contracts. The information is generally organized as customer lists or customer databases. We have the expectation of repeat patronage from these customers based on the customers' historical purchase activity, which creates the intrinsic value over a finite period of time and translates into the expectation of future revenue, income, and cash flow.

Customer relationships are valued using projected operating income, adjusted for estimated future existing customer growth less estimated future customer attrition, net of charges for net tangible assets, IP charge, trade name charge and work force. The concluded value is the after-tax discounted free cash flow.

Measurement Period

The estimated fair values of assets acquired and liabilities assumed are provisional and are based on the information that was available as of the acquisition date to estimate the fair value of assets acquired and liabilities assumed. The Company believes that information provides a reasonable basis for estimating the fair values of assets acquired and liabilities assumed, but the Company is waiting for additional information necessary to finalize those fair values. Therefore, the provisional measurements of fair value reflected are subject to change and such changes could be significant. The Company expects to finalize the valuation and complete the purchase price allocation as soon as practicable but no later than one year from the acquisition date. In addition, the Company has not finalized its evaluation of allocating goodwill to reporting units.

2020 Acquisitions

On October 26, 2020, the Company entered into a merger agreement with UpHealth Services whereby UpHealth Holding was deemed the surviving entity. All shares of UpHealth Services were exchanged for outstanding common stock in UpHealth Holdings. This was accounted for as a common control transaction with assets and liabilities carried over at book value. All other disclosed events below are in relation to the newly merged company.

On November 20, 2020, the Company completed the 100% acquisition of Thrasys, in exchange for a promissory note for future cash consideration, as defined in the merger agreements, and common stock interests in UpHealth Holdings, Inc., totaling $167,435,352, net of cash and restricted cash acquired of $2,483,628. The acquisition brings additional software and support synergies to the consolidated Company's medical remote and telemedicine offerings.

Under the terms of the merger agreement an escrow account will be established as security for a potential indemnification claim against UpHealth related to a Thrasys tax matter. The escrow account will be funded with approximately $10 million of UpHealth common stock and will be held for a period of up to 12 months from the closing date of the merger agreement,

The goodwill is attributable to the workforce of the acquired business and the significant synergies expected to arise after the Company's acquisition of Thrasys. The goodwill is not deductible for tax purposes.

The following table sets forth the preliminary allocation of the purchase price to Thrasys' identifiable tangible and intangible assets acquired and liabilities assumed. The allocation of value in this table is subject to reevaluation during the measurement period.

7. Deferred Compensation

Several key employees have employment agreements which among other conditions, set base salary and incentives. Salaries earned under the employment agreements are to accrue until such time the Company has completed a successful capital raise, which is contemplated as the merger with Gig2. The Company anticipates completing this in the second quarter of 2021. Accrued unpaid compensation at December 31, 2020 aggregated $951,875.

Under the terms of the employment agreements, the key employees are also entitled to potential success bonuses upon the completion of an initial public offering or the merger with Gig2, as defined in the individual employees' agreements.

8. Debt

Related Party Debt

The Company has notes payable to related parties totaling $420,283 at December 31, 2020. The notes bear interest at rates ranging from 0.14% to 3.5% per annum. Notes totaling $381,283 are payable in eight quarterly installments starting from October 1, 2022, or upon a liquidity event, as defined in the note agreement and a note totaling $39,000 is payable in 2021. The accrued interest payable was $9,113 at December 31, 2020 and is included in accrued liabilities on the consolidated balance sheet.

Certain Seller notes totaling $21,100,000 at December 31, 2020, are due to former shareholders of the merger entities and accrue interest at specific rates, per the merger agreements. The accrued interest payable and interest expense was $133,333 for the year ended December 31, 2020. The accrued interest payable is included in accrued liabilities on the consolidated balance sheet.

Membership Redemptions and Due to Member

In November 2020, BHS entered into two redemption agreements with members for $10,000 and $70,000, respectively. The Company agreed to pay cash of $10,000 to one member, and entered into a note payable agreement with the other member. The note is non-interest bearing, is noncollateralized, and due upon demand. The amount due to the member was $70,000 at December 31, 2020.

Paycheck Protection Program Loans

In April 2020, Thrasys and BHS, each obtained a United States government subsidy of $540,500 and $1,004,900, respectively, under the PPP. The PPP is a United States government temporary program created with the intent to provide a subsidy to assist businesses in keeping employees employed during the pandemic. The PPP loan may not need to be repaid if certain requirements are met. Under the Coronavirus Aid, Relief and Economic Security ("CARES Act"), as modified, any amounts not forgiven will be required to be repaid over a term having a minimum of five years and a maximum maturity of 10 years from the date on which the borrower applies for forgiveness. The loan carries a 1% interest rate. Thrasys has applied for forgiveness for the entire amount of the loan and is awaiting decision from SBA as of the date of this report, however, there can be no assurance given that any portion of the PPP Loan will be forgiven. BHS has not submitted a request for forgiveness as of the date the financial statements were available to be issued but BHS expects to submit a request for forgiveness for the entire loan balance in 2021. There can be no assurance that any portion of the PPP Loan will be forgiven. Included in BHS's loan are borrowings related to the operations of various related parties aggregating $278,306, which were transferred to the related parties. These amounts have been included as due from related parties at December 31, 2020 (Note 15). The balance is classified as a current liability due to uncertainty regarding BHS's eligibility for the loan.

Provider Relief Funds

In April and July 2020, BHS received proceeds aggregating $228,794 from the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) available as part of a $100 billion appropriation as part of the CARES Act Provider Relief Fund (PRF). The payments will not require repayment as long as BHS complies with certain terms and conditions outlined by HHS. BHS relied upon guidance issued by HHS through March 12, 2021. The terms and conditions first require BHS to identify health care-related expenses attributed to the coronavirus that another source has not reimbursed or is obligated to reimburse. If those expenses do not exceed the funding received, BHS then applies the funds to patient care lost revenue. On January 15, 2021 the HHS released a "Post-Payment Notice of Reporting Requirements Notice" that provides healthcare providers three options to calculate patient care lost revenue.

As of November 20, 2020, BHS has recognized no patient care lost revenue on the consolidated statement of operations. BHS has $228,794 recorded within current liabilities on the consolidated balance sheet as BHS has asserted it has not yet met all of the terms and conditions and restrictions for the CARES Act relative to these funds as of November 20, 2020. BHS has until June 30, 2021 in which to use amounts remaining toward expenses attributable to coronavirus but not reimbursed by other sources and/or lost patient care revenue. HHS is entitled to recoup PRF amounts received by BHS that are unused as for the purposes disclosed above.

9. Fair Value of Financial Instruments

We estimate the fair value of our financial instruments using available market information and valuation methodologies we believe to be appropriate. As of December 31, 2020, the fair values of cash and cash equivalents, restricted cash, accounts receivable, accounts payable and accrued expenses approximate their carrying values due to the short-term nature of these instruments. As no events have occurred since the issuance of the debt that would materially impact its fair value, the fair value of the debt is determined to be equal to the carrying cost as of December 31, 2020.

Fair value measurements are determined based on the assumptions that market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability. Fair value measurements are categorized into one of three levels of the fair value hierarchy based on the lowest level of significant input used. In instances where the determination of the fair value measurement is based on inputs from different levels of the fair value hierarchy, the level in the fair value hierarchy within which the entire fair value measurement falls is based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement in its entirety. Our assessment of the significance of a particular input to the fair value measurement in its entirety requires judgment and considers factors specific to the asset or liability. Considerable judgment and a high degree of subjectivity are involved in developing these estimates. These estimates may differ from the actual amounts that we could realize upon settlement.

The fair value hierarchy is as follows:

Level 1- Quoted (unadjusted) prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities.

Level 2 -Other observable inputs, either directly or indirectly, other than quoted prices included in Level 1, including:

- Quoted prices for similar assets/liabilities in active markets;
- Quoted prices for identical or similar assets/liabilities in non-active markets (e.g., few transactions, limited information, non-current prices, high variability over time);
- Inputs other than quoted prices that are observable for the asset/liability (e.g., interest rates, yield curves, volatilities, default rates); and
- Inputs that are derived principally from or corroborated by other observable market data.

Level 3 -Unobservable inputs that cannot be corroborated by observable market data.

10. Capital Structure

Common Stock

Our Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation authorizes up to 15,000,000 shares of common stock, par value of $0.0001. Subject to the rights of holders of any future series of preferred stock, all of the voting power of the stockholders of the Company shall be vested in the holders of the common stock.

Upon formation, the founders of UpHealth were issued 4,868,433 shares of common stock as consideration for paying the Company's formation costs.

There were 6,811,043 shares issued and outstanding at December 31, 2020.

Contemporaneous with its merger with UpHealth on November 20, 2020, Thrasys entered into stock compensation agreements with employees pursuant to the Thrasys 2019 Stock Incentive Plan, a Restricted Stock Award (“RSA”) agreement and a Restricted Stock Unit (“RSU”) award agreement. On this date there were 638,6844 RSA shares awarded to employees. In addition, there were 437,018 RSUs shares awarded to employees. Vesting for both types of agreements is based on continuing employment with UpHealth and the consummation of the closing of the merger with Gig2. The RSU’s will be cash settled for approximately $6.3 million upon vesting.

Because the vesting for the time- and performance-based awards are contingent upon the consummation of the merger, no stock compensation expense is recognized until resolution of the contingency.

11. Revenue

The Company recognizes revenue under ASC 606.

Disaggregation of Revenue

Revenues by the Company’s service offerings consisted of the following:

Revenues by geography are determined based on the region of the customer. Revenue attributed to the Americas was approximately 93.34 percent during fiscal 2020. No other region represented more than ten percent of total revenue during fiscal 2020. The Company’s revenues are entirely derived from the healthcare industry.

Revenues recognized over-time approximated 66% of total revenue recognized during the year ended December 31, 2020.

Contract Balances

The following tables reflect the changes in our contract assets, which we classify as unbilled receivables and our contract liabilities, which we classify as deferred revenues, for the year ended December 31, 2020:

Contract Assets

There were no impairments of contract assets during fiscal 2020. The change in contract assets was as follows:

	Contract Assets December 31, 2020
Contract asset, beginning of period	$ —
Contract assets acquired in business combination	65,692
Reclassifications to billed receivables	(51,965)
Revenues recognized in excess of period billings	424,494
Ending Balance	$438,221

Unearned Revenue

Fair value of deferred revenues from business combination	700,000
Revenues deferred from period collections on unfulfilled performance obligations	(303,000)

Revenue recognized ratably over time is generally billed in advance and includes SyntraNet™ Cloud Services, and the related consulting, implementation and services support, and advisory services.

Revenue recognized over time as delivered includes professional services billed on a time and materials basis, fixed fee professional services and training classes that are primarily billed, delivered, and recognized within the same reporting period.

Approximately 5.6 percent of the revenue recognized in fiscal 2020 (post-November 20, 2020 acquisition) is from the unearned revenue balance existing as of November 20, 2020, the date of acquisition.

Remaining Performance Obligations

The majority of the Company's noncurrent remaining performance obligation is expected to be recognized during the next 12 months and is classified as Current in the table below. The remainder will be incurred from 2022 through 2024.

Remaining performance obligations consisted of the following:

Remaining Performance Obligations	Total	Current	Future
Subscriptions	$ 1,016,887	782,512	234,375
Licenses	8,639,166	2,580,000	6,059,166

	$11,035,995	4,742,454	6,293,541

12. Income Taxes

The CARES Act was enacted on March 27, 2020 in the United States. The CARES Act provided a substantial stimulus and assistance package intended to address the impact of the COVID-19 pandemic, including tax relief, and government loans, grants, and investments. The CARES Act did not have a material impact on our provision.

Income tax expense consisted of the following for the year ended December 31, 2020:

Current:
Federal	$ 577,515
State	95,294
Total current expense	672,809
Deferred:
Federal	(536,497)
State	(86,118)
Total deferred benefit	(622,615)
Income tax expense	$ 50,194

Income tax expense (benefit) differed from the amount that would be provided by applying the U.S. federal statutory rate for the year ended December 31, 2020 due to the following:

	Amount	Tax Rate
Federal Statutory income tax	(448,674)	21.00%
State income tax, net of federal benefit	(83,884)	3.93%
Transactions costs	560,504	-26.23%
Other	22,248	-1.04%
Effective Income Tax Rate	50,194	-2.35%

Deferred income taxes reflect the net tax effects of temporary differences between the carrying amount of assets and liabilities for financial reporting purposes and the amounts used for income tax purposes. Significant components of the Company's deferred taxes at December 31, 2020 are as follows:

Deferred Tax Assets
Accrued expenses	$ 573,153
Transactions costs	85,727
State credits	738,134
Net operating loss carryforwards	18,984
Total deferred tax assets	1,415,997
Deferred Tax Liabilities
Amortization and depreciation	(6,738,591)
Deferred revenue	(195,241)
Total deferred tax liabilities	(6,933,831)
Less: Valuation allowance	(554,267)
Net deferred tax asset (liability)	$(6,072,101)

We evaluate our deferred tax assets periodically to determine if valuation allowances are required. Ultimately, the realization of deferred tax assets is dependent upon generation of future taxable income during those periods in which temporary differences become deductible and/or credits can be utilized. To this end, management considers the level of historical taxable income, the scheduled reversal of deferred tax liabilities, tax-planning strategies, and projected future taxable income. Based on these considerations, and the carry-forward availability of a portion of the deferred tax assets, management believes it is more likely than not that we will realize the benefit of the deferred tax assets with the only exception being a valuation allowance recorded against the California research and development credit of approximately $554,000.

The Company evaluates our deferred tax assets periodically to determine if valuation allowances are required. Ultimately, the realization of deferred tax assets is dependent upon generation of future taxable income during those periods in which temporary differences become deductible and/or credits can be utilized. To this end, management considers the level of historical taxable income from its subsidiaries, the scheduled reversal of deferred tax liabilities, tax-planning strategies, and projected future taxable income. Based on these considerations, and the carry-forward availability of the deferred tax assets, management believes it is more likely than not that we will realize the benefit of the deferred tax assets. As of December 31, 2020, the Company believes it is probable it will generate taxable income in the future sufficient to realize these deferred tax assets and accordingly, has not recorded a valuation allowance against these deferred tax assets.

The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) audited Thrasys' 2008 and 2009 tax returns for the proper year of inclusion of approximately $15,000,000 long-term capital gain on the sale of certain intellectual property rights to Siemens Medical Solutions, Inc. Thrasys was a C corporation for the federal income tax purpose for the year 2008 but was an S corporation for the federal income tax purpose since January 1, 2009. Thrasys' originally reported the gain on its 2010 S Corporation tax return using the one-year deferral method. The corporate level tax was paid to California, and passed the gain through to its shareholders. The IRS asserted that Thrasys owes C Corporation tax of approximately $5,000,000 for 2008 or in the alternative Thrasys owes C Corporation tax of approximately $5,000,000 for 2009 as a Built in Gain. In addition, Thrasys could be assessed additional California Franchise Tax of approximately $1.3 million. If additional income taxes are imposed, there will be interest charged at approximately 4% per year compounded annually, resulting in potential interest of approximately $3 million. The IRS has not asked that penalties be imposed.

The matter is currently pending before the US Tax Court Docket 11565-15. There are related cases for some of the shareholders for additional income taxes due if the gain is shifted to 2009. In 2018 the IRS filed a motion for Summary Judgment and in Thrasys, Inc. v. Commissioner (T.C. Memo 2018-199) filed December 4, 2018, and the motion was denied.

In January 2020, Thrasys filed a Motion for Summary judgment arguing that either the gain was properly reported in 2010 and all taxes have been paid or in the alternative it should have been taxable in 2009 with no Built in Gains tax. In either alternative there would be no additional income tax due for 2008 or 2009. The IRS filed an objection to Thrasys' motion. On March 3, 2021, the US Tax Court issued a Court Order dismissing the Thrasys' Motion. This and other alternatives are now under consideration. It is not likely this case will be resolved before the end of 2021. Thrasys intends to vigorously defend its position in the case and believes they will prevail if the case is taken to trial. The Company has accrued $200,000 representing probable additional taxes and interest imposed, within accrued liabilities in the consolidated balance sheet as of December 31, 2020.

13. Earnings (Loss) Per Share

Basic earnings (loss) per share applicable to common stockholders is computed by dividing earnings applicable to common stockholders by the weighted-average number of common shares outstanding. Diluted earnings (loss) per share assumes the conversion of any convertible securities using the treasury stock method or the if-converted method. There are currently no convertible securities that would be dilutive; accordingly, dilutive earnings (loss) per share equals the basic earnings (loss) per share.

14. Employee Benefit Plans

In connection with acquisition of Thrasys and BHS, the Company has two defined contribution plans, that cover substantially all employees with the exception of union employees and employees acquired under a section 401(b)(6)(C) transaction. The plans provide for discretionary matching and profit-sharing contributions. For the year ended December 31, 2020, there were no employer matching or employer profit sharing contributions to the plans.

15. Related-Party Transactions

The Company's chief financial officer is the former shareholder and chairman of TTC Healthcare, Inc., and the former member-manager of TTC Healthcare Partners, LLC (collectively, TTC), a company that has entered into a tentative merger agreement with Uphealth Holdings, Inc.

The consulting firm noted in Note 17 is a related party through an officer of the Company, who is a significant shareholder of the Company and a member of the Company's board of directors.

Payments to Related Parties

The Company makes guaranteed payments to related parties. Guaranteed payments aggregated $541,202 for the period November 20, 2020 through December 31, 2020. These amounts are presented in cost of goods and services in the consolidated statement of operations. The Company has unpaid guaranteed payments of $145,558 as of December 31, 2020, which is included in accrued liabilities on the consolidated balance sheet.

16. Commitments and Contingencies

Commitments

The Company leases various facilities with related parties in accordance with the terms of operating lease agreements that expire at various dates through December 2023. The leases require monthly payments ranging from $3,234 to $13,362. Total rent expense under related party agreements was approximately $4,900 for the period ended December 31, 2020.

The Company leases various facilities from third parties in accordance with the terms of operating lease agreements requiring monthly payments ranging from $447 to $14,387. The leases expire in December 2021. Total rent expense under third party agreements was approximately $77,951 for the period ended December 31, 2020.

The Company also has various operating leases for office equipment which require monthly payments ranging from $239 to $1,499 through November 2025. Lease expense of approximately $1,050 was charged to operations for the period ended December 31, 2020.

As of December 31, 2020, future minimum lease payments under non-cancelable operating leases are as follows:

Year	Related Party	Third-Party	Total
2021	$136,800	$538,033	$ 674,833
2022	78,000	199,607	277,607
2023	69,333	10,776	80,109
2024	—	10,776	10,776
2025	—	9,878	9,878
	$284,133	$769,070	$1,053,203

Contingencies

From time to time, the Company and its wholly owned subsidiaries may be subjected to claims or lawsuits which arise in the ordinary course of business, including the previously disclosed tax matter and matters described below. Estimates for resolution of legal and other contingencies are accrued when losses are probable and reasonably estimable in accordance with ASC Topic 450, Contingencies. In the opinion of management, after consulting with legal counsel, none of these other claims are currently expected to have a material adverse effect on the results of operations, financial position or our cash flows.

There are currently two medical malpractice suits against the individual providers, other third parties, and BHS as a whole. The medical malpractice suits assert that there is negligence by the providers in treating the patients named in the suits. One of the malpractice suits is seeking damages of approximately $3,656,000 from all defendants, including BHS. The second malpractice suit has not specified monetary damages, however, in the event of an unfavorable outcome, BHS' legal counsel estimates maximum damages of approximately $2,267,000. BHS is vigorously defending the malpractice suits and was named as a secondary party in each suit. Although the outcome of these malpractice suits is not presently determinable, it is reasonably possible that an unfavorable outcome, for the aforementioned damages sought, could occur. However, BHS, and the individual providers, do have insurance coverage (BHS carries a $1,000,000 per occurrence insurance policy), which could mitigate some or all of the financial effects of potential settlements or judgements. In the event that future settlements or judgements, if any, exceed insurance coverages, BHS may be required to fund a portion of the difference. No provision has been made in the accompanying consolidated financial statements for any potential settlement or judgement costs at December 31, 2020, as an unfavorable outcome is not probable at this time.

Covid-19

On January 30, 2020, the World Health Organization (WHO) announced a global health emergency because of a new strain of coronavirus originating in Wuhan, China (the "COVID-19 outbreak") and the risks to the international community as the virus spreads globally. On March 11, 2020, the WHO classified the COVID-19 outbreak as a pandemic, and on March 25, 2020, the US government reached a stimulus package deal. The full impact of the COVID-19 outbreak continues to evolve as of the date of this report, and likewise, the full impact of the pandemic on the Company's financial condition, liquidity, and future results of operations is uncertain. Management is actively monitoring the global situation on its financial condition, liquidity, operations, vendors, industry, and workforce. Despite the daily evolution of the COVID-19 outbreak and the global responses to curb its spread, the Company has not experienced any material impact on its results of operations, financial condition, of liquidity for fiscal year 2020, or beyond.

On March 27, 2020, the CARES Act, was enacted into law. The CARES Act is a tax and spending package intended to provide economic relief to address the impact of the COVID-19 pandemic. The CARES Act includes several significant income and other business tax provisions that, among other things, provides for non-income tax-related relief such as refundable employee retention tax credits and the deferral of the employer-paid portion of social security taxes. The Company continues to evaluate the various provisions of the CARES Act and their impact on its consolidated financial statements as a whole.

Indemnification

Certain of the Company's agreements require the Company to indemnify its customers from any claim or finding of intellectual property infringements, as well as from any losses incurred relating to breach of representations, failure to perform, or specific events as outlined within the particular contract. The Company has not received any claims or estimated the maximum potential amount of indemnification liability under these agreements and has no liabilities recorded for these agreements.

17. Subsequent Events

Management has determined that no material events or transactions have occurred subsequent to the balance sheet date, other than those events noted below, that require disclosure in the financial statements.

Special Purpose Acquisition Company – Proposed Business Combination

On November 20, 2020, the newly merged company entered into a business combination agreement with Gig2 a publicly traded special purpose acquisition company (SPAC) and its wholly owned subsidiary UpHealth Merger Sub, Inc. whereby the newly merged company will merge with UpHealth Merger Sub, Inc., with UpHealth Holdings, Inc. deemed to be the surviving entity. The newly merged company will receive a promissory note for future cash consideration, as well as closing cash consideration and common stock interests in Gig2, as defined in the business combination agreement. The merger will be completed upon a shareholder vote of Gig2, Inc. shareholders through an effective Form S-4 filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), which is expected in 2021. The initial S-4 was filed on February 8, 2021.

Unconsummated Business Combinations

On January 25, 2021 the Company, through the formation of a subsidiary, entered into a merger agreement to acquire 100% of the common stock of TTC Healthcare, Inc., ("TTC"), a Florida based substance abuse and mental health treatment company, in exchange for a promissory note for future cash consideration, as defined in the merger agreement, and common stock interests in UpHealth Holdings, Inc.

During November 2020, the Company, through the formation of a subsidiary, has entered into tentative merger negotiations to acquire 100% of the common stock of Innovations Group, Inc. (d/b/a MedQuest), a Utah based internet pharmacy company, in exchange for a promissory note for future cash consideration, as defined in the merger agreement, and common stock interests in UpHealth Holdings, Inc. As of December 31, 2020, these negotiations have not concluded.

Senior Debt Facility Fees

In March 2020, the Company agreed to pay a financial consulting firm, an affiliate of a related party, for certain compensation related to finding and executing a senior financing facility to be funded at the completion of the Gig2 merger. The agreement called for cash consideration of $250,000 for consummation of the senior financing.

As additional compensation, if the securities in the senior financing facility include warrants, the financial consulting firm is entitled to $250,000 of warrants to purchase common stock. The warrant period shall be five years and shall have the same terms, including exercise price and registration rights (but including exercise period only if longer than 5 years), as any warrants issued as part of the senior financing facility. However, if the Securities in the Financing do not include warrants, then the warrants shall have an exercise price equal to 110% of the price at which common shares are sold to purchasers in the financing.

REPORT OF INDEPENDENT REGISTERED PUBLIC ACCOUNTING FIRM

To the Stockholders and Board of Directors of Thrasys, Inc.

Opinion on the Financial Statements

We have audited the accompanying balance sheets of Thrasys, Inc. (the “Company”) as of November 20, 2020 and December 31, 2019, the related statements of income, stockholders’ equity, and cash flows for the period January 1, 2020 to November 20, 2020 and for the year ended December 31, 2019, and the related notes (collectively referred to as the “financial statements”). In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Company as of November 20, 2020 and December 31, 2019, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the period January 1, 2020 to November 20, 2020 and for the year ended December 31, 2019, in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

The Company is not required to have, nor were we engaged to perform, an audit of its internal control over financial reporting. As part of our audits we are required to obtain an understanding of internal control over financial reporting but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company’s internal control over financial reporting. Accordingly, we express no such opinion.

Our audits included performing procedures to assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to error or fraud, and performing procedures that respond to those risks. Such procedures included examining, on a test basis, evidence regarding the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. Our audits also included evaluating the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

Emphasis of Matters

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS FOR PERIOD ENDED NOVEMBER 20, 2020 AND YEAR ENDED DECEMBER 31, 20191 SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES*1.1 Nature of Business

Thrasys, Inc. (“Thrasys” or the “Company”), provides its customers with an advanced, comprehensive, and extensible technology platform—marketed under the umbrella “SyntraNet”—to manage health, quality of care, and costs—especially for individuals with complex medical, behavioral health, and social needs.

We have one operating and reportable segment, which is at the consolidated company level. Our Chief Executive Officer manages our operations on a consolidated basis for purposes of assessing performance and allocating resources.

Effective November 20, 2020, the Company became a fully owned subsidiary of UpHealth Holdings, Inc. (“UpHealth”). As a result, the financial statements are reflected as of November 20, 2020 and for the period January 1, 2020 to November 20, 2020.

The Company focuses on both the United States and international markets. The Company’s mission is to deploy innovative software and other technologies to transform the more than $8 trillion global healthcare industry to new models of care.

SyntraNet creates virtual, connected communities of care where cross-sector teams—physicians, nurses, care managers, community health workers, patients, families—from organizations participating in these communities can collaborate to manage health and coordinate the delivery of clinical, behavioral health, social and other services. The care community can be small—a single organization with internal care teams, or large—a county-wide network of multiple stakeholder organizations and agencies. Care communities can be connected in a distributed hierarchy of nodes to enable province and nation-wide networks of connected care.

SyntraNet is offered as a software as a service (“SaaS”) platform. Information, analytics, and applications are delivered to care team members on desktops, tablets and phones as needed. An advanced protected health information (“PHI”) framework controls access to information based on roles, rights, policies, and scope of consent.

The platform includes innovations in a number of areas: application and information models for connected care communities (an extension of multi-tenant architectures), integration and normalization of heterogeneous data sources, configurable software services and open application programming interfaces (“APIs”), advanced analytics and intelligence, scalable workflows and rules, protected health information management, and user interfaces ready for the proliferation of device types and interaction modes.

SyntraNet provides customers the ability to:

- Integrate and normalize information across heterogeneous data sources to create 360-degree view of patients and members;
- Deploy advanced analytics to gain insight into health risks for individuals and populations;
- Qualify individuals and groups for enrollment into care management programs;
- Manage programs with interdisciplinary teams, configurable rules and workflows, embedded intelligence, and guidelines;

- Monitor and measure critical success factors—outcomes, costs, quality, performance—and compliance with regulatory requirements;

The Company's customers include value added resellers, health systems, health plans, physician groups, and accountable care and care management organizations. SyntraNet is built on a state-of-the-art technology platform hosted in a secure HIPAA-compliant cloud. Information, applications, and analytics are delivered to users on desktops, browsers, tablets, and phones.

1.2 Accounts Receivable

Accounts receivables are carried at original invoice less an estimate for doubtful receivables based on a review of all outstanding amounts on a monthly basis. Management determines the allowance by regularly evaluating individual customer receivables and considering a customer's financial condition and current economic conditions. Accounts receivable are written off when deemed uncollectible. Recoveries of accounts receivable previously written off are recorded when received. As of November 20, 2020 and December 31, 2019, the management determined that no allowance for doubtful accounts was necessary.

An account receivable is considered to be past due if any portion of the receivable balance is outstanding for more than 60 days. Management monitors the receivable, pursues all available methods of collecting the balance due. The Company does not charge interest on outstanding account receivables. Unbilled accounts receivable as of November 20, 2020 and December 31, 2019 were $57,557 and $32,643, respectively.

1.3 Prepaid expenses and Other

Prepaid licenses and prepaid expenses that relate to a future accounting period or future customer projects are carried at cost under Prepaid expenses and other. These will be expensed in the relevant future accounting periods.

1.4 Property and Equipment

Property and equipment are stated at cost. Depreciation is computed using the straight-line method for financial reporting purposes and accelerated methods for income tax purposes, based on useful lives of three to seven years.

Information technology equipment	Three years
Office furniture & other equipment	Seven years
Vehicles	Seven years

1.5 Long lived asset impairment

Recoverability of the carrying value of long-lived assets is evaluated under the provisions of ASC Topic 360, Property, Plant, and Equipment, whenever events or circumstances indicate the carrying amount may not be recoverable. If a long-lived asset is tested for recoverability and the undiscounted estimated future cash flows expected to result from the use and eventual disposition of the asset is less than the carrying amount of the asset, the asset cost is adjusted to fair value and an impairment loss is recognized as the amount by which the carrying amount of a long-lived asset exceeds its fair value. There were no impairments necessary during the period ended November 20, 2020 and year ended December 31, 2019.

1.6. Revenues*Revenues Under ASC 606*

The Company implemented ASC 606 for revenue recognition for the period ended November 20, 2020 using the modified retrospective method. This method calculates revenues under ASC 606 for each existing contract at December 31, 2019 and creates a transition adjustment as of January 1, 2020 through retained earnings for the difference. Unbilled accounts receivable, billed accounts receivable, deferred revenues, and contract assets are each adjusted as well. The revenue recognition for ASC 606 varies somewhat from its predecessor, ASC 605 and is therefore not necessarily comparable. The key disclosures for ASC 606 during the period ended November 20, 2020 are presented first, with the key disclosures for ASC 605 during fiscal year 2019 presented subsequently.

Disaggregation of RevenueSubscription and Support Revenue by the Company's service offerings

Subscription and support revenues consisted of the following:

Period Ended November 20 2020
Subscriptions and Licenses	$ 7,706,201
Implementation and Professional Services	5,798,366
	$13,504,567

Total Revenue by Geographic Locations

Revenues by geographical region consisted of the following:

Period Ended November 20 2020
Americas	$10,706,671
Europe	2,797,896
	$13,504,567

The Company's revenues are entirely derived from the healthcare industry.

Revenues by geography are determined based on the region of the customer. Americas revenue attributed to the United States was 100 percent during fiscal 2020. Germany, in the European region, represented approximately twenty-one percent of total revenue during fiscal 2020.

A significant portion of the Company's contracts with customers have fixed transaction prices. For some contracts, the amount of consideration to which the Company will be entitled is variable. The Company includes variable consideration in a contract's transaction price only to the extent that the Company has a relatively high level of confidence that the amounts will not be subject to significant reversals. In determining amounts of variable consideration to include in a contract's transaction price, the Company relies on its experience and other evidence that supports its qualitative assessment of whether revenue would be subject to significant reversal.

For contracts with multiple performance obligations, the transaction price is allocated to the separate performance obligations based on stand-alone selling prices based on stand-alone sales and historical pricing.

Contract Asset

Subscription and support revenue, and indistinct licenses are generally recognized ratably over the contract term beginning on the first customer access date of each contract.

License revenue is recognized as the licenses are delivered, if they are distinct obligations. The Company records a contract asset when revenue recognized on a contract exceeds the billings. The Company's standard billing terms are annual or quarterly in advance. Contract assets were $10 thousand as of January 1, 2020, and $66 thousand as of November 20, 2020, and are included in prepaid expenses and other current assets on the consolidated balance sheet. There were no impairments of contract assets during 2020.

Unearned Revenue

Unearned revenue represents amounts that have been invoiced in advance of revenue recognition and is recognized as revenue when transfer of control to customers has occurred or services have been provided. The unearned revenue balance does not represent the total contract value of annual or multi-year, non-cancelable subscription agreements. The Company generally invoices customers in annual or quarterly installments. The unearned revenue balance is influenced by several factors, including seasonality, the compounding effects of renewals, invoice duration, invoice timing, dollar size and new business linearity within the quarter.

The change in unearned revenue was as follows (in thousands):

Period Ended November 20, 2020

	Deferred Revenue Period Ending November 20, 2020
Beginning Balance, January 1, 2020	$(1,924)
Revenues recognized from balances held at the beginning of the period	913
Revenues deferred from period collections on unfulfilled performance obligations	(1,395)
Ending Balance, November 20, 2020	$(2,406)

Revenue recognized ratably over time is generally billed in advance and includes SyntraNet Cloud Services and related licenses, and the related consulting, implementation and services support, and advisory services.

Revenue recognized over time as delivered includes professional services billed on a time and materials basis, fixed fee professional services and training classes that are primarily billed, delivered and recognized within the same reporting period.

There is no material Revenue recognized at a point in time during the period ended November 20, 2020.

Approximately 7 percent of total revenue recognized in fiscal 2020 is from the unearned revenue balance as of December 31, 2019.

Remaining Performance Obligation

Transaction price allocated to the remaining performance obligations, referred to by the Company as remaining performance obligations, represents contracted revenue that has not yet been recognized, which includes unearned revenue and unbilled amounts that will be recognized as revenue in future periods. Transaction price allocated to the remaining performance obligations are influenced by several factors, including seasonality, the timing of renewals, the timing of delivery of software licenses, average contract terms and foreign currency exchange rates. Unbilled portions of the remaining performance obligations are subject to future economic risks including bankruptcies, regulatory changes and other market factors.

The Company excludes amounts related to performance obligations that are billed and recognized as they are delivered. This primarily consists of professional services contracts that are on a time-and-materials basis.

The majority of the Company's noncurrent remaining performance obligation is expected to be recognized in the next 12 to 24 months.

Remaining performance obligation consisted of the following (in thousands):

Remaining Performance Obligations	Total	Current	Future
Subscriptions	$ 1,017	783	234
Licenses	8,639	2,580	6,059
SaaS and Hosting	49	49	—
Program Management and Services	1,331	1,331	—
	$11,036	4,742	6,294

Revenues Under ASC 605

The Company derives its revenues mainly from:

- Subscription revenues, which are comprised of subscription fees from customers accessing the Company's cloud computing services
- Services revenues
- Royalty income
- Support and maintenance
- Sale of intellectual property assets

The Company commences revenue recognition when all of the following conditions are satisfied:

- There is persuasive evidence of an arrangement;
- The service has been or is being provided to the customer;
- The collection of the fees is reasonably assured; and
- The amount of fees to be paid by the customer is fixed or determinable

Software License Revenues

License revenues are recognized based on the nature of the license provided, either fully on the date license rights are granted to the customer if there are no further obligations or ratably over the contract term beginning on the commencement date of each contract, which is the date license rights are granted to the customer. If an entity does not have VSOE of fair value for all elements within multiple-element software arrangements, revenue can be recognized using the residual method, provided VSOE of fair value exists for any undelivered elements of the arrangement. If VSOE does not exist for any undelivered elements in a contract, the revenue is recognized ratably over the life of the contract. License fees are sometimes bundled with maintenance fees. The Company also licenses its technology platform and solutions to third-party solution providers to be bundled with other solutions and services.

Subscription Revenues

Subscription revenues are recognized ratably over the contract terms beginning on the commencement date of each contract, which is the date the Company's service is made available to customers. Amounts that have been invoiced are recorded in accounts receivable and in deferred revenue or revenue, depending on whether the revenue recognition criteria have been met. The Company's subscription service arrangements are non-cancelable and do not contain refund-type provisions.

Services Revenues

The majority of the Company's professional services contracts are on a time and material basis. When these services are not combined with subscription revenues as a single unit of accounting, as discussed below, revenues are recognized as the services are rendered for time and material contracts, and when the milestones are achieved and accepted by the customer for fixed price contracts. Training revenues, set-up fees and configuration fees are recognized as the services are completed.

Loan conversion to License

License and such license revenues were recognized by the Company over the performance period. The Company has not entered into similar contracts since 2014.

Support and Maintenance Revenues

Support and Maintenance revenues are recognized over the term of maintenance contracts.

Multiple Deliverable Arrangements

The Company enters into arrangements with multiple deliverables that generally include subscription, set up, and professional services. If the deliverables have standalone value upon delivery, the Company accounts for each deliverable separately.

Subscription services have standalone value as such services are often sold separately. In determining whether professional services have standalone value, the Company considers the following factors for each professional services agreement: availability of the services from other vendors, the nature of the professional services, the timing of when the professional services contract was signed in comparison to the subscription service start date, and the contractual dependence of the subscription service on the customer's satisfaction with the professional services work. To date, the Company has concluded that all of the professional services included in multiple deliverable arrangements executed have standalone value.

Multiple-deliverables included in an arrangement are separated into different units of accounting and the arrangement consideration is allocated to the identified separate units based on a relative selling price hierarchy. The Company determines the relative selling price for a deliverable based on its vendor-specific objective evidence of selling price ("VSOE"), if available, or its best estimate of selling price ("BESP"), if VSOE is not available. The Company has determined that third-party evidence of selling price ("TPE") is not a practical alternative due to differences in its service offerings compared to other parties and the availability of relevant third-party pricing information. The amount of revenue allocated to delivered items is limited by contingent revenue, if any.

For certain professional services, the Company has established VSOE, as a consistent number of standalone sales of this deliverable have been priced within a reasonably narrow range. The Company has not established VSOE for its subscription services due to lack of pricing consistency, the introduction of new services and other factors. Accordingly, the Company uses its BESP to determine the relative selling price.

The Company determined BESP by considering its overall pricing objectives and market conditions. Significant pricing practices considered include the Company's discounting practices, the size and volume of the Company's transactions, the customer demographic, the geographic area where services are sold, price lists, its go-to-market strategy, historical standalone sales, and contract prices. The determination of BESP is made through consultation with and approval by the Company's management, taking into consideration the go-to-market strategy. As the Company's go-to-market strategies evolve, the Company may modify its pricing practices in the future, which could result in changes in relative selling prices, including both VSOE and BESP.

Deferred Revenue

Deferred revenue primarily consists of billings in advance of revenue recognition from subscription services described above and is recognized as the revenue recognition criteria are met. The deferred revenue balance does not represent the total contract value of annual or multi-year, non-cancelable subscription agreements. The Company generally invoices customers in annual or quarterly installments.

Deferred revenue balances at December 31, 2019 were $1,752,632, prior to the transition adjustment for ASC 606. These were primarily recognized during 2020.

1.7 Income Taxes

The Company has elected as of January 1, 2009, to be treated as an S-Corporation for federal and California income tax purposes. No provision has been made for federal income taxes for the period ended November 20, 2020 and year ended December 31, 2019 since these taxes are the responsibility of the stockholders. The State of California imposes a 1.5% tax on the taxable income of S-Corporations.

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are recorded for future tax consequences attributable to temporary differences between financial statement carrying amounts of assets and liabilities and their respective tax bases, including methods of accounting for revenue recognition, accrued expenses, depreciation, and net operating losses.

The Company has adopted Financial Accounting Standards Board guidance on uncertainty in income taxes. Management evaluated the Company's tax positions and concluded that the Company had taken no uncertain tax positions that require adjustment to the financial statements to comply with the provisions of this guidance. With few exceptions, the Company is no longer subject to income tax examinations by the U.S. federal, state or local tax authorities for years before 2017.

1.8 Cash and Cash equivalents

The Company considers all highly liquid debt instruments purchased with a maturity of three months or less to be cash equivalents. The carrying amount reported in the balance sheet for cash and cash equivalents approximates fair value due to the short-term nature of these investments.

1.9 Restricted Cash

Under the terms of the merger agreement with UpHealth as discussed in Note 1.1 and in accordance with the Small Business Administration ("SBA") Procedural Notice effective October 2, 2020, the Company has agreed to maintain the balance of the Paycheck Protection Program ("PPP") Loan in an escrow account until forgiveness has been determined by the SBA.

1.10 Credit Risk

At November 20, 2020 and December 31, 2019, the Company had balances at two banks. At various times, bank balances may exceed Federally insured limits; however, management does not believe that there is significant credit risk associated with bank balances.

1.11 Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. At November 20, 2020 and December 31, 2019, the Company uses estimates for the derivative liability relating to convertible debt, accrual for contingent tax liability, fair value of stock options and warrants. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

1.12 Fair Value of Financial Instruments

The balance sheets as of November 20, 2020 and December 31, 2019 include the following financial instruments: cash and cash equivalents, accounts receivable, accounts payable, accrued expenses, and debt. No events have occurred since the issuance of the debt that would materially impact its fair value, the fair value of the debt is determined to be equal to the carrying cost as of November 20, 2020 and December 31, 2019. The carrying amounts of accounts receivable, accounts payable, and accrued expenses approximate fair value because of the relatively short period of time between the origination of these instruments and expected realization.

The Company follows authoritative guidance on accounting for fair value measurements and disclosures, which address how companies should measure fair value when they are required to use a fair value measure for recognition or disclosure purposes under U.S. generally accepted accounting principles.

Fair value is defined as the exchange price that would be received for an asset or paid to transfer a liability in the principal or most advantageous market for the asset or liability in an orderly transaction between market participants on the measurement date. The guidance related to fair value measures establishes a fair value hierarchy that requires an entity to maximize the use of observable inputs and minimize the use of unobservable inputs when measuring fair value. The guidance describes three levels of inputs that may be used to measure fair value:

Level Input	Input Definition
Level 1	Inputs are unadjusted quoted prices for identical assets or liabilities in active markets at the measurement date.
Level 2	Inputs other than quoted prices included in Level 1 that are observable for the asset or liability through corroboration with market data at the measurement date.
Level 3	Unobservable inputs that reflect management's best estimate of what market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability at the measurement date.

When quoted prices in active markets for identical assets are available, the Company uses these quoted market prices to determine the fair value of financial assets and classifies these assets as Level 1. In other cases where a quoted market price for identical assets in an active market is either not available or not observable, the Company obtains the fair value from a third-party vendor that uses pricing models, such as matrix pricing, to determine fair value. These financial assets would then be classified as Level 2. In the event quoted market prices for similar assets were not available, the Company would determine fair value using broker quotes or an internal analysis of each investment's financial statements and cash flow projections. In these instances, financial assets would be classified based upon the lowest level of input that is significant to the valuation. Thus, financial assets might be classified in Level 3 even though there could be some significant inputs that may be readily available.

The fair value of the derivative liability relating to convertible debt is primarily based on Level 3 inputs as described above. The Company estimated the fair value of derivative liability relating to convertible debt using the following inputs:

	Period ended November 20, 2020	Year ended December 31, 2019
Expected stock price	$10	$2.8686
Estimated term (in years)	1.1 years	2 years
Risk free rate	0.12%	1.58%
Expected volatility	70.0%	47.5%

Changes in the fair value of the derivative liability relating to convertible debt for the period ended November 20, 2020 and year ended December 31, 2019 are as follows:

Fair value of derivative liability relating to convertible debt		Amount
Balance at December 31, 2018		$ 327,000
Increase in fair value		341,000
Balance at December 31, 2019		668,000
Increase in fair value		85,000
Transferred to equity upon conversion of notes		$(753,000)
Balance at November 20, 2020		$ —

1.13 Stock Based Compensation

The Company has a stock-based compensation plan and grants stock options and restricted stock awards to employees. The Company's stock-based compensation is estimated at the grant date based on the fair value of the award and is recognized as expense ratably over the requisite service period of the award. Determining the appropriate fair value and calculating the fair value of stock-based awards requires judgment, including estimating stock price, volatility, forfeiture rates, expected dividends, and expected life.

The fair value of each stock option grant was estimated on the date of grant using the Black- Scholes option pricing model with the following assumptions and fair value per share:

Year Ended December 31	2019
Stock price per share	$ 1.62
Option period (in years)	10 years
Estimated term (in years)	6.7 years
Interest rate	2.1%
Expected volatility	60.0%

The fair value of the stock price is determined annually by the board of directors with input from management based upon information available at the time of the valuation. Given the absence of a public trading market of Company stock, the board of directors has exercised reasonable judgment and considered numerous factors to determine the best estimate of the fair value of Company stock. These factors include historical operating and financial performance, current business conditions and projections, and history and stage of development.

The Company's current estimate of volatility is based on the volatility of comparable public companies. To the extent volatility of the Company's stock price increases in the future, the Company's estimate of the fair value of options granted in the future could increase, thereby increasing stock-based compensation expense in future periods.

The computation of expected lives is based on expectations of future employee behavior. The interest rate for periods within the expected life of the award is based on the U.S. Treasury yield curve in effect at the time of grant. In addition, the Company applies an expected forfeiture rate when amortizing stock-based compensation expense.

1.14 Software Development Costs

The Company does not capitalize its ongoing costs of developing its software, which consists primarily of personnel costs. Capitalization of software development costs is only required upon the establishment of technological feasibility of the product. New product versions are released on a regular basis and the time between establishing technological feasibility and product release is very short. As a result, amounts that would qualify for capitalization are not significant.

1.15 Research and Development Costs

Research and development costs are expensed as incurred and were $6,584,979 and $4,992,139 for the period ended November 20, 2020 and year ended December 31, 2019 respectively.

1.16 Recently Issued Accounting Standards

In February 2016, the Financial Accounting Standards Board (“FASB”) issued Accounting Standards Update (“ASU”) No. 2016-02, Leases, which supersedes Accounting Standards Codification (“ASC”) Topic 840, Leases, and creates a new topic, ASC Topic 842, Leases. This update requires lessees to recognize a lease liability and a lease asset for all leases, including operating leases, with a term greater than 12 months on its balance sheet. The update also expands the required quantitative and qualitative disclosures surrounding leases. This update is effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2021, with earlier adoption permitted. This update will be applied using a modified retrospective transition approach for leases existing at, or entered into after, the beginning of the earliest comparative period presented in the financial statements. The Company is currently evaluating the effect of this update on its consolidated financial statements.

In June 2016, the FASB issued ASU No. 2016-13, Credit Losses, which provides financial statement users with information about expected credit losses on financial instruments and other commitments to extend credit held by a reporting entity at each reporting date. To achieve this objective, the amendments in this update replace the incurred loss impairment methodology with a methodology that reflects expected credit losses and requires consideration of a broader range of reasonable and supportable information to inform credit loss estimates. The update is effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2021, with earlier adoption permitted. This update will be applied using a cumulative-effect adjustment to retained earnings as of the beginning of the first reporting period in which the guidance is effective (a modified-retrospective approach). The Company is currently evaluating the effect of this update on its consolidated financial statements.

1.17 Recently Adopted Accounting Standards

In May 2014, the FASB issued ASU 2014-09, Revenue from Contracts with Customers (ASC 606). ASC 606 supersedes the revenue recognition requirements in ASC 605, Revenue Recognition (ASC 605), and requires the recognition of revenue as promised goods or services are transferred to customers in an amount that reflects the consideration which the entity expects to be entitled to in exchange for those goods or services. ASC 606 also includes Subtopic 340-40, Other Assets and Deferred Costs—Contracts with Customers, which requires the deferral of incremental costs of obtaining a contract with a customer. Collectively, we refer to ASC 606 and Subtopic 340-40 as the “new standard.” The Company adopted the new standard as of January 1, 2020, utilizing the modified retrospective method of adoption by applying the new standard to the periods impacted post-adoption. The guidance was applied to contracts that are not substantially complete as of the date of initial application in accordance with practical expedient ASC 606-10-65-1(h).

4 RELATED PARTY DEBT

The Company has notes payable to related parties totaling $420,283 and $1,114,000 at November 20, 2020 and December 31, 2019, respectively. The notes outstanding as of November 20, 2020 bear interest at rates ranging from 0.14% to 3.5% per annum. Notes totaling $381,283 are payable in eight quarterly installments starting from October 1, 2022, or upon a liquidity event, as defined in the note agreement and a note totaling $39,000 is payable in 2021. With the exception of a $39,000 note, the notes outstanding as of December 31, 2019 were repaid during 2020 and bore interest at rates ranging from 10% to 20%. The accrued interest payable was $9,113 and $459,453 at November 20, 2020 and December 31, 2019, respectively. During 2019, the Company issued warrants to two of the note holders as part of the debt transactions and warrants for 223,874 shares of Common Stock totaling $1,499,551 were exercised by a note holder on November 20, 2020.

The fair value of each warrant grant was estimated on the date of grant using the Black- Scholes option pricing model with the following assumptions and fair value per share:

Estimated term (in years)	5 years	6 years
Interest rate	0.30%	2.1%
Expected volatility	60.0%	60.0%

See Note 13 for additional details on the warrants.

5 RELATED PARTY CONVERTIBLE NOTES

During a previous year, the Company issued five convertible notes to a minority stockholder totaling $1,900,000 as of December 31, 2019. The interest rate on the notes was 5% per annum on notes totaling $1,150,000 and 6.25% on notes totaling $750,000. The principal of $1,900,000 and accrued interest of $599,800 on the notes were converted into the Company's Common Stock on November 20, 2020 in anticipation of the change in control at $10 per share and the Company issued 249,980 Common shares upon conversion. The accrued interest payable was $507,425 at December 31, 2019.

Upon issuance, the Company concluded that the conversion option required bifurcation due to the lack of a fixed number of shares into which the debt is convertible. Accordingly, the Company completed a valuation of the conversion option and accounted for a derivative liability of $248,000 in 2013 when the first convertible notes were issued and amortized this amount as interest expenses during 2013 and 2014. The Company revalued the derivative liability quarterly and the difference is booked as expense or income at each revaluation period. The Company booked an interest expense of $85,000 and $341,000 during the period ended November 20, 2020 and year ended December 31, 2019, respectively, as part of the revaluation of this derivative.

The derivative liability (a Level 3 fair value measurement) relating to the convertible note was $668,000 as of December 31, 2019. The derivative liability of $753,000 was transferred to equity on November 20, 2020 when the convertible notes were converted into Common Stock.

6 VARIAN AGREEMENT

In 2014, the Company entered into a software license and enhancement agreement with Varian Medical Systems International A.G. and Varian Medical Systems, Inc. (Varian).

The agreement granted Varian a development license for a collaboration period at no fee with an option for Varian to convert the development license to a perpetual license with an automatic conversion to perpetual license if the contract terms are met. The Agreement also provided for royalty payable to the Company on any sales of products that incorporated the Company's technology.

The Company also entered into a loan agreement with Varian under which the Company borrowed a total of $10,000,000 in three different tranches during 2014 and 2015 and accrued interest at 10% annual interest. Varian exercised its option in July 2016 to convert the development license into perpetual license and the loan of $10,000,000 plus accrued interest of $1,776,712 until conversion date, were set off against perpetual license fee payable by Varian to the Company. Varian was also granted 36 months' exclusivity period from conversion where the Company agreed to provide updates and maintenance and also not offer the technology to other companies in the field of Oncology. In May 2017, the Company and Varian entered into an amendment of the Agreement wherein Varian paid $1,600,000 to the Company as full and final settlement of all their royalty obligations under the Agreement.

The Company recognized the full sum of $13,376,712 over the 36 months' exclusivity period from July 2016 to July 2019. The total revenue recognized under this agreement was $2,720,685 for the year ended December 31, 2019.

7 PROVISION FOR INCOME TAXES

The provision for income taxes consists of California franchise taxes.

The net deferred income tax asset consists of:

	2019	2020
Deferred tax assets	847,515	957,515
Less valuation allowance	(847,515)	(957,515)

The Company has established a valuation allowance for deferred tax assets which more likely than not will not be utilized. The deferred tax assets as of December 31, 2019 and November 20, 2020 are research and development credits and net operating loss carryforwards.

The Company has state research and development tax credit and net operating loss carryforwards of approximately $14,973,415 and $13,864,264 expiring through December 31, 2039 as of November 20, 2020 and December 31, 2019, respectively.

The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) audited the Company's 2008 and 2009 tax returns for the proper year of inclusion of a $15 million long-term capital gain on the sale of certain intellectual property rights to Siemens Medical Solutions, Inc. The Company had originally reported the gain on its 2010 S Corporation tax return matching the year of inclusion for financial accounting purposes. The corporate level tax was paid to California and passed the gain through to its shareholders. The IRS has asserted that the Company owes C Corporation tax of approximately $5 million for 2008 or in the alternative the Company owes C Corporation tax of approximately $5 million for 2009 as a Built in Gain. In addition, the Company could be assessed additional California Franchise Tax of approximately $1.3 million. If additional income taxes are imposed there will be interest charged at approximately 4% per year compounded annually, resulting in potential interest of approximately $3 million. The IRS has not asked that penalties be imposed.

The matter is currently pending before the US Tax Court Docket 11565-15. There are related cases for some of the shareholders for additional income taxes due if the gain is shifted to 2009. In 2018 the IRS filed a motion for Summary Judgment and in Thrasys, Inc. v. Commissioner (T.C. Memo 2018-199) filed December 4, 2018, Thrasys prevailed and the motion was denied.

In January 2020, the Company filed a Motion for Summary judgment arguing that either the gain was properly reported in 2010 and all taxes have been paid or in the alternative it should have been taxable in 2009 with no Built in Gains tax. In either alternative there would be no additional income tax due for 2008 or 2009. The Internal Revenue Service filed an objection to the Company's motion. On March 3, 2021, the US Tax Court, without consideration of the merits of the case issued a very brief Court Order dismissing the Company's Motion. Had the motion been granted the need for a trial would have been obviated. Counsel for the IRS has contacted counsel for the Company and has offered to join the Company in a motion to have the case decided without trial. This and other alternatives are now under consideration. It is not likely this case will be resolved before the end of 2021. The Company intends to vigorously defend its position in the case and believes they will prevail if the case is taken to trial. The Company has accrued $200,000, representing probable additional taxes and interest imposed, in the financial statements and as included in Table 3 (Accrued Liabilities).

8 RETIREMENT PLANS

The Company has a 401(k) profit sharing plan that covers substantially all employees. Participants may contribute a portion of their compensation subject to limitations imposed by the Internal Revenue Code. The plan allows for discretionary contributions by the Company, determined annually by the Board of Directors. For the period ended November 20, 2020 and year ended December 31, 2019, there were no discretionary contributions.

9 COMMITMENTS AND CONTINGENCIES

Years Ending December 31	Amount
2020 (remaining)	$ 32,399

The Company has not received any claims or estimated the maximum potential amount of indemnification liability under these agreements and has no liabilities recorded for these agreements.

9.3 Warranty

The Company generally provides a warranty for its software products and services to its customers. The Company's products are generally warranted to perform substantially as described in the associated product

9.4 Contingencies

Estimates for resolution of legal and other contingencies are accrued when losses are probable and reasonably estimable in accordance with ASC Topic 450, Contingencies. Aside from the previously disclosed tax matter, the Company currently has no material pending litigation or other contingencies.

10 PAYCHECK PROTECTION PROGRAM LOAN

In April 2020, the Company obtained a United States government loan of $530,500 under the PPP. The PPP is a United States government temporary program created under the Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security (CARES) Act with the intent to assist businesses in keeping employees employed during the pandemic. The PPP loan may not need to be repaid if the loan proceeds are spent on qualifying expenses and if staffing level and salary maintenance requirements are met. The Company may use the funds on qualifying expenses over a covered period of up to 24 weeks. Any amounts not forgiven will be required to be repaid beginning ten months after the conclusion of the covered period, over a term having a minimum of five years and a maximum maturity of 10 years from the date on which the borrower applies for forgiveness. The loan carries a 1% interest rate. The Company has applied for forgiveness for the entire amount of the loan and is awaiting decision from the SBA as of the date of this report, however, there can be no assurance given that any portion of the PPP Loan will be forgiven.

11 DEPOSITS AND OTHER CURRENT ASSETS

The Company entered into an agreement with a German company for purchase of Compliant IHE products during 2019 for use in an international project where the Company has been awarded the prime contract by the customer. The total value of the licenses was $2,804,235 out of which $1,964,337 was paid as of November 20, 2020. The balance amount of $839,898 is payable by the Company in 4 equal monthly installments by May 2021. The Company has accrued $888,419 (including foreign exchange difference since the amounts are payable in euros) in the financial statements and is included in Table 3 (Accrued Liabilities). The international project is expected to commence during 2021 and hence the software licenses have been included in the Prepaid expenses and other section in the Balance Sheet as of November 20, 2020. As of December 31, 2019, the amount is included in the Deposits and other long term assets section in the Balance Sheet.

12 MAJOR CUSTOMERS

The Company grants credit to its customers. For the period ended November 20, 2020, three customers accounted for approximately 36%, 33%, and 22% of total revenues. At November 20, 2020, two customers accounted for 52% and 28% of total accounts receivable of the Company.

For the year ended December 31, 2019, three customers accounted for approximately 45%, 22%, and 20% of total revenues. At December 31, 2019, two customers accounted for 50% and 38% of total accounts receivable of the Company.

13 STOCKHOLDERS' EQUITY

13.1 Common Stock

The Company has 6,639,076 shares of no par value Common stock issued and outstanding as of November 20, 2020 (6,124,226 as of December 31, 2019). The Company issued 514,850 shares of Common Stock during the

INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT

To the Board of Directors of Glocal Healthcare Systems Private Limited

Report on the Audit of the Consolidated Financial Statements

We have audited the accompanying consolidated financial statements of Glocal Healthcare Systems Private Limited and its subsidiaries, which comprise the consolidated balance sheet as of March 31, 2019 and March 31, 2020, and the related consolidated statements of profit and loss and cash flows for the years then ended and the related notes to the consolidated financial statements.

Management's Responsibility for the Consolidated Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these consolidated financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles in India; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of consolidated financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditors' Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these consolidated financial statements based on our audits. We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the consolidated financial statements are free from material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the consolidated financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditors' judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the consolidated financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity's preparation and fair presentation of the consolidated financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the consolidated financial statements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Opinion

In our opinion, the consolidated financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the consolidated financial position of Glocal Healthcare Systems Private Limited and its subsidiaries as of March 31, 2019 and March 31, 2020, and their consolidated financial performance and their consolidated cash flows for the years then ended in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles in India.

Emphasis of Matter

- (i) As discussed in Note 1 (x) to the financial statements, the Company has incurred losses in its initial stage of operations resulting in net liquidity constraints. Management's evaluation of the events and conditions and management's plans to mitigate these matters are also described in Note 1 (x). Our opinion is not modified with respect to this matter.
- (ii) The management has discussed in Note 42 of the financial statements regarding the uncertainties and the management's assessment of the financial impact due to the lock-down and other restrictions and conditions related to the COVID-19 pandemic situation, for which a definitive assessment of the impact is highly dependent upon circumstances / developments as they evolve in the subsequent periods. Our opinion is not modified with respect to this matter.
- (iii) Generally accepted accounting principles in India vary in certain significant respects from accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. Information relating to the nature and effect of such differences is presented in note 41 to the consolidated financial statements. Our opinion is not modified with respect to this matter.

1 Significant accounting policies

The accounting policies set out below have been applied consistently to the periods presented in these consolidated financial statements.

(a) Basis of preparation of consolidated financial statements:

The consolidated financial statements ("CFS") have been prepared to comply in all material aspects with applicable accounting principles in India, the applicable Accounting Standards prescribed under Section 133 of the Companies Act, 2013 ('Act') read with Rule 7 of the Companies (Accounts) Rules, 2014, read with Companies (Accounting Standards) Amendment Rules, 2016 applicable with effect from 1 April 2016, the provisions of the Act (to the extent notified) and other accounting principles generally accepted in India, to the extent applicable and in particular Accounting Standard 21 (AS 21) - 'Consolidated Financial Statements'. The CFS has been prepared on an accrual basis and under the historical cost convention.

The consolidated financial statements are presented in Indian Rupees, in the same format as that adopted by the parent Group for its standalone financial statements. The consolidated financial statement of the group is prepared in reporting currency as USD for the specific purpose of transaction with UpHealth Holdings, INC (Refer Note 39) and for the purpose of filing with SEC for their upcoming IPO. The functional currency and reporting currency for statutory reporting in India is INR. The financial line items of Profit and Loss have been converted using average INR/USD conversion rate for the respective financial year, balance sheet items have been converted using spot INR/USD conversion rate as on the reporting date. Opening balances as on 1st April 2018 has been converted using spot INR/USD conversion rate as on 1st April 2018 except for equity is continued at historical rate. Any differences arising out of the conversion has been debited/credited to Foreign Currency Translation Reserve

(b) Principles of consolidation

The CFS have been prepared on the following basis:

(i) Subsidiary companies are consolidated on a line-by-line basis by adding together the book values of the like items of assets, liabilities, income and expenses, after eliminating all significant intragroup balances and intra-group transactions and also unrealized profits or losses in accordance with Accounting Standard 21 - "Consolidated Financial Statements". The results of operations of a subsidiary are included in the consolidated financial statements from the date on which the parent subsidiary relationship comes into existence.

(ii) The difference between the cost to the Group of its investment in the subsidiary and its proportionate share in the equity of the subsidiary as at the date of acquisition of stake is recognised as goodwill or capital reserve, as the case may be. Goodwill is tested for impairment at the end of each accounting year or if there is any indication of impairment. For impairment, the carrying value of goodwill is compared with the present value of discounted cash flows of the respective subsidiaries and loss, if any, is adjusted to the carrying value of the goodwill.

(iii) Minorities' interest in net profits/losses of the subsidiary for the year is identified and included in the income in order to arrive at the net income attributable to the shareholders of the Group. Their share of net assets is identified and presented in the consolidated balance sheet separately. Where accumulated losses attributable to the minorities are in excess of their share of losses as per the contractual agreement, the same are accounted for by the holding Group.
